Danes On The Road ... All The Way To Sweden

The Albany State basketball team is taking a long road trip— all the way to Sweden. Coach Lee Rhenish and the Danes are on their way to Stockholm for the World University Games. This will be the first time Albany has participated in the games, which are held every four years. The team will play against teams from around the world, including division I and II colleges. Despite the long journey and the challenge of playing against top teams, Rhenish is confident in his team's ability to compete.

Students Forced Off Senate

The Senate has voted to force off the Senate's nominating committee, a move that has raised concerns among students and faculty. The Senate majority, which is held by President Sean O'Sullivan, has not been able to pass legislation in recent months, leading to a lack of representation for students. The senate majority is expected to push for a new voting system that will allow for more inclusivity.

Championships Show That softball Team Belongs

The Albany State softball team has been performing well, and their success is paying off. Coach Lee Rhenish, who is leading the team, is confident in their abilities and is pushing for more opportunities to compete in higher-level tournaments. The team's performance is attracting attention, and there is hope that they may be able to achieve greater success in the future.

Linett And Levine Tabbed For National Tournament

Libby Levine and Carli Linett have been selected to represent Albany State at the national tournament. They have worked hard to prepare for this opportunity, and their selection is a testament to their dedication and hard work. The team is excited to represent the school and is looking forward to the competition.

Budget Cut; Teams Terminated

The University is facing a budget crisis, which is affecting all departments, including athletics. Several teams, including the softball team, have been terminated as a result. The decision has been met with disappointment and frustration among students and faculty, who are concerned about the impact on the university's reputation and the community. The university is working to find ways to address this issue and ensure that all students have the opportunity to participate in extracurricular activities.

And More
For the Editor:
I happened to be listening to radio earlier this morning and heard a story about a local politician who is running for office. It seems that he has been involved in several controversies in the past, and some people are concerned about his qualifications. I think it's important to consider these issues when making a decision about who to vote for. It's unfortunate that politics can sometimes be so divisive, but I hope that we can all work together to find a candidate who is truly committed to serving the needs of our community.

The Great Dane football team went to the NCAA semi-finals. By the way, Paul Schwartz, like many of you, is seeing this for the first time, and had nothing to do with its production.

Busch said it best: "Professional." "It's the war of the waiters...they capture the kitchen, demolish the dining room, and leave Camp Osorno in ruins."

Vishim Vashim,

You are the dearest brother and a very beautiful person. We are so lucky to have spent one of the most difficult and yet one of the most exciting for you years of our lives being so close — crying, loving, laughing and just hanging out together. I love you. I am going to miss you so much next year.

A Lot To Remember And Feel Good About

It wasn't quite that incredible hard-fought victory. It was just after last year's Albany kick-off. It was just after the Cadets ran out, the place booed before the big Ithaca game last year. It quoted Albany's kicking after almost every game this year, something about Ford. It quoted Albany's kicking. It quoted Albany this year, they were 11-0. It quoted Albany's kicking. Albany Sports: Accomplishments, Frustrations

by Bob Bellaflore

"It was sort of a mixed year," said Bob Ford, the head football coach at the University of Albany. "We had some great accomplishments and some frustrations.

"I think we had some great accomplishments and some frustrations," said Ford, noting the performance of the coaches and athletes as commendable. But Ford considered the off-the-field aspects of intercollegiate athletics, namely "a loss of resources," as the major cause of the frustration.

1979-80 certainly was a mixed year for Albany State. There were occasions when Dane squads were considered among the best in the nation. Then something would happen, like an upset or a doubleheader at the hands of an arch-rival and Albany would drop out of everyone's minds. Other teams weren't even considered worthy of serious consideration ("rebuilding" it's called), and then comes the surprise -- a winning season or just a few great performances against top competition.

In all sports, though, there is that one great equalizer -- the winless record. With six losses remaining on the schedule, the 26 Albany teams had a collective record of 208-143, with 6 ties.

National recognition -- two words that plague small college coaches from coast to coast. Take out the second word of that term and you've got a 1979-80 "championship," and the eyes of those coaches light up with the dreams of what could be. Two Dane squads received their highest mid-season national rankings this year. The two "big time" sports (football and basketball) made it to the polls from their respective national wide polls.

