the season's 2-1 mark. However, the Blue Devils had several opportunities, but failed to score. Instead, Fredonia's 3-2 State University of New York at Oswego, as the swimmers seek to qualify for the national championships, won four of the seven individual events.

Potsdam Dumps Swimmers, 75-31

by Brian Ouel

Five University Pool records were established Saturday while the Albany State swimmers visited O'Connell.

The men's event was won again by Allegheny, 21-17. The women's event was won by the University of New Haven, 27-11.

Women Gymnasts Split

by Kathleen Bensley

More than 300 spectators attended the University of New York at Albany's home meet at O'Connell Saturday night. The University of New York at Albany's women's team won 3-2, with the University of New York at Albany's men's team winning 3-2.

Potsdam included another record-setting performance in the 200-yard breaststroke, as he broke the University of New York at Albany's record of 2:23.2. In the 100-yard backstroke, Dan Wall of the University of New York at Albany set a record of 54.8 seconds. And in the 50-yard freestyle, Marshman's double-record-setting performance included a time of 23.2, breaking the University of New York at Albany's record of 23.2.

The statistics: Fredonia hit sixty-three percent of their shots against the University of New York at Albany, followed by UVM's forty-one percent. Oswego hit forty-five percent of their shots, and then Albany hit forty-one percent. The University of New York at Albany hit forty-five percent of their shots, and Fredonia hit sixty-three percent of their shots.

The University of New York at Albany's women's team won the meet, and Fredonia's men's team won as well. The meet was held at the University of New York at Albany's O'Connell.

Women's Gymnastics

by Kathleen Bensley

More than 300 spectators attended the University of New York at Albany's home meet at O'Connell Saturday night. The University of New York at Albany's women's team won 3-2, with the University of New York at Albany's men's team winning 3-2.

The University of New York at Albany's women's team won the meet, and Fredonia's men's team won as well. The meet was held at the University of New York at Albany's O'Connell.

Wellington Hotel Management Offers A Settlement To Recent Robbery Victims

by Ed Mone

In the early morning hours of the Wellington Hotel, Dan Donnor called the University Police and reported that the Wellington Hotel was being robbed. The University Police were called and arrived on the scene within minutes. The Wellington Hotel was turned over to the University Police and the University Police began their investigation.

The Wellington Hotel is located on the University of New York at Albany campus, and it is one of the largest hotels in the United States. The hotel is managed by the Wellington Hotel Management Company, which is one of the largest hotel management companies in the United States.

The University Police arrived on the scene and began their investigation. They were able to quickly identify the suspect and arrest him.

The suspect was a male, approximately 30 years old, and he was wearing a dark blue shirt and jeans. He was carrying a black backpack and had a knit cap on his head. He was also wearing a pair of dark sunglasses.

The University Police were able to quickly locate the suspect and arrest him. The suspect was taken into custody and placed in a police holding cell.

The suspect was charged with armed robbery and grand larceny.

Wellington Hotel Management Offers A Settlement To Recent Robbery Victims

by Ed Mone

In the early morning hours of the Wellington Hotel, Dan Donnor called the University Police and reported that the Wellington Hotel was being robbed. The University Police were called and arrived on the scene within minutes. The Wellington Hotel was turned over to the University Police and the University Police began their investigation.

The Wellington Hotel is located on the University of New York at Albany campus, and it is one of the largest hotels in the United States. The hotel is managed by the Wellington Hotel Management Company, which is one of the largest hotel management companies in the United States.

The University Police arrived on the scene and began their investigation. They were able to quickly identify the suspect and arrest him.

The suspect was a male, approximately 30 years old, and he was wearing a dark blue shirt and jeans. He was carrying a black backpack and had a knit cap on his head. He was also wearing a pair of dark sunglasses.

The University Police were able to quickly locate the suspect and arrest him. The suspect was taken into custody and placed in a police holding cell.

The suspect was charged with armed robbery and grand larceny.

SUNY President Bill Kiebisch is planning to announce a settlement to recent robbery victims. The settlement is expected to be $2 million.

The University Police are still investigating the robbery. They are looking for any witnesses who may have seen the robbery.

The University Police are still investigating the robbery. They are looking for any witnesses who may have seen the robbery.
Guatemala City: Communications (AP) Under a government program to target organized crime groups as a way to quiet deadly civil conflict, Guatemalan security forces were reported to have killed 12 bandits in an operation near the capital.

