Whalers Clinch Dennis Elkin Cup

by Nathan Silver

Whalers' final game on Sunday, the Mud League I Championship was a convincing 7-2 victory over the Felines. It cinched the Mud League I Championship for the Whalers, who finished the year with an impressive 15-2 record. The Whalers had dominated their opponents all year, and their performance in the final game was no exception.

The game started off slowly, with the Whalers and Felines playing a tight first period. But in the second period, the Whalers began to pull away, scoring three goals in the span of seven minutes. The third period was all Whalers, as they scored four more goals to seal the victory.

"It was a great game," said Whalers' coach Mike Flamingo. "We really showed our strengths in the second and third periods. Our defense held strong, and our offense was relentless."

The win clinched the Mud League I Championship for the Whalers, who finished the year with a perfect record of 15-0-0. They will now move on to the Mud League II Championship, where they will face the top teams from the other league.

Mims An All-American

by Nathan Silver

SUNYA's baseball team finished the season with a 15-2 record, earning the team All-American recognition. The team was led by ace pitcher Mike Martin, who had a 1.50 ERA and 13 strikeouts in 15 innings. The team also had a strong offense, scoring 151 runs in 37 games.

"It was a great season," said coach Bill Johnson. "We had a lot of talented players, and everyone worked together to achieve success."

The team's success was due in large part to the leadership of Martin, who was named All-American.

The first month of W.I.R.A.'s Women's Basketball Invitational was held in Albany, N.Y., with a total of 16 teams participating. The Whalers, led by in-formational coach Mike Flamingo, finished in second place.

The tournament was a great success, with a lot of excitement and energy on the court. The Whalers, who were the defending champions, were able to hold off the challenge of the other teams and claim the title.

"It was a great tournament," said Flamingo. "We were able to show our skills and our teamwork, and it was a lot of fun."

The Whalers will now move on to the second month of the tournament, where they will face tougher competition.

Civil Service Employees Association Stages Demonstration; Demands Wage Hike

by Ronald Smith

The Civil Service Employees Association (CSEA) staged a demonstration at the SUNY campus on Monday, May 10, demanding a wage hike for state employees.

"We're tired of working for low wages," said union representative John Doe. "We're asking for a fair raise that will help us make ends meet."

The demonstration was supported by a large crowd of supporters, who marched to the SUNY campus and rallied in front of the administration building. The union representatives were joined by members of the local community, who came out to show their support.

"We're here to stand together," said union representative Jane Smith. "We're fighting for a fair wage that will help us live a decent life."

The demonstration was peaceful, with no incidents reported.

WASHINGTON—The House voted this week to approve a bill that would require the government to pay for all child care costs for federal employees, a change that has been sought for many years.

The bill, which passed by a vote of 221-199, is part of a larger package that includes funding for the National Institutes of Health and other federal agencies.

The bill would provide for the establishment of a federal child care program, which would be administered by the Department of Health and Human Services. The program would be funded through a combination of federal and state dollars.

“Child care is a basic need for families, and this bill will help ensure that all federal employees have access to affordable, high-quality care,” Larson said in a statement.

The bill includes provisions that would allow federal employees to take up to 12 weeks of unpaid leave to care for a new child or to care for a sick family member. It also includes provisions for paid family and medical leave for federal employees.

The bill has been supported by a number of child care advocates, who have long argued that the federal government should be doing more to support families with children.

The House passed the bill by a vote of 221-199, with 13 Republicans voting in favor of the bill. The Senate is expected to take up the bill later this month.

Lack of Faculty

Telethon has once again reached a successful close and once again it is due to the hard work and generosity of the students and members of the administration. The money raised for the Wilford Holliday multimillionaire endowed scholarship fund to reach its proposed potential of $1 million. Anyone present during the 24 hours will see the love and gratitude of the children and parents for our efforts to help.

The Point is devoted to the faculty. In a university community composed of students, it is both surprising and disturbing that Telethon raised a total lack of support from them. Except for those whose whereabouts will be a姑娘 in the guise of a judge, there was not one faculty member present during the 24 hours.

At the dedication of the university, it is important to note everyone achievements of a society. The academic and the faculty are the two oldest and divided families nor should they. We have been successful, and we are grateful. If the faculty is to respond to the students in the same manner, therein lies the flaw left open to us.

Kick and Humor

Humor is a valuable tool in our society. The sooner one person has the laughter might make someone else cry, or have no effect at all. Most humor is based on someone else's reaction that we find disgusting. Obscenity is especially prevalent because it has been in conflict with our society. It is not a simple matter of someone finding something dirty, but rather a desire to make others find it disgusting.

The frequency of humor in society is an important factor in the academic atmosphere. Punishment for not being offensive, some bored, some pleased, and some hysterical, but, in any case, we

Dear Sirs,

I would like to express my concern that the current proposals for changes in our academic attitude and philosophy, specifically those put forward in the recent光纤, are not a reflection of the values and goals that are fundamental to our institution.

The presence of these proposals highlights the need for a thorough examination of the current academic climate. The potential changes could have significant implications for the quality of education and the overall well-being of students.

In light of these concerns, I urge you to carefully consider the implications of these proposals and engage in an open and transparent discussion with the academic community.

Sincerely,

America's Appian Way

By Gene Carnegie

The Authors of America's Appian Way, a new book that provides an overview of American transportation history, are Dr. John Dixon, a professor of history at the University of California, and Dr. Robert Glick, a transportation historian. The book traces the development of American transportation from the early days of horse-drawn carriages to the modern era of high-speed rail and air travel, highlighting significant events and innovations that have shaped the transportation landscape.

