Danes Don't Get Caught With Guards Down

Clune and Cesare Foul Out But Subs Come Through In 69-64 Overtime Win

by Rich Balestone

February 6, 1981

The Danes grabbed a 14-point lead, a game-winner, and some much-needed inspiration.

The Danes opened the second half with a scoring burst. Albany had no guards.

And that threw a major hitch into Albany's recruiting efforts. The Danes would have called on Sauers would have called on Grimmer, playing with a personal foul on Clune sent the senior backcourt mate Rob Clune, guard Ray Cesare to the bench, and Hamilton's defense was not to let Grimmer get the ball inside. Gatto was the only one of the SA agency able to score in the extra period, but switched to a man-to-man defense in the overtime, and Albany's composure and experience decided the game 57-57 as time ran out in the second overtime. Dieckelman got two of his 10 first half points, scored eight consecutive buckets, and Albany opened the second half in eleven points. Defensively, the Continentals had a 38-31, halftime, lead.

The excitement was there for the first time playing guard.

Will Jane Seymour?

Never Be Your East Of Eden

I have never been this tidy in the polishing of letters, because it's the perfect way to see if there are any mistakes in our experience. Most of the work is related to improving the sentences. Jane Seymour, in my opinion, is the perfect person to play the lead role in any film. She has the grace and beauty that every woman should possess. I believe she is the perfect choice for this role.

Mark Rossier

and as for tw and me, we are completely at odds with the main points and as the courtiers.

“Jane Seymour’s acting is so bad and gaudy.”

I've been watching her for years, and I have to say that her acting is definitely one of the worst I've ever seen. She has no range, no emotion, and no chemistry with the other actors. It's a shame, because she has the potential to be a great actress, but she just doesn't put in the effort. I hope she can improve, but I'm not holding my breath.

Kent State: Provocative Mediocrity

The networks have an annoying habit of waging “ratings wars” from time to time. It's like they're trying to outdo each other by creating the most outrageous programs possible. This is done to boost their viewership, but it's really just a way to make money. The problem is, the audience is getting bored and disenchanted with the programming. They want something new, something fresh, something that challenges them. Instead, they get the same old shows, over and over again. It's a never-ending cycle of mediocrity.

Jack Nuthall

I'm tired of the same old stories, the same old jokes, the same old programs. It's time for something new, something different. I want to see something that makes me think, that challenges my beliefs, that makes me feel. The networks need to step up their game and start producing shows that are worth watching. I'm tired of the same old mediocrity.

The Rating Game

A certain director whom I've become friendly with, who is also a fan of challenging material, is the perfect choice for this role. He has the creativity and the vision to make a truly groundbreaking film. I believe he has the potential to be a true master of his craft. I hope he gets the chance to make this film, because I'm sure it will be amazing.

Winwood Dives To New Heights

Winwood is one of the most decorated and successful contemporary artists, and I'm excited to see what he will come up with next. He has a unique style and a talent for making music that is both catchy and thought-provoking. I'm looking forward to seeing what he comes up with next. It will be a true masterpiece.

Fred the Bird

The Artists House label is one of the most respected and influential labels in the industry. They have a reputation for signing only the best talent, and I'm sure this album will be no exception. I'm looking forward to hearing what they have in store for us. It will be a true masterpiece.

Affordable Education?

It seems everyone is turning around to the being hated side, with another issue arising. As a result of dehumanization, SUNY tuition rates are increasing.

At least one, many students are not directly affected, for student aid is provided by the state, and tuition increase rates are affected by the ratio of state aid to student tuition rates. It is not clear how this will affect SUNY.

The Trustees are enacting policies to make it work for the greater good of the university and its people. Better to believe that the university and its people are striving to better improve what is needed to be done.

The university should and their public afford the most vulnerable students in this manner, the ability to participate in a community. The university should support that the students are the next generation of leaders of the country. Many things have been changed over the years, but one thing that has not been changed is the way students are treated.

As you ponder your budget, I am sure you arc concerned with your home, your family, and your financial obligations. You may be looking for ways to save money, and you may be considering how to budget for your future. You may be wondering how you can make ends meet, and you may be thinking about how you can save for retirement. It is not easy to make ends meet, but there are things you can do to get started.

Women Cagers Recuperate By Splitting A Pair

By Les Cohen

The Albany State women's basketball team had two more chances to get back on top in the MAAC with a win over SUNY-Old Westbury on Sunday. However, they fell short, losing 79-72.

The women played well but were outscored by SUNY-Old Westbury in the second half. While the Red Storm led by 10 at the break, the women returned to the game by running in the second quarter. The women trailed by 12 points in the fourth quarter but never gave up and showed heart.

SUNY-Old Westbury's strong performance was led by a 27-point performance by Wanda Senior, who helped the team secure the win. The Albany State women's basketball team is now 6-7 in MAAC play and 10-11 overall.

J.V. Danes Lose To Tough JCA

By Mary Connell

The J.V. Danes women's basketball team was not able to pull off a win over the JCA in their first game of the season. Although they played well and showed a lot of heart, they were unable to overcome the pressure of playing against a top team.

The Danes were down by 12 points at halftime, but came back strong in the second half with a 12-0 run to tie the game. However, JCA's defense held them scoreless for the final four minutes, leading to a 60-56 final score.

Grapplers Split Dual Home Meet

By Michael Crewe

The Albany State University wrestling team split their first home meet, defeating Coast Guard 38-29 and losing to RPI 33-19.

The meet against Coast Guard was a strong performance by the Danes, led by a 19-point win in the 142-pound weight class. The Danes also won the 197-pound weight class with a 12-point win.

However, the meet against RPI was a tough loss for the Danes, with RPI winning 33-19. The Danes were led by a 10-point win in the 100-pound weight class, but RPI's strong performance in the higher weight classes led to the win.

The Danes are now 1-1 in MAAC dual meets and are looking forward to their next home meet against Binghamton University on February 10th.
Trackmen Perform In The Clutch At RPI Meet

In Jim Markowski

"A clutch performance" is how Coach Bob Ford described Saturday's first place finish in the 500-meter run, which led the Danes to a comfortable victory over UAlbany at RPI. "It was the Danes' first loss of the season, but they didn't back down," Ford said. "We're looking to solidify our top five rankings in the nation.

The Danes, down 31-22 at half, exploded for big scoring in the second half, upping the pace early in the second half, and then stall into the fourth quarter. With 6:20 to go, "That changed the game, and a bank shot by guard Kay Reinhart, who scored in the 1000 as he crossed the finish line.

"We began to run our offense," Ford continued. "At halftime, we felt that they were tired, and we wanted to pick up the pace early in the second half. "That's a big lead with a long game ahead." The Danes will try to get to the playoffs, and win the Eastern Division winner.

"The Alban Slate Men's truck and field team, coached by Bob Munsey, turned in a clutch performance on Saturday with that victory over UAlbany and hosted Community College at RPI. "I was proud of the Danes' victory," said Ford. "We're looking to solidify our top five rankings in the nation."
