THE MILNE SCHOOL

THE NINETEEN FIFTY
BRICKS and IVY

A REMINISCENCE PRESENTED BY THE SENIOR CLASS

THE MILNE SCHOOL

ALBANY, NEW YORK
Foreword

1950's Bricks and Ivy Staff has endeavored to capture by the process of pen, ink, and camera the very spirit that is Milne. The students have been our inspiration, and it is for them that this book was published. They are the faces in the photos, the writers of the wit, and the causes of the action captured herein. The students understand the humor and intellect entwined within the accounts of class and social affairs. They will generously share these memories with you who may thumb through these pages.

Dedication

In sincere appreciation of his friendly help and guidance,
We, the Class of Nineteen Hundred and Fifty, dedicate this BRICKS AND IVY to our friend and advisor, John Ralph Tibbetts.
"The entire Milne School staff hopes that this yearbook will remind you of the many happy and profitable days spent with us in all types of activities. We hope, too, that it will help incite you to practice the skill and attitudes which we attempted to assist you in acquiring by our examples and precepts. If the book accomplishes those things, the words of the Milne Alma Mater, 'We shall be joined in heart, never be far apart,' will have real meaning for us all."

Class History

Seventh Grade

We came, we saw, and we conquered! From an opening assembly on our first day at Milne, time passed all too quickly for the class of '50.

Homeroom presidents were elected with Lorraine Walker, Ted McNeil, and Barbara Leete holding the gavels. Thus began a five year reign for Ted.

We were the honored guests at the Annual Junior High Reception Dance. Proudly we sported name tags so we would be people instead of just little Seventh Graders to the upperclassmen. We showed our worldliness by doing the T-step about fifty times around the Lounge.

One of our first parties was the Hallowe’en Variety Show held in the music room. Ed Butler, Guy Miller, and Roelf Jennex performed magic tricks under the supervision of Mr. Francis Harwood, and Miss Gwendolyn Brown directed the boys in “Anchors Aweigh.” What’s Fred Waring got on them?

In December we decided that Dick Richardson should lead our class as its president. Some of our gals did themselves proud cheering on the J.V. squad. These experts were Anne Conigli, Lorraine Walker, Janet Hicks, and June Hauf.

Of course we can’t forget that math play put on by one of the sections. Homeroom 336 made our seventh year complete by playing “Skip to My Lou” in the music room during homeroom periods.

Eighth Grade

This was the year that the feminine half of the Class of ’50 discovered the masculine half of the Senior Class. The girls rounded out their campaigns by singing “Down the Field,” substituting Howard and Hunting for Yale and Harvard.

Our Hallowe’en Party turned into a gym meet when everyone decided that he would like to try tumbling on the Lounge floor! While some were attempting handstands, others were getting soaked dunking for apples.

The first of a long line of slumber parties was given by Nancy Gotier and Barbara Dewey. No one got any sleep, because we stayed up ’til the wee hours reading “Forever Amber.”

No wonder everyone looked so starry-eyed—it was our first formal. The girls were thrilled with their long gowns and flowers, and the fellows couldn’t believe that these were the same girls they showered with spitballs in the classrooms!

We all were as proud as punch to see our own classmates up on the Page Hall stage giving campaign speeches. Dave Bates won the title of Junior High Student Council President.

Ninth Grade

Big wheels in the Junior High! The first event of the year was the Junior High Reception Dance. June Hauf had some of the kids over before the dance for a dinner party. Afterwards everyone tramped out to “Jeff’s” house for “eats.” The fellows left at the shocking hour of 12:00, and then the gals settled down for a slumber party. What an evening!

Will anyone ever forget the class sleighride that turned into a hayride? Although there was no snow, high-spirited Mother Nature showered us with a downfall of rain.

The boys had a great year in athletics. We all turned out at six o’clock to see our Frosh basketball team play.

Dave Bates fulfilled his campaign promise with the long awaited clocks in the locker rooms. They were paid for by the “Clock Dance” held for the Junior High.

As we look back over our Senior year, and the years preceding it, we realize that we would never have been able to participate in or accomplish all the many things we have done without the aid of one special group, our class officers and advisors. Our officers have served us faithfully in their respective capacities, and we appreciate their hard work. We would like to thank our advisors for their efforts on our behalf and for their excellent guidance throughout the years.
A hard worker and always friendly, Put is the perfect man for a good argument.

