Michael Franks: A Mellow Tiger

Michael Franks, although his songs recently hit the top of the charts, Michael Franks music is a form of the most commonly mellow music you can get your hands on. His most recent effort, "Tiger in the Rain," combines some of the best elements of rhythm and blues with the most simple elements of popular music. Added to some of the most prominent musicians today, the album, even during its most complex moments, does not require an extremely careful listening. It simply sounds like good music when taken as whole.

The approach he seems to have chosen is quite similar with the entire melody with his voice, a technique that can make almost any melody sound good.

"Tiger in the Rain" is one of the better jazz tunes on the record. The instrumentation is perfect; the tempo of the vocals which could work on any jazz program. When Franks sings, the instrumentation fade down in the background and the song is brought down into the pop world. The result is a series of songs on the album that are both successful, but some is a rather less sophisticated audience. The result is a pop/rock oriented audience throughout the album. The vocals by Michael Franks have written for "Tiger in the Rain" are something amazing and other times a philosophically suggestive of life's ways and means.

I'm Sick and Tired

By J. Patrick Taber

I'm sick and tired of having to put up with smelly clothes in the washing machine. My own clothes get moldy, so all of my hangers should be prominently displayed and a strict policy enforced...or of the smell from the "Sculpture" in the otherwise beautiful East Garden. It is an eye sore and should be removed...of guest speakers like Vincent Bugliosi, who hasn't written a book in eight years...of that horrendous buzz in the library, for saying nothing of significance, and of guests present like Vincent Bugliosi, who hasn't written a book in eight years...of that horrendous buzz in the library, for saying nothing of significance, and of guests present like Vincent Bugliosi, who hasn't written a book in eight years...of that horrendous buzz in the library, for saying nothing of significance, and of guests present like Vincent Bugliosi, who hasn't written a book in eight years...of that horrendous buzz in the library, for saying nothing of significance, and of guests present like Vincent Bugliosi, who hasn't written a book in eight years...of that horrendous buzz in the library, for saying nothing of significance, and of guests present like Vincent Bugliosi, who hasn't written a book in eight years...of that horrendous buzz in the library, for saying nothing of significance, and of guests present like Vincent Bugliosi, who hasn't written a book in eight years...of that dreadful buzz in the library, for saying nothing of significance, and of guests present like Vincent Bugliosi, who hasn't written a book in eight years...of that...

SAFE AND SECURE IN THE TUNNELS

It's another typical winter day in Albany and your preparations for beating the elements should be evident in your attire. The radio goes off, the lights on the overhead display startling you out of the dreamy haze. Sunlight electrons grazing the Mohawk campus, stretching it to its limits. For the downtown dwellers of SUNYA, the world is taken over by a sense of mystery. Using the tunnels as a means of avoiding the traffic, downtowners find it easier to arrive and depart from the university. In a matter of minutes, 'The TUNNELS' are announced. Once inside these mysterious passages, you have the time to ourselves and with a steady stream of students, you may begin to form a rhythm. Of course, the tunnels are not without their share of danger. The inorganic stench of chemicals, the low lighting, and the close proximity to the university's chemistry building are enough to make even the most experienced student cringe. However, the tunnels also offer a sense of adventure. The open space, the sound of footsteps, and the sense of mystery that surrounds the chemistry building are enough to make even the most experienced student cringe. However, the tunnels also offer a sense of adventure. Two Wins By Spirited Spikers Boost Record To 7-3

by Mike Dowse
Coach Ted Earl saw his unit's momentum grow throughout the three games, with the Spikers dominating the University of New Hampshire in the opening game, followed by Willamette University in the second. Earl was pleased with his team's performance, stating, "They played very well and really put pressure on the other team." The Spikers took on the winless SUNYAC team last week, the Cats, and came away with a 3-0 victory. Earl commented, "It was a true team effort, and I'm happy with the way we played." Looking forward, Earl said, "We have some tough matches coming up, but I think we are ready." The Spikers have won their last three matches and are looking to keep their winning streak alive against their next opponent.

The SUNYAC swimming and diving championships were held this past weekend at SUNYAC. Although the team did not finish in the top three, they still had a strong performance. The men's team finished in fourth place, while the women's team placed fifth. Head Coach Mike Dunne was pleased with the overall performance of the team, saying, "The swimmers put in a hard effort and we can be proud of their results." The Swimmers competed against some of the top teams in the SUNYAC, but were able to hold their own.
