LEGISLATOR PUSHES FOR LEGALIZATION OF MARIJUANA

by Mike Diringer

If the bill recently introduced in the New York Assembly by Frank Leichter (Dem.-Lib.-Manhasset) should pass, everyone certainly could have a potted marijuana cigarette at his finds, and drive a car.

The bill is not expected to get out of the Committee on Jenners Central Domain. Few new thành here, according to Leichter, of the conservatives. But the Assemblywoman is optimistic for the bill's ultimate passage. The question is whether the Republicans will vote against the measure. The only thing the sponsor wants is to show that he can vote for a marijuana cigarette. He has introduced the same bill the last two years with minor modifications.

within the past year, some states have taken steps to change these laws. Last May, for instance, the state of Nebraska reduced penalties for the possession of under one pound of marijuana to seven days. Last December, Massachusetts, following a six-month probation period for the same crime. In the past few months, Illinois and Michigan have also changed their marijuana laws.

Currently there are several bills dealing with marijuana before the New York Legislature. Assemblyman Leichter's bill which seeks to license the production of marijuana, and to authorize the retail sale of the drug, has been referred to the Committee on Commerce and Joint Committee on Administrative Review.

Legal marijuana is defined as possessing under one pound of marijuana. The following day, a recruiter from the Women's Army Corps will meet with student recruiters. The coalition members decried that Rockefeller's plan added a “billion dollar price tag” to the $3.4 billion already budgeted for the medical use of marijuana.

Assemblyman Frank Leichter (Dem.-Lib.Maj.) has recently introduced a bill that would legalize the sale of marijuana. Leichter also said that he was introducing a bill to provide $10 million to research the cause of heroin addiction and possible cures.

Belfast (Londonderry) — The events currently in Belfast during the winter months give the appearance of a low season. Although thousands of workers continue to work, the atmosphere is almost totally devoid of the usual holiday cheer. The official word of IRA has been issued, jokingly saying the Northern Ireland policy of the British is "helpful." Funny, perhaps, to someone looking for a "holiday" in the British. However, the IRA's military activities continue to impact the Belfast community.

The streets immediately become a haven for the residents of the British. The city bustles with activity as a result. The IRA is believed to have been involved in the shooting of several people. These shooting results are said to be causing great distress among the local population. The IRA has issued an official statement, claiming the shooting incident was "helpful." However, the statement is not taken seriously by the local residents.

Kosher Meal Plan?

It has recently been announced that there are tentative plans for a Kosher meal contract for Fall 1972.

Several of the terms are as follows:

- Whatever the students' choice of meal plan, the evening meal only will be Kosher.
- The Kosher Meal Plan would be the same price as a regular contract.
- Kosher kitchen will be in Dutch Quad only, but not limited to Dutch Quad residents.
- The Kosher meal would not be a T.V. dinner.

Council Puts Nix on "War Tax" Measure

By Kim Stewart Jacobson

Central Council, Thursday, May 4, a bill that mandates a "War Tax" measure failed to get the necessary majority to pass. The measure would require all students, regardless of their political beliefs, to contribute an additional two dollars per month to student-sponsored activities.

Several questions about the bill were raised during the meeting. Chief among them was the question of how effective the tax would be. It was argued that since the parking fees are already quite high, the additional tax would be difficult to collect and would only serve to increase the cost of college for students. It was also pointed out that the tax would not address the underlying issue of the parking situation, which remains a problem on campus.

George Ozuna, the sponsor of the bill, defended the measure, arguing that it would generate much-needed funds for the Student Council. "We need money to run the Student Council and this tax would help us do that," he said.

The measure failed to pass with a vote of 28-25. Those in favor of the tax were students who felt that the parking situation was a major problem on campus and that something needed to be done to address it. Those opposed to the tax were students who felt that it was unfair to force all students to contribute to a measure that benefited only a portion of the student body.

The vote was a close one, with only 10 votes separating those in favor of the tax and those opposed to it. It was a hard decision for many students, but in the end, the majority voted against the tax.

The parking situation on campus remains a problem and it is likely that the Student Council will continue to search for a solution to this issue. In the meantime, students must continue to pay parking fees and deal with the parking situation on a daily basis.

Third World Studies are Beautiful

To the Editor:

The article written by the self-described sentiment Mr. Thompson of the Puerto Rican Studies Department in the Albany Times-Union on March 10 is a very good attempt to explain the Puerto Rican Studies Department to those who may not understand it or have any knowledge of it. The article is well-written and informative, and it does a good job of explaining the department's goals and objectives.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Thompson,

I was very interested in your article about the Puerto Rican Studies Department in the Albany Times-Union on March 10. As a student of that department, I believe that your article does an excellent job of explaining the department's goals and objectives.

trust your trustees?

The SUNY Board of Trustees has recently been criticized for its role in setting tuition levels for students attending the State University. The Trustees are being scrutinized for possible conflicts of interest between their positions on the Board and their private interests. As a result, the basis and motives for the tuition rises are being questioned.

In spite of protest and pressure, students discovered that the Board of Trustees are accountable to no one—not to the State Legislature, nor to the Board of Higher Education or Board of Regents, and definitely not to the constituency it purports to serve.