Petite Pattie always has a lively smile for everyone she meets.
No one can deny that Dick has certainly earned a chauffeur's license and has often proved a friend in need.

Dave is the bowler of the class; though he's quiet, everyone knows and likes him.

We Seniors are a shop-worn bunch—
We’ve toiled and struggled hard—
’Til now the day has come for us
To leave with kind regard.

Farewell to thee, O battered books.
Farewell to all of “Eddie’s” nooks.
Farewell to brick and ivy walls.
Farewell to long and dusty halls.

We’ll miss you, tiny Senior Room—
You’ve done a lot to banish gloom.
We’ll miss your radio and vic,
Though we never learned to make them tic.

We’ll miss the spacious “Little Gym”,
We’ll miss Pierce Hall with lights so dim.
We won’t forget the memorial trees,
The refreshing touch of sand in the breeze,
Or the “literary” societies.

We’d like to take you all with us,
But that would cause an awful fuss.
So we’ll just bid a fond adieu—
Dear old Milne, how we love you.

REQUIESCAT IN PEACE

MARJORIE ANN POTTER, ’50
We left school that year looking forward to the next one when we would actually be members of the Senior High.

Tenth Grade

We came back to school saddened by the death of Paul Wolfgang. The Class established a prize to be awarded in his memory for the next ten years.

We made some new additions to our class in the persons of Nan Bird, Sonia Melius and Pattie Birkel.

Alec Pirnie was chosen as the capable leader of the Class of ’50 entering the Senior High.

We were introduced to biology and our first language classes. For weeks the walls rang with our happy voices singing “Yankee Doodle” in Latin and “Frère Jacques” in French.

The first Senior High affairs came with a Student Council No-Date Dance and the Hi-Y “Date by Weight Dance.”

Society rushes and banquets came and all pledgees gave sighs of relief when they found that initiations had been banned.

Finally that long awaited day came. Our class rings arrived and no matter how cold it was, we couldn’t bear to cover them up with our mittens.

In accordance with the usual custom, the boys found themselves being asked to the Quin-Sigma Dance by the girls.

June came and with it our first Regents exams. This made us feel important, but our knees were black and blue from knocking together in fright. Summer came as usual, and with it, Summer School.

Eleventh Grade

Juniors! My, but we were growing up! We came back to school with six new members of our class: Dianne Grant, Jay Lochner, Stephen Lochner, Douglas Heald, Shayla Scott and John Collins.

Class officers were elected. Ed Butler was President, Al Schramm assisted him, Helen Pigors served as Scribe, and Bob Lawton guarded the money.

The first dance of the year was a square dance, sponsored by the Hi-Y. Before the evening was out, we had managed to wipe up the Lounge with the seats of our pants.

One of our first big responsibilities was the Alumni Ball. It proved to be a great success, and this made us the proudest Juniors ever.

“Sound the bells! Air raid! Duck for cover!” These were cries heard in one of the world history classes. How can we ever forget crawling under the tables on our hands and knees? Allan Schramm’s whistle sure came in handy. It’s a wonder the tables are still standing, the way we hammered on them for sound effects.

Next came the flood of 1949. We came to school one day to find water two inches deep in the girls’ locker room. To make matters worse, the water ran down into the big gym. It seems a water main broke. We were all ready to make an ark and sail over to “Eddie’s.”

Broadway, here we come! Can we ever forget the C.S.P.A. Convention? It was such fun: going to the Smorgasbord; getting an “under 16” ticket to go to the top of the Empire State Building; and Judy Horton having a $9.00 windblown haircut from Charles of the Ritz.

Our last Spring Concert was fun to produce and the results were well worth all the work.

The C & W Showboat Dance came, and the new Bricks and Ivy and Crimson and White staffs were announced. Ellie Jacobs became editor of the newspaper and Jay Lochner, chief of the yearbook.

History was made in Milne that year. An epidemic of measles started and soon everyone was seeing spots.

Formals! Such glamor with the Junior Prom and Q.T.S.A.! The girls couldn’t imagine that next year it would be their turn to be the lucky girls on the Queen’s court.

The Senior Class Will
Class of '50

We, the Class of 1950, being of sound mind and long memory (we hope), do solemnly make, publish and declare this to be our last will and testament. To wit:

In The Senior Room, we leave those well-worn elbow holes in the Washington Avenue window sills to all those midnight risers who think it's clever to peer at everything and anything.

