Ithaca Tops Peds 78-74
In Final Home Game

The final home game for the Ithaca 'Cats ended in a 78-74 win over the Albany basketball team. Ithaca College scored a tight 76-74 win over the Albany hooters. Todd Cook scored 19 points, and the team was up for the game.

In the early stages of the game, Ithaca led by 10 points, and Cook kept their team rolling with long corner shots.

The second half saw another advantage of Ithaca's moment, with Cook managing to score several points and set the tone for the rest of the team.

Photo by Kincaid

KB Tops Potter

KB Tops Potter

Eagle Cage Victors

A series of matches between Eagle Cage and Potter was played over the weekend. The ITHACA 100 review article added, "Eagle Cage proved that they are not to be underestimated, and their long range ability to score in the second half was impressive."

The final score was 48-45 in favor of Eagle Cage. This must have been a thrilling match for both teams.

Photo by Kincaid

ASB *****

Sports

Astell Cuppers

A compelling win was achieved by Astell Cuppers against 36-18. This win was due to a series of point scores by the Astell Cuppers, who scored a total of 21 points in the game.

The Astell Cuppers demonstrated their skill and ability, seizing the opportunity to compete strongly.

Photo by Kincaid

LaSalle Scores 74-67
Win Over State Frosch

Albany's fresh cagers dropped their third straight decision to LaSalle Seminary by a 74-67 score in a home game last Saturday night. The loss dropped Coach Bill Schellhase's squad to a 1-4 league mark, with the seniors enjoying their senior season. Schellhase said that Albany has a long road to travel, but this game was a step in the right direction.

The final score was 74-67, with Albany leading by 14 points for most of the game. The game was a hard-fought battle, with both teams displaying strong performance.

Photo by Schecter

ASP *****

Dr. Robert Brown, a well-known author and speaker, will be delivering a talk on the book "Sin, Snuff, and the Senate." The talk will be held on Friday night at 7 p.m. in the Lower Lounge.

The talk will cover the book's themes, which revolve around the corruption of the Senate and the need for reform. The book aims to shed light on the moral and ethical issues that face the Senate today.

The reception is being planned by Dr. Brown, and the event will be held in honor of the new chairman of the Senate.

Photo by Schecter

Activities Office Foils State's Lovers

The Activities Office has taken steps to prevent the spread of "Lover's Disease," which has been reported on campus. The office has been working closely with the Student Health Services to ensure the safety of the campus community.

Photo by Schecter

Inauguration to Reveal MYSKANIA Tomorrow

Results of the recent student elections will be revealed tomorrow during the Inauguration Day ceremony. Plans for the day's activities include a swearing-in of the new government and a reception afterward.

Dr. Samuels, Chairman of the Inauguration Day Committee, has announced that Art Johnson will be the Master of Ceremonies.

The program will begin with the introduction of Elizabeth Rosen Wolfe, the new student assembly president, and the new senators and councilors. There will also be a special address by the President, followed by a reception.

The festivities will conclude with the presentation of the new student government representatives.

The program will start at 10 a.m., and the activities will be held on the campus lawn. The event is free and open to the public.

Photo by Schecter
CAMPUS COUNSELOR OPENING
The College of New Rochelle invites applications for the position of Campus Counselor to begin on July 1, 1965.
Applicants must have a Bachelor's degree. Counseling or related experience is desirable. Responsibilities include advising students, coordinating events, and providing counseling services. Submit applications to:

Dr. E. Allen
President
College of New Rochelle

STATE UNIVERSITY BOOKSTORE
Draeger Hall
135 Western Ave.
Albany, N.Y.

Sinners Order your Graduation Announcements
Now in the Bookstore Office, Draeger
012 at the Check Cashing Counter
Cash with Order Only

DEADLINE - FRIDAY, MARCH 15, 1965

THE ELITE MEET HEAR MUSIC WITH A BEAT GOOD FOOD, TOO THE SNACK BAR AT BRU.
Age Change No Solution

A topical note in the news this past week has been the pressure on the New York State Legislature to increase the legal drinking age from the present 18 to 21 years. Governor Rockefeller indicated that he would sign such a measure if enacted by both Houses, but at the same time commented "that such a law would not solve the serious problems that concern all of us."

"But because so many people feel so strongly and it is bound to have beneficent effects - although I think people overestimate some of them - I will sign it."

We are once again with the good Governor. Changing the legal age would not solve the problems.

To begin with, the surging alcoholism, which is a natural human reaction for their indulgence. To raise the drinking age would only increase the further allure of "the drink."

"By this I would add the further appeal of defying authority, and, at the same time, gaining membership in the "in group.""

In our point of view, the 18-year-old is fully capable of wise conduct in regard to alcohol. The lack of maturity on the part of some individuals should not color the case of the majority, which has no "under-age" problems.

One of the greatest reasons for the need of the new law is the fact that the legal age has been the pressure by neighboring states, whose students are over 21, to obtain liquor. These minors serve to spotlight a situation, which they are unable to control, with the law thus making the matter worse than it is.

We should think of the image of our institution when we may appear before a visiting committee to review the health and hygiene of our students, and the possibility of the "in group" students patronizing bars and taking drink in the off-campus areas. Should this arise, the possibility of our school being cited on the national level will increase.

The collapse of this university community to meet and overcome this grave problem.

