YOU’VE BEEN SCREWED!

A short time ago, New York’s Honorable legislators succumbed to the pressures of misinformed activists. The legislators determined that at 18 you are no longer a full fledged citizen. As the law now stands, even though you are mature enough to vote for the President of the United States, or to die for your country, you are not mature enough or responsible enough to drink.

This same group of people is presently drafting legislation to strip all persons under the age of 21 of their right to drink. Don’t let this happen. Join us in the fight to protect your rights.

First: Complete the attached statement of opinion and drop it off at any of the taverns listed below. We will see that it gets to the right people.

Second: Stop at any of the listed taverns and sign the petitions we have posted.

Third: Watch for further details in upcoming issues of this newspaper.

No one else will speak for you. We need your help now. Together we can make a difference.

To: The Honorable Richard Conners

I deeply resent the efforts of the New York State Legislature to disenfranchise me. If I am old enough to vote and to die for my country, then I am old enough to responsibly handle alcohol. I urge you to resist efforts designed to strip more of my fellow citizens of their rights. Stop the movement to raise the drinking age.

SUNY presidents pay rent at dorm room prices

By Susan C. Lippman

The Board of Trustees of SUNY have approved a plan to allow SUNY presidents and other senior officials to pay rent at dorm room prices. The plan is part of a broader budget of $150,000 for the President's Residence.

A typical dorm room is paid $69,200 a year, rents his New York State-owned residence. Those who live in dormitories benefit from the lower rent, but the plan has been criticized by some for being不公平.

O’Leary estimated he holds some sort of residence at SUNY. According to SUNY President Vincent O’Leary, who has a residence at SUNY, the residence is paid for by the state.

The state also pays more than $26,000 a year for the President's Residence. For three years, Wharton has donated $150,000 to the state to pay for the rental of his residence. The state also pays the cost of heat, electricity and water for the residence.

The Commissioner’s residence originally cost approximately $250,000. According to newspaper reports, it was sold for $150,000. According to newspaper reports, Wharton’s wife did not like the house and sold it. The state also pays the cost of heat, electricity and water for the residence.

SUNY presidents are required to pay rent at dorm room prices as a way of saving money. O’Leary said. "I don’t know of any reason why a president of a state university should pay more than a student.

The increase will “obviate an increase in tuition for the students,” O’Leary said.

The state also pays for the cost of heat, electricity and water for the residence.

X-rated films on campus arouses controversy

By Bonnie Campbell

Last week’s showing of a film entitled "Naked to the Floor" at the University of New York at Albany sponsored by the Feminist Alliance, which is aimed at the "pro-life pro-choice" movement, has caused a stir on campus.

The film is a story of a young woman who becomes pregnant and decides to keep the baby. The film is shown on campus and especially should not be funded by our student money.

New legal drinking age slashes Rat's profits

By Marc Knoll

Today, many students are considering the new legal drinking age. They are looking for ways to have fun and enjoy themselves while avoiding the consequences of consuming alcohol.

The profits of bars and liquor stores have been affected by the new legal drinking age. This has led to a decrease in sales and revenue for these businesses. As a result, they are facing financial difficulties.

SUNY's low tuition attracts foreign students

By Susan Adams

A record number of international students have been enrolled at SUNY's campuses in the past few years. This reflects the state's efforts to attract and retain international students. The low tuition costs, coupled with the advantage of being closer to home, have made SUNY campuses an attractive option for international students.

The number of international students has doubled over the past five years. According to SUNY, the number of international students has increased from 2,500 in 2012 to 5,000 in 2017. This is a significant increase, and it is expected to continue in the future.

Michael Jackson's Party Magic

The Rush Is On

For professional work in business and music careers, And while most people still associate him with his music career, Michael Jackson is also known for his philanthropic work. The late 1980s saw a period of relative calm in his career, with his 'Bad' album and 'Smooth Criminal' worldwide tour, but Jackson has continued to be active in various musical projects. He has conducted sales campaigns, participated in charity events, and worked with various organizations. In 1989, he founded the Michael Jackson's Heal The World Foundation, which has since initiated multiple philanthropic projects.

Nitecaps Come To The Line

Andrew Carroll

The first single from the album was the slow song "Stop Till You Get Enough", side one, song number two. The song has climbed up the AOR charts. It needs only an artificial stimulant and a capillary to make you feel sick. Michael's singing, however, is the most Important part of the album. He has taken a great deal of care in his performance, and the result is a masterpiece. The album is a perfect example of the Beatles' influence on the music of the time. The band comes on and they open with "Same Situation", a real ho selling song that has been sung by many other artists. However, Jackson's version is the best. The song is a masterpiece and it is a true masterpiece.

Let them eat state

A

After last week’s press briefing at the State Budget, Gov. Cuomo took a break to talk about the state of the economy. He issues a message of hope for the future and says that New York is stronger than ever. He also announced that the state budget for the next fiscal year is $142.8 billion, a record high. However, he also warned that the budget is not without challenges and that the state must be prepared for possible economic downturns.

Creative financing

he new fiscal year is underway, and the state is facing a number of challenges. One of the key issues is the state’s budget deficit, which is projected to be $13 billion. To address this, Governor Cuomo has proposed a number of measures, including cuts to state spending and an increase in sales taxes.

ommentary: “Gunning for consensus” like to take issue with Rob O’Connor’s review of the film “Gunning for consensus.” The film is about a group of people who are working to create a consensus for a new political system in the United States. O’Connor’s review focuses on the negative aspects of the film, but I believe the film is an important contribution to the discussion of political systems.

I

NYPIRG Spring 1983 Project List

Debrement/Military Spending: High unemployment, high defense spending, and loose military arms buildup have caused New York's increasing concern for their future well being. The project here at Albany will be working on an economic realism study for college students living in New York state. Work on this project will entail numerical analysis of the impact of New York state's military spending. Other local projects will be worked on as the opportunity arises. J.V. Danes have winning weekend

By Alan Steinhoff

The J.V. Danes had a winning weekend. They defeated Union College 72-63 on Friday and beat St. Lawrence University 85-77 on Saturday.

At Union College, the Danes were led by Mike Ottati with 22 points and seven rebounds. Brian Lysaght added 19 points, and Kevin McGee had 15. The Danes shot 53% from the field and held the Bluejackets to 38%.

Against St. Lawrence, Ottati again scored 22 points, this time on 10-for-12 shooting. He also had nine rebounds. Lysaght scored 19 points, while McGee contributed 18.

The Danes improved to 14-1 for the season and will face Union College again on Wednesday.
Differential tuition proposed to offset budget

Calling for $250 increase

By Dick Patenaude

Tuition hike.

The state legislature is currently deliberating a tuition hike. The proposed increase would raise tuition by $250, bringing the total to $1,300 for in-state students. The hike is intended to offset budget cuts and ensure the continuation of the university's academic programs.

Senators have been divided on the issue, with some arguing that the hike is necessary to maintain the quality of education, while others believe it is unfair to students. The Senate Education Council has not yet voted on the proposal.

The cuts translate to a 13.7 percent reduction, O'Leary figured. This boils down to a loss of 109 faculty members.

Senators are tables $300 hike

The tuition hike would increase the cost of education for students. The state government is facing budget shortfalls and is considering options to address the financial strain. The tuition increase is one of the potential solutions being discussed.

According to Phil Johnson, Director of Community Relations for SUNY, "We are facing tough budget cuts and we need to find ways to offset them. The tuition hike is one option we are considering."