Severely hurt by the graduation of both the offensive and defensive lines, the Dane football team, according to Ford (also head football coach), lacked great speed, great quickness, team strength, and the great passing attack necessary to realize the goal that the coach feels every team has -- that national championship.

The big pre-season surprise for Ford was the return of premier defensive tackle Steve Shoen (Capitol District Player of the Year in 1977), defensive end Bob Singletary, and halfback Sam Haliseco. All had taken a year off for various reasons, but were now back, much to the pleasure of the Dane staff.

For the Danes, the name of the game was defense. Albany refused to yield the goal line for the first two games, shutting out Hobart (10-0) and Southern Connecticut State (20-0). Against Brockport, Albany's "bend but not break" philosophy paid off, as the Golden Eagles yielded just 13 total yards, but could only muster 6 points. The next two games would make or break the Dane dream of an NCAA playoff bid.

The Norwich Cadets, second nationally in total offense (486.3 yards per game); top rushing offense (39.1 points per game); top passing offense in America, Division III (398.3 yards per game); all behind an offensive line that averaged 240 pounds per man; irresistible force meets immovable object. Rank: fourth in the East before the game, Albany improved that to fourth nationally (third in the East) after the come-from-behind 28-25 victory over the Cadets. Thacha was waiting, and ready. Boy, were they ready.

Several Danes were hurt in the Norwich game, but several players did not 40 points make, and Albany was sent reeling 46-6, the worst loss in the seven-year history of Albany State varsity football. Thacha would go on to win the national championship.

From then on, it was downhill for the Danes, who fell to Fordham and Springfield back-to-back by scores of 35-28 and 31-0, respectively. The Albany dream was broken, with their final record at 6-3.

Albany's other source of national recognition athletically was in basketball, where head coach Dick Saucers was embarking on his 25th season in that position.

Two things awaited Saucers -- one he liked, one he did not. A new SUNYA divisional arrangement which the coach felt could exclude a deserving team from a playoff berth was the latter. The good news was that guard Winnon Royal (a key performer who was the 1978-79 conference player of the year) had to captain the Dominican Republic national team in the Pan-Am Games. This was the first trip to the Olympics for the Danes.

The season opener against Kings College of Pennsylvania saw the Danes win, 79-66, behind guard Rob Clune's team season high 29 points. After taking the next four contests (including two SUNYAC games), Albany lost to Stoney Brook in the opener of that team's invitational tournament.

In front of a literally shoulder-to-shoulder crowd in Union Gym, the top-seeded ranked Division III squad over the Bears were first squared off for 45 minutes of tense, dramatic, basketball that a master of suspense would have mapped out better.

After a missed Pete Stansky's free throw with 13 seconds left in the game, another win brought Albany to Oswego, where the Danes hadn't been victorious since 1911. The eighties held nothing new, and the Red Dragons upset 65-62 in overtime. Division II power Harwick handed the Danes their second consecutive loss, 71-63.

Fordham and Potsdam were the only obstacles to a Dane SUNYAC playoff shot. Albany won both, 88-86 and 73-68, respectively.

Despite getting third in the conference championships, Albany received a bid to the NCAA Northeast Regional in Potsdam.

After beating a powerful St. Lawrence team in the opening round, 75-66, Albany fell apart in the last seven minutes of the championship game, rubber match with Potsdam, and was eliminated, 77-72.

"That was the toughest one of all," said Saucers. But he was still satisfied with his squad's seasonal performance. "The team did what it had to do when it needed to do it, and that's the sign of a good team." With a final record of 21-6 (the most Albany wins since 1965), it's difficult to disagree.

Albany's junior varsity basketball team was a big surprise. Coach by Steve Kepp, the Danes romped to a 16-4 record and the highest finishing percentage in any men's sport, despite quitting's, injuries, and tragedy. The Jaycees' jayvee, four of five points, Mike Cotto, are top candidates for next season's varsity.

The 1979-80 soccer season was one that could be termed "frustrating." Finishing at 6-7-1 with an experienced squad, Albany was just good enough to play against our competition," he continued.

Of those five losses, four were by one goal and the one that wasn't (3-1 to Binghamton) could've easily been," said Schieffelin.

"We would be a very respectable Division I team" continued page twenty
