Assembly Program To Feature New Debate Contests

The State College debating society will be the feature today of its annual Assembly Program. Mrs. Verna Faith, general chairman, has announced.

The program will feature a new debate format. The main topic will be composed of five points, and each member of the opposing teams will be required to argue only one point. The speaker is to argue the first point of the team, the second point of the team, and so on. The main topic will be a series of three introduced by Dr. F. E. F. Benet, chaplain in English, and Dr. W. R. Johnson, assistant professor of English.

The annual debate will be followed by a number of the usual debate contests. The speaker of the second ballot will be chosen from a series of three introduced by Dr. F. E. F. Benet, chaplain in English, and Dr. W. R. Johnson, assistant professor of English.

WORDS WITHOUT MEANINGS

More and more, also, in the talk of the language of this country where it will undoubtedly stand as a matter of record, the words I have mentioned are becoming almost taboo.∞ An attempt is being made to write without using them, and writing without being subjected to the red pen. But, remember, the red pen today does not so much provide the require…

STATE'S STAGE

The plays Thursday night got off to an unfortunate start, and the same is true of this particular audience. It was a group that had seen the play before, and the audience was a bit too familiar with the story. The performers were not at their best, and it showed. The play seemed to lack a certain momentum that would have made it a more interesting experience for the audience.

STATESMAN

Greetings, all you friends and girls, a little late, but Happy New Year to you all. Happy New Year to you all.

SWING IN "KNOWLEDGE"

"KNOWLEDGE" is a new music has been published in this issue, and it has been a big hit. It has been sung by both college and high school students, and it has been a popular song. The lyrics are simple, and the melody is easy to sing. It is a song that will be remembered as a modern classic.

HEIDT OF MUSICIANS

For a long time Horace Heidt's orchestra was internationally known for its technical skill and power. He organized a band among his classmates, was probably a jazz band, and his music was different from the band's music. Art Thorne, bass player and singer, was a star. It was U.C. Kemps, a tuba player and trumpeter, and Jerry Green, a drummer and singer, U.C. of The New York Times has been concerned with the Brigadiers through their first concert. Now Horace Heidt and the Brigadiers have heard every GI every Thursday night for a half hour, and they still have plenty of dapper college spirit.

Niagara Defeats State by 48-38

First Half Places State in Lead Before Home Team Downs Home Team

In the first game of the new year on the Pago Hall court, Brooklyn's bounders started off on the wrong side. History has been kinder to them in the past, but this time the highly touted Niagranas got an easy 18-10 lead only to drop behind again 11-6. At the end of the first half, 24-14. Home team started out smartly, but they declined to nine points while Niagranas improved to 26-14. All of these contributed to the score in this rally, which was kept to perfection. Only one man was with the half ended with the score in State's favor 34-14.

The second half was glorious for State. Captain Bancroft was forced to retire because of an injury received in the first half. On top of this, the home team had two strong men out of the game as early in the second half as the Niagranas. Niagara began to click with Cawsey and Baker as its key men. Within minutes to go, the score was tied at 99 by a three-pointer by Bancroft. Niagranas came away from State until the score read 15-14 with three minutes left in the first half. Before that time, Niagranas improved to 18-14. Home team played in error in their final three minutes with then Niagranas 21-14. The final score was 48-38, Niagara 26-18, State 20-20.
