MANY ACTIVITIES IN BOYS' GYM CLASSES

Coach Baker has been more than pleased at the attendance at the boys' gym classes. The boys have a choice of playing football or baseball. When cold weather comes, they may choose riding, swimming, basketball, Rod and Gun Club, or regular gym work. Since there are so many activities to choose from, we feel that each person assigned to a gym class should go to every class that he can.

SOCIAL SCIENCE CLASSES ARE WELL UNDER WAY

The social science classes are now getting under way. The 7A class has a project on planning. The seventh grade has a reading period on Friday every week, during which members may read any novels or travel books pertaining to social science.

MISS WHEELOCK, NEW ASSISTANT LIBRARIAN

The new assistant librarian is Miss Ruth Wheelock. Miss Wheelock graduated from State College in 1929. She then taught at Oakwood School in Poughkeepsie, New York. Last year she earned her B.S. degree in Library Science at State College.

JUNIOR COUNCIL HAS OPENING SESSION

The 1934-35 Junior High School Student Council opened its season last Friday with Wilson Hume as presiding officer.

The first business of the day was to elect a vice-president and secretary. The nominees for vice-president were John Hawkins and Lois Nesbitt. Lois was elected by a majority vote. Both nominees are from Homeroom 124.

The nominees for secretary were: Gordon Robinson, Peggy Jones, John Hawkins, and Mildred Mattice. Peggy was elected.

There was a discussion of the Junior High budget. Appropriations for clubs and parties were voted upon and approved.

The approving and chartering of clubs was discussed. The following clubs were approved:

Beginners' Dancing
Biology (ninth grade)
Boys' Shop
Boys' Tumbling
Dramatics
Traffic
Typing

The etiquette, sewing, and stamp clubs were not decided upon, and the Sports Club was temporarily rejected.

Milton Creesy made a report of the Traffic Club. There are seventeen members in the club, representing almost every home room.

JUNIOR NEWS
"BooT-Wishes" to Marjorie Pond:

Marjorie Pond, known to her friends as "Furry," returned to Milne last Monday after a serious illness. Her friends hope she will catch up speedily with her group.

CHOOSING A CLUB

Once again the time has come to choose the clubs which we want to join. There are several points to consider in making this decision, and the first in importance of these is a consideration of what club offers attractions that are suitable for you.

Sewing, etiquette, debate, newspaper, and dancing clubs are among those offered. If no club on the list is just what you want, start a club which suits you.

Be sure that the club you enter is not too crowded. A few make a club; a few too many make a mob.

HONOR STUDENTS

Perhaps you noticed in last week's issue of this paper, an article under the headline, "Hazel Roberts Heads Last Year's Honor List." In it were the pupils' names who had ranked highest in scholastic standing last year. Would you like your name to be on that list next year—or perhaps to head it? Certainly you would! But to do it you must work hard and get good marks. The persons whose names were on that list did not get honors by playing in class, disobeying rules, and not doing the work assigned them; they got them by cooperation, with their teachers and supervisors, and by showing their interest in school activities. If you do all this and really try hard, you will certainly be one of the pupils who have the highest scholastic standing in your grade.

If you keep up the good work through high school, you may win a scholarship to some college. Do you want to be a success? If you do, now is the time to begin.

LET'S STAMP ON THE LIBRARY

"There is no fright like a book To carry us to lands away..."

-Emily Dickinson

And in the library there are some new books whose titles alone carry us to lands away. There is always a rush for good new books, so let's make a fifty yard dash to the second floor, let's stampede the library for one of the new books.

NEW BOOKS ADDED TO JUICE HIGH LIBRARY

Here is the list of books that Miss Eaton bought especially for the Junior High School:

Books for boys are:

- David Blaise - Benson
- David Blaise and the Blue Door - Benson
- Sun-up - Will James
- Prodigious Hickey - Johnson
- Skipxjy Bedell - Johnson
- Penrod - His Complete Story - Tarkington

Books for girls are:

- Ijine Alive - Fayerweather
- Anne's Surprising Summer - Allee
- Calico Bush - Rachel Field
- Forgotten Daughter - Snedecker
- No Surrender - Sterne
- Aramanthia (sequel) - Sterne
- Swallowdale - Ransome
- Land of Promise - Lynn

CHARACTER SKETCH

If you think you have guessed the person described, write your name and solution on a sheet of paper and give it to Miss Moore. The name of the winner will be announced in the following issue.

