BIG TIME THANKSGIVING DAY.

Soph-Frosh Rivalry Intense.

The Soph-Frosh Activities Committee, consisting of Hohaus, Sprinkle, Jos. Walker, and Jones, have completed the arrangements for the Thanksgiving Field Day. The games will commence at 9:30 sharp on Thursday, and will take place at Ridgefield. Ridgefield is on Partridge street, about three blocks south of Madison avenue. Partridge street is four blocks west from the college along Western avenue.

The program arranged is as follows:
9:30 a.m.— Tug-of-War.
9:50 a.m.— Relay Race.
10:10 a.m.— Football Game.

The north side of the field will be reserved for Sophomores and their adherents, while the south side will be turned over to the Frosh. The committee urgently requests that the spectators be sure to group themselves on whichever side has been apportioned to the sympathizers of the class they are supporting. As is known, a very impressive feature of any game where great rivalry is existing is the attendant battle of "cheers." It is the committee's idea that contest between the two classes in singing and cheering will be just as intense as the games. Not only does it give the players the fighting spirit, but it supplements the excitement of the games, and makes for a more thrilling game.

TWO UPPERCLASSES DEFEAT UNDERCLASSMEN IN BEST GAME OF SEASON

Coewey, Jones, Nolde and Cassavant Do Good Work

Again all advance reports have been set at naught. Contrary to general expectations the team representing the combined 1917 and 1918 classes defeated the 1919-1920 combination on Ridgefield Saturday afternoon by the score of 7:6. The score itself is an indication of the hot fight that was put up by both sides, but in justice to the Underclassmen it must be said that they deserved a tie score. The backfield of the Underclassmen was strengthened by the presence of Jones and Goewey, both of whom did stellar work. Especially was their forward passing. Jones to Goewey, commendable, and very often a good ground gainer. Nolde, Cassavant and Williams all did good work in the Underclassmen's backfield. Williams was especially good on end runs when he followed his interference closely and always got away with substantial gains.

In the first quarter the Upperclassmen took the offensive and with line plunges and several successful forward passes carried the ball down the field. Goewey carried the pigskin across the line on a forward pass from Jones. Jones then kicked the goal. The first quarter ended 7:0 in favor of the Upperclassmen. Thereafter in the second and third quarters the Underclassmen were steadily gaining strength and confidence and gradually played their opponents to a standstill. In the fourth quarter they developed a strong game and for a time swept the Upperclassmen before them down the field. Cassavant, and particularly Nolde, broke through for consistent gains and several end runs also netted gains. The Underclassmen were rather unsuccessful with their forward passes, they missing several when gains were badly needed. Nolde carried the ball around left end for a touchdown, but the goal was not kicked. The score now stood 7:6 in favor of the Upperclassmen. The Senior-Freshmen pulled themselves together and with several successful forward passes came dangerously near their opponents' goal. Jones went through with the ball, but was tackled by Nolde. Preliminary Announcement.

The State College, in cooperation with the Civic League of Albany, has arranged a course of lectures to be held in the College Auditorium in December, January and February. The lectures will deal with the large social, civic and economic problems of the day and the speakers engaged are all experts of national reputation.

The following is a tentative schedule of the course:

December 6, 1916, "The Single Toratorium in December, January and February. The lectures will deal with the large social, civic and economic problems of the day and the speakers engaged are all experts of national reputation.

The following is a tentative schedule of the course: December 6, 1916, "The Single Room." John Z. White, of Chicago. Mr. White has been on the lecture platform for the past 13 years. He is a forceful and entertaining speaker.

December 13, 1916, "The History and Development of American Civic Government." Robert S. Binkerd, secretary of the City Club of N. Y. City. Mr. Binkerd is an expert in municipal law and is doing much to promote good city government in this State.

January 10, 17, 24, and February 7, 1917, a series of lectures by Prof. Charles Zueblin, of Boston. Prof. Zueblin is a well-known author and publicist. He visited Albany in 1917 and delivered five lectures before large audience. He is undoubtedly the most brilliant lecturer on social topics in America.

February 14, 1917, "Recent Progress in Housing Conditions." John Thisted, of New York.

As Field Secretary of the National Housing Association for several years, Mr. Thisted has become familiar with housing conditions throughout the country. His lectures are in great demand.

February 21, 1917, "Beautiful American Cities." Richard B. Watrous, Secretary, American Civic Association.

During the past decade Mr. Watrous has been a leader in the movement to make American cities more attractive.

February 28, 1917, "The Relations of Public Utilities to Municipal Progress." Dr. Delos W. Wilcox, of New York City. Dr. Wilcox is an authority on franchises and public service control. He is the author of "The American City," and several other books and municipal problems.

H. E. DEPARTMENT.

On Friday, December 8th, the Home Economics Department will have a page devoting to the Home Economics Department. The State will gather here at the college for a conference of the teachers. There will be present at the conference. This is an annual event and is attended by the teachers of the college. The conference will be held on Friday, December 8th. There will be present at the conference, and the syllabus of the course to be published next month will be discussed as well as other matters of interest. A dinner will be served at the department dining room at six o'clock by the students, the college H. E. faculty acting as hostesses.

