STB Mauls Waterbury 34-0; Tappan Defeats Potter 7-0

Two more ended the week without a League I interval action, and both must be considered champions now.

On Monday, Tappan upset the Potter 7-0. State Quad is now 2-1 and the game proved that they have jelled into a cohesive and capable football team.

Both teams were unable to move easily down the score sheet first half. Tappan led 7-0 in the second half, when quarterback Ken Gilks threw a pretty pass into the flat to George Magno. Magno hit a 40 yard pass as he got to the end zone. The drive continued, as he hit Ken Gilks from 15 yards out, and a safety was pulled. A long pass to Tom Nixon also fell. Tappan did not score. The final score was 7-0.

The Tappan team took place Tuesday afternoon, and it was a marvelous performance. With probably the finest team of the games, they showed great performance from quarterback Larry Johns and the Reference Team, and a key influence, and leagues 2

LD, Too!

This letter is written in the hope that the high schoolers of the Albany Student Press will find it of interest. I am writing about LD students so that LD students may have an understanding about what it is like to be a LD student.

I think that this topic needs to be talked about because people should be aware of the difficulties that LD students face.

I have been a LD student since I was in second grade. I was diagnosed with LD at the age of six. It has been a very difficult experience for me because I have to work very hard to keep up with my classmates.

I have had to work with special teachers and special programs to help me overcome my difficulties. I have also had to work very hard to keep up with my schoolwork.

I want people to understand that LD students are not lazy or unmotivated. We are just trying to overcome our difficulties to the best of our ability.

I hope that this letter will help LD students to be more accepted and understood.

Thank you,

Teachers Repeat Strike; Protest Local Control Plan

By PETER HARRIGAN

The teachers and the pupils of the school district have set off another strike as they protest the district's policy of local control over education. The teachers say that the policy is unfair and that it will lead to a decline in the quality of education. They are calling for a return to state control.

The strike began on Monday, and it is the third such strike in the district in the past year. The teachers say that the district has been cutting back on educational programs and reducing the number of teachers, which is making it difficult for them to do their jobs.

The district has responded that the teachers are making unreasonable demands and that they are being too uncompromising.

In a statement, the district said: "We believe that our plan for local control is the best way to ensure that our schools are run efficiently and that our students are getting the best possible education. We are willing to negotiate, but we will not compromise on our core principles of local control and accountability."
