34 PLANS DEBATE FOR DECEMBER 12

Committee Will Choose Team To Contest Philosophy, Mrs. Freda East

For the first time in the history of any freshmen class, a team will be chosen to represent the college in an early round-table conference of the Association of Philosophy of the Allergy High School, Friday night, December 13 at 9:30 o'clock. The debate will take place in the Allergy High school auditorium upon the occasion of Philosophy’s annual honorary night ceremonies.

Every member of the class who is interested will be given a team, according to Russell F. Randall, chairman of the committee to choose this year’s team in its organization meeting held last Tuesday.

The members of the committee are: Naomi H. Jardine, Charles E. Ignatius, and Wanda T. Jardine.

The three most original posters will be selected and given the prize of art of the $20.00 to Mr. Randall, Mrs. Randall, and Mr. Randall. The posters are to be distributed to the posters.

The meeting will be held in the afternoon of the faculty.

The debate will be on the following topics:

1. Is there a first cause in the universe?
2. Is there a beginning in the universe?
3. Is there a purpose in the universe?

These will be the questions to be debated in the debate.

MEMBERS WELCOME

Mrs. Carolyn J. O’Connell, secretary of the debate committee, has been chosen to conduct the debate.

The debate will be held in the debate room of the debate committee.

Mildly Will Wear V-Neckline, This Season, State College Co-ed Proves

School clothes for this season distinctly parallels the trend which has been prevalent in the summer showings. The house committee, which has been in charge of the house committee since the spring, has been working on their plans for the season.

Dr. Elly has written many books on the subject, and her work has been published in a literary magazine.

She is also known as an authority on art problems.
1934 STEPS OUT

The class of 1934 has given considerable interest that it intends to advance the interests of its class in the College. Already the class has organized its début on campus. It has already scheduled its début. Its activity is entirely of a social character. As with no former class in the history of the College has thus far organized its début before. In addition to the class plan, this year the class has tried to make an attempt at scheduling the next four years, too, and at least the usual annual social events. The purpose of such a project is to bring about a more interesting social programme for the year. It should be noted that in one of the strictest of the laws of the class, the organization will have the advantage of knowing who can and cannot make the grade. In addition to the class plan, the new classes will be held. The class system will have a good beginning. The activity in début will be watched by interest. Student Hall, as well as the Student Assembly, will be interested.

ATTITUDE COUNTS TOWARD GETTING JOB, SAYLES SAYS

One of the most pernicious customs of college life is the habit of students to assume that the more they talk about getting a job, the better their chances of getting one. Professor J. M. Sayles, principal of Alpha Kappa Alpha, who spoke at the annual banquet in the Student Assembly Wednesday, said that a serious standard of demands would take into consideration only the amount of salary to be received, but also the cost of living in the particular community, the type of work, the opportunity to advance, and the conditions under which the work is to be performed.

SCHEDULED FOR WEEK OF \"MEETING OF THE NATIONS\"

The Student Assembly has scheduled its activities for the week of "Meeting of the Nations," which will be held in the Student Union Building Friday morning. The meeting will be called upon to consider several important issues, including the constitution of the Student Assembly, the budget of the Student Association, and the rules and regulations governing the conduct of students.

VIEWS

The view expressed by the Student Assembly is that the constitution of the Student Assembly should be amended to provide for a more representative and efficient body. The budget of the Student Association should be increased to provide for the necessary expenses of the Student Assembly. The rules and regulations governing the conduct of students should be revised to provide for a more just and equitable system of discipline.

ESSAY ON CONVERSATION

"A collection of brilliant essays," maurois, author of the interest biography on Byron, sets forth the principles for the art of conversation.

WHAT CONVERSATION CAN DO

The use of conversation is a subject that has been handled in a useful way by the present writer. He has attempted to prove that what conversation can do is not to permit passing quickly and easily. And it is here that the greatest value of conversation is to be found. It should not make the halls a meeting place for lengthy discussions.

Miss Katherine E. Wheeling, supervisor of English in Milne High school, and President A. R. Brubacher, are co-authors of "High School Composition and Grammar," of which the last number was issued in June by the Charles E. Merrill Publishing company.

This book was written to replace one by Brubacher and Snyder and is not a revision of that. Book one is being used in the ninth and tenth grades of Milne High school. Book two, which is not yet completed, will cover the material of the last two senior high grades.

The book is built on a plan of discussing the difficulties of individuals with sufficiently rich materials from which to choose in meeting special needs. The principles of writing are presented and illustrated by situations which are both moral and general and which form the compositions written by Milne High school pupils.

There are exercises in unity of the pupil part into practice principles occurring after each phase of development. The book includes all principles that may be needed for correct speech and writing. Numerous exercises have been omitted; essentials have been left.

The book also contains diagnostic tests for grammar which enable the teacher to select the part of the grammar program best suited to the needs. There are four illustrations of practice compositions.

Mr. Winchell, of the Charles E. Merrill Co., said that the distinctive feature of this book is that the responsibility for learning and for improvement of the pupil's work is placed upon the pupil.

HOWARD D. MANN WILL REORGANIZE CHORUS FOR MEN Plans for the reorganization of the chorus this year have not yet been definitely determined. According to Howard Mann, '32, student sponsor, the chorus will be reorganized for the coming season.

The chorus was first organized last year. Among the first members were Miss Katherine E. Wheeling, supervisor of English in Milne High school, and Dr. A. R. Brubacher, who have cooperated in writing a book on grammar and composition for use in secondary schools. The book is at present used in Milne High school English classes.

Students in Chemistry Join National Society

Fifty members of the chemistry department have become associate members of the American Chemical society, according to Professor Eunice Rice Messent, head of the chemistry department. This was done through subscriptions to the official organ of the society, "The Journal of Chemical Education," which is a biannual containing twelve numbers per year.

WELCOME MEMBERS

STUDENTS TO GET CLASS TEACHING IN NEW SPORTS

The gymnasium departments of both Milne High school and State college are attacking classes in gymnastics and swimming, according to Miss Margaret M. Hinkle, instructor of physical education in Milne High school.

The classes in swimming began last week when thirty-five members of the men's unit registered for instruction at the pool of the Jewish Community center, at 11 Washington Avenue. The first grade was a class for beginners in swimming, and met at 4 o'clock. At 5 o'clock a class in life saving and advanced swimming was taught. An o'clock class in fancy doing met. The membership for this course is about five dollars. Miss Hinkle said:

The classes in horseback riding began Wednesday and will be conducted every Wednesday at 3:30 o'clock at the arena on New Sewickley avenue. There will be two classes in this sport, and the fee for the entire course will be approximately ten dollars.

Mr. enumerated in these courses are to start in the early grades. Athletics association clubs are being formed. Miss Hinkle declared.

1934 Squad Practices With Varsity Quanti

The basketball team has been practicing ever since the close of the season to prepare for the coming season. According to Jack Saunders, Philip Ricciardi, and George Knecht, the team has an excellent line-up, and will he a much stronger yearling team next year. The team will have an excellent five, one which will be a crack at the peak of the schedule.
