State Offers Employment

A New York State agency has announced that the State College will supply at least 2 graduate or professional students to act as paid assistants.

After a short, paid training period, which will last approximately three weeks, the job will be continued afterwards for up to three years. The applicants will be students in the college for the same purpose.

Several positions have been filled for both men and women. Free work for qualified applicants is available for men and women.

This position of St. John's University has been advertised in the college's department stores.

Student Forest

The Forest Council is an organization of students who are interested in the appropriate use of the campus. The council is made up of a chairman and one representative from each of the four colleges.

Each week the council meets to discuss the current problems of the campus. The council meets in the Student Center at 7:00 p.m. on Mondays.

We need to charge the student body $50 for the construction of the council. The money will be used for the construction of the council and various other projects.

More Experienced Senate

Branding past issues of State College News, we have observed that a new Senate has a great deal of trouble fitting into the legislative body. Lack of experience is the key factor.

The inexperience is evident in the form of stumbles in this year's Senate, but it also extends to the entire state college. The new Senate is characterized by a lack of experience and understanding of the legislative process. This lack of experience is evident in the Senate's inability to effectively guide the university's policies and priorities. The Senate is often referred to as the "new kid on the block," and this label is quite fitting, given their lack of experience.

The Senate is also facing the challenge of representing a diverse group of students. The new Senate must work to understand the needs and perspectives of all student groups, from freshmen to seniors. This task is made more difficult by the lack of experience in the Senate, as they must rely on older, more experienced senators to guide them.

Despite these challenges, the Senate has the potential to make a significant impact on the university. With the right guidance and support, the Senate can become a vital resource for the student body, representing their interests and concerns.

Perennial Parking Problems

Whatever happened to the parking lot?" This is the question that many students asked in the student government meeting on Monday, November 18. The "solved" parking problems have continued to be a problem in the residence halls.

The parking problem is not a new one. Many students have complained about the lack of parking spaces, especially during peak times such as exams and holiday breaks. The problem is further complicated by the fact that many students park in the on-campus lots, which are often full.

The Parking Committee and the student government have been working hard to address this issue. They have proposed several solutions, including the construction of new parking lots, the implementation of parking permits, and the reallocation of existing parking spaces.

However, the parking problem continues to be a major issue for many students. The lack of parking spaces forces students to park far from their dorms, leading to long walks and added stress. The parking problem is also a major issue for students who live in off-campus housing.

The student government and the Parking Committee are committed to finding a solution to this problem. They are working closely with the university administration to address this issue and provide a more convenient and accessible parking experience for students.
