NINE NEW MEMBERS ADD TO FACULTY

Three Resignations and Four Leaves of Presence for Study Granted

DR. THOMPSON RETURNS

Education Department Obtains

For New Courses

Nine new assistant professors and instructors have arrived to augment the State College faculty, bringing the total number of this class to 67. The new faculty include three replacements, four leaves of absence, and two exciting new courses of study.

Dr. Donald W. Thompson, professor of English, has spent the last year in advanced study at the University of Edinburgh, where he held a Sterling fellowship in British literature. He was awarded a fellowship for two years study at Oxford University, England, and maintains a close connection with the Oriel Club in Oxford. He has published several articles on the history of English literature and is currently working on a book on the poetry of the late 19th century.

In addition to his teaching duties, Dr. Thompson will also be responsible for developing new courses in American literature and will work closely with the English department to strengthen the curriculum in this area.

The addition of these new professors and the expansion of existing courses will provide students with a richer and more diverse educational experience. The faculty is excited to welcome these new members and to continue the tradition of excellence at State College.
upon freshmen and sorority girls will be lessened. But will this be true? And is not this a natural productive of benefit? Personally, I think so. After all, managing them, so to speak, "on their toes" for a semester?

It has also been argued that sorority girls will save money with a shorter period before bidding. This seems doubtful. Sororities will have to rush many more girls in the fall, if only to get well acquainted with them. As it has been, each group is virtually decided upon when it wants by January and its rushing is largely to "sell" its merits to the prospective pledge.

Interfraternity council has doubtless been sincere in its attempt to improve upon the old system. That system is not perfect, but unless the council can show more marks in the new plan, the word members is at least questionable. It may be that the proposed plan is to be an experiment and it will not be permanent.

If so, it should be given a fair trial with proponents and objectors. The sororities appear, however, to have jumped out of the frying pan into the fire.

ENTER THE FRATERNITIES

If the freshman gets an overdose of anything, it is of advice. Personally, I feel that it is better to heed what has been brought upon him this week to last for life. If each of the 255 members of the class of 1930 will analyze and evaluate these statements, they will find that they do so, too, and that the class of 1930 will do so. In this way the class of 1930 will analyze and evaluate these strictures something like these:

That he is in a college with an unsatisfactory purpose, where the highest form of "college spirit" is expressed by the gathering of learning "not for its own sake but to impart to others."

That he has for the important formative years of his youth to spend here, and that it is the reasonable course to use these years wisely.

That his prime purpose here is to gather culture and information.

That he will acquire these principally through his study under the guidance of older men and women.

But that he will gain much from State College institutions outside of the classroom in worthwhile student activities and interests.

That, in his college as elsewhere, he can be sure of his study.

And that in his appointment of time and effort he must keep true the balance between study and play.

And that to do so he must learn to choose what is worth much time and effort from what is worth little.

Dust-covered, hampered brooks there? True, but they can be improved. Girls who are often without meaning just because they are not true that many men have thought them and spoken about them. They remain as true today as when they were uttered.

They are commendable to the class of 1930.
RELIGIOUS PROBLEMS MET AT SILVER BAY

Seventeen Delegates Return From Annual Meeting At Lake George

By Katherine Ireland

Seventeen members of the College Y. W. C. A. group have returned from Silver Bay on Lake George, where they were delegates to the annual inter-collegiate conference.

Silver Bay is the one great experience in a Y. W. C. A. girl's college life about which few of her acquaintances are less interested than she is.map.

The eastern student conference held at Silver Bay in June, following the long interval during which various problems and conflicts have been studied, brought many students to the conclusion that the conference was a failure. Among those who agreed were Dr. Alexander Purdy of Harvard College, who is in charge of the conference and is quoted as saying that the eastern conference was a failure because it did not meet the needs of the students.

However, the conference was a success in the sense that it brought about a closer understanding of the needs of the students and their leaders.

The conference was attended by over two hundred students from colleges throughout the country, and was conducted by Dr. Purdy and other prominent educators.

The conference was divided into several sections, each dealing with a specific problem. The sections included:

1. Education and the Church
2. Social and Economic Problems
3. Health and Hygiene
4. Religion and Morals

The conference was held in a beautiful location, overlooking the lake, and was marked by a high degree of cooperation and harmony among the delegates.

The students who attended the conference were impressed by the work of the conference leaders, and many of them expressed the desire to attend the conference again in the future.