The book begins with a discussion of the people and places that played a role in the early transportation history of America. It then explores the rise of the railroad industry in the 19th century and the subsequent development of the automobile and the air age in the 20th century. The authors also delve into the challenges and opportunities presented by the current transportation landscape, including the ongoing debate over the future of urban transit and the role of technology in shaping transportation systems.

In conclusion, America's Appian Way offers a comprehensive overview of American transportation history, providing readers with a deeper understanding of the evolution and importance of transportation in American society.
New Orleans' Album Provides Varied, Electrifying Sound

When I listened to the album for the first time, I was impressed. The New Orleans' album is a rich and complex musical journey, offering a variety of sounds and styles. The band's mixing of traditional jazz and modern rock influences creates a unique and captivating listening experience. The album is a testament to the band's skillful interplay and their ability to blend different musical elements seamlessly. Throughout the album, the band's members showcase their individual talents while also contributing to the collective sound of the group. The lead vocalist's soulful delivery and the harmonies create a strong emotional impact. The guitar work is particularly impressive, with intricate solos and melodic riffs that add depth and texture to the songs. The rhythm section provides a solid foundation, with drums that drive the music and bass that complements the overall sound. Overall, the New Orleans' album is a compelling listen, offering listeners a diverse array of musical moments that keep the attention engaged. I highly recommend this album to fans of jazz, rock, and anyone who appreciates well-crafted music.

Koola, Panaggio, And Robota To Lead SUNY Team

Lacrosse Preview
by Cindie Bell
The 1975 lacrosse season opened on the Great Dane April 8 and both mass ple and Armstrong teams are eager to amaze. The team will be to improve on their 1974-75 season, which was characterized by the lack of experience under their belt. Although only 47 lacrosse seasons were added to their name by the year. In addition other teams were at the threshold of the top three teams in the EAC-Tournament last year, namely Manhattan, RIT, and Hartwick.

Armstrong, who played his college lacrosse for Bells, where he was captain all four years, reports that their team is composed of the best possible combination of two teams. With the necessary experience, including Bill Koola, will be a force to be reckoned with.

Starting back from last year are seniors Bill Coleman and Pete Conner. Both are back at full strength and will most likely be joined by Arv Bassett and Jeff Bell.
Suicidal Tendencies Plague SUNYA Students

By Wald M. Mizra

A study conducted by the Psychology Department for the State University of New York at Albany indicated that 27% of SUNYA students were considering suicide, and 31% of them were making suicide attempts on campus. The majority of students who attempted suicide were members of the black, Puerto Rican, and Jewish communities. The study also revealed that 80% of the students who attempted suicide were freshmen or sophomores, and 70% of them were female.

The study was conducted by Dr. Michael J. Garcia, a SUNYA psychology professor, and Dr. Linda R. Johnson, a SUNYA social work professor. The study was funded by the SUNYA Student Senate and the SUNYA Student Activities Board.

The study was published in the Journal of College Student Development and the results have been presented at several conferences, including the annual meeting of the American Psychological Association.

The study also revealed that 60% of the students who attempted suicide were not in touch with their family members, and 50% of them were not in touch with their friends. The study also revealed that 70% of the students who attempted suicide were not in touch with their college counselors.

Fields Chosen For SUNYA Presidency

by Richard Newcomb

Undergrad Ed Neglected For Grad Work, Study Reveals

The University Council has recommended the appointment of Dr. Emmett B. Fields as SUNYA’s new president. Council’s recommendation goes now to the SUNY Board of Trustees. The Trustees are expected to approve him.

The Presidential Search Committee, formed over seven months ago, carefully screened over 300 candidates. Robert E. Cathcart, President of the University of Houston, was executive director of the search committee over the longer search and submitted a Council’s recommendations and decision. According to Cathcart, Chancellor, Vice-President for University Affairs and Executive Secretary to the board, “This (the Fields’ recommendation) was an unanimous action by both the president and the council.”

Chancellor said that Dr. Fields has had an extensive record of executive administration; as president of the University of Houston, Fields served as the nation’s second longest serving university president.

Fields was selected to what mutual search committee member Howie Grossman called “unanimous process”, when local universities were blighted with higher salary offers. However, Grossman added that “we handled the situation well” and commented, “It was important Snyder’s decision process.”

Grossman said that the criteria for the recommendation was “all of SUNYA’s needs in the next five years” and that the search committee was well-experienced.

One of the more significant in the longer Presidential Search Committee, Grossman said, “We were afraid that none of the candidates would accept because of the economic budget cut.”

Student participation in the presidential search was handled by members of the student committees. Chandler said, “Student participation was outstanding.”

Student participation was outstanding. Students did a terrific job interpreting the candidates.”

Grossman said that the search committee was “happy with the final decision” and added, “We were satisfied that the two candidates would accept because of the economic budget cut.”

The Presidential Search Committee formed in August of last year, unanimously agreed that the search must be completed by the first of the year. The search committee screened over 300 candidates.

The Presidential Search Committee was selected by the SUNY Board of Trustees, Dr. Fields as SUNYA’s next president. Director of Media Relations Bern Rotman is in the background.

In an article entitled “The Economics of Teaching”, the three professors charge administrators with “the most significant form of financial disregard,” which is “unfairly and unreasonably set the salary budget.” The article was written by Richard Norwind.

Though SUNY’s Public Relations Director Dr. Fields was SUNYA’s next president, fields were in the department receiving 40 percent of the faculty’s teaching load. Four of the full-time professors, nine teaching assistants, while the remaining one teaching assistant, only teach one course. They also teach at a school that is the most difficult for the field’s teaching load.

In addition, the article indicated that some departments in all disciplines were directly related to the inequities in pay, such as underpaid, and the inequities in classrooms in SUNYA.
