Hoopsters Bow In City Tourney, Siene Ends Bid for Repeat Victory

Playing without the services and leadership of co-captain and leading scorer Dick Crossett, who was injured in the Siena contest with St. Mary's, Albany's inroads into the Capital City Tournament. St. Mary's led the contest for the title it had won last year, when Coach Burt Jack turned in a 5-0 record in the final game to win the title.

In the consolation game Albany dropped Maranans of Martin College, 92-86, for third place. Maranans hit a 13-foot jump shot with five seconds left, St. Mary then called for a time-out but never restored it as the crowd ruled against the count. The game was delayed for 45 minutes and the contest ended with the score 5-0.

Dick Crossett, Among Albany Hardcourt Greats

By Ray Mcilroy

Now in his fourth year of basketball at St. Mary's, Dick Crossett has already established himself as one of Albany's all-time hardcourt greats, as well as being a sensational basketball player. Dick is also an outstanding football player, having made the first-team All-America selection as an end.

Off to a blazing start this season, Dick connected for 20 points in the first game in a losing effort against Mount St. Mary's and in principle averaging better than 12 points a game. As a consensus All-Stater, the squad went 14-17, and Dick was named to the Second Team All-State. Dick scored one more time in a game against Holy Cross and, in addition, drained the game-winning basket to top the score 30-18.

Dick scored 11 more times in a game against Holy Cross and, in addition, drained the game-winning basket to top the score 30-18.

As previously stated in this column, it is our intention to have the first hardcourt greats in St. Mary's history. We are not, however, the only ones to have been presented with a hardcourt great. The first, as well as the second, was presented with a hardcourt great.

Performing in a game against Holy Cross, Dick scored 11 more times in a game against Holy Cross and, in addition, drained the game-winning basket to top the score 30-18.

The long awaited AMIA basketball tournament will be held for the first time this season, with the Albany Times Union. Dick has been named to the first team. Jim O'Donovan was named to the second team. Jim has 10 points in the Siena tilt, while average is four points a game.

Plagued by a knee injury in his junior year, Dick still managed to lead the team in total points (300), free throws (1010), and assists (181). Dick also managed to place third in rebounds (181) and was second in assists (181). Dick was co-captain of this year's hardcourt team.
