Summer Sessions ’85

State University of New York at Albany

Summer Sessions 85—a part of your summer! Think about it—our short, intensive sessions let you move ahead in your studies. You could even graduate early. Give us eight weeks and you’ll earn a full year of laboratory science credits. Or work off some general education requirements in three or six-week sessions. Whatever your preference, we’re offering some of the most popular courses in nearly all disciplines. And the best part is that summer classes are smaller and our facilities—like computer user rooms and tennis courts—are much more crowded. You’ll enjoy summer in the Capital District. Pack a lunch and take off for the New York City Ballet, the Saratoga races, an Albany-Colonie Yankee game, or a SPAC concert. There’s the Food Jazz Festival, too. Or call it a day in the sun around the University’s fountain.

You’ve got a long summer vacation ahead of you—why not use part of it to study?

The Courses

- Summer in the Capital District
- The Adirondacks, Berkshires, and Catskills
- Swimming and camping at Mohawk and Dippikill
- New York City Ballet in residence at Saratoga
- Special SPAC concerts—the best popular music around!
- Fun and sun around the University fountain

For more information see your advisor or call Summer Sessions 455-6219.

The Sessions

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Session 1</th>
<th>June 23 – July 12</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Session 2</td>
<td>June 24 – August 12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Module 3</td>
<td>June 24 – July 12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Module 4</td>
<td>July 15 – August 12</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Special laboratory science courses

| A June 3 – 28 |
| B July 1 – 26 |

Enroll in any of these sessions and still have the month of August off!
NEWS BRIEFS

Worldwide

German link opposed

AP) The White House said Thursday that it will evacuate most of its 200 employees who work in the U.S. Embassy in Beirut temporarily following a rocket attack on a military compound in the city early Thursday. The evacuation is being done in response to reports of an imminent attack on the U.S. embassy. The move is aimed at protecting American citizens who work for the embassy, as well as American citizens who live in the city. The U.S. Embassy in Beirut is the largest in the world, with over 1,000 employees. The evacuation is expected to last for several days.

Terror controls costly

AP) Controlling toxic chemicals in the workplace can mean more money for some businesses. The federal government has been increasing its efforts to regulate toxic chemicals in recent years, but some businesses say the costs are too high. One company, for example, says it has spent over $1 million to comply with new regulations. The company's CEO says the costs are forcing them to make difficult decisions about whether to continue producing certain products.

Iraqi bank blasted

AP) A group of Iraqi bankers have blasted a new law that would allow foreign companies to operate in their country. The group says the law is unfair and would harm their businesses. The law was passed by the Iraqi parliament in December and is expected to go into effect later this year. The group says the law will make it difficult for Iraqi banks to compete with foreign companies. They say the law is a violation of their right to private property.

Personnel evacuated

AP) The White House said Thursday that it will evacuate most of its 200 employees who work in the U.S. Embassy in Beirut temporarily following a rocket attack on a military compound in the city early Thursday. The evacuation is being done in response to reports of an imminent attack on the U.S. embassy. The move is aimed at protecting American citizens who work for the embassy, as well as American citizens who live in the city. The U.S. Embassy in Beirut is the largest in the world, with over 1,000 employees. The evacuation is expected to last for several days.

Iraqi bank blasted

Washington, DC

AP) Controlling toxic chemicals in the workplace can mean more money for some businesses. The federal government has been increasing its efforts to regulate toxic chemicals in recent years, but some businesses say the costs are too high. One company, for example, says it has spent over $1 million to comply with new regulations. The company's CEO says the costs are forcing them to make difficult decisions about whether to continue producing certain products.

Iraqi bank blasted

Washington, DC

AP) Controlling toxic chemicals in the workplace can mean more money for some businesses. The federal government has been increasing its efforts to regulate toxic chemicals in recent years, but some businesses say the costs are too high. One company, for example, says it has spent over $1 million to comply with new regulations. The company's CEO says the costs are forcing them to make difficult decisions about whether to continue producing certain products.

Iraqi bank blasted

Washington, DC

AP) Controlling toxic chemicals in the workplace can mean more money for some businesses. The federal government has been increasing its efforts to regulate toxic chemicals in recent years, but some businesses say the costs are too high. One company, for example, says it has spent over $1 million to comply with new regulations. The company's CEO says the costs are forcing them to make difficult decisions about whether to continue producing certain products.

