Honors Society on the Move

N. H. S. Presents "The Conference"

"The Conference," a State College folk-singing group, will perform at Milne on December 16, at eight o'clock. The concert is being sponsored by the National Honor Society as one of the major programs for the year. The ensemble has performed widely in this area at cafes and other concerts. Admission for the concert will be $1.00 for both adults and students. Proceeds from the performance will go towards financing National Honor Society activities such as the Lincoln Center programs sponsored last year.

Latin Club Meets After 25 Yr. Lapse

Saddle-making will be one of the first activities of the Latin Club, after twenty-five years of quiescence.

NYC City can expect a visit from this club this spring. Besides this goal, other projected projects include a dance for Saturnalia, a Roman holiday in December, and slides of Rome. Consult prima (president) is Mary Moore, council secunda (vice-president), Laura Harris, scraba (secretary), Agnes Zalay; quaestor (treasurer), Stu Welch, and cancellia (assistant), Mrs. Wilson, currently a supervisor of Latin I, II, and III, has filled in twice before at Milne for supervisors on sabatical leaves. She received her masters degree in classics from SUNYA.

Great Coin Robbery

Over $500 worth of coins were stolen from a first floor showcase during the weekend of November 4. The display was set up Friday night for exhibition throughout most of November.

Several members of the club believe the thief executed the crime by sliding the locked showcase's glass a few inches enabling the culprit to wiggle the coins out of the case. Sto'n loot featured a nearly complete mercury dime set insured for $490 and American coins, some valued at over $75. In addition to extravagant loot, the thief also took many unimportant and valueless coins.

English Classes Produce Play

Five drama students from SUNY Albany received a first prize and an honorable mention in the annual sponsored play. The theme was "The New Morality"—left to right, seniors Rich Ciofu, Jim Beaeter, Mariva Barski, Peggy Bulger, and Reid Golden.

Moore, council secunda (vice-president), Laura Harris; scraba (secretary), Agnes Zalay; quaestor (treasurer), Stu Welch, and cancellia (assistant), Mrs. Wilson, currently a supervisor of Latin I, II, and III, has filled in twice before at Milne for supervisors on sabatical leaves. She received her masters degree in classics from SUNYA.

"KISMET" DEALS WITH FORTUNES

"Kismet" will be the theme for this year's Card Party. The Card Party, which is sponsored annually by the Senior Class, will take place Wednesday, November 29, at 7:30 p.m. in Page Gym. The initial $250 profit will go to the Senior Class Council.

General chairperson for the Card Party is Liz Bartlett with Kathie Siebert as co-chairman. Other chairmen and co-chairmen include: Sandy Herbz, Agnes Zalay, treasurer; Mr. Smith, secretary; Larry Binder, business; Faye Abrams and Dottie Lambs, tickets; Marie Hazap and Ellie Ainspan, publicity.

Also, Linda Lockwood and Sandy Jablonski, hostesses; Cathy Levitt and Barbara Gallo, decorations; Sue Schorr and Lorraine Rovelli, entertainers; Jon Goldfarb and Vicki Vice, and Margaret Diggs, refreshments; Mariva Barke, Paula Rosenkopf, Sandy Blumberg, and Ellie Schmidt, bake sale; Alar Lerner and Bob Kaye, chairmen; Jon Pitts and Bob Schaefer, tables; and Mike Cali and Bill Kachachouian, clean-up.

Fashion Chemistry Explodes!

Page auditorium stage will serve as the laboratory for a dynamic FHA fashion show entitled "FASHION CHEMISTRY" presented today by Miss Mary Roscoe of the Simplicity Pattern Company's Educational staff. Twenty-three positive reactions, especially designed for teens, will be modeled by Milne co-eds.

"ELEMENTS FOR SEPARATES" include the eureka explosion of gold and blue for a new spontaneous fashion reaction. "JUMPER AND ANALYSIS" will be highlighted in a group of school fashions showing new and fresh combinations.

"THEORY OF CLASICS" follows the formula of line and design as related to mixtures of color and texture.

"DRESS DATA" is now computed so it can be developed from casual dates to special events. Braids and bandings, fancies and chevrons will all be featured.

Fashion Chemistry Explodes!

Page auditorium stage will serve as the laboratory for a dynamic FHA fashion show entitled "FASHION CHEMISTRY" presented today by Miss Mary Roscoe of the Simplicity Pattern Company’s Educational staff. Twenty-three positive reactions, especially designed for teens, will be modeled by Milne co-eds.