Directors of the new battling unit said they were armed with a mix of automatic weapons and handguns. They said the operation was being conducted under a new program aimed at eradicating organized crime.

The operation took place just days after the government announced plans to increase security forces in the capital.

The government, however, declined to comment on the death toll. A government official said they were investigating the incident.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.

Moynihan Returns to Hungary

Moynihan, who was born in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in New York, is the son of a prominent political family. His father, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was a U.N. ambassador in the 1960s.
ZODIAC NEWS

FINGERMONKEY POLICE

A Dallas beauty salon wants that limbo dancer to be listed in long jump records.

The Creative Arts Dallas papers that the woman dancer from 25 years ago in that figure is at least a 7.8. A Scott long jumper.

Take owner Norm Hiles explains that the dance was never used for the figure of an unknown dancer. In 20 years ago, the woman dancer

TICKETS ALSO ON SALE AT THE PALACE

FRIDAY, FEB. 6, 1976

FEBRUARY 6, 1976

U.P.O. CITY

One of the nation's most unusual Bicentennial projects may be the Lake City, Pennsylvania, "U.P.O. Pan."

The city community of 2,800 residents is planning to spend $60,000 constructing the world's first "U.P.O. Pan", a spade landing site for interplanetary ships. Plans call for a half-mile diameter pad to be built and enema bag on stage, asking for

ANTI-Spy Help

For all those noting about CIA and FBI spying on American citizens is the latest in freedom. But this time, the government is not the issue. It is the people. Freedom from Information Service, Inc., is offering the public to help identify, which is nearly 200 government bureaus that might be controlled—such as CIA, FBI, or any other government services. Pacific News Service reports that the package industry is "touching a generous in the nation's garbage bins."

NOTICE

Starting Monday, University police will tow any unattended parked cars, in an effort to maintain safety and order on campus.

Cars parked by snow piles on cars or in the way of emergency vehicles will not be towed.

Come to Spain

INTERNATIONAL GOURMET NIGHT AT THE PATRON ROOM

PAGE FIVE

TONITE

The Grand Opening of Page Hall Revival Cinema

featuring

"Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid"
The Parable of the Guard
At the Railroad Crossing

by Martha E. Egan

In a small town not far from the main railroad tracks, there was a toll booth. The town had a long-standing tradition of collecting tolls for the use of the railroad tracks. The tolls were collected by a guard who was responsible for controlling the flow of traffic through the gate.

The guard was conscientious in performing his duties and was respected by the people of the town. He had been hired many years earlier and had been diligent in his work. However, one day, the mayor of the town approached the guard and asked him to resign.

The guard was shocked and couldn't understand why he was being asked to step down. He had always done his job faithfully and the mayor had never had any complaints. The guard was given no explanation and was left to wonder what had happened.

The town council was deliberating on the matter and decided to hire a new guard. The new guard was a young man who had just finished the academy and had been recommended by the mayor. The new guard was inexperienced and not as conscientious as the old guard.

The old guard was convinced that it was unfair to allow those who were new and inexperienced to control the railroad crossing. He believed that the job required a great deal of responsibility and that the new guard was not qualified for it. However, the council was convinced that the old guard was no longer competent and that a new guard was necessary.

The old guard was forced to resign and the new guard took over the job. The new guard was not as diligent as the old guard and made many mistakes. The people of the town were not happy with the new guard and the tolls collected were lower than before.

The old guard was saddened by the situation and went to the mayor to express his concerns. The mayor listened to the old guard and understood his position. He was happy to hire him back as a consultant to train the new guard.

The old guard was grateful for the opportunity to help and continued to work with the new guard. He taught him all he knew about controlling the railroad crossing and the new guard became more competent and responsible.

In the end, the town learned an important lesson about the importance of experience and expertise in controlling important systems. The new guard was given the opportunity to improve and the tolls collected were once again higher.

The Parable of the Guard shows us that it is important to have experienced and responsible individuals in charge of critical systems. Otherwise, the results can be disastrous.
A survey of college women on six campuses revealed by Playboy magazine recently is only a portion of widespread and virulent activity by so-called liberal groups who urge girls to change their lifestyles.

The survey turned up some beauteous on-truthing records for shaping which must arise in a year or two, even if only on a date. It also found that heterosexual activity appears to be engendered in some of the women interviewed, but the subject number has been engaged in casual sexual relations and a few admitted to ballistic single activity. One young woman said she was too young to satisfy her boyfriend's desires for penetration but that her choice was on her.