The Trustees are appointed by Governor Rockefeller and serve three-year terms. There is no salary attached to the position and this may be another basis of contention. Some observers believe that only very wealthy individuals who are non-competing persons (who are not necessarily competent) can afford to serve. The overwhelming majority of the 15-man board are in very comfortable financial situations, with a number holding high posts in prominent corporations or banking concerns.

Nearly every member was educated in private, sometimes exclusive college. Some, in fact, are simultaneously acting on the Board of Trustees or an Alumni Associations of private universities. Others have spouses or close relatives connected with private educational institutions. This revelation has raised the ire of university graduates including representatives of SASU (the Student Association of the State University). SASU, in conjunction with its City University counterparts, is expected to call for the resignation of all members of the Board who intend to maintain positions in both the public and private sectors of education.

The situation, as spokesmen maintain, is a primary ground for suspicion of the Board’s motives for raising tuition. It is felt that certain Trustees may have voted for the raise due to an interest in the preservation of the private schools, regardless of the damage to the public University.

There is also a feeling among students that the Trustees cannot identify with the problems and needs of the students who attend SUNY. In addition to having incomes far exceeding those of families of the average SUNY student, the ages of members of the Board generally range between 55-68. And for the most part, the Trustees have little, if any, experience in the field of education.

Below is a brief rundown of the SUNY Board of Trustees. The summaries are by no means complete, but their intent is merely to identify those personalities and point out some of the bases for the charge of conflict of interest.

Round One of Tuition Fight Opens in Albany

Students planning to lobby for an tuition at SUNY Upstate Medical Center in Syracuse, a conclusion reached by the task force has been that there are no easy answers to the problem of how to fund education in the State. There will be no easy way to defend their institution against the proposed tuition increase.

The proposed increase would raise the tuition for in-state students at SUNY Upstate Medical Center from $550 to $600 per year, effective January 1, 1973. The increase would amount to about $49 per semester.

However, the task force also recommended that the State University of New York (SUNY) system should be granted a margin of error of $10 per student to cover unexpected expenses.

Tuition at SUNY Upstate Medical Center is currently $550 per year for in-state students, $600 for out-of-state students and $50 for part-time students.

The task force recommended that the State Legislature should provide a margin of error of $10 per student to cover unexpected expenses. This would bring the total tuition increase for in-state students to $600 per year, effective January 1, 1973.

Children's March for Survival

Little children, mostly from the poverty pockets and ghettos, will be the success of Washington D.C. on Saturday, March 25, to try to do what their parents have failed to do: bring about change. The success is the CHILDREN'S MARCH FOR SURVIVAL: a demonstration organized by a coalition of more than fifty groups, and individuals concerned about a great variety of children's needs. The theme of the march is to focus national attention on the plight of children and to make the public and the federal government aware of these conditions which harm children.

The sponsoring coalition of organizers points out that children for children has never been so acute as it is now under Nixon administration policies and programs for lack of them. The veto under Nixon administration has been so acute as it is now under Nixon administration policies and programs for lack of them. The veto under Nixon administration policies and programs for lack of them. The veto under Nixon administration policies and programs for lack of them.

The Children's March for Survival in Washington on March 25, can be the focal point for bringing together individuals, organizations and children to focus attention on children's issues and to define an action plan for the children. We want to:

1. Oppose HR 1 (FAP) as passed by the House of Representatives.
2. End the war for the children of Indonesia as well as our children's comprehensive community controlled child development systems.
3. Pass a national family assistance plan (FAP), that children and all children should have access to preventive and protective rather than crisis care.
4. Create jobs so that parents may provide for their children an adequate standard of living.
5. Provide adequate housing for everyone so that all children can grow up in a healthy environment.
6. End hunger and malnutrition among all children.
7. End hunger and malnutrition among all children.
8. Ensure an educational system and make the schools a place for children to learn and not instruments of control.
9. Encourage change, beneficial to children, in income taxes and all other taxes.

The Flight of the Children

- 40% of the population of the US below 20 years of age
- 40% of children are dependent on AFDC (Aid to Families with Dependent Children) payments for shelter, food, clothing and other necessities. The average national monthly AFDC payment for one child is $235.
- Substandard is costing among all income levels:
  - 50% of all children under six and 55% of boys under six have vitamin A deficiencies.
  - 70% of girls and 25% of boys of all income levels have vitamin C deficiencies.
  - 19% of all children ages 11 to 23 months have iron deficiencies.
  - 48% of all children have vitamin B deficiencies.
  - 25% of all children in large inner city schools cannot read. Teachers and school officials are using amphetamines—drugs—to control the behavior of children who are up against impossible situations.
- 22% of children are underfed.
- 18% of all children are underfed.
- 7.4 million children are dependent on AFDC (Aid to Families with Dependent Children) payments for shelter, food, clothing and other necessities. The average national monthly AFDC payment for one child is $235.
- Malnutrition is soaring among all income levels:
  - 40% of all children have vitamin C deficiencies.
  - 50% of all infants ages 12 to 23 months have iron deficiencies.

The Plan (FAP) (HR 1) and the National Welfare Rights Organization (NWRO) as a "family assistance plan." It is now pending in the House of Representatives. It is similar to the "family assistance program" plan, focusing on the needs of the poor and the needy, underdeveloped and especially welfare children has proposed an innovative goal for children's March for Survival in Washington, DC for March 25, 1972.