He (or she) is a very smart person in all his (or her) studies, being on the HONOR ROLL last week. His hair does not lie exactly flat on its head. It was present at the last student council meeting. Have a care when you meet this noble personage because he (or she) holds your future in his (or her) hands.
NINTH GRADE TO HAVE MASCARADE PARTY

The ninth grade homerooms are planning to have a masquerade party. Each homeroom will provide some kind of entertainment for the others; if possible the party will be held in the Page Hall Gymnasium in the evening.

JUNIOR COUNCIL HAS SPECIAL MEETING

The second meeting of the Junior student council was called on Tuesday at 3:30. The meeting was postponed from last Friday because of the absence of four ninth grade boy representatives.

Gordon Robison was appointed as senior council representative.

Professor Sayles requested the council to co-operate with him on Friday in keeping the school in order as the faculty supervisors will not be present.

It was decided that there would be two ninth grade program chairman, and two assistants. Those selected were John Hawkins and Robert Wheeler. The girls will be chosen on Friday.

Following this business the meeting was adjourned.

PLANS FOR MATH
CLASSES ARE MADE

Miss Goldina Bills, the mathematics critic, was born in Maryland, New York. She has been teaching in Milne for the last five years.

Right now the math classes are having tests. Later in the year, in connection with the social science department, the seventh grade classes will make a study of the mathematics that are used in the family.

NINTH GRADE HOMEROOMS
START BUNKING

The ninth grades plan to have bunking start on Wednesday. Room 233 began last Wednesday.

JUNIOR HIGH REPRESENTED
IN GIRLS ATHLETIC CLUB

This year the Junior High School has the honor of having four freshman girls in the G. A. C. These girls were admitted last year after they received their "G." They are: Hazel Roberts, Frances Seymour, Elizabeth Simons, and Virginia Tripp.

RIDING CLASSES BEGIN THIS WEEK

The riding classes started this week. The beginners' class is to be held at 3:30 on Tuesday. The advanced class will be at 2:30 on Wednesday.

GIRL SCOUTS ELECT LEADERS

The Milne Girl Scout Troop 20 elected officers at their first meeting, under supervision of their captain, Mrs. Douglas.

The girls who were elected patrol leaders are Betty Douglas, Marilyn McCormack, Dawn Winburn, and Susan Poole. Those to assist them are Betty Shultz, Ann Hunting, and Frances Seymour. As yet they have not elected the troop scribe and treasurer.

BOYS MAKE ARTICLES
IN SHOP CLASSES

The seventh grade boys are busy making wall shelves and square metal sugar scoops in their shop classes. The eighth grade boys, who are more advanced, are making different types of small boxes.

ENGLISH CLASSES SEE
"COUNT OF MONTE CRISTO"

The ninth grade English classes, under the supervision of Miss Moore, attended the moving picture, "Count of Monte Cristo." Class discussion concerning the picture took place today.

FIRST SCHOOL PAPER IN AMERICA HAD NO NEWS

The first high school newspaper published in this country started in 1829 at the Boston Latin School, the first secondary school in America.

It cannot really be called a newspaper because it contained no news, and had only one page on which were two stories, one beginning:

"There are some who question the propriety of pulling noses and call it an unmanly and unhandsome propensity; but in my opinion it is the noblest satisfaction a man can take on another man who has done him an injury," and ending with the moral, "Acquire impudence by some means or other and you will rise to eminence."

Comparison of that first newspaper with a modern high school newspaper shows the vast amount of progress made in 101 years.

OUR RECEPTION

Now, when nature is arrayed in brilliant colors, approaches the time when our equally gay school reception comes again.

For the benefit of the seventh graders, who as yet feel a bit strange and new, we will explain this first social event of the year. Its main purpose is to acquaint the seventh grade with the other members of the school and faculty. Usually a skit is given by the Junior High and one by each class of the Senior High, then dancing in the gym.

At a party "the more the merrier" always holds true; so come on, attend, and make it a good party.

CHARACTER SKETCH

There were so many correct returns from last week's character sketch of Wilson Hume, president of the Junior High School, that it is impossible to print all the names.

A BUSY HOUR

Smash! bang! a bell has just rung; and it's Milne Junior High lunch hour. The college students stand back against the wall as the Milne pupils rush by. The stairs creak beneath them, and the door casings stretch as they all try to enter the cafeteria at once. The traffic officers lift their voices in unison of protest but the hurrying crowd doesn't heed them. The chairs squeak, and the voices are raised so that Dr. Fredricks can't be heard when he makes a protest.

The food will wait for us; so let's make less noise and be a little more polite.