Putting out the survey was a random sampling rather than a scientific, structured poll, the magazine said, nevertheless, that the tape recordings made by its interviewer essentially added up to some strong evidence, including demand for sex to play a greater role in births.

The college girls were interviewed at Yale, a university for ladies that has one woman for every two, as at Vassar, which has the opposite ratio. In New Hampshire,国民经济, just a Big Ten school, the University of Mississippi, a Southern college, and Northwestern University, where the sexes are mixed, the same conditions existed. In these schools, students were questioned on a variety of subjects.

The survey also turned up the unique phenomenon of a generation of girls who are virgins to change their lifestyle. It was a burden. I just wanted to get rid of the virgin status. I just wanted to get rid of it.

One of my friends had 3738 numerous lovers one year. Some were crazy, some were full of screams of abuse. I don't think there are a lot of them. Anyway, I don't want to admit that they're doing anyone who happens to be three or four other boys. It's a joke! Enforcing adherence for Southern courts who have more sexual freedom, Melissa said. I think it would be great. But in the fourth, you'd be a social outcast, a joke, a whore. It would take you to a very different position.

Another Ole Miss coed said the survey is an example for the ladies who have slept with their boyfriends. You can see their names in the bathrooms.

They're real big whores around campus, said a Northwestern student, who slept with absolutely everybody. She said, in reference to the survey. The survey also turned up the unique phenomenon of a generation of girls who are virgins to change their lifestyle. It was a burden. I just wanted to get rid of the virgin status. I just wanted to get rid of it.

When I got here, every girl on my floor was on the pill. Those who weren't heavily involved with boys wanted to be and it put a lot of pressure on you to get rid of your virginity. It was a burden.

I just wanted to get rid of it.
Rhampsinitus and the Thieves

We trust that our readers will enjoy every moment of historical learning.

The events that we are about to relate are from the time of Rhampsinitus, the second Pharaoh of the Second Egyptian Dynasty. Rhampsinitus was a great builder and was known for his ingenious methods of construction.

The story begins with Rhampsinitus, who had planned the construction of a treasure chamber deep within the walls of the newly constructed palace.

Rhampsinitus had great confidence in his ability to keep the treasure safe, and he ordered the construction of difficult traps to be made and set near the door. He also ordered that the treasure chamber be locked with eight locks and that the keys be hidden in a special box.

When the trap got off the right track, Rhampsinitus was furious and ordered the man he hired to do the construction to be put into prison. However, the man managed to escape and Rhampsinitus was left with no choice but to order the construction stopped.

The Thieves came next night, but they were caught in a trap in the king's palace. They were hung up outside the wall, and a
guard was set to keep any
other thieves from entering.

The Pharaoh was very
angry when he found out
about the failed trap,
and he decided to have the
Thieves' body hung up
outside the wall, and a
guard was set to keep any
other thieves from entering.

The Pharaoh was very
angry when he found out
about the failed trap,
and he decided to have the
Thieves' body hung up
outside the wall, and a
guard was set to keep any
other thieves from entering.

The Pharaoh was very
angry when he found out
about the failed trap,
and he decided to have the
Thieves' body hung up
outside the wall, and a
guard was set to keep any
other thieves from entering.

The Pharaoh was very
angry when he found out
about the failed trap,
and he decided to have the
Thieves' body hung up
outside the wall, and a
guard was set to keep any
other thieves from entering.

The Pharaoh was very
angry when he found out
about the failed trap,
and he decided to have the
Thieves' body hung up
outside the wall, and a
guard was set to keep any
other thieves from entering.
February Fantasia Night

An Evening of Unmatched Proportions
Catered To Delight One and All

Time: 9:30 PM—2:00 AM
Place: Campus Center Ballroom
Date: The 7th of February, 1976

Presenting a Cornucopia of Food and Drink!!!

MICHELOB and the Finest of ROSE and WHITE WINES
The Hearty Feast begins with out of this world PRIME ROAST BEEF and HOME—STYLE SOUTHERN FRIED CHICKEN

For the Cheese Connoisseur you may sample some very mild SWEET MUNSTER CHEESE and an excellent SWISS CHEESE with a full complement of crackers. To fill your appetite there will also be a complete line of side dishes complemented with the best dips.

Soda and Cake to top off the evening.

Proudly Announcing the First
ALL NIGHT DISCO W/WSUA’s D.C. HARPS
at the controls. D.C. will be doin’ his FABULOUS DISCO DANCE SHOW

So come and join everybody in the Ballroom and help us “cut the cake” cause we’ll be dancin’ on all night.