Iraqi bank blasted

Washington, DC

AP) Controlling toxic chemicals in the workplace can mean more money for some businesses. The federal government has been increasing its efforts to regulate toxic chemicals in recent years, but some businesses say the costs are too high. One company, for example, says it has spent over $1 million to comply with new regulations. The company's CEO says the costs are forcing them to make difficult decisions about whether to continue producing certain products.

Iraqi bank blasted

Washington, DC

AP) Controlling toxic chemicals in the workplace can mean more money for some businesses. The federal government has been increasing its efforts to regulate toxic chemicals in recent years, but some businesses say the costs are too high. One company, for example, says it has spent over $1 million to comply with new regulations. The company's CEO says the costs are forcing them to make difficult decisions about whether to continue producing certain products.

Iraqi bank blasted

Washington, DC

AP) Controlling toxic chemicals in the workplace can mean more money for some businesses. The federal government has been increasing its efforts to regulate toxic chemicals in recent years, but some businesses say the costs are too high. One company, for example, says it has spent over $1 million to comply with new regulations. The company's CEO says the costs are forcing them to make difficult decisions about whether to continue producing certain products.

Iraqi bank blasted

Washington, DC

AP) Controlling toxic chemicals in the workplace can mean more money for some businesses. The federal government has been increasing its efforts to regulate toxic chemicals in recent years, but some businesses say the costs are too high. One company, for example, says it has spent over $1 million to comply with new regulations. The company's CEO says the costs are forcing them to make difficult decisions about whether to continue producing certain products.

Iraqi bank blasted

Washington, DC

AP) Controlling toxic chemicals in the workplace can mean more money for some businesses. The federal government has been increasing its efforts to regulate toxic chemicals in recent years, but some businesses say the costs are too high. One company, for example, says it has spent over $1 million to comply with new regulations. The company's CEO says the costs are forcing them to make difficult decisions about whether to continue producing certain products.

Iraqi bank blasted

Washington, DC

AP) Controlling toxic chemicals in the workplace can mean more money for some businesses. The federal government has been increasing its efforts to regulate toxic chemicals in recent years, but some businesses say the costs are too high. One company, for example, says it has spent over $1 million to comply with new regulations. The company's CEO says the costs are forcing them to make difficult decisions about whether to continue producing certain products.

Iraqi bank blasted

Washington, DC

AP) Controlling toxic chemicals in the workplace can mean more money for some businesses. The federal government has been increasing its efforts to regulate toxic chemicals in recent years, but some businesses say the costs are too high. One company, for example, says it has spent over $1 million to comply with new regulations. The company's CEO says the costs are forcing them to make difficult decisions about whether to continue producing certain products.

Iraqi bank blasted

Washington, DC

AP) Controlling toxic chemicals in the workplace can mean more money for some businesses. The federal government has been increasing its efforts to regulate toxic chemicals in recent years, but some businesses say the costs are too high. One company, for example, says it has spent over $1 million to comply with new regulations. The company's CEO says the costs are forcing them to make difficult decisions about whether to continue producing certain products.
Join the
I'M DRIVING
CLUB

and receive a membership card which entitles you to free non-alcoholic beverages when you and you will not be drinking.

APR 15 1986

Simplicity of podium serves well
in offsetting her artful wardrobe

By Kathleen Stack

Suzanne Young spent her sophomore year in a psychology course, trying to "figure out what prompts me on this, the way most students always want to know what they want to do when they have decided to study some discipline at the time.

Two years later, she's supposedly sure she isn't really interested in psychology, but she is interested in the idea of psychology. "You can draw any number of parallels with the problems and possible solutions," said
Young, "and I find this interesting."

This summer, Young will be performing at the American Red Cross field school at Mini-Meadow, the only North American winner of France's leading literary prize. Young, who spent a year and a half in the United States with a Fulbright
Fellowship, is now a member of the New York State Writers Institute. She will be spending the summer in Italy to research a
play aboutJoan of Arc.

Young also spent her freshman year of college in Israel. "I wanted to take a break from the
American Red Cross, and on the other hand
I'm very interested in Middle Eastern studies."

The play is a one-woman monologue
for the 1985 pre-career practicum in mental health offered for the 14th sumer memorial Gallery from May 24 to
July 4.

