The prize stunt and loving cup were won by the seniors.

FRESHMEN:
The first two large tables at the back of the cafeteria on the left hand side as you enter, are always reserved for the freshmen. However, tempting the empty chairs may look at these two old fields, remember the story of Goldy Locks and refrains.

"WONDER HAT" MAGIC
Magic moonlight, a bubbling fountain and mysterious figures. There are all present in the excellent performance of the Advanced Dramatic Club called "The Wonder Hat.""Old rags for new, old rags for new," whispered Penettella. How delightful it would be to exchange our discarded garments for new. The flamboyant dress worn by Penettella surely worked "mischief" between the two lovers; Columbine, otherwise known as Frances, is played by Harlequin, Helen Van Caseden. The scene became intensely dramatic when Columbine feels Harlequin near yet sees him not. "Now I ask you," as Margery Bayloss, the Colgate mentor, asks him not. "Is this a case like that?"

Do you want to see a presentation, but what is the opinion of Fiorro, contrasted with the honest opinion of a "better?" Everyone is agreed with Margery (Alileen Wallace) that the audience should decide for themselves. Do you think yourself now that your own decision is best?

THOMPSON LEADS COLLEGE SINGING ASSEMBLY

Campus Day was the subject of interest in Student Assembly Friday. After the Alma Mata and announcements, the Campus Day program was read by Edmund Cunnino, and the list of sophomore and freshman men. Ungraded races were run by Bernard Scott. Margery Bayloss then made an appeal for the students to join the Salvation Army on Saturday.

The remainder of the time was given to music. Dr. Thompson conducted a college singing. The chorus sang "English Madonna," and an old French song, "Bois Epais" by Lully.

Elsa Shaffer sung two solos, "A Fairy Lullaby," by Quiller, and "A Benediction," by Coombs after which the students sung several college songs.

Assembly closed with a cheer for "Two Crooks and a Lady." By Billy Herrick.

PROFESSOR SIMONIN POSSESSES FAMOUS FRENCH STATUES

To Professor Simonin of State College belong the honor of being the only possessor in America of three exquisite statues, examples of the lost art of "cire perdue."

How Professor Simonin came to possess these statues is a story all by itself; the story of a friendship begun in boyhood, strengthened by absence, sealed by death.

The great artist, Pierre Binger, is located to Professor Simonin in eloquent pledge of friendship have some works of art without peer on this campus of the Atlantic coast, and will be admitted on presentation of their student tax ticket.

COLGATE PLAYS STATE SATURDAY

OPTIMISTIC OUTLOOK BY TEAM IN SPITE OF DUBIOUS "FRITZ" WEGNER

In perfect physical condition and nothing to lose, Colgate's football team opens a thrilling season of forays against the Purple and Gold. Fritz Wegner smiles at this. His prophetic testimony that his proteges stand little chance to defeat the Maroons, but he still be the team with all his efforts and says he will not be surprised if his men do turn in a victory.

A glimpse at the aftermath of last week's affair shows without a doubt that State's football hopes are getting better. Starting the season with a 26 to 0 victory over the Purple and Gold, they have hardened themselves against the Marques, with a beaten score to 26 to 0, which was an unexpected result of the Union game.

Every man on the Union lineup was a letter man on his high school team last year and all had previous experience before entering college. The team is composed mostly of "green horns."

Learning new plays from last year's roster has been made easier by the addition of signals and forward passing and is ready to match wits in football against the tricky Colgate team, which has a host of plays that is capable of destroying. The game to-morrow undoubtedly will be another "not lost yet not of State's caliber," but the position of Fritz Wegner among the promising grid coaches of the East.

Despite their defeat last week by the Union Bears, State's men have no less confidence and are all set for a great battle tomorrow—probably a great battle versus Colgate. This is not the only battle the team is ready to fight, but the battle versus Fritz Wegner, the Colgate mentor. Dubious Fritz is foxy.

TWO CROOKS AND A LADY

The third play of the Advanced Dramatics class will be "Two Crooks and A Lady" by Eugene Pillet, at the Colgate Theatre. Those who will take part are Elma Shafer, Beth Peres, John Cassavant, Helen Oree, and Edward Vines. The play will be presented Thursday night, November 15.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT TO ADD NEW COURSE AFTER JANUARY

As our enrollment increases provisions must be made for the extra students. The Commercial Department has felt this pressure and as a result twenty new desks have been added to accommodate the large number of commercial students. But this is not the only change that the department is expanding, for a new course is going to be offered after January. This will be a course in office machine practice, and will include word correction and calculating machines. It is an entirely new subject for the college and as a result new equipment will be installed making necessary the services of an especially trained instructor.

THRU THE KEYHOLE

The fear of the press is the beginning of wisdom.” So paraphrased Dr. Thompson who spoketh wisdom that doth rival Solomon. But the press is a mighty power; Dr. Thompson, and has a kindly heart within.