"ELEMENTS FOR SEPARATES" include the eureka explosion of gold and blue for a new spontaneous fashion reaction. "JUMPER AND ANALYSIS" will be highlighted in a group of school fashions showing new and fresh combinations.

"THEORY OF CLASICS" follows the formula of line and design as related to mixtures of color and texture.

"DRESS DATA" is now computed so it can be developed from casual dates to special events. Braids and bandings, fancies and chevrons will all be featured.

Fashion Chemistry Explodes!

Page auditorium stage will serve as the laboratory for a dynamic FHA fashion show entitled "FASHION CHEMISTRY" presented today by Miss Mary Roscoe of the Simplicity Pattern Company's Educational staff. Twenty-three positive reactions, especially designed for teens, will be modeled by Milne co-eds.

"ELEMENTS FOR SEPARATES" include the eureka explosion of gold and blue for a new spontaneous fashion reaction. "JUMPER AND ANALYSIS" will be highlighted in a group of school fashions showing new and fresh combinations.

"THEORY OF CLASICS" follows the formula of line and design as related to mixtures of color and texture.

"DRESS DATA" is now computed so it can be developed from casual dates to special events. Braids and bandings, fancies and chevrons will all be featured.

Fashion Chemistry Explodes!

Page auditorium stage will serve as the laboratory for a dynamic FHA fashion show entitled "FASHION CHEMISTRY" presented today by Miss Mary Roscoe of the Simplicity Pattern Company’s Educational staff. Twenty-three positive reactions, especially designed for teens, will be modeled by Milne co-eds.

"ELEMENTS FOR SEPARATES" include the eureka explosion of gold and blue for a new spontaneous fashion reaction. "JUMPER AND ANALYSIS" will be highlighted in a group of school fashions showing new and fresh combinations.

"THEORY OF CLASICS" follows the formula of line and design as related to mixtures of color and texture.

"DRESS DATA" is now computed so it can be developed from casual dates to special events. Braids and bandings, fancies and chevrons will all be featured.
Experiment 124

Room 124 is the setting for an experiment which could change the whole order of things at Milne. The operation of what is commonly called the senior room has become a test case of student self government.

Three of the five Milne faculty members revised the old set of rules governing use of the senior room which placed most of the responsibility for running the room on the faculty. Among the changes were the omission of the letter of application to use the room and the achievement grade restrictions. Two out of three members, in one marking period, however, still prevent use for four weeks.

"Keep it cool and keep the senior room," was the slogan which a student committee for the senior room come up with to express the rule governing the room—common sense.

This committee is responsible for the condition of the senior room and the conduct of its occupants. At least one member is present before and after school and during all study halls.

But what does all this mean to you underclassmen? The success or failure of this experiment will affect you as you progress through Milne. The attitude of those in positions of responsibility toward student self government will depend in part upon the outcome of this test case.

Perhaps other organizations, especially student council, can follow the lead of the senior class toward self government. A beginning might be student supervision of the lunchroom or a meeting of the Student Faculty Committee.

Hey, Wrong Staircase!

Yes, Virginia, there is an "up" staircase at Milne. As well as a "down" staircase.

"What's that? You're surprised? You say you haven't realized that? That the horde of Milinites who merrily tramp up the "down" stairs and down the "up" stairs have confused you? Granted, it can be rather hard to keep your wits about you when faced with fifty students coming up at you three abreast as you try to descend the proper stairway. But try!"

Pardon me, Virginia. Oh, yes, it may seem that there are hundreds of Milinites who make a habit of employing the wrong stairway, but remember, might doesn't make right. So spread the word—do down, the staircase nearest Washington Avenue and the Art Room, and then go up the stairs on the side toward the Main Office and the library.

Please?

—L.H.

What a Pity

for the teacher who teaches last pattern and is in the middle of a sentence at 3:01.

for the last lunch shift who eat only what's left.

for the Stamp and Coin Club.

for the student with a pink slip and no excuse.

for the Senior Class and the guidance department when applying to colleges.

for the person who gets up the down stairs.

for the teacher who likes a quiet study class and gets all the practical jokes.

for the person who gets sick and wants to see the school nurse.

Russians Are Coming

Every year the Junior class is given the privilege of selecting books totalling $50 for use in the school library. Each member chooses a book which he delivers a sales pitch to give his fellow students a general idea about the contents of the book. When all reports are heard, the class votes to select the books they prefer.