An archæological field school at Mini-
Meadow, the only North American winner of France's leading literary prize. Young, who spent a year and a half in the United States with a Fulbright
Fellowship, is now a member of the New York State Writers Institute. She will be
spending the summer in Italy to research a
play aboutJoan of Arc.

Young also spent her freshman year of college in Israel. "I wanted to take a break from the
American Red Cross, and on the other hand
I'm very interested in Middle Eastern studies."

The play is a one-woman monologue
for the 1985 pre-career practicum in
mental health offered for the 14th sum-
er memorial Gallery from May 24 to
July 4.

An archæological field school at Mini-
Meadow, the only North American winner of France's leading literary prize. Young, who spent a year and a half in the United States with a Fulbright
Fellowship, is now a member of the New York State Writers Institute. She will be
spending the summer in Italy to research a
play aboutJoan of Arc.

Young also spent her freshman year of college in Israel. "I wanted to take a break from the
American Red Cross, and on the other hand
I'm very interested in Middle Eastern studies."

The play is a one-woman monologue
for the 1985 pre-career practicum in
mental health offered for the 14th sum-
er memorial Gallery from May 24 to
July 4.

An archæological field school at Mini-
Meadow, the only North American winner of France's leading literary prize. Young, who spent a year and a half in the United States with a Fulbright
Fellowship, is now a member of the New York State Writers Institute. She will be
spending the summer in Italy to research a
play aboutJoan of Arc.

Young also spent her freshman year of college in Israel. "I wanted to take a break from the
American Red Cross, and on the other hand
I'm very interested in Middle Eastern studies."

The play is a one-woman monologue
for the 1985 pre-career practicum in
mental health offered for the 14th sum-
er memorial Gallery from May 24 to
July 4.

An archæological field school at Mini-
Meadow, the only North American winner of France's leading literary prize. Young, who spent a year and a half in the United States with a Fulbright
Fellowship, is now a member of the New York State Writers Institute. She will be
spending the summer in Italy to research a
play aboutJoan of Arc.

Young also spent her freshman year of college in Israel. "I wanted to take a break from the
American Red Cross, and on the other hand
I'm very interested in Middle Eastern studies."

The play is a one-woman monologue
for the 1985 pre-career practicum in
mental health offered for the 14th sum-
er memorial Gallery from May 24 to
July 4.

An archæological field school at Mini-
Meadow, the only North American winner of France's leading literary prize. Young, who spent a year and a half in the United States with a Fulbright
Fellowship, is now a member of the New York State Writers Institute. She will be
spending the summer in Italy to research a
play aboutJoan of Arc.

Young also spent her freshman year of college in Israel. "I wanted to take a break from the
American Red Cross, and on the other hand
I'm very interested in Middle Eastern studies."

The play is a one-woman monologue
for the 1985 pre-career practicum in
mental health offered for the 14th sum-
er memorial Gallery from May 24 to
July 4.

An archæological field school at Mini-
Meadow, the only North American winner of France's leading literary prize. Young, who spent a year and a half in the United States with a Fulbright
Fellowship, is now a member of the New York State Writers Institute. She will be
spending the summer in Italy to research a
play aboutJoan of Arc.

Young also spent her freshman year of college in Israel. "I wanted to take a break from the
American Red Cross, and on the other hand
I'm very interested in Middle Eastern studies."

The play is a one-woman monologue
for the 1985 pre-career practicum in
mental health offered for the 14th sum-
er memorial Gallery from May 24 to
July 4.

An archæological field school at Mini-
Meadow, the only North American winner of France's leading literary prize. Young, who spent a year and a half in the United States with a Fulbright
Fellowship, is now a member of the New York State Writers Institute. She will be
spending the summer in Italy to research a
play aboutJoan of Arc.

Young also spent her freshman year of college in Israel. "I wanted to take a break from the
American Red Cross, and on the other hand
I'm very interested in Middle Eastern studies."

The play is a one-woman monologue
for the 1985 pre-career practicum in
mental health offered for the 14th sum-
er memorial Gallery from May 24 to
July 4.
Supreme Court overrules suspension by AMIA

By Barbara S. Abrahamer

Student Amicus Society Supreme Court decided to uphold a suspension of Student Amicus Society AMIA's suspension by a 6-3 vote on February 19, but overturned a suspension against Columbia's Student Association that was upheld by the Appeals Board on February 26. The case involved a dispute over Columbia's student body constitution, which the Supreme Court found to be unconstitutional.