QUESTION BOX

Should we have a masquerade instead of a plain party for the reception?

Leta Smith: No, the reception should be more dignified than a masquerade would make it.

George Perrington: Yes, it would be a novelty for the School.

Alfred Scouler: Yes, it would provide more entertainment.

Sylvia Hygnes: Yes, it would be a change. It would give us a chance to use originality.

Adela Corwin: No, some people don't have costumes. It is fairer to the seventh grade to give them an ordinary reception as we had last year.

BOOK REVIEW

"Hepatica Hawks" - Rachel Field

On Hepatica's fifteenth birthday she was an "act" in a traveling freak show. Her only friends were her father, the giant; Miss Titania Tripp, the medium; the performing dog; and the monkey, Chi-chi. Like her father, Hepatica was a gigantic child, standing six feet.

Hepatica longed to be like other young people her age, and to have a good time with them.

Then a lively boy, near her age, joined the show. Hepatica became his friend and defender. Life was thrilling with Tony around. He never seemed to remember that she was a giant's oversized daughter.

But hard times came and at last the show was playing in a Dime Museum in New York City. One day while Hepatica was singing "Listen to the Mocking Bird" her marvelous voice reached the right ear and her show days were over. She received an audition at the Grand Opera and was successful.
A couple of weeks ago, up the venerable steps of Milne marched two vorily misinformed seventh graders. They went to their homerooms and waited. Finally the 8:10 buzzer sounded and the two seventh graders went dutifully to their classes where, in their minds, they were to "Get rid of nothing and learn something."

At last rang the eleven o'clock buzzer. Into the annex and cafeteria stormed the two hundred and two Junior High School students (the two being our seventh grade friends). At 11:30 they solemnly went back to their homerooms and waited—waited for twelve o'clock, to come so they could satisfy their thirst for knowledge and "Get rid of nothing and learn something."

At last came twelve o'clock, and the two seventh grade knowledge hunters marched down the halls of this honorable domain on the trail of math.

One o'clock—the fatal hour. Down to the locker room went the two young hopefuls. They stopped to deposit their books therein, then out of the building they went, and in their minds there was still much "nothing" and very little "something."

But strange...there were no other pupils about...awful thought! There was yet another class.

...and now the puzzle: are the two seventh graders on the N. R. A. or on just another strike?—Frank Steinhardt

NEW CLUBS HAVE BEEN FORMED

Two new clubs, The Girls' Shop Club and The Boys' Cooking Club have been formed. The Girls' Shop Club is primarily for the ninth graders although a few eighth graders have been admitted. The members are planning to have a bric-a-brac display.

BASKETBALL PRACTICE TO START SOON

Since school opened the boys have been playing football and baseball on the campus. Basketball is to start on November 1.

Last year's team was good, and a better one is expected this year. Everyone who thinks he has a chance of making the team is requested to come out for it. Those who have no uniforms should go to the coach's office where he may obtain them.

HOME ROOM NOTES

128 The pupils are planning to have Halloween party during Halloween week.
129 The class discussed the question, "Will all we have a masquerade or a regular dance for the reception?" The home-room voted in favor of the masquerade.
129 The class will meet every Tuesday. It has been decided to have an entertainment every other Friday.
121 Tuesday the class voted on a name for the home-room. The members decided to call themselves the "Knights of the Round Table." The president, Arthur Steinhardt, will be called king Arthur. Other members will receive names of knights and ladies of his court.

The committee for Halloween consists of Shirley Baldwin, chairman; Robert Bingham, Margaret Chase, and Stanley Baldwin. Margaret Chase and Charles Barnes were appointed to be the room committee.

428 The class members announce that the "Knights will let loose here very soon at a Halloween party."

NINTH GRADE FOOTBALL TEAM ELECTS OFFICERS

Last Tuesday afternoon the ninth grade football team elected the following officers: Frances Seymour, captain; Hazel Roberts, business manager; Elizabeth Simons and Virginia Tripp, advisory board.

The advisory board will assist the captain in choosing different members of the team. By next week the captain, with the aid of the board, will have chosen the team.

HOBBY EXHIBIT GIVEN BY ENGLISH CLASSES

The freshman—English class, which meets in Room 2E1 at ten o'clock is planning a hobby exhibit. Any pupil from the class who so wishes may bring a display of his hobby.

HALF-HOLIDAY ENJOYED

Milne High School students enjoyed a half-holiday yesterday because of the normal school conference held at State College. The delegates were entertained in the cafeteria from 11:00 to 1:00; consequently Milne High School students had to go home for lunch.