To future editors of the Crimson and White, Eleanor Jacobs and Nan Bird leave a long burning candle which they know will surely be needed.

Our blond lover, Dick Briggs, leaves his many "lines" to those affectionate underclass wolves.

Those two "Swoon Kings" of the Senior Class, Ed Butler and Ted McNeil, leave their unknown attractions to those unfortunate males who never have succeeded.

If Cynthia Tainter and Mary Alice Leete can find Larry Walker's and Bobbie Leete's energetic athletic formula, they may keep it.

We wish to keep Barbara Dewey all to ourselves, so we are taking her with us. Janet Hicks leaves the secret sparkle in her big brown eyes to Jane Carlough.

Our Toni twins, Roelif Jennex and Al Schramm, leave their box of curlers to Bob Page and Dee Parker.

To all those struggling young pianists, Marlene Cooper leaves her patience and many achievements.

That Ipana smile of Nancy Shaw goes to Jo Ann Milton.

As our final bequest, we leave Billy Mosher, our little Mr. Fix-it, in the Senior Room to keep the radio-vic in good repair.

Signed, sealed and delivered, in this the year of our departure, one thousand nine hundred and fifty. Witnessed by the following:

Joan Clark,
Judy Horton,
Nan Bird,
David Bates,
Putnam Barnes.

Prophecy

Casting our gaze northward, we find that the distinguished judge, Put Barnes, has been elected president of the Chamber of Commerce of the state of Maine.

David Bates has achieved the rank of President of the United States. He's the one who can do it after his experience at dear ol’ Milne.

Little Leila Berkowitz is now an eminent psychologist. Her offices are open only to Milne alumni, but does she do a big business!

Nan Bird is now editor of the New York Times. She has done away with all current news and has made the paper a fashion newspaper for women.

The kindergarten class has Pattie Birkel as its teacher. Those children don’t know how lucky they are.

Dick Briggs has finally graduated from medical school. He isn’t a bit discouraged about his slow progress. It seems every year a group of pretty nurses entered the hospital, and Dick flatly refused to graduate until the nurses left.

Ed Butler is selling newspapers all over the Capital District. On windy days he avoids the outskirts and concentrates on the “skirts.”

Bernie Campbell is constructing his own rocket ship in his spare time from the remains of his motorcycle.

Joan Clark is coaching a girls’ hockey team. It is rumored that in an attempt to create her own team, she was responsible for the formation of Clarksville.

Marcia Cohn’s favorite motto is “The whole tooth and nothing but the tooth” for she is now an experienced dental hygienist.

John Collins has been voted the nation’s number one clown. When asked how he got his start in the business, he replied, “Where else but Milne?”

Anne Coniglio is now a pharmacist at a well-known drugstore. News around town is that she filled ten prescriptions the other day, and nine people passed away.

Marlene Cooper is writing, directing and producing her own television show. There are no guest stars because Marlene’s many talents fill in the blank spots.

Helen Cupp has been chosen by Good Housekeeping Magazine as the housewife of the year. She sews, knits, cooks, and even finds time to be a sports enthusiast. What more could a husband ask?

“Patients in my business is the means of success,” says Dr. Fred Dalldorf.

Barbara Dewey was being sued in court for an automobile accident. The plaintiff charged her personality and sparkling eyes blinded him, and he consequently lost control of the car.

Dawn Dodge is attending school in the South. She claims those Southern men sure are smooth.

Leon Feinburg is now owner of a bakery. He has named his doughnuts “Fearless Feinburg’s Frosted Friedcakes.” The price is six for a dime and ½ doz. for 10¢.

Jimmy Gayle is now campaigning for the position of Governor of Texas. He spends all his time kissing the babies—those over 21, that is.

Adrienne Gewirtzman is wowing them on Broadway. Her show has run five years now, and she’s still refusing those Hollywood offers.

Helene Good has a job as a night watchman. Now she can sleep all day and work all night.

Fleisher’s Knitting Mills now employs Nance Gotier as a designer of argyle patterns. Her own family acts as her testing ground for her creations.

From Washington comes the report that our government is considering the cattle king, dairy farmer, and world renowned agricultural scientist, James Gould, for the post of Secretary of Agriculture.