The class of 1969 chose a variety of books to satisfy many interests. The book receiving the most votes was a letter to a friend by Svetlana. Runners up were Confessions of Nat Turner by John Stryon, Death of a President by William Manchester, Too Far to Walk by John Tensev, Trevilinka by Jean Francaise Steiner, Battle Cry by Leon Urs, The Prize by Irving Wallace, and Fear on Trial, by John Henry Faulk.

When the books arrive, they will be reserved for juniors until the end of this year. Then they will be filed with the other Milne books for general use. Inside the cover of each book will be a plate acknowledging the student who recommended the book.

—Linda Bolog

Let's Reconsider

Towards the end of last year a different type of government was put into effect. The students in the senior high were to govern themselves before and after school and during lunch. At the time, this change seemed appropriate and profitable. Milne is an experimental school where new ideas, such as self-government, are tried. The students and faculty were both impressed by this system and were willing to try it.

Now, this year, this self-governing system is no longer in use. The Student Council recently voted it out and we are back to being supervised by the faculty. The atitude of those in position of responsibility toward student self-government are tried. The students and faculty were both impressed by this system and were willing to try it.

No! We are the most oversupervised school in the country and we have to be. If we can take on the responsibility to run a student council, support an orphan, and organize and preside over the many clubs we have, then surely we can perform the simple task of eating lunch unsupervised. We have the ability to govern ourselves and we should.

The council was too abrupt in its decision concerning this new system. It was never given the time to work. Now with the new schedule and three lunch shifts, sometimes four, this system would be most profitable to the students as well as to the faculty. We are not orphans, and we are not children; so, let's act accordingly.

—R.H.

It's What's Happening

Nov. 22: M.B.A.A. Dance, live band. Page Gym: 7:30—11:00 p.m.

Nov. 29: Card Party, Page Gym: 7:30 p.m.

Dec. 1: Assembly: University Band: 11:16 p.m.

Basketball game at Maple Hill: 7:00 p.m.

Dec. 7: Band Concert, SUNY, Page Hall; 8:30 p.m.

Dec. 8: Basketball game at Voorheesville; 7:00 p.m.

Dec. 11: Civic Music Association of Albany; Albany High School: William Hollander, pianist; 8:30 p.m.

Dec. 12: Basketball game at Averill Park; 6:30 p.m.

Dec. 15: Basketball game at Waterford; 7:00 p.m.

Dec. 18: National Honor Society Folk Concert; Page Gym.

Who Said It?

The sports editor got a lot of response from his crossword puzzle; so, I'm stealing his idea. At least I give credit where credit is due. The first person to identify the following quotation, and the time of his life at which he said it will receive four inches of space, in the next issue, to express himself. (So I don't have to worry about filling four inches.) Hint: His initials are the same as that of a local supermarket.

—The Editor

"Let the voice of the people be heard."

How many of you have ever written to your foster child? Do any of you even know where or how he lives? Probably not, because to most people in Milne, Fabio is a joke; but it means nothing to any of you. Maybe you would change your attitudes if you knew something about him.

Here we are, living comfortably, with plenty to eat and all the rest. On the other hand, Fabio, in Gogota, Colombia, living in a two-room "house" without heat in a country where at least one blanket is necessary during the hottest part of the summer. As a result of sickness, problems at home, and a lack of incentive, Fabio is spending his second year in the fourth grade. In July his father died, leaving a wife and nine children. Aside from our aid, the family income is less than $25.00 a week. Thanks to our monetary help they have been able to buy much needed clothing, shoes, and food. But worse, Fabio is very much alone.

This is where we come in. Our $100.00 a book with schoolings and a few necessities for his family. But our obligation does not end with his choosing.

To Fabio, to all the foster children, the fact that someone in the great United States, someone whom they have never even seen, cares and loves them is extremely important. These children look to their foster parents for encouragement, that extra push.

In Fabio's situation, several of his schoolmates have become foster parents, two apace, and they receive letters all of the time, and as "corny" as they may be, these letters are their most cherished possessions. Fabio, with more than 400 foster parents, has received one letter in the last year and a half! Believe it or not, our cold lack of concern hurts him. We must show him some love.

So come on! Let's get up and show Fabio, and all the other foster parents, that we care, that we are thoughtful and decent bums who care for nobody but ourselves. Let's help him start all over. Show some interest in him; write letters; encourage him to do well in school; but, most importantly, show him that we care.

