NEGRO SONGSTERS SING HERE TONIGHT

Singers From Utica Normal Will Present Program Of Negro Music

In the last of the series of evening programs, the Utica Singers from the Utica Normal and Industrial Institute will be present tonight at 8:30 o'clock in the auditorium of Hall.

These singers are from a coeducational school for the all-around training of Negro youth. The Utica Normal and Industrial Institute is located in the heart of Mississippi, and has ministered to its people for more than a quarter century.

The Utica Singers are said to be much in the world of musical art. They have achieved an international reputation as some of the foremost representatives of the negro music of this country.

The demonstration lessons have been taught by volunteer composers, and they have included lessons in reading experience, telling stories based on poems and fairy tales, and in arithmetic. In all these demonstration lessons, the following points have been emphasized: Learning is growth through self-activity; teaching is causing to learn; self-motivation for learning is valuable.

Miss Springsteed believes and teaches that the best kind of com- bination is with one's own record. The first check on results of a lesson should be a self-check; next comes a teacher's check, Miss Springsteed said.

Faculty Have Picnic
At Thacher State Park

Thirty-two alumni attended the annual alumni picnic at Thacher Park yesterday. The event was a part of the regular season staff, visitor, and faculty relations, and the students and faculty were present.

Mr. Bradbury Makes Comparison of U. S. and English Schools

State college always welcomes visiting faculties, but doesn't always know which one to invite. This is an annual visit of Mr. T. P. Bradbury, who lectured on English education in Scotland, and he says that he is thoroughly enjoying the American work.

Members Of Muskyania Have Annual Reunion

Dr. Mr. Thompson, president of the college, will hold the annual reunion for the college library.

Mr. Bradbury makes a comparison of U. S. and English schools. He says that the development of the English schools is not a second visit of Mr. T. P. Bradbury. He says that he is thoroughly enjoying the American work.

Members of Muskyania have an annual reunion.

Mr. Thompson studied at Edinburgh University several years ago on a Carnegie Fellowship. He is the author of "A Social Woman of Feeling," and together with Mr. W. H. Hamilton, editor of "The Scotsman," called "The Ideal Speeches." He is also the author of "The Mohammedan in the Holy Land," which will be published in recent studies by the author in Scotch literature.

CLEAVES PROGRAM
MOST INTERESTING

Remarkable Wild Life Shots Are Principal Feature
Of Pinchot Film

Howard Cleaves, wild life photographer, carried approximately 250 summer session students with him on a motion picture journey of the South Seas last Wednesday evening.

Inclent weather and perhaps a demand to make preparations for animations combine to keep the size of the audience lower than was expected. The quality of Mr.
Cleaves pictures and his lecture was such that the best program presented in the Wed-nednesday evening series so far this season.

Some really remarkable "shots with a camera were displayed, expecially pictures of birds and seals. Mr. Cleaves' well selected word pictures added much to the entertainment.

His exhibition of a Galapagos turtle to "an old man in a covered wagon" and his describing the gittal of a South Sea fish as "bigger than any pancake ever cooked in Alaska are but a few examples of the human interest injected into the lecture by these word pictures.

Mr. Cleaves, the "world's most articulate forer" is the Mother Hubbard, now largely worn by the Pekingese women in the place of their native par on The opening of his lecture, Mr.
Cleaves displayed a flaming pare and later showed pictures of the atives in both costumes.

While his talk and pictures were adaptable to a wide range of audiences, it was making to the audience of school teachers and would-be school teachers, we can readily see why Mr. Cleaves is in demand by luncheon clubs and other organizations.

Part of the smoothness of the program is doubtless to be credited to the motion picture operator, who handled the film with a skill which that purpose.

The journey of the Pinchot expedition which formed the basis of the lecture was made an interesting and thrilling experience for the whole party. It is not given to many people to sit on an island of land in the center of the Atlantic and look out to sea as the Mary Pinchot.

Apparent the whole party was given an teresting introduction to Mr.
Ford Pinchot in her overalls besides the first-grown's wife we've seen in a movie. Mr. Pinchot told us what it meant to sit on his face board and the two adolescents in their coats too had a job of a responsible for arrangements for the Instructors Assign Several Reasons For Growth In Attendance At Summer Session

Various reasons are assigned for the increased enrollment in the Summer Session this year. Some of the opined explanations by faculty members are as follows:

Dr. Arthur K. Bell, professor of education: "A large majority of the persons who are in my classes seem to be primarily interested in pro-essional improvement. The number of applicants for the Master's degree is very large."

Dr. Donnal V. Smith, assistant professor of history: "The profession is becoming somewhat over-crowed. Many teachers feel that they must increase their qualificaations in order to retain or secure good positions."

Dr. David Hutchison, professor of economics: "I believe the increased attendance is due to economic conditions and the raising of State requirements for teacher certification."

Mr. Paul H. Sheets, instructor in government: "It is my belief that the lecture may avail themselves of the wholesome influence of a trip such usage of a ship's visiting line in the South Seas last Wednesday evenging.