The Court's decision was a blow to the Columbia Student Association (Columbia Student) and its supporters. The Students and the Supreme Court found that the Columbia Student Association had violated the Constitution by suspending a student organization without providing due process. The Supreme Court ruled that the Columbia Student Association had violated its own constitution by suspending the Student Amicus Society without providing due process.

The Supreme Court's decision was a significant victory for the Students and the Columbia Student Association, who had fought for years to overturn the suspension. The Court's decision was a clear victory for the Students and the Columbia Student Association, who had fought for years to overturn the suspension.

The Court's decision was a clear victory for the Students and the Columbia Student Association, who had fought for years to overturn the suspension.
A propositional danger

President Reagan's budget proposal represents a dangerous threat to our educational system. His efforts to burden higher education, as which are one of only a few percent of the federal budget, is inexcusable. Aid spending continues to increase only because we are making other education cuts necessary. This must stop before our students start to feel the strain.

The administration has proposed an across-the-board reduction of $1.4 billion. This would be a total of $8.7 billion in reductions, which is on top of $3.3 billion in cuts already proposed by the House of Representatives. The cuts would be made in grants to the states for such things as Medicaid, education, and public works. The states would then have to make up the difference, which they cannot afford. This would be a disaster for the nation's economy, as well as for the students who rely on these programs.

Additionally, the proposal would eliminate all student aid programs. The Pell Grant program, which helps students pay for college, would be reduced by $2.2 billion. The Work-Study program, which helps students pay for college through part-time work, would be reduced by $1.2 billion. The Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant program, which helps students pay for college through loans, would be reduced by $750 million.

The cuts would not only affect students, but also universities. The administration has proposed reducing funding for the National Science Foundation by 25%, which would mean less money for research and development. The cuts would also affect the National Institutes of Health, which provide funding for medical research.

The administration has also proposed cutting funding for the Department of Education by 25%, which would mean less money for schools and universities. The administration has also proposed cutting funding for the Department of Housing and Urban Development by 25%, which would mean less money for housing and urban development programs.

The cuts would not only affect students and universities, but also the nation's economy. The cuts would mean less money for research and development, which would mean less money for new inventions and innovations. The cuts would also mean less money for medical research, which would mean less money for new treatments and cures.

The cuts would not only affect the nation's economy, but also the world. The cuts would mean less money for research and development, which would mean less money for new inventions and innovations. The cuts would also mean less money for medical research, which would mean less money for new treatments and cures.

The cuts would not only affect the world, but also the nation's economy. The cuts would mean less money for research and development, which would mean less money for new inventions and innovations. The cuts would also mean less money for medical research, which would mean less money for new treatments and cures.
LISTEN TO "WCDH"

Weekend Specials
Sat., 12 noon - WEEK-IN-REVIEW
A recap of top news happenings.

Sun., 12 noon - 91FM PUBLIC AFFAIRS PREVIEW

Sun., 12 midnight - SPORTS SPOTLIGHT
Highlights of the week's sports events.

All this, plus our regular music programs. Every Weekend, only on the Capital District's Best - WCDH.
ARE YOU INTERESTED IN INTRAMURAL SPORTS AND WANT TO GET INVOLVED?

Looking for a few good men interested in the operation of intramural activities at SUNY Albany, for active council membership immediately!!!

Applications are available in the intramural office think about heading to the slopes, the beach or going. Just show us your college student I.D. card and leave the driving to us.

Nomination forms for the
S.A. Academic Awards are due Wed., March 20.

Excellence in Teaching (4 finalists)
Excellence in Advising (3 finalists)
Administrators of the Year
Extra-Curricular Involvement with Students (Special Citations)

Winners to be announced at the free annual
S.A. AWARDS BANQUET on May 2.
Forms available in the S.A. Office.
Contact Mike Miller at 457-3087.

The Rotary Club has offered to sponsor the Fifth Annual Albany Rotary Club Career Day to be held on Thursday, April 18, 1985.