—James Beecher

LETTER

CRIMSON AND WHITE
Vol. XXXI
No. 2
November 22, 1967

Published by the Crimson and White Board, 200 School, Albany, New York. Address exchanges to the Exchange Editor and other correspondence to the Member of the Crimson and White Board.

Associate Editor.............Laura Harris

Editorial Editor Roz Hohenstein

Editorial Board

Editor-in-Chief.............Mary Moore

Assistant Editor.............Susan Cali, Vicki Smith

Sports Editor.............Barry Richter, Rick Otty, Paul Harymeyer

Photography Editor........Linda Bolog

Typing Editor.............Kathy Langer

Exchange Editor............Aaron Kuperman

Faculty Advisor.............Mr. Richard Lewis

Crimson and White Caucus

Member Columbia Scholastic Press Assn.

The Editorial Board

Associate Editor.............Laura Harris

Editorial Board

Editor-in-Chief.............Mary Moore

Assistant Editor.............Susan Cali, Vicki Smith

Sports Editor.............Barry Richter, Rick Otty, Paul Harymeyer

Photography Editor........Linda Bolog

Typing Editor.............Kathy Langer

Exchange Editor............Aaron Kuperman

Faculty Advisor.............Mr. Richard Lewis
J. V. Relies on Prospects

By RICK OTTY

On December Ist, the Maple Hill gym will be the site of Milne’s first basketball competition. Fans are expected at 7 p.m. when the jayvee team steps onto the court. Joe Hanley and others depend on the veteran players on this squad, with Lou having one year of freshman ball to his record. Joe has one year of freshman and two years of J.V. experience. With only two repeaters on the squad, the outlook may seem bleak, but last year’s freshman team held many prospects.

Although the 1965-66 team did not fare too well against their opponents, the experience the players derived should pay off. Mark Goldfarb, Al Goldfarb, Peter Lang, and Karl Rood should see much action along with Milstein and Hanley. As members of the successful ’65-’66 team, they will have the experience necessary in the forming of the J.V. Many of the experienced men have lacked the veteran players available to this squad.

The jayvee will also have another returnee in the form of Coach Robert Wallace. Mr. Wallace will be starting his second year of junior varsity basketball coaching this season. Working with the team in-season training, Mr. Wallace hopes that the running and weight work will build strength and endurance in the players.

The prospects for this year’s J.V. team will depend quite a bit on the depth derived from last season’s freshman ball squad. They will either add or subtract the needed drive to keep the 1967-68 quintet on the move.

To round out the rest of the team, Mr. Wallace has picked Peter DeLong, Al Goldfarb, Peter Lang, Steven Lerner, Gary Manasse, Larry Paten, and Brian Swartz. Last year’s jayvees are back, fans with and broke loose at the end of the season to chalk up a 10-8 record. Let’s hope that this season’s squad will find the way sooner and come up with a better season.

G. A. A.

Cashew Treats, Mello Mints, and Pecan Treats are some of the mouth-watering names of the candies which the G.A.A. Council is now selling in RG4 for $1.00 per box. Proceeds will go toward G.A.A. awards.

Three different types of balls can tell the story of what’s happening in G.A.A.

Bowling balls will roll when girls’ intramurals at the Playdium. There is a sign-up sheet outside R03. Interscholastic intramurals start November 29 at 7:00 p.m.

G. A. A. Council is now selling one box of Interscholastic Intramural tickets outside R03. There is a sign-up sheet outside R03. Interscholastic Intramural intramurals start November 29 at 7:00 p.m.

Harrters Win Six Straight

By STUART WELCH

The prediction for a good season this year is in a safe hand The Red Raiders came home with their sixth straight sectional trophy. In winning the combined C-D-E race, the Harrters earned the honor of representing Milne’s section in the intersectional meet in Buffalo.

One of the important factors leading to the 5-2 record was the coaching by Mr. Ahr. Evidenced by a well-structured training program, Mr. Ahr’s ability was also put to the test when he joined his team in their workouts.

Highlights from this season would have to include individual standout Lou Ouetelle. Ouetelle’s first place at the league meet was probably his finest effort yet. Other factors which contributed to the winning team were the steady performances of Stu Welch and the welcome improvement of co-captains Brad Knipes and Rich Millard. Exceptional efforts were also put forth by senior Reid Golden and freshman Dean Karlalitis and Chris Baker.

