US AGrees To New Wheat Deal With USSR
Washington (AP) The United States and the Soviet Union have agreed to a new 5-year wheat deal that will increase purchases from the United States by at least 30 million metric tons over five years, the United States Department of Agriculture said today.

The deal, covering the period from July 1976 to June 1980, will bring total Soviet wheat imports from the United States to about 90 million metric tons over the five-year period, the department said.

The agreement was reached after 10 days of talks in Moscow between U.S. Agriculture Secretary John R. Block and Soviet Minister for Agriculture Aleksei N. Yashin.

Block said the new deal would provide a "significant increase" in U.S. wheat sales to the Soviet Union.

Block said the United States would export an additional 50 million tons of wheat to the Soviet Union over the next five years, bringing the total to 90 million tons.

Federal Pot Decriminalization Will Take Time

by Allan Rabinowitz

"If the complete prohibition scenario comes to pass, it may face serious opposition from a large population of smokers and users," said Jesse James Eastland. At first glance, it would seem the committee is for some type of decriminalizing marijuana, but it may take longer than expected.

There are several obstacles to overcome before all marijuana users can be criminalized. Although states have the right to criminalize marijuana, they do not have the power to enforce federal laws.

One of the main obstacles, said Herb Steiner, chairman of the National Organization to Reform Marijuana Laws (NORML), is the shield that federal legislation provides for criminals. Under this shield, a criminal record may be kept.

The other obstacle is the fear that increased enforcement of marijuana laws may lead to the same type of police corruption that occurred in the past. The fear is that increased enforcement could lead to a police state.

The proposed legislation would allow police to continue to use the same tactics that were used in the past. Under this legislation, police would be able to search and seize property, even if the property is not involved in the criminal activity.

There are also good reasons to oppose the decriminalization of marijuana. According to these facts, the public should be cautious about the proposed legislation.
