INTERCLASS GYM MEET
Freshmen Win Honors

The Freshmen topped the height of their success on Friday evening when they carried away the honors of the meet. They not only won the meet but also carried away the first, second, and fourth prizes.

The meet consisted of marching, tactics, calisthenics, folk dancing, and apparatus work. The Freshmen first had the floor and were followed by the Sophomores. Then came the Majors and Minors with their advanced work. The meet closed with a relay race between the Sophomores and Freshmen. Due to a fault on the Freshman side the race had to be run over by a member of each class. Carol Traver for the Freshmen and Lillian Hepler for the Sophomores. The Blue and White came out victorious.

During the endless five minutes in which the judges had with which to decide to whom the honors of the evening should fall, (at 8:22) yelling and singing with a spirit of which S. C. T. is proud. When the judges appeared, however, and announced that the Freshmen had won the meet, 22 yelled as the had never done before.

Special prize is due to the class of '21 for the wonderful sportsmanship.

SECOND CAMERA TALK

Professor Kirland Discusses Composition

Professor Kirland gave his second talk on Photography. He explained "Principles of Composition" in camera pictures and "Men of Achieving Atmosphere" illustrating with camera slides of his own making. Professor Kirland presents its material in his usual characteristic and attractive manner, never failing to interest his listeners in this somewhat abstract art. Not only do students of photography find these lectures interesting, but admirers of Professor Kirland enjoy the opportunity of these informal talks.

IN THE MATTER OF APPOINTMENTS

In Ed. 1 Prof. Sayles stresses the necessity of keeping appointments. At least he knows better than to be late or to cut. If he does, he will be told to report to the Dean or to his instructor. Seriously though, there is nothing more exasperating than to wait endlessly for a person to keep his appointment. To be on time and then to be kept waiting is good reason for anger and disgust.

Common courtesy demands that we, as students, wait a reasonable length of time for faculty fulfillment of engagements. But does it demand that the period of waiting be indefinite in length? Take a case of engagem its. But does it demand that the period of waiting be indefinite in length? Take a case of engagement?

Agree?

How about it, folks — don't we all feel the same way—that sniveling, scurrying, scuffling feeling? Of course Spring is coming and you know the notices that the seniors are putting up all over the place. It is just another example of that desire to bring forth the reorganized old last year's suit, and make this suggestion: To save a quarter. Don't rest until you get a copy of the Song Book. To the seniors, business is not a two o'clock appointment with a critic. But does it demand that the period of waiting be indefinite in length? Take a case of engagement?

AGREE?

Bargain Day on Song Books

Someone has said that "opportunity knocks frequently and she sometimes wears mittens." This may be true in some cases, and it certainly isn't true in regard to YOUR opportunity to buy a College song book at a reduced price. Just think of it! You who have bagged a dollar for one of the best song books on the market can change your tune now because by purchasing a book this month you will save a quarter—and you can buy a third stamp with that change if your patriotic conscience insists.

Surely, you are not going to let a bargain like this slip away. Then any other live, progressive college, a 'bargain like this slip away.

Students at College are welcoming back Helen Reitz, '20, after her long absence on account of illness.

THE TOWN OF "NO-GOOD"

My friends, have you ever heard of the town of "No-Good" on the banks of the river Slow, where the Some-time-of-Other saving the air and the soft Go-Easies grow? It lies in the valley of What's the -est, in the province of Better-Shide; it's the home of the reckless I-Don't-Care, where the Givc-It-Ups abide. The town is as old as the human race, and it grows with the flight of years; it is wrapped in the fog of the idler's dreams, its streets are paved with discardedeeees of the child and their application to teaching discipline and general methods of control.

SMILES

Cause for Tears.
The youngest came crying to his mother.
"Why, dear?" she exclaimed, "what is the matter?"
"Dad was lifting a big box and it fell on his toe," explained the child half) it was soft.
"But," continued the mother, that Bashful about; you should have laughed at it,"
"I did," said the boy.
The Reason
"But why did you name him that?
"Well, you see he was born on the first of the month."

Intelligent Test
It's quite stylish these days for college profs to invent intellectual tests. The would-be student takes 'em to see if worth his father's pocketbook's while to send him through. If he fails on the att-test, according to the profs, there ain't no use in him going through college except with a brawn as junior junior. Here's a sample. Get out the pen and pencil. If you can't go through it in 307 seconds without a stumble, there's nothing left for you to do but be a boxer.
Mark with yes or no. Is raspberries jam a jelly?—If eggs were backwards—if not give the last name of the gent who invented the Ford.—If a mole can wink, cross the f in cough, and if the 4th of July falls on the 4th give the right answer to this wrong problem, 2x equals 9—The college prof's got the wrong rope. If a fellow can't pass those tests, he ought to go to college and get a something drilled into his belly. Copied.

His Point of View
"Who can tell me a thing of importance that did not exist a hundred years ago?" asked the new teacher.
"Me," piped the small boy in the class.

No Excuse Accepted
The evangelist was entrancing his hearers to love from the wrath to come.
"I warn you," he said, "there will be weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth." And the whole old lady in the gallery stood up.
"Sit," she interrupted; "I have no teeth."
"Madam," said the evangelist sternly, "teeth will be provided."

Shameful
Two very pretty girls met on the street and kissed each other rapturously. "What is that?" said his friend. He pointed to the scene: "Women doing men's work!"

Obvious
Teacher: "Why are all the muscles in my head smaller than those in my arm?"
Pupil: "Because you don't use them so much!"

Get It?
"How did that private ever get in here?" asked corporal of a captain as he looked at a boy who seemed to be a physical wonder and a waid for the guard thought he was going out."

Did You Ever?
A minister, with two lovely girls, stood entranced by the beauties of a flowering stream. A fisherman happened by, and mistaking the minister's occupation, said: "Ketch-me, manny, please?"
"I am a fisher of men," answered the preacher with dignity.
"Well," replied the fisherman, with an admiring glance at the hook of the minister, "you sure have the right bait."

An Obedient Hen
Father: "Joe, why do you suppose that old hen persists in laying eggs backwards?"
"Because I told her not to," was the retort.

The Hand to Hold
If I might hold that band again clasped lovingly in mine, I'd little care what others sought. That hand I held long years ago! That band! So warm it was and soft! Soft! Never was a softer thing! Ah, me! I'll hold it never again—Are, ten, knee, queen and king!"

Bitter Revenge
"My sister's feller kicked my dog yesterday," said Willie, "but I'll get even with him."
"How'll you get even with him?" said Willie's friend.
"I'm going to mix quinine," said Willie, "with my sister's lip rouge!"

Spared Feelings
"Can you tell me, Johnny," asked the fair young teacher, "where edges were first used?"
"Yes," answered modestly Johnny.

The Absent-Minded Motorist
"There's an automobilist in distress. Suppose we stop and ask him if there is anything we can do?"
"Are you referring to the man with the dog?"
"Yes," I know that fellow. He's probably wondering where he's going to get the money to pay the next installment on his car."