This event is a unique and worthwhile opportunity for SUNYA students to participate in a full day of professional experience. Every member of the Albany Rotary Club have signed on to spend one morning, April 18th, to the career exploration of selected SUNYA students. This full-day career event will take students off the campus, and into the community where they will spend the morning observing, interviewing, and interacting with a local business professional. A wide range of occupations will be represented including:

1. Advertising
2. Banking
3. Business
4. Communications
5. Education
6. Insurance
7. Law
8. Social Service

After a busy morning of experiential learning, students will be treated to lunch at the Albany Country Club
...
St. John's buries Southern University, 83-59

By Rich Sheridan

A lot of people were saying for the first time in the NCAA tournament, "Isn't it kind of nice that Lehigh and Mercer don't belong in the tournament?" They were saying Isn't it kind of nice that Lehigh and Mercer don't belong in the tournament? They were saying that the Lehigh and Mercer didn't belong in the tournament? And then they went on to win the first round, and it was, "You know, there are probably 15 NCAA West sub-regional tournaments, and they took the only one that the Lehigh and Mercer didn't belong in the tournament? And then they won it. "That was very difficult" to play against a team that's not invited to the tournament," Coach George Martelli said. "You know, I think it's kind of apropos for this area. This is my sweater for the tournament," said Chandler. "It was Very difficult" to play against a team that's not invited to the tournament," Coach George Martelli said. "You know, I think it's kind of apropos for this area.

Lehigh, the only in-state team with a winning record, was No. 2 in the East Region, and No. 19 in the nation. "It was very difficult" to play against a team that's not invited to the tournament," Coach George Martelli said. "You know, I think it's kind of apropos for this area. It wasn't very difficult" to play against a team that's not invited to the tournament," Coach George Martelli said. "You know, I think it's kind of apropos for this area.

"It was very difficult" to play against a team that's not invited to the tournament," Coach George Martelli said. "You know, I think it's kind of apropos for this area. It wasn't very difficult" to play against a team that's not invited to the tournament," Coach George Martelli said. "You know, I think it's kind of apropos for this area.

Lehigh's Cinderella ride into the East Regional. "I wasn't too sure," said Chandler. "I wasn't too sure when we won our conference tourney for the first time," said Chandler. "I wasn't too sure when we won our conference tourney for the first time," said Chandler. "I wasn't too sure when we won our conference tourney for the first time," said Chandler. "I wasn't too sure when we won our conference tourney for the first time," said Chandler. "I wasn't too sure when we won our conference tourney for the first time," said Chandler.

"It was Very difficult" to play against a team that's not invited to the tournament," Coach George Martelli said. "You know, I think it's kind of apropos for this area. It wasn't very difficult" to play against a team that's not invited to the tournament," Coach George Martelli said. "You know, I think it's kind of apropos for this area. It wasn't very difficult" to play against a team that's not invited to the tournament," Coach George Martelli said. "You know, I think it's kind of apropos for this area. It wasn't very difficult" to play against a team that's not invited to the tournament," Coach George Martelli said. "You know, I think it's kind of apropos for this area.

Lehigh, the only in-state team with a winning record, was No. 2 in the East Region, and No. 19 in the nation. "It was very difficult" to play against a team that's not invited to the tournament," Coach George Martelli said. "You know, I think it's kind of apropos for this area. It wasn't very difficult" to play against a team that's not invited to the tournament," Coach George Martelli said. "You know, I think it's kind of apropos for this area. It wasn't very difficult" to play against a team that's not invited to the tournament," Coach George Martelli said. "You know, I think it's kind of apropos for this area.

"It was Very difficult" to play against a team that's not invited to the tournament," Coach George Martelli said. "You know, I think it's kind of apropos for this area. It wasn't very difficult" to play against a team that's not invited to the tournament," Coach George Martelli said. "You know, I think it's kind of apropos for this area. It wasn't very difficult" to play against a team that's not invited to the tournament," Coach George Martelli said. "You know, I think it's kind of apropos for this area.
Andy Seras to compete in Division I NCAAs

Wrestler heads to Oklahoma City to finish career

By Adam S. Engel

Currently, the Albany State crew is composed of 35 men and 15 women, and includes five full-time athletes. This fall, Coach Schaefer, who is in charge of the team, moved to the University of the Pacific in Stockton, California, where he will be assistant coach. The crew team, which started an Olympic scholarship program in 1984, has also added to its membership this year. The team is hoping to participate in the upcoming NCAA championships.