Dianne Grant has been voted “The girl most likely to be married in the West Point Chapel.” She really wows those college men.

“Happy Mal” Haggerty is now the proud owner of the world’s largest garage, where he may be seen getting his fleet of hot rods ready for the stock car races.
Jan Hicks now plans entertainment for those who are lucky enough to be guests of the Stork Club. Her stories of life at Milne are the feature attraction.

Judy Horton was horseback riding when she thought up a new food called “Horton’s Horrible Huckleberry Hash.” The last person to eat some of “Horton’s Horrible Huckleberry Hash” was unable to make any comment.

Paul Hubbs is still the teenager’s “dream man.” He blames his success on having two teeth pulled.

Eleanor Jacobs won first prize in a literary contest for her masterpiece, “Eleanor’s Elaborately Exclusive Encyclopedia of Exciting English Exiles.” She was awarded two bushels of spit-balls and a one-way trip to Egypt by pogo-stick.

Rolfenn Jennex now manufactures a new brand of cigarettes. The slogan is “Rollo’s Reducing Raleighs” or “The new way to Diet.”

Chuck Kritzler is now Treasurer of the United States. He loves to sign dollar bills and when asked about his job commented, “If you thought keeping Milne’s books was bad, you should try to balance these. Oh, brother!”

Bob Lawton is now the world’s best paid advertising man. He got his start writing slogans for the Loudonville Canteen.

To go with the all-American Football Team, an all-American Cheering Squad has been founded. The captain, of course, is Bobbie Leete.

Are there termites in your timbers? If so, call Harry Linindoll.

The philanthropist and doctor, Jay Lochner, has announced that he has purchased a publishing company to help all struggling yearbooks by charging half price.

Steve Lochner now owns a chain of movie houses. People say he’s even planning to buy the Madison.

Stuart Lotwin has become the professional golf champion of the world. He really keeps the caddies entertained with those tall tales of his.

Ted McNeil has originated a new sports page comic strip in which the characters say no words. We’ve heard he’s made millions.

Sonia Melius is now an expert cook. She attended college four years to learn all the modern recipes. Her husband’s favorite dish is one with fried bananas.

Guy Miller is now a Seaman First Class. He achieved this rank because of the part he plays in the line of duty. He’s the one who fights off the sea gulls.

Bev Orrett is continuing her role of taxi driver, only now it’s to take her thirteen children to and from school. Between trips she keeps up with her knitting.

Our most successful gal, Helen Pigors, has her name in Who’s Who. She recently discovered an amoeba with wings.

Doak Walker has had to step down to make room for Alec Pirnie, who is by far the best all-American Football Star yet discovered.

Margie Potter is editing a new edition of the encyclopedia so that future Milnites will be able to stump the student teacher, too.

The students in Professor Bill Rockenfeller’s class really have an easy time. With the new, long periods Bill sees no real reason for homework.

Schuyler Sackman is now a retired millionaire. He owes his fortune to his latest invention, a device that helps a basketball player to chew gum, to brush his hair back, and to shoot for a basket (and make it, of course) all at the same time.

“Lover” Allan Schramm can still be found in Ed’s, asking his old familiar question, “Do you have a date Saturday night?” This is the way Al approaches every gal who enters.

Milton Berle has resigned in favor of our Ed Scott who keeps his audience in stitches with his witty remarks and clever actions.

Shayla Scott is now a model for Lustre Cream shampoo. Her hair is the envy of every woman in America.

Nancy Shaw is knitting a sweater for her husband-to-be and has to finish it before he will marry her. She has invited us to the wedding about 1960.

Joan Siebert made the list of the ten best-dressed women in the United States. She edged out the Duchess of Windsor. That’s our girl Joany!

This year found the members of the Junior Class realizing the immensity of their responsibilities, and seeing them through to completion was a great satisfaction to all of us.

Coming back in September, we welcomed Doris Mehan and Allen Evans to our clan. Many of the boys went all out for football. They felt a little bruised at times but were completely happy and in their glory when they showed their hurts to the sympathetic girls. Barbara Tomlinson and Lois Tewell, our cheerleaders, were somewhat stiff after a whole summer, but they soon got back in condition.

