SENIOR HIGH CLASSES ELECT
THIS YEAR'S OFFICERS OCT. 11
BOY'S PRESIDENT OF SENIORS

Ganson Tegart was elected president of the senior class at a meeting held on October 11 at 11:00 A.M. in room 326. The other officers elected were: Clarence Chatterton, vice-president; and Carolyn Nettles, secretary. Nominations for treasurer were made. They will be voted upon next week. The nominees are as follows: Edwin Preinhofer, Howard Rosenestein, Christine Aube, Olive Vroman, and Frederick Darstyn. Mary York was placed in charge of the class play, a comedy, which will be given at the Milne reception on November 9.

The juniors also held a class meeting on October 11. Leo Minkin called the meeting to order. Raymond Hotalin was elected president. The other officers are: Robert Dawes, vice-president; Leslio Slippery, secretary; and Ralph Norvell, treasurer. Addison Keim was unanimously chosen to take care of the reception play.

William Hotalin was elected president of the sophomore class at its meeting. The rest of the officers are: Foster Slippery, vice-president; William Perkins, secretary; and Janet Bremer, treasurer.

HI-Y CLUB TO HOLD THURSDAY MEETING INSTEAD OF MONDAY

The Hi-Y club has changed the date of its weekly meeting at the Y.M.C.A. to each Thursday night. The day heretofore used has been Monday.

Mr. Arlton Bush, the new Hi-Y supervisor, was presented to the club members at the regular meeting last Monday. A recording and corresponding secretary will now be a permanent office in the club as the result of a vote. The adoption of pins with guards the Hi-Y insignia was also decided by vote.

DECEMBER 15 IS STUDENT TAX DEADLINE

"Monday, December 3 is the absolute deadline for the payment of all Student Tax," announced Dunton Tynan, president of the Student Council. "No one is exempt from this tax unless he has special permission from Professor John M. Sayles. This date was set by the Student Council as being as lenient as possible."
You may speak the rest of the period in my office, Johnny!" Johnny rises, trembling a little, terribly surprised, and passes out of the room. Already this year several teachers had had to resort to this final gesture in order to exact obedience and attention from some unruly member of their class. It's unfortunate that there are some students (and this is true not only in Mills) who value the training and information they are receiving as little, with discourtesy and rudeness they block their instructor's every attempt to give them any information.

"Well, it's my own business if I don't choose to learn anything, isn't it?" That is the defendant presenting his side of the question. Yes, we agree. Yet common courtesy demands that the unwilling student at least co-operate with the teacher in preserving discipline so that the other members of the class may learn something. Pupils who felt that school can teach them nothing should stop inflicting (as it were) their presence on the class.

PERVERSE PROVERBS,
MADDENING MAYS,
AND INJURING MONGS

Just a few days ago we were walking down Western avenue to the library, I think, and we were thinking how beautiful the third season was; fall, with its beautiful landscape unfurled like... out of many colors; full was superb! and we were musing on this and that feature of fall weather when suddenly a nasty, brisk rain came from nowhere to dispel our illusions completely.

and then after running and rushing our good nature away, it suddenly came to us that (to paraphrase an ancient sage) "It's an ill rain that waters nobody's garden," and we got a little comfort out of thinking that somebody must be benefited by the rain. And then we said to ourselves, almost unconsciously, "What blesses the blesses all," and went to stunk them... drizzling rain, and few proverbs, one pro, and one con!

So then we thought and thought, tore our hair and shaved our teeth, but to no avail. The two totally different ideas would not be reconciled. So we decided to give up the struggle as something that only philosophers could understand and woke up to the fact that the rain had stopped suddenly.

$10 PRIZE FOR MOST CRIMSON AND WHITE ADS; SEE ROBERT STEIN NOW!
At the regular meeting of the Dramatics Club on Monday, October 15, officers were elected for the coming year. They are as follows: president, Mary York; vice-president, Donald Glenn; secretary, Jean Cunbrick-Graham; and treasurer, Helen Gibson.

The club will be divided into five groups: the beginners, the intermediate, the advanced, the make-up, and the props. It was decided that the advanced group would decide when any of the intermediate section were eligible to join the advanced, and also that the five groups would meet in a joint meeting on the first Monday in every month.

INITIATION PLANS DISCUSSED AT WEEKLY FRENCH CLUB MEETING

A list of prospective members for the French Club was read and voted upon at the meeting on Monday, October 22. Plans were discussed for the initiation which will take place next week in room 223. The club has decided to resign from the National French honor society, Les Ébubillards, because of the severe restrictions placed upon the membership. An amendment to the future constitution was brought up and will be voted upon next week.

SOCIETY NOTES

QUID:
The first extensive literary program of the year was held last Thursday in the regular Quid meeting. Sara Kessler gave a book report on "Work of Art" by Sinclair Lewis; a biography of Henry VII was given by Sally Ryan, and a short summary of the life of S. S. Van Dine was presented by Betty Ostrander. After the program, further plans for the Quid rush were discussed.

Society:
The meeting was devoted to planning for the Sigma rush which will be Friday, November 2, at 8:15 o'clock. Lois Lewis appointed Luise Morrison, Pauline Soper, and Frances Hoornbeeck to help her with the refreshments. Suggestions for the refreshments were given by the society. Barbara Allen announced that rehearsals will begin Thursday at 2:00 o'clock.

DELPHI:
At the weekly meeting of Delphi on Tuesday, Clarence Chatterton gave a literary report on Alexander Dumas. After discussion, a committee was appointed to decide upon the most suitable date for the coming initiation.

The hunting season has been open for a couple of weeks now and I suppose all of the animals think it is not the sport we think it is. I know of quite a few rabbits that will not walk again, let alone think. I am referring to the ones which Coach Baker got last Friday.

A MOST UNBELIEVABLE:
Young Will estalling hiding inside one of the lockers in the boys' locker room.

Denton Tynan having a fist fight with Winton Terrill.

Chris Ries and Glancy Hall not speaking to each other for a week.

Helen Gibson, our editor, not using a typewriter for one month.

This column's being good for a change.

Clifford Hall, a State College senior, will be basketball coach for Milne this year. Cliff is captain of the State College team this year. He is a fine fellow, liked by everyone, and he is sure to be a good coach.

It will not be long before the Red and Gun Club will be well on its way again. I suppose you all know just what the boys do in this club. If you are thinking of joining it (which is a very good idea) just see "Edith" Freihofer or Coach Baker and they will give you the details.

FIVE TO ATTEND SCHOENECTADY GYM MEET FOR GIRLS TODAY

Today at one o'clock five girls from Milne will journey to Schoenectady where they will attend a gym meet at Mount Pleasant High School. Barbara Brachenough, Christine Ries, Joan Cun- brick, Sally Ryan, and Olive Vroman are the girls who will meet with other high school girls of the capital district. They will perform before all the physical education directors of the capital district. Miss Hitchcock will accompany the girls.

Varsity hockey began last Friday with the practice at Beverwyck. There will be no practice today because of the gym meet. Milne girls are rejoicing over the fact that in about a week the new hockey equipment will be in use.

The diving class which meets every Monday at six o'clock would like some new members. Anyone interested in joining may see Miss Hitchcock.
