Extended Library Hours Proposed

by Bonnie Loub
The University Senate Library Council passed a resolution on January 6 recommending that extended library hours be made available to students, faculty, and staff during finals, summer, and after Spring Break. The resolution seeks to provide better access to the library during these periods.

The decision was reached after a survey revealed that many students use the library during these periods. The library is currently open from 9 AM to 11 PM Monday through Thursday, from 9 AM to 10 PM on Fridays, and from 10 AM to 6 PM on Saturdays.

The Council's recommendation is in line with the University Senate's policy favoring expanded library hours. The University Senate has previously supported similar resolutions and has expressed the need for additional funding to support extended hours.

The recommendation will be presented to the University Senate for further discussion and possible action.

Revised Law Restrictions Copying

by Matthew Cox
The new Federal copyright law, which has been a cause of great concern among librarians and educators, has been signed into law by President Clinton. The law makes it illegal to make copies of copyrighted materials without the permission of the copyright owner or the library, even for educational purposes.

The law is the result of a long struggle by librarians and educators who have been fighting for a more flexible copyright law. The new law is expected to have a significant impact on the way libraries operate and the way students access information.

The new law includes provisions that allow libraries to make copies of materials for educational purposes, but also requires that the copies be made for educational use only.

The law is expected to have a significant impact on the way libraries operate and the way students access information. Libraries will need to work with educational institutions to ensure that the new law is implemented in a way that supports education.

Field Of Presidential Candidates Reduced

by Anna Smith
The number of candidates in the race for president of the United States has been reduced, as several candidates have dropped out of the race.

The candidates who remain in the race are Joe Biden, Bernie Sanders, Elizabeth Warren, and Pete Buttigieg. The other candidates have dropped out for various reasons, including lack of funding, poor polling numbers, and internal disagreements.

Vaccination Against Russian Flu Considered

WASHINGTON (AP) - The risks from doing influenza are 1,000 times higher than any risks from the vaccine, according to a report Monday, Dec. 2, 2023, by the National Academy of Sciences. The report, which is the first comprehensive review of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services on the topic, found that the risks from doing influenza are much lower than the benefits of vaccination.

Nuclear Satellites May Be Dangerous

WASHINGTON (AP) - A new study released Tuesday, Dec. 5, 2023, finds that nuclear satellites may pose a significant risk to human health. The study, published in the Journal of Geophysical Research, suggests that nuclear satellites could release harmful radiation if they were to break apart or if they were to collide with other objects in space.

Jazz Keyboardist Shines at Concert

by Dennis Scheer

Jazz keyboardist McCoy Tyner's latest ensemble is a secret consisting of Gary Bartz, soprano sax; Al Foster, drums; David Sanborn, alto sax; Charles Fambrough on acoustic bass; and Jimmy Heath on tenor saxophone.

The main supporting group included
"Elisa and John" which was not only a departure from the usual Tyner sound, but featured some of the live improvisations
characteristic of Tyner's style.

Engaging and creative,
this group proved to be a welcome addition to the élite world of jazz.

To the Editor: In the November 29 letter, the author of the signature article in the AJP (December 9 and December 16, 1981) accused the Daily News of a "liberal" attitude toward the suppression of the free speech of the "American Press" on the same page.

I am a proud member of the American Press Institute and I disavow any intention on the part of our newspaper to suppress the free speech of any individual or organization. I would be the first one to support the right of any individual or organization to express their views, whether I agree with them or not.

A career in law—without law school.

What can you do with only a bachelor's degree?
Now there is a way to bridge the gap between an undergraduate education and a challenging, rewarding career. The Law School's Assistant is able to work the 40-hour week to train in the skills that the courts are looking for. The Assistant is a court-appointed lawyer who can give you the skills the courts are looking for. You can choose one of the three courts of Chicago—Chicago, Skokie, or Cook County. The Law School offers one-year programs in the three courts and corporations in our city. If you are a law student on a high school or college campus and interested in a career as a law student, we'd like to help you find a career.