In October and November we decided that school actually was in session and that this year most certainly would be one of hard work and sensible decisions. Many of us asked ourselves over and over again, "What am I gonna’ do when I graduate?" Our Junior year was full of tests and discussions with college faculty members and business executives, all helping us to answer these vital questions.

We began to feel really in the midst of things, taking an active part in our
The girls dreamed wistfully of former no-test gym classes, the boys struggled with slide-rules, and all anticipated Thanksgiving.

December came along, and the Alumni Ball hit us when we weren’t looking, but we gathered ourselves together under the leadership of Bob Callender and Robert Tewell, his assistant. We resolved to make the Ball perfect for our grads. Judy Traver reminded us of previous debates, otherwise known as class meetings, and Marion Siesel totaled up our expenditures. Topping the holiday festivities, Beverly Ball held an open house on New Year’s Eve.

We came back in 1950 full of zest and inspiration. Perhaps it was our New Year’s resolutions which we tried desperately to keep, or maybe it was the general idea that our Junior year was half over that spurred us on to greater things. Some honest-to-goodness snow, new teachers, and better marks were the rewards of our valiant efforts.

We attended the Inter-Society dances, ball games, bowling matches and other activities which are a real part of Milne. We always had a wonderful time.

When the year came to a close, we realized that we had had a superb year. None in the Class of ’51 will forget his Junior year at Milne!
So now we are Sophomores! Only so recently it seemed to be such a far-away goal. Yes, and along with being Sophs in the Senior High, we got the happiness and the headaches that go with it. Three new fields of endeavor—biology, geometry, and a foreign language were, by turns, fascinating, puzzling and suddenly (after it was all over) fun. A typical Soph conversation often ran something like this: “Did you understand what they were talking about in class today?” “No, it meant nothing to me either.” “Me neither!”

This year brought the society rushes. Quin’s was literally a Dreamland and Sigma featured a Fireman’s Ball. At the initiation banquets we proved our worth as entertainers to the upperclassmen. One of the events that will always stand out in our memory was the Quin-Sigma Dance. It was the first year that we were allowed to go to the dance, and it certainly was worth waiting for.

Attending games was an exciting part of our year, too. Many of the boys in our class did a splendid job in a great variety of teams. Mary Alice Leete and Sandra Dare made peppy cheerleaders on the Varsity Cheerleading Squad. We all turned out to cheer our classmates in football, basketball, baseball and track, and they certainly deserved it.

Our Sophomore year was the most fun ever, and we shall always remember it. It was this year, too, that we acquired our class rings. To us, they were the symbol of the sophistication that came with entering the "worldly" Senior High. The strangeness we had felt during this year has left us, and we have found our place. We look forward with anticipation to next year when we will be Juniors!

JUNIOR MALE CHOIR

SENIOR CHOIR

As do-re-mi’s drifted down the hall, we knew that the Music Department was in full swing. The Music Council was formed. David Bates was elected President; Dick Flint, Vice-President; Harold Vine, Secretary; and Doris Wise, Treasurer.

Our choir did a really wonderful job at the Christmas Show, singing a group of Christmas songs. They were joined by the Junior Boys’ Choir in “Oh Come All Ye Faithful.” Throughout the rest of the year they entertained us at assemblies and at Graduation. During the class period they worked at A Capella singing and sight reading. The librarians who did such a grand job were Mary Panton and Kathleen Kelly.

Our Band distinguished itself by playing at our basketball games and assemblies. This is the first time in recent years that we have had such a pleasure. Although the greatest percentage of the band was composed of underclassmen, they certainly showed us how to make beautiful music together and gave much promise for the future.

The Music Department is one to be proud of, and this year it has proved to be a great addition to our school.
Art Council

This year we have seen signs of the Art Council every day without knowing it. They made their usual posters for the Annual Card Party, Senior Play, and every dance or activity that took place during the year. Posters made for National Brotherhood Week also proved a great success.

Mr. Popolizio introduced etching to us on a much wider scale, and with the press made by Jack Magrew, many fine etchings were turned out.

A committee of council members passed all art work done and were largely responsible for the fine Art Exhibit of students' work which was held in the Lounge.

The Council added this year's names to the M.G.A.A. Mural and worked on finer block prints. With Mr. Popolizio's able assistance many fine works were created.

During the past year, the Hi-Y’s list of accomplishments has been greater than ever before. The first event took place at the “Y” on Burden Lake. Milne members attending were Edgar Scott and Harry Linindoll, the latter acting as Vice-President. This meeting was for future officers of Hi-Y’s throughout the state and has helped the boys to have a more constructive program.