The junior varsity also completed a successful season this year. The depth added by the jayvees was enough to sustain the varsity in time of need. The J.V. helped to Pitten the competition for varsity positions. These up-and-coming Harrters brighten the outlook for future squads.

With a relatively young team this year, the expectations for next season’s cross-country Harrters are high. Looking ahead, our young team promises even more victories and trophies.

1. CASIO
2. DANOER
3. NYITU
4. GITHM

Riddle Me This!

By JON GOLDFARB

Unscramble these four words, one letter to each square, to form four ordinary words.

Who is the YALE man? The Milne field was the scene of this year’s as members of the faculty joined together in continued efforts to deflect the football players.

Pecan Treats are some of the mouth-watering names of the candies which the G.A.A. Council is now selling in RG4 for $1.00 per box. Proceeds will go toward G.A.A. awards.

Three different types of balls can tell the story of what’s happening in G.A.A.

Bowling balls will roll when girls’ intramurals at the Playdium. There is a sign-up sheet outside R03. Interscholastic intramurals start November 29 at 7:00 p.m.

G. A. A. Council is now selling one box of Interscholastic Intramural tickets outside R03. There is a sign-up sheet outside R03. Interscholastic Intramural intramurals start November 29 at 7:00 p.m.

Harrters Win Six Straight

By STUART WELCH

The prediction for a good season this year is in a safe hand The Red Raiders came home with their sixth straight sectional trophy. In winning the combined C-D-E race, the Harrters earned the honor of representing Milne’s section in the intersectional meet in Buffalo.

One of the important factors leading to the 5-2 record was the coaching by Mr. Ahr. Evidenced by a well-structured training program, Mr. Ahr’s ability was also put to the test when he joined his team in their workouts.

Highlights from this season would have to include individual standout Lou Ouetelle. Ouetelle’s first place at the league meet was probably his finest effort yet. Other factors which contributed to the winning team were the steady performances of Stu Welch and the welcome improvement of co-captains Brad Knipes and Rich Millard. Exceptional efforts were also put forth by senior Reid Golden and freshman Dean Karlalitis and Chris Baker.

The junior varsity also completed a successful season this year. The depth added by the jayvees was enough to sustain the varsity in time of need. The J.V. helped to Pitten the competition for varsity positions. These up-and-coming Harrters brighten the outlook for future squads.

With a relatively young team this year, the expectations for next season’s cross-country Harrters are high. Looking ahead, our young team promises even more victories and trophies.

1. CASIO
2. DANOER
3. NYITU
4. GITHM

Riddle Me This!

By JON GOLDFARB

Unscramble these four words, one letter to each square, to form four ordinary words.

Who is the YALE man? The Milne field was the scene of this year’s as members of the faculty joined together in continued efforts to deflect the football players.
SCHOOL IS A LITTLE GRAY BOX

If you happen to see a sophomore boy walking down the hall carrying a weird little gray box with a plug attached, don't panic. It's only Gene Altus bringing Richard Green to class.

This past summer, Richard underwent back surgery, and is now confined to bed. So that he may be able to bring in and out material covering his tenth-grade classes, Richard is connected to the school by a voice box, which is attached to the different classrooms by a student with the same schedule as Richard to hear the teacher and to participate in class discussions. Its appearance in the Milne halls has caused much merriment and comment.

Usually quiet in class, Richard is a very strict disciplinarian, ever he cannot hear, because the class is being noisy, Richard admonished us on our misbehavior. As soon as the word "QUIET" issues from Mr. Green via the box, silence ensues.

After recovering from their initial shock, our student teachers have done a good job in helping Richard. For example, the geometry teacher sometimes forgets to "plug him out" when going over a test that Richard has not yet taken. However, Richard is very honest and always makes his "presence" known. The methods students in our English class, unaware of the purpose of the box, could not understand why teacher was talking to a small metal box. "So this is the kind of subject I'm majoring in." Hopefully, we will all see Richard wandering around the Milne halls in person soon. Then, we'll thank him for his kindness.

Conclusion

Saga of a Summer Voyage

Paris, although it is an exciting city culturally and architecturally, smells bad. The art of "take in the city culturally and architecturally, treating S.U.N.Y.A. As matters now contrast to his duty to a theocratic state. Milne hasn't attempted a natural well-developed. It is a city that everyone should see, but he should not expect a great deal of help from the average Puritan. The one sight that I recommend most highly is the Sainte-Chapelle, which is breathtaking.