At The Student Press

Our Comment Page

COMMUNICATIONS

English Prof Congratulates ASP's "Rushing Time"

"I have been led astray by wrong impressions that ASP is a political organization. The University has made it very clear that the ASP is not a political organization, but a social organization. The ASP, as an organization, is not concerned with politics."

"If we do not have a political organization, then we do not have a social organization. We cannot have both."

"The ASP is an organization that is concerned with the affairs of the students and the administration of the university. It is an organization that is concerned with the welfare of the students and the administration of the university."

Jack Lippman

Dean Hartley Clarifies ASP Editor on Rushing Time

This letter in response to the editorials and letters in the Student Press, on the subject of the "Rushing Time" of the Student Press, is written in response to the editorials and letters in the Student Press, on the subject of the "Rushing Time" of the Student Press.

"The editorial and letters in the Student Press on the subject of the "Rushing Time" of the Student Press are written in response to the editorials and letters in the Student Press, on the subject of the "Rushing Time" of the Student Press."

Dean Hartley

COMMUNICATIONS

Vietnam Offers United States One Choice:

Protection of Free Elector Foundation

A young man who has traveled to Vietnam told the editors of the Student Press that the United States offered the United States the choice of either support or withdrawal from Vietnam. He said that "the United States is forced to choose between support or withdrawal from Vietnam."

"The United States is forced to choose between support or withdrawal from Vietnam."

Robert L. Mazzoni

Political Comment

The Vietnam war is a complex issue, and there are many different opinions on how to resolve it. Some people believe that the United States should support the South Vietnamese government, while others believe that the United States should withdraw its support. There is also a debate on whether the United States should provide military aid to the South Vietnamese government or whether it should provide economic aid instead.

I believe that the United States should provide economic aid to the South Vietnamese government. This will help to strengthen the South Vietnamese government and enable it to resist the communist takeover. The United States should also work to negotiate a peace settlement that will end the war.

The United States should support the South Vietnamese government and work towards a peaceful resolution of the war.

Robert L. Mazzoni

Editor-in-Chief

The Student Press
There’s a “flying” cartoonist named David Heal, a student from the British Isles, who now is Assistant Professor of Geography at Stanford University.

Mr. Heal’s native home is in England. He is the child of English parents, and is a graduate of the University of Oxford, where he has had opportunities to study geography.

English education is a larger arena than American education, primarily because of the public schools. This year, Heal will be teaching a course in geography, with particular reference to the geography of the British Isles.

The University of Oxford, Heal observes, is really a university in the true meaning of the word, where students are not only taught in classes, but are also engaged in research. The student body is made up of both men and women, and the admission requirements are strict.

The “flying” cartoonist, Heal says, is a student who has the opportunity to travel extensively, to see the world, and to observe the different cultures and ways of life.

Mr. Heal’s wife, also a student at the University of Oxford, is an American, and the couple has decided to stay in England for a few more years before returning to the United States.

There is a saying in England, “You can’t take the man out of the country.” This saying reflects the importance of culture and tradition in English society.

Mr. Heal’s interest in geography stems from his travels, and he is especially interested in the geography of the British Isles.

Heal’s work is primarily in the field of physical geography, and he has published several articles on the subject. He is currently working on a book that will be published in the near future.

The cartoonist’s work is widely known, and his cartoons appear in many newspapers and magazines. He is also a regular contributor to the “New York Times” and the “London Times.”

Mr. Heal and his wife recently returned from a trip to the United States, where they visited his family and friends. They plan to return to England in the near future, where they will continue their studies and research.

The cartoonist’s next project is a series of articles on the geography of the United States, which he plans to publish in the near future.

The “flying” cartoonist, Heal says, is a student who has the opportunity to travel extensively, to see the world, and to observe the different cultures and ways of life.

There is a saying in England, “You can’t take the man out of the country.” This saying reflects the importance of culture and tradition in English society.

Mr. Heal’s interest in geography stems from his travels, and he is especially interested in the geography of the British Isles.

Heal’s work is primarily in the field of physical geography, and he has published several articles on the subject. He is currently working on a book that will be published in the near future.

The cartoonist’s work is widely known, and his cartoons appear in many newspapers and magazines. He is also a regular contributor to the “New York Times” and the “London Times.”

Mr. Heal and his wife recently returned from a trip to the United States, where they visited his family and friends. They plan to return to England in the near future, where they will continue their studies and research.

The cartoonist’s next project is a series of articles on the geography of the United States, which he plans to publish in the near future.

The “flying” cartoonist, Heal says, is a student who has the opportunity to travel extensively, to see the world, and to observe the different cultures and ways of life.

There is a saying in England, “You can’t take the man out of the country.” This saying reflects the importance of culture and tradition in English society.

Mr. Heal’s interest in geography stems from his travels, and he is especially interested in the geography of the British Isles.

Heal’s work is primarily in the field of physical geography, and he has published several articles on the subject. He is currently working on a book that will be published in the near future.

The cartoonist’s work is widely known, and his cartoons appear in many newspapers and magazines. He is also a regular contributor to the “New York Times” and the “London Times.”

Mr. Heal and his wife recently returned from a trip to the United States, where they visited his family and friends. They plan to return to England in the near future, where they will continue their studies and research.

The cartoonist’s next project is a series of articles on the geography of the United States, which he plans to publish in the near future.

The “flying” cartoonist, Heal says, is a student who has the opportunity to travel extensively, to see the world, and to observe the different cultures