The American Council of Education (ACE) has announced the issuance of a new report titled "The Role of the President in Higher Education," which discusses the role of presidents in the governance of institutions of higher education.

The report, released by ACE, highlights the importance of presidents in shaping the direction of higher education institutions. It emphasizes the need for presidents to be effective leaders who can guide their institutions through challenging times. The report also outlines the responsibilities and expectations that presidents have in their roles.

The report is available for download on the ACE website at www.theace.org.

The report is titled "The Role of the President in Higher Education: An Issue Brief." It is one of a series of reports produced by ACE to provide insights and guidance on various aspects of higher education leadership.

The report can be accessed at www.theace.org/reports/role-president-higher-education.

Our Policy...

It is at this point in the school year that it comes time to present the statements concerning the operation of the News Board and the treatment of all students on its staff. The action is premeditated more directly by the recent events that have occurred at Charles University in Prague, and have caused so much public concern. The attack upon the views of the Hungarian minority, its anti-Semitic acts, and the act of lynching have caused much resentment as well. It is not the intention of this paper to rehash the events that have taken place, but rather to set forth the policy that the News Board, as an institution, will follow in the future.

The State Board of Education, in light of the foregoing developments, will continue to support the political, racial, and religious views of the Hungarian minority. It will maintain a policy of non-interference in any student activity, and will support the right of students to express their views in any manner they see fit. However, the News Board does not necessarily agree with its views.

The State Board of Education assumes no responsibility for the views of the News Board. The News Board is an independent body, and its views and policies are not necessarily those of the State Board of Education. The News Board is responsible for its own actions and for the consequences of those actions. It is the duty of the News Board to make its own decisions and to act accordingly.