Second on the schedule was the Schenectady Conference. Robert Callender and Richard Lewis were the delegates who presented our bill at this meeting. The bill proposed the lowering of the legal voting age to 18, and was the most discussed bill at the conference. The delegates passed the bill for presentation at the Albany Assembly held in the Capitol and Education Buildings later in the fall. Richard Lewis, David Bates and Edgar Scott represented us at this assembly.

The first Hi-Y banquet in our history held at Keeler’s Restaurant at the beginning of the second semester was one of the highlights of the year. Ernest Whitfield was chairman of this affair. The initiation of several new members provided an entertaining evening.

The Hi-Y was fortunate this year in having two very cooperative sponsors—Mr. Earl Flatt, a student teacher, and Mr. Clinton Roberts of the Milne History Department. Mr. Roberts helped us a great deal with the bill we presented at the Schenectady conference.

Our officers for this year were President, Edgar Scott; Vice-President, Harry Linindoll; Secretary, Putnam Barnes; Treasurer, Ronald Vanderburgh; and Chaplain, Richard Briggs. The officers enjoyed working with the members and hope that next year will prove to be an even better year for our organization.

Student Council elections finally came. Dave Bates was elected President with Bobbie Dewey, Bobbie Leete and Chuck Kritzler also winning offices.

The end of the year was in sight, and we planned a Junior Class picnic at Jim Gould's camp on Saratoga Lake. Who could ever forget the watermelon race?

Exams and Regents came all too fast, and before we knew it we were out of school and were looking forward to next year as "big" Seniors.

Twelfth Grade

And so with the Senior Room about to be ours, we entered our last year at Milne. We didn't miss the opening assembly as much as we might have because Page Hall was at last getting its face lifted.

Bill Mosher finally fixed the Vic in the Senior Room. The only record we had was "I've Got a Lovely Bunch of Coconuts." It turned into one of our many theme songs. Our English teacher was quite surprised one day when we sang another of "our" songs, "Just Because You Think You're So Pretty," right in the middle of a tough test, and the chemistry department will never forget "Can I Make H₂SO₄ With You?"

Because it was our last Hallowe'en, we decided to paint the town red. We visited everyone from Dr. Fossieck to our student teachers. The fellows lighted railroad flares to illuminate the signs on Nancy Shaw's front lawn.

"Don't shoot till you see the whites of their eyes!" was the battle cry on Judy Horton's hayride. Someone brought along two bushels of green tomatoes and soon they were flying at a convoy of Milnites who just "happened" to come riding along.

This was the year that many of our classmates donned uniforms, chemistry coats that is. Khaki is really such a flattering color!

B. J.'s slumber party proved to be an open house for the boys. Poor Mrs. Thomson, will she ever recover?

With the first snow and Christmas came the Winter Whirl and the Alumni Ball. It was hard to realize that next year we would be alumni.

As College Boards approached, we suddenly began to realize that for us, college wasn't too far off.

Basketball season gradually came to a close. We'll never forget the wonderful lone victory over Plattsburg. Our own Ted McNeil and "Sky" Sackman made "Team of the Week."

We neared what we hoped was Broadway sophistication with our Senior Play, "Best Foot Forward." We still can't see how Mr. Christy stood up under those crazy rehearsals, but when the big moment came, we were happy because the audience seemed to think the play was just as funny as we did. "Larry," Walker topped the evening off with an open house which brought back memories of other open houses this year, the first of which was given by Dawn Dodge.

With the end of the year came the rush of formals, exams and the ultimate goal of our six years—Milne Graduation.

Ward Tracy is constantly working on new methods to make the Loudonville bus late. He is, however, being hindered by a lack of cooperation on the part of the Traction Company.

Ronnie Vanderburg is Milne's latest physical education teacher. He is trying to persuade the faculty that he can teach the girls as well as the boys. The faculty has a different idea. They're afraid he'll combine business with pleasure!

"Larry" Walker's kindergarten class has just won the intra-city schoolboy football clash. The team was coached by "Larry" herself and was entered in the Junior Midget class.

Ernie Whitfield's Olympic skiing team is now the tops. They've won for the last five years and we bet they'll win for the next five, too.