But people who “don’t want to get talked about in the “paper” out of the way or anything else to the contrary notwithstanding as Professor Hutchison might say.

Classroom lecturers would be made particularly interesting in all manner if all professors would adopt the “tell a joke” a day rule which seems to govern5 my usual talk about the jokers are told about the faculty.

Frosh class presidents have much to look forward to, especially if they are brave enough to carry over the jolly spirit of their freshman crowns. “What’s the matter is not the joke, but the man. It may happen that the fresh leader has either been “busted” out of January or too bored to have labor in the year. This is just a bit of encouragement for William Comstock.

Quoting a wise college pro­fessor who expended advice freely, “it is best to first think that you are a freshman—a member of the student body—before you give a thought to the unhappy fate of being freshman president.”

Speaking of crowds, we would like to ask if the paper’s content gorging horses and rhinoceroses wore practicing in Room B. at various times last week.

The Capitol must have much money last week. State’s Contribution undoubtedly the largest factor. What would they have done without our crowded presence?

1927 TO DO PRACTICE TEACH­ing IN NEW MILLE HALL

Not only will the new building house Milne High school, but it will be equipped with 1,500 students in American literature, says Dr. Hastings, but he means practically nothing in German money, says Professor Richardson. Finan­cially, Dr. Hastings.

“Milk from contented cows” is a well known ingenious motto. “Work from contented students” ought to be the faculty motto. Contented cows don’t kick or buck.

Have you noticed how serious the jobs are becoming lately? Ask them how they like English 19.

CANTERBURY COMMUNION

The present auditorium and gymnasium, according to the plans of Dr. Brubacher, will be remodelled into a library, with a gymnasium for housemaids, and it is a question. The present library space will be devoted to new class rooms.

Last year the state legislature, after more than five years agitation on the part of Dr. Brubacher and other college officials, passed a bill appropriating $25,000 for the preliminary work on the new college structure after having purchased the property the year before.

College Fraternities & Valuable Institutions

There are few institutions touching the lives of thousands of students in which more diverse views are held in complete sincerity than college fraternities. Some educators, for example, regard them as a menace without a single redeeming feature; others maintain that they make for good and enough that is hurtful in the undergraduate's experience. Which opinion is to be accepted?

The basic idea underlying the formation of a fraternity is without doubt good, because it enables the essential bond of brotherhood which should closely unite men and women. This abuses in many instances have crept in is really aside from the question. With a foundation of sturdy masonry, a building, though undesirable in some respects, has always possibilities of usefulness, strength, durability.

Taken all in all, the college fraternity has obtained so strong a hold upon the educational systems of the United States that it is regarded toward as an undesirable institution. The fraternity makes for snobishness and class feeling, there is no gainsaying the fact that it also makes for friendships which outweigh many other college associations.

NEW SOURCE OF THOUGHT STIMULUS

The National Student Forum of New York city is publishing a paper called "The New Student." This paper is edited with the idea of helping the American student to really think, to help him clear up many of the perplexing problems of life. The student body of today is prone to take for granted the formulas of life worked out by others. There are some of our number who really are trying to think, but their number is so small in comparison with those who are continually dodging this mental process that they seem almost to stand out alone. The student mind is too apt to be blinded by the aura of success. Which opinion is to be accepted?

CAMPUS DAY
As a climax to the athletic order, the '24-'25 soccer game was played off. The halves ended with a score of 0-0. By request the game continued until one goal was won by the class of '25. Organized and continued cheering by all classes furnished a spirited background.

PROFESSOR SIMONIN
Henri Marchand, famous French painter and sculptor, on examining the Bingen statues in the home of Professor Simonin, exclaimed, "These statues are perfect examples of the lost art of 'cire perdue.' The process was known in the reign of the Grand Mosaics; but fell into disuse, owing to the great expense, and the method was forgotten until rediscovered by Pierre Bingen. The statues in possession of Professor Simonin were in the Paris exposition of 1900.

"GAZETTE" GAINS FAVOR
Letters received from alumni show that the first issue of the "Gamma Gamotto," the official organ of Gamma Chapter of Kappa Delta Rho fra­ternity, has proved very popular. One hundred copies of the first edi­tion were made and when the next issue is published the number will be increased. The paper consists of eight pages. James Carrollan, '25, is Business Manager.

"Y" GIRLS ENTERTAINED
The girls at the "Y" house were most delightfully entertained last Friday evening by a beautiful concert given by six freshmen men who were being initiated into Kappa Delta Rho Fraternity and who were escorted to a point in front of the house by brothers of the fraternity. Kent Pease opened the recital with an eloquent speech, which was sec­onded by Ralph Harris. The opening number on the musical program was the alma mater. The entertain­ment closed with "Good Night Ladies" which was exquisitely rendered in several keys.