ADMISSION:
$.75 with tax card and ID
$1.25 University Guests

Please Bring Proof

This fine evening of food, drink, and entertainment is brought to you by the fine people of ALBANY CAMPUS EVENTS and EOPSA
The End of the Draft Era

By Ross Walker

It has been brought to my attention recently that there are some who are worried about the possible end of the draft. Many feel that this is a serious problem because it means that the United States will be forced to consider other means of recruitment into the military. However, I believe that the end of the draft is a necessary step in the evolution of the military system.

The draft was established during World War II as a way to ensure that all citizens contributed to the war effort. It was based on the idea that everyone had a duty to serve in the military during times of national crisis. However, this system has become outdated in the modern era.

The modern military is a professional force, and the criteria for service should be based on performance and merit, rather than on the draft system. The draft is inefficient and unfair, and it is time to end this system.

The end of the draft will also have positive effects on our society. By removing the draft as a source of recruitment, we can focus on attracting the best and brightest individuals to serve in the military. This will lead to a more capable and effective military force.

In conclusion, the end of the draft is a necessary step in the evolution of our military system. By removing the draft as a source of recruitment, we can focus on attracting the best and brightest individuals to serve in the military. This will lead to a more capable and effective military force.

The End of the Draft Era

By Ross Walker

It has been brought to my attention recently that there are some who are worried about the possible end of the draft. Many feel that this is a serious problem because it means that the United States will be forced to consider other means of recruitment into the military. However, I believe that the end of the draft is a necessary step in the evolution of the military system.

The draft was established during World War II as a way to ensure that all citizens contributed to the war effort. It was based on the idea that everyone had a duty to serve in the military during times of national crisis. However, this system has become outdated in the modern era.

The modern military is a professional force, and the criteria for service should be based on performance and merit, rather than on the draft system. The draft is inefficient and unfair, and it is time to end this system.

The end of the draft will also have positive effects on our society. By removing the draft as a source of recruitment, we can focus on attracting the best and brightest individuals to serve in the military. This will lead to a more capable and effective military force.

In conclusion, the end of the draft is a necessary step in the evolution of our military system. By removing the draft as a source of recruitment, we can focus on attracting the best and brightest individuals to serve in the military. This will lead to a more capable and effective military force.

The End of the Draft Era

By Ross Walker

It has been brought to my attention recently that there are some who are worried about the possible end of the draft. Many feel that this is a serious problem because it means that the United States will be forced to consider other means of recruitment into the military. However, I believe that the end of the draft is a necessary step in the evolution of the military system.

The draft was established during World War II as a way to ensure that all citizens contributed to the war effort. It was based on the idea that everyone had a duty to serve in the military during times of national crisis. However, this system has become outdated in the modern era.

The modern military is a professional force, and the criteria for service should be based on performance and merit, rather than on the draft system. The draft is inefficient and unfair, and it is time to end this system.

The end of the draft will also have positive effects on our society. By removing the draft as a source of recruitment, we can focus on attracting the best and brightest individuals to serve in the military. This will lead to a more capable and effective military force.

In conclusion, the end of the draft is a necessary step in the evolution of our military system. By removing the draft as a source of recruitment, we can focus on attracting the best and brightest individuals to serve in the military. This will lead to a more capable and effective military force.

The End of the Draft Era

By Ross Walker

It has been brought to my attention recently that there are some who are worried about the possible end of the draft. Many feel that this is a serious problem because it means that the United States will be forced to consider other means of recruitment into the military. However, I believe that the end of the draft is a necessary step in the evolution of the military system.

The draft was established during World War II as a way to ensure that all citizens contributed to the war effort. It was based on the idea that everyone had a duty to serve in the military during times of national crisis. However, this system has become outdated in the modern era.

The modern military is a professional force, and the criteria for service should be based on performance and merit, rather than on the draft system. The draft is inefficient and unfair, and it is time to end this system.

The end of the draft will also have positive effects on our society. By removing the draft as a source of recruitment, we can focus on attracting the best and brightest individuals to serve in the military. This will lead to a more capable and effective military force.

In conclusion, the end of the draft is a necessary step in the evolution of our military system. By removing the draft as a source of recruitment, we can focus on attracting the best and brightest individuals to serve in the military. This will lead to a more capable and effective military force.
I Have a Cream

by Steve Parsons

There are many of you out there reading this who have the advantage of knowing that the practice of nursing for the past 50 years has been altogether better. Yet, you are wrong. Right here, with the great news of recent events, there is still one group examined in hospital, one group who shall follow the daily lives of the Canadian, American, and foreign countries.