For John Francis, a senior, the experience is different. He had his own wrestling season over for Simon, and he's been a part of the crew team for four years. This fall, he's a redshirt senior, and he's looking forward to finishing his college career.

Andy Seras will be vying to become the second Albany State athlete to earn Division I All-American status. The tournament, held in Oklahoma City, starts today and ends Saturday.

Centerfold: Art for argument's sake

INSIDE: Dangerous nuns, French friends, Arctic explorers, and healthy controversy

AFTER HOURS

At 11:30 tonight, this mild-mannered Theater Studies Major will become a work of art.

How can this happen?

Find out on page 20
Of this time

In a hundred years from now, people will look back and think of the time in their youth when they were standing in line waiting for change on the corner. They will remember the change of society. They will remember the changes of society. They will remember the changes of society. They will remember the changes of society.

That's the future. The future is here. The future is waiting. The future is waiting. The future is waiting. The future is waiting.

So I choose not to be "Sane" but to be in the present tense and think about things that I need to have when I want to change. I choose not to judge others but to judge myself. I choose not to be content with status quo, even though I am constantly being challenged by others.

So I choose not to be "Sane" but to be in the present tense and think about things that I need to have when I want to change. I choose not to judge others but to judge myself. I choose not to be content with status quo, even though I am constantly being challenged by others.

The future is here. The future is waiting. The future is waiting. The future is waiting. The future is waiting.

So I choose not to be "Sane" but to be in the present tense and think about things that I need to have when I want to change. I choose not to judge others but to judge myself. I choose not to be content with status quo, even though I am constantly being challenged by others.

So I choose not to be "Sane" but to be in the present tense and think about things that I need to have when I want to change. I choose not to judge others but to judge myself. I choose not to be content with status quo, even though I am constantly being challenged by others.

So I choose not to be "Sane" but to be in the present tense and think about things that I need to have when I want to change. I choose not to judge others but to judge myself. I choose not to be content with status quo, even though I am constantly being challenged by others.

So I choose not to be "Sane" but to be in the present tense and think about things that I need to have when I want to change. I choose not to judge others but to judge myself. I choose not to be content with status quo, even though I am constantly being challenged by others.
Art for argument’s sake

by Tom Kacandes

In the fall of 1984, a very peculiar thing happened at Yale University. More precisely, Vincent R. Renzi sought to find his life transformed, yet a very small group of students knew exactly what was at stake. The idea began with the notion of defining what it means to be an artist. What exactly is art? And where do we draw the line between art and non-art? These were the questions that occupied the minds of those involved.

The art world, as it is known, is composed of a complex web of relationships and interactions. It is a place where ideas and concepts are shaped and molded, where creativity and innovation are nurtured, and where artists and patrons engage in a dynamic dialogue. This particular case study takes place within the framework of such a dialogue, where the stakes are high and the consequences of one’s actions can be far-reaching.

The first step in understanding this particular case study is to comprehend the context in which it occurs. The background and setting provide crucial information about the environment in which the events unfold. By examining the societal and cultural forces that shape the art world, we can gain insight into the motivations and pressures that drive the characters involved.

The story itself centers around Vincent R. Renzi, a young artist who sought to redefine his role in the art world. He took a bold step and used his own life as a work of art, in a sense, by turning his life into an artistic project. This approach was not without its challenges, as Renzi had to navigate the complexities of the art world while maintaining his personal integrity.

The conclusion of the story highlights the importance of individual agency and the power of personal expression. It serves as a testament to the idea that art can be a tool for transformation and that artists have the ability to shape their own destinies. The story of Vincent R. Renzi reminds us of the importance of creativity and the role that art plays in our lives.

In summary, the story of Vincent R. Renzi is a powerful reminder of the impact that art can have on the world. It serves as a call to action, encouraging us to think critically about the role that art plays in our lives and to support those who are working to make the world a better place.

From the man who...

For the five-week period beginning 11:49 PM EDT, 12 October, 1984, and ending at 10:49 PM EDT, 16 October, 1984, the life of one of us (Renzi) will be declared a work of art. Only through such actions can we come to understand the nature of art, to appreciate its diversity, and to see art as a fundamental aspect of human society as a whole, which squashes all creativity and individual initiative. Only then can we hope to lead a human, codified mediocrity.

