Junior high boys will soon be seen counting their pennies and getting haircuts in preparation for the junior high spring formal. The affair will last from 6 to 11 P. M., and for the first time will be held in the Page Hall gym. The candidate is uncertain, but the semiformal is expected to be scheduled in May.

John Kinum, president of the Junior Student Council, has announced that there will be a $2 admission charge for either a couple or a member of the stag line. This charge is to enable the council to make it a better dance and encourage the boys to go with dates.

YANG 10 THE NEW

It's a wonderful world if you don't have anything to do, but some people have discovered that the universe is even more wonderful if you keep busy. So, your Crimson and White staff finds a new year ahead in which we'll be kept more than busy, putting out your paper the way you want it. It's not going to be an easy job to keep up the high standards and traditions that have always distinguished the Crimson and White, but we'll do our best.

Plenty of mistakes will be made and lots of times you'll wonder how such things can be overlooked, but just bear with us and don't forget that this is being put out by you Milmites, for you to read and enjoy. We'll welcome suggestions, and if you have a pet peeve about anything, let us know and we'll see what we can do about it. It's your paper—here's to the Crimson and White.

ON WITH THE NEW

Da season's Spring
Do ya dare what an young man's fancy turns to?
In fact, the entire population of Milne seems to move to Ridgefield to see the games after school.

Everyone likes to do a dance! Mary Alice Leete, Tom Eldridge; Carol McGrath, Bill Hayes; Carolyn Window, B. J. Thomas; Marlene Cooper, Bob Leslie; and Gifford Barry had a great time at the St. Andrew's Fellowship Dance.

Rosie Katzin and Mareia Cohn were seen at the ABC Fraternity dance, while Nancy Schonbrun and Adrienne Wissamitzen attended the Mu Sigma dance. Mona Bloomberg and Ray Cairns went to the Guidon and Officers' Ball at the Academy. Art Walker and C. B. Boynton, with their dates, attended the B.C.H.S. Junior Prom.

Joan Sternfield really went to town on her thirteenth birthday, when she entertained thirty-eight-of her classmates in her father's studio.

Anne Carleough, George Erwin, Sue Pelleier, and Dick Eldridge went to the Albany Country Club for dinner, then to a show, and later to Nancy Simmons' open house in an open house. We couldn't count the kids that came in and out, but everyone had a wunnerful time.

While wandering around Thompson's Lake, we bumped into Bennett Thomson, making like a tuneless trout were missing from one of our local streams lately, when Jo Milton went a-fishing.

Loudenville Minnites held a meeting to plan a canter. And of course just about everyone took in a movie. And of course just about everyone took in a movie.

And of course just about everyone took in a movie.

So Long for Now!

Errors Aid Tallies

The winning pitcher, John James, was at his best with opposing base-runners, quickly tightened up and got Farnan to watch a called third strike.

Italian Artist
Sends Paintings
To Dr. Taylor

Milne's second floor library exhibit holds an unusual story of an Italian artist and sculptor, Renzo Baraldi.

Dr. Wallace Taylor, social studies supervisor, became friends with Mr. Baraldi during World War II, while in Europe. Upon his return to the United States Dr. Taylor wrote to Mr. Baraldi asking him to send over some of his paintings. The artist complied with Dr. Taylor's request and sent over the paintings now on exhibit.

Dr. Taylor thought that anyone greatly interested in the pictures exhibited might send Mr. Baraldi packages of food and clothing because of the extreme scarcity of those articles in Europe today.

Some of the facts of the artist's life are: Renzo Baraldi was born in 1925 in Italy, and studied sculpture and painting at the Academy of Fine Arts in Florence. He was imprisoned for anti-fascism during the early part of the second World War, escaping in the uprising that overthrew Mussolini in June of 1944.

Many students in the art and home economics departments participated in preparation for the concert. What impressed Mr. York most was "The spirit of the kids." He wished to thank every person who had anything to do with the concert for their sincere cooperation.

To Demonstrate Art
Of Finger Painting

A finger painting demonstration will be given by professional artists for students attending the joint assembly Monday, May 3 in Page Hall.

The art room will be open for the rest of the afternoon to any students interested in learning more about the subject. "The whole idea is to get the students of the school interested in art through the finger painting medium," said Mr. Uter. The assembly is being sponsored by the Art Council.

Red Cross Sends
Boxes to Hospital

"Boxes for veterans' hospitals" is the latest project of the Milne Junior Red Cross. These shoe boxes are decorated by David's Shoe Department to be decorated by the homeroom representative, and filled by each respective homeroom. The boxes will be filled with such items as shaving cream, soap, toothpaste and other toiletries. Games, handkerchiefs, and any purchases or articles judged desirable will be included.

Charles McNutt: "A plaque is a good idea. I think it should be given in the hall by the main offices."

Roxanna Reynolds: "I'd like to see the plaque placed between the trees on the front of the campus."

Bill Wade: "No, I don't think we should have a plaque. There isn't any good location for it on the campus."

Joyce Hillocke: "Yes, we should definitely have one and it should be put up above the clock in front of Page Hall."

Doris Metzner: "Yes, in the plot of land between the Page Hall steps, and the exit of the girls locker room."

Lois Tewell: "We should have a plaque. A good place for it would be on the ground below Dr. Fisk's window."

Nancy Simmons: "I don't like the idea. I think we can find something better that will mean more for the Milne people."

Bill Hayes: "Yes, a good position would be on the wall in the main hall, near the guidance office."

Janet Hicks: "By all means a plaque. It should go in Mrs. Seuly's office."

Malcolm Haggerty: "If we have a plaque, it should go out on the playing field among the trees."

Bert Sackman: "Yes, it could be engraved on that blank slate above the large clock on the Page Hall.

Lee Dennis: "We should have a plaque and I'd like to see it down on the wall near the main offices."

Bill Smith: "I don't think a plaque is right and if we do want to put one up, the State College should decide what they should have instead, some sort of living memorial."

Roxanna Folleck: "Yes, I think it should be erected in the library around the librarian's desk."

Don Leslie: "It's a good idea. We should put it Where the sidewalks meet near the Page Hall steps."

Nancy Gotier: "We should certainly have a plaque. It would look nice beneath Dr. Fisk's window in the flower bed."

Alice Green: "Our war memorial plaque ought to go somewhere in the hall on the first floor."

Greg Angier: "Sure we should have a plaque and it ought to go out on the field between the trees, after all that's what they were planted for, isn't it?"

Put Barnes: "I think something other than a plaque would serve the purpose better. It would look nice beneath Dr. Fisk's window in the flower bed."

Jim Panton: "I'm all in favor for a plaque. Let's put it in the hall on the first floor. More people will observe it there."

Betty Pfeiffer: "A plaque is a nice idea. I think it should go out on the front of Page Hall building somewhere."