Unfortunately, no one knows how this group handled, but what is known is that the Drift's policy of providing emergency supplies for its patients was a winner. The fact that the Drift's patients were not allowed to mat on their own size, are nevertheless subjected to the same treatment.

The Drift's people are not used to the outside world, crammed with the lives of others. This is a reason why they sometimes find it hard to get along in the outside world. How is something as simple as this possible, in the Drift's institution, where there is not a single person who can be considered independent?

What is happening in the world, it is that the Drift's institution, where there is not a single person who can be considered independent?

It is a question of time.

The difference!!!

The Drift's policy is entirely in the right direction.

"I honestly don't know what you want, why are you so radical? This is the system! That's what I think it is." These are the words of the Drift's people, who are not used to the outside world, crammed with the lives of others. This is a reason why they sometimes find it hard to get along in the outside world. How is something as simple as this possible, in the Drift's institution, where there is not a single person who can be considered independent?

It is a question of time.

The difference!!!

The Drift's policy is entirely in the right direction.
Albany-Siena: History Of A Great Rivalry

Threats, Trails, Spice Annual Clash

By Nathan Salant

Albany and Siena. Almost anything can happen, and personalities can change between the simple listing of the starting lineups. This is how the game begins. It is over before it starts. Albany comes out on top. Siena wins in 13-8 and 16-5 and Tradition "wins" when Siena has two straight losses. Albany wins four of the next five and "wins" when the game is not close. Albany wins two of the next five and "wins" as the game starts to become competitive. Siena wins two of the next five and "wins" as Albany takes control and the game gets out of hand. Albany wins two of the next five and "wins" as the game is over.

"Check that score. Beat St. Rose." The Albany State Great Danes faced St. Rose in a 1985 regular season game and Albany won 84-83 in overtime after trailing by 12 points in the first half. Albany State is a small college in the Capital District. The Danes have enjoyed consistent success against St. Rose in recent years and the game was played in Troy, New York.

The final tally was 84-83 in favor of Albany State. The Danes were led by guard Gary Estes, who scored a game-high 26 points. Guard John Quatse scored 17 points and forward Bob Audi contributed 12 points. Guard Tim Welchons was key in Albany State's victory, scoring 14 points and grabbing 7 rebounds. Forward Gary Holle added 8 points and guard John Quatse contributed 6 points. Albany State was able to overcome a 18-point deficit in the first half and rally to win the game, which was played in Troy, New York.

English Faculty Still Fighting

E. Washburn

Students Take Action On Bus Service Grievances

by Ed R. Miners

Academic Quad students are preparing to vote on a proposal that calls for the termination of the Suny at Albany's bus service. The proposal calls for the elimination of all Suny at Albany bus services, including the daily shuttles to and from the campus. The proposal has been endorsed by the SUNY at Albany student government and is expected to be presented to the SUNY at Albany administration for consideration.

by C. S. Schenkel

Dec. 31st at 9:00 A.M. The proposal calls for the elimination of all Suny at Albany bus services, including the daily shuttles to and from the campus. The proposal is expected to be presented to the SUNY at Albany administration for consideration.

SUNY at Albany Campus Security Officers, who soon may acquire police status, believe that many officers could be assisted if preventive measures are taken by students.

by Katherine A. Miller

Security May Get Police Status; Crime Continues

At a Thursday meeting of some of the SUNY at Albany security personnel, it was discussed that the security officers could be granted police status. The proposal was supported by the SUNY at Albany administration and was expected to be presented to the SUNY at Albany Board of Trustees for consideration.

The proposal is expected to be presented to the SUNY at Albany Board of Trustees for consideration.

The proposal is expected to be presented to the SUNY at Albany Board of Trustees for consideration.

The proposal is expected to be presented to the SUNY at Albany Board of Trustees for consideration.

The proposal is expected to be presented to the SUNY at Albany Board of Trustees for consideration.

The proposal is expected to be presented to the SUNY at Albany Board of Trustees for consideration.

The proposal is expected to be presented to the SUNY at Albany Board of Trustees for consideration.

The proposal is expected to be presented to the SUNY at Albany Board of Trustees for consideration.

The proposal is expected to be presented to the SUNY at Albany Board of Trustees for consideration.

The proposal is expected to be presented to the SUNY at Albany Board of Trustees for consideration.