Perhaps you cannot see too much overhead the loss of aesthetic sensitivity when, after all, you have to clean your bathroom. However, when they see their own children playing with the killing of society...

So we can go back to everyone who loses their life as a work of art, for as we have done, we do lead all our lives artfully. The purpose of this particular piece is to emphasize the capacity—the necessity—of making judgements that make us human, to ignore it is to commit intellectual suicide. And so if at the end of these five weeks, if you cannot understand what is written here, you might as well put a bullet through your head. For if you are going to commit suicide, you ought to do it properly.
International Film Group
Presents
Mike Nichols’
THE GRADUATE
Tuesday, March 19
at 8 PM in
LC 1
$1.00 admission

TELETHON '85
I SPOT U CONTEST
Sunday, March 17-Friday, March 22
Telethon staff will roam the campus
next week looking to give away prize tickets to people wearing any Telethon t-shirts, hats, or buttons.
So put on your old Telethon
memorabilia or buy Telethon ‘85 hats
& t-shirts in the CC Lobby and get SPOTTED!

‘85 T-shirts: $5.00 Hats: $2.00
T-Shirt and hat: $6.50
Prize drawing at Telethon '85,
Friday night.
Come to Telethon '85
March 22-23, 8pm-8pm,
CC Ballroom!

The Department of Political Science
Announces

ADVISATHON

Wednesday, March 20, 7:00 P.M.- LI - 95
(Rockefeller Undergraduate Programs Office)

* The purpose of ADVISATHON is to provide undergraduates in political science with information regarding programs and requirements and to facilitate program planning for the fall semester, 1985.

* Students already decided upon fall courses can get immediate approval and signed program cards.

* All undergraduate majors and prospective majors are invited to attend,
meet with faculty, discuss problems, etc.

* Even if you have an assigned advisor you can take care of all advising problems at the ADVISATHON.

Alumni Quad Board throws a

FLORIDA
BEACH PARTY

1 LUCKY TICKET HOLDER WILL WIN A
TRIP FOR TWO TO FORT LAUDERDALE
SATURDAY, MARCH 16, 9PM-2AM
$3 with tax sticker
$5.50 without
Brubacher Ballroom
Get “Warmed Up” for the Party of the Year!

UNIVERSITY CINEMAS

ROMANCING THE STONE is super
entertainment.” -Associated Press

Starring
Michael Douglas
and
Kathleen Turner

7:30 & 10:00
- Shows -
Friday & Saturday
March 15 & 16
S.A. Funded

"ROMANCING THE STONE is super
entertainment.” -Associated Press

Starring
Michael Douglas
and
Kathleen Turner

7:30 & 10:00
- Shows -
Friday & Saturday
March 15 & 16
S.A. Funded

More than a video game...
Class of '85 pride may net SUNY $20,000

By Jeanne Weatherwax

"Show Your Pride!" is the class of '85's pride program of the month. The program is the first of a series of events aimed at involving the first-year students in the school's pride. The program is sponsored by the Student Assembly and the Office of Student Services. All students are encouraged to participate.

"Every graduating senior will be reached by the class of '85," said Salkin. "We hope that the program will be successful, and we encourage everyone to participate."

Weekend forum catered to minority needs

By David Weatherwax

About 30 Puerto Rican high school students from New York City got a taste of SUNYA as part of a Puerto Rican student weekend last weekend. Although the forum was set up to appeal to all minority groups, many students from Puerto Rico attended.

"We are a minority group and we want to be included," said Carmen Rodriguez, a student from New York City. "We felt that the forum was a great opportunity to learn about SUNYA and to meet other students."

Student activity fee cap hiked to $120 per year by SUNY Central

By Pam Conagra

Albany’s student activity fee is now up to $120 per year, the University announced today. The fee increase is the result of a decision by the SUNY Board of Trustees (BUT) to freeze the fee at $120 for one year.

"We are pleased to report that the University has been able to keep the student activity fee at $120 per year," said SUNY Chancellor Lewis E. Culliton. "This decision was made to ensure that the University’s financial resources are used effectively."

PUBLISHED AT THE STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT ALBANY BY THE ALBANY STUDENT PRESS CORPORATION