HEAR LORADO TAFT
For the first time in several years the dramatic and art council is presenting a re-enactment of the field of art—Lorado Taft. He is one of the foremost sculptors in America today, well known and very fortunate in having the opportunity to see and hear the late Lorado Taft. Although the council is for the purpose of sponsoring projects of both a dramatic and artistic nature, until this time the emphasis was placed more upon the dramatic. This year, however, the council decided that an art project was in order and a contest was arranged to find an ideal sculptor. The women should come in numbers, should be critical to learn just how well the men are equalled in the creative business. The women should be arranged in the picture. Everything is read and corrected, revised, and submitted. While the honor committee made the only response desired toward this contest is an indictment of every major faculty and student received an agreeable stir in the Literary Hall essay contest should be remedied this week, feminine charm set her apart from the rest of her, again included in the dramatics part of the program. It makes it easy to see that there is a price of $27.29, not as a deter-

The most difficult about the students, we expect it will be a worthwhile and entertaining evening and will certainly please those who attend. The program will come to support an organization in which all of us are interested. The women should come in abundance on this night, along with about one hundred men will be there. They should be heard to learn just how well the men do.

1,800 Student Journalists Meet at Columbia University Last Week; New York Writers Contact Many Round Table Groups; Sponsor Genevieve Marsh

By Genevieve P. Bloy, '32

Viewed from the standpoint of practical journalistic ideas obtained, the 1,800 student journalists who attended the meeting in New York last week did not come up to the expectations of the State college delegation from Vermont. Many suggestions made, either in general or round table sections, were impractical for a publication of its type, the delegates found.

It is a great thrill to the faculty coming out of high school newspaperers. However, the delegates who attended the session from March 14 to 16, were Netha Miller, '25, editor of the Monticello High School paper, Miss Jane Flettman, '23, of the Burlington Free Press, Miss Sarah C. Mather, '25, advertising manager; and Audrey Flowers, '25, advertising manager at the Philo Journal.

The meeting opened Wednesday night and registered at the Astor Hotel in New York. The convention was officially opened Thursday morning when William H. Haskell, associate editor to the president of the New York Herald-Tribune, addressed the group of 1,800 delegates in a 15-Minute Address, entitled "What are the Objectives of Student Journalism?"

Cigarettes in prime condition have a moisture content of about 10%. It will be seen by the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory Chart that cigarettes in the ordinary wrapped package lose more than half of their total moisture in thirty days and that only the Camel Humidor Pack delivers cigarettes to you in prime condition.

Smoke a FRESH Cigarette!

The whole country is talking about the throat-easy mildness and the prime freshness of Camel Cigarettes in the new Humidor Pack. The above chart prepared by the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory tells you why. Please examine it carefully. It is an unfailing guide to cigarette selection and enjoyment. As you can quickly see by the three upper curves on this interesting chart, cigarettes that lack the protection of the Humidor Pack lose their moisture rapidly from the day they are manufactured. And day by day as this moisture disappears, the smoke from these cigarettes becomes harsher, hotter, more unkind to the smoker's throat.

Not so with Camels! The Humidor Pack is moisture-proof and sealed airtight at every point. It protects the rich, flavorful aroma of the choice Turkish and Domestic tobaccos of which Camels are blended.

Make these tests yourself!

It is so easy to tell the difference between parched dry cigarettes and fresh prime Camels that it is no wonder everybody is reaching for a fresh cigarette today. Your fingers identify stale, dried-out tobacco at once. While a Camel is flexible and pliant.

Your ears can tell the difference too. For a dust-dry cigarette crackles under pressure. But the real test is taste and there is simply no comparison between the rich mildness of a Camel and the hot, brackish smoke from a stale, dry cigarette.

Switch to Camels just for today then leave them tomorrow if you can.