The conference was a great success in the sense that it brought about a closer understanding of the needs of the students and their leaders, and it was a great source of inspiration and encouragement to those who attended.

By Thomas Quinn, 12,257

8 MILE HIKE OPENS G. A. A. Hike Season

More than 180 persons attended the opening meeting of the season for the German-American Association of the German-American Community last night. The meeting was held in the German-American Hall.

The first hike of the season, sponsored by the German-American Association, was conducted by the German-American Club. The hike was held in the woods near the German-American Hall, and was attended by a large number of persons.

The hike was enjoyed by all who participated, and was considered a great success.

The German-American Association has sponsored a number of hikes in the past, and has always received a large number of participants.

The association plans to hold several more hikes throughout the season, and is looking forward to a successful summer of outdoor activities.

The German-American Association has a long history of providing opportunities for its members to enjoy the outdoors and to participate in healthy physical activity. The association is committed to the well-being of its members, and encourages them to lead active and healthy lifestyles.

The association is also committed to the growth and development of young people, and offers a number of programs and activities to help them achieve their goals.

The German-American Association is proud to offer a wide variety of programs and activities, and is dedicated to serving its members and the community in the best possible way.

The association has a long history of providing opportunities for its members to enjoy the outdoors and to participate in healthy physical activity. The association is committed to the well-being of its members, and encourages them to lead active and healthy lifestyles.

The association is also committed to the growth and development of young people, and offers a number of programs and activities to help them achieve their goals.

The German-American Association is proud to offer a wide variety of programs and activities, and is dedicated to serving its members and the community in the best possible way.

The association has a long history of providing opportunities for its members to enjoy the outdoors and to participate in healthy physical activity. The association is committed to the well-being of its members, and encourages them to lead active and healthy lifestyles.

The association is also committed to the growth and development of young people, and offers a number of programs and activities to help them achieve their goals.

The German-American Association is proud to offer a wide variety of programs and activities, and is dedicated to serving its members and the community in the best possible way.

The association has a long history of providing opportunities for its members to enjoy the outdoors and to participate in healthy physical activity. The association is committed to the well-being of its members, and encourages them to lead active and healthy lifestyles.

The association is also committed to the growth and development of young people, and offers a number of programs and activities to help them achieve their goals.

The German-American Association is proud to offer a wide variety of programs and activities, and is dedicated to serving its members and the community in the best possible way.

The association has a long history of providing opportunities for its members to enjoy the outdoors and to participate in healthy physical activity. The association is committed to the well-being of its members, and encourages them to lead active and healthy lifestyles.

The association is also committed to the growth and development of young people, and offers a number of programs and activities to help them achieve their goals.

The German-American Association is proud to offer a wide variety of programs and activities, and is dedicated to serving its members and the community in the best possible way.

The association has a long history of providing opportunities for its members to enjoy the outdoors and to participate in healthy physical activity. The association is committed to the well-being of its members, and encourages them to lead active and healthy lifestyles.

The association is also committed to the growth and development of young people, and offers a number of programs and activities to help them achieve their goals.

The German-American Association is proud to offer a wide variety of programs and activities, and is dedicated to serving its members and the community in the best possible way.

The association has a long history of providing opportunities for its members to enjoy the outdoors and to participate in healthy physical activity. The association is committed to the well-being of its members, and encourages them to lead active and healthy lifestyles.

The association is also committed to the growth and development of young people, and offers a number of programs and activities to help them achieve their goals.

The German-American Association is proud to offer a wide variety of programs and activities, and is dedicated to serving its members and the community in the best possible way.

The association has a long history of providing opportunities for its members to enjoy the outdoors and to participate in healthy physical activity. The association is committed to the well-being of its members, and encourages them to lead active and healthy lifestyles.

The association is also committed to the growth and development of young people, and offers a number of programs and activities to help them achieve their goals.

The German-American Association is proud to offer a wide variety of programs and activities, and is dedica
EIGHTY-NINE FRESH EXEMPT IN ENGLISH

Register for Courses in Types Of Poetry or in Lines Of Authors

Eighty-nine freshmen are exempt from being examined in English as a result of an examination held for the entire college. Dr. Harry W. Haughton, chairman of the English department, said that these freshmen will register in English 100, a course in English in poetry. Their number is determined by the results of an examination of all college English courses, which must be taken by all freshmen.

Those who attained the high standard were:...

NEWS TO ENTERTAIN

Among faculty members who are to be guests of the college men will gather in their Brubacher, all college men are invited to the dance. Those in charge of the arrangements for the dance are...