From Paris, my sister Ruth and I took a chartered student flight to Copenhagen, which is a dreamland. We rented bicycles, the best way to travel and pedalled endlessly through this clean, friendly little of a city. The people were always kind, and every educated Dane speaks English. An interesting point about this city is that it has no street signs whatsoever.

From Copenhagen we took a plane to Athens to meet my parents and two other sisters. We spent almost two weeks in this city and then toured the Greek islands. The scenery of Greece is simply too beautiful to describe. In Athens, the ancient Greek civilization which we learned about in school is transported to and unsurprisingly admirable.

After our stay in Greece, Ruth and I left the rest of the family on their own and we returned to Paris. Again, the face-to-face contact with history sent shivers down my spine. Rome is a gorgeous city which is as captivating now as it was centuries ago, and the art of Florence knows no equal in the world. The Italians are as fiery and warm-hearted as in the movies—they are wonderful.

To end up our vacation, we lolled on the beach at Nice, then travelled up through France to catch our ship home at Le Havre. The people of Southern France made a better impression on me than did the Parisians. The scenery of the south of France is marvelous. The character of the French is not friendly, but people are kind, humorous, and eventually likable.

My trip to Europe taught me more about myself and the world than I have ever known. I came back to the United States a better person, a more mature student, and a better prepared citizen of the world. I count myself as for­merly a Milne hand-me-down.

Ruperta Hinch recently presented The Crucible, a two-act play by Arthur Miller. Recently shown in Paris, it is an exciting play to see. The French version was shot in color and Paris is a great setting. I recommend it to Milne.

Janet D'Andrea

Here and There

Aaron Kuperman

ONE VIEW OF PREP SCHOOL LIFE

For the last three years I attended the former preparatory boarding school in New York--Oxbridge Preparatory School--where I was known as a "crazy, wild prep." But all that has changed since I transferred to Milne Academy. Here I was known as "a Milne prep." But all that has changed since I transferred to Milne Academy. Now I am known as a "sane, well-behaved prep." But all that has changed since I transferred to Milne Academy. Now I am known as a "sane, well-behaved prep."

Phyllis Green

To Help a Child: A Special Project

How many Milne students are aware of the facilities of the Child Guidance Center in Richardson? The Center is one of the six highest ranking centers in the state for medical education and training purposes.

Directed by Dr. Lenore Salet, certified child psychologist, the Center's staff includes one full time child psychiatrist, one full time family psychologist, one full time social worker, one part time social worker and one full time child worker. The Guidance Center, a private agency, has 24 persons on its Board of Directors.

The name, Albany Child Guidance Center, is a misnomer, for the staff works not only with children but also with families. Although usually only children younger than fourteen years of age are treated, if the staff has worked with a certain family for a number of years, it will treat the only child in that family even after he is fourteen.

An example of the psychological problems the staff at the Child Guidance Center faces was one boy's inability to speak. Because the birth of his baby sister, the child had been able to talk, but because of the attention paid to the new baby, the boy had regressed until he was unable to talk. His parents brought him to the Center where, after treatment, the boy began to talk again.

There are a variety of types of treatment: individual sessions, group therapy, family therapy, or a combination of these. The need for treatment usually comes from communication problems, family wars, or the need for a child to learn how to live as an individual and all of it is part of a prep school life.

Ron Bernstein

Very Special Center

The Child Guidance Center is a training center and also the staff has appointments at the Albany Psychiatric Center. The staff trains residents in child psychiatry, student social workers and, to some extent, works in the graduate departments in the State University.

The Center has always been associated with the State University. In the last three years the Center was located on Ontario Street in one of the older dorms. The Center moved to Richmond when these facilities were vacated. The Albany Learning Disability Center and the Speech Center, in an effort to combine all children's services under one roof. There is cooperation between these three agencies and they hope to move soon to Draper.

The Center is aided by the Community Chest and the State of New York. It also charges patients fees which are based on the ability to pay.

The Albany Child Guidance Center has held an important role in the history of Albany--in medical education, more recently in community educational activities in elementary schools, and since 1962, with social work education.

Linda Wyatt

NOTICES

TEACHERS

Please refrain from wearing ski-type clothing to class. Students are not sure what to expect.

ALL STUDENTS

Please do not assign extra homework over the holiday.

ALL STUDENTS

Give thanks.

Public service announcement.