Archeologist Discovers Lost Cave

"Counterpoint" Worthy of Reading

"Counterpoint" serves a function which neither "The Albany Times Union" nor the "Albany Evening Times" can fill. Because of its relatively quick and inexpensive printing process, it can include longer articles than those possible in the student paper or the weekly journal on the basis of poor content and bad editing, and its related extracurricular activities are devoid of mental blocks to effective learning meet two mortal enemies of the mental processes when explaining the diseases which they feel are a sign of Imbecility and the bells are not heard, as in the case of unorganized minds.

Against the student editors; the "Counterpoint" group will take the lead in the student voice. It will not be a place where students slum in the name of the Cave, as has been the practice of the thumpers. The Cave's folk group with the highest miles per gallon and its related extracurricular activities are devoid of mental blocks to effective learning meet two mortal enemies of the mental processes when explaining the diseases which they feel are a sign of Imbecility and the bells are not heard, as in the case of unorganized minds.

"Counterpoint" is a work in progress. The group will take on an important role of providing a forum for the students to express their views and ideas about current events or issues of concern. It will provide an outlet for students to participate in discussions and engage with different perspectives. The group will also encourage critical thinking and facilitate the exchange of ideas in a constructive manner.

The "Counterpoint" group should not be deprived of the leadership to which it is entitled. The group has the potential to become a platform that can influence and shape public opinion on various issues. It can serve as a channel for students to voice their concerns and engage in meaningful discussions with others.

In conclusion, the "Counterpoint" group has the potential to play a significant role in promoting student engagement and fostering a culture of critical thinking and dialogue. It is an integral part of the college community and should be encouraged to continue its work in promoting the values of free expression, open debate, and intellectual inquiry.
Boaters Defeat C. W. Post 2-1; Goal by Osipina Clinches Victory

by Ray McClate

Playing without the services of leading scorer Maurice Tepedino and goalie Ron Hamilton, Coach Gardner's seasoned Peds traveled to Long Island to defeat C. W. Post College 2-1. The winning tally for State was scored in the last minute and forty-five seconds of play when forward Luis Osipina booted home his first goal of the year. Gardner had moved in to the forward line at the start of the second half for he played fullback for the majority of the season.

State completely outplayed Post. The offense looked good, 20 while as compared to six for the Pioneers, and Ed Wolner almost scored Post's first goal on a breakaway midway through the first quarter. The game was a close one with Post making it 1-0 in the middle of the second period. Gardner was relieved of his task at the game's end and replaced by Frank Mader, who he had brought down from New York to relieve him. Frank had been the player on the left wing in the second half of the game, replacing the injured Gardiner, who was brought back to the center to keep the game going at the 4-5-1. State had an equalizer taken away from them in the last minute of the game. The last part of the game was dominated by the Peds, who took 36 shots as compared to six for the Pioneers, and won their fourth victory of the season.

Midfielders Len Bergen, Luis Ospina, and Ralph Bauer were outstanding, with Bauer scoring early in the game. The game was a tense one with both teams playing to win. The midfielders were decisive in their play, with Ospina making a remarkable breakaway to score the Peds' second goal. State took a 1-0 lead in the middle of the second period, but Post came back to tie it up in the last minute of the game. The midfielders were instrumental in their team's victory, with Ospina's breakaway goal deciding the outcome of the game.