Home Economics Day, December 20, is a day on which all different departments in all schools of the country set aside to celebrate Mrs. Richards' birthday for the purpose of strengthening and uniting the work. In the past years the students have given over to a program some prominent worker in Home Economics as speaker, followed by a reception. The usual celebration this year will be carried out in a new way.

H.H. ZING WONG ADDRESSES COLLEGE CLUB.

On Friday, November 24, Mr. Wong addressed College Club. His subject was "The Life of a Chinese Girl Under the Old Regime."

Mr. Wong first contrasted the conditions in China before 1911, with those in America. In China the family is the unit instead of the individual. Hence the life of the Chinese girl offers little opportunity for self-expression.

Her education along intellectual lines was brief, but her moral training was definite and detailed. She was taught respect for her elders, diligence and faithfulness. Through life there were three persons on whom she must depend. First, her father; next, her husband, and in case of his death, her son.

She had few pleasures. Even her marriage life was one of her own hands. For not only was the marriage arranged entirely by her parents, but after the wedding she lived with her mother-in-law's family and was under the control of a mother-in-law.

Though this life in general was not happy, the Chinese women found some compensation in her old age, the respect shown her during her married life was not in her son.

Mr. Wong spoke of the influence of missionaries on Chinese life. He appreciated their work, but regret their attempts at political reform which have hindered the progress of Christianity.

In conclusion, Mr. Wong presented the present-day tendencies of life in China. In one respect that country is more modern than America, but in 1911 Chinese women were given suffrage by the government.

Mr. Wong is in favor of woman suffrage, though he is inclined to think American girls a little "headstrong and talkative," and too much "under the influence of Dame Fashion."

AN INTERESTING BOOK.

Mr. David M. Kinnear has just completed an interesting book, "High School Days and the Old Philologers." The purpose of the book is to aid in securing funds for the erection of memorials to the first two principals of the school, Professors Bradley and Robinson. The book is a rich source of valuable and interesting information concerning the High School and the Philologers, and is well illustrated with school views and pictures of principals and graduates.

PROMETHEAN.

Over forty people were invited into the Promethean Literary Society last Thursday evening. Although it was a rainy night, a good number of the members were out to witness the fun. The next literary meeting will be held November 25th, place and program to be announced later.

FRESHMEN MEETING.

At a meeting of the Freshman Class last week Albert Luff was elected manager of the class basketball team and Spencer Peckham director of the class football team.

Y. W. C. A. THANKSGIVING MEETING.

The Thanksgiving meeting of the Y. W. C. A. will take place Wednesday, November 29th, at 4:30 in the auditorium. Miss Myra Du Mond is to be the leader. Every member should make a special effort to attend.

Big Time Thanksgiving Day

but it also fits in very nicely with the campaign now being made for concerted cheering in the college.

If the weather is at all pleasant, a large crowd should be present, for both of the underclasses have signalled their intention of being out in a body to root for their team. The rivalry between the classes has its own self to be quite strong, and as this is the first opportunity for either class to gain a decisive victory, both will be watching for the result with great interest.

As to the probable outcome of the games, there are strong arguments for and against either side and any prophecy would be fruitless.

Concerning both the tug-of-war and the race, nothing is known as to when they will be held along either line. The football game, which will be, of course, the main feature, is sure to be an exciting one.

Both classes have played this fall and in their games they have shown up about even. Both teams have strong back fields and many spectacular runs ought to result. In Bliss and Cassavant each team has a man who is quite adept at forward passing, and consequently there will be plenty of open game always is interesting and the result is usually in doubt until the final whistle.

From all appearances both classes are very evenly matched, and in all probability victory will be given by either class by an unheralded hero. Here is a chance for you, Soph and Fresh gridiron warriors, for next week you have your game to go down in State College history as “The Man of the Hour”.

If the Field Day Thursday is a success, it is the intention of the Soph-Frosh Activities Committee to make the “rubber” basketball game also a gala event. Each class has won a game and the deciding one will be played sometime before Christmas. The committee is planning on staging this game, with some other events between the classes, some evening after Thanksgiving and thereby give the loser of to-morrow’s events a chance to regain some lost laurels.

KAPPA DELTA

We cordially welcome Marion White ‘19, a pledge member of Kappa Delta.

Le Moyne Gillette spent last week-end with Ruth Moseley at her home.

DELTA OMEGA

The girls are sorry to lose Bertha Rockey as a house member.

We are happy to receive Winifred Magrue as a pledge member.

Bertha Rockey attended the Yale-Princeton game November 18.

PSI GAMMA

We are very glad to welcome Lynn Waterhouse ’19 into the Sorority.

Hattie Ogle attended the Union-Hamilton game at Siena.

Gertrude Swift and Olive Horning spent the weekend of November 17th at Schenectady. Doris Sweet has returned from a much needed “vacation” of two weeks.

Alta Sabler is home recovering from a severe illness. Emma Sommerfield spent last weekend with her at Millbrook. From all reports she seems to be improving rapidly. However, we do not expect her back until after the Thanksgiving recess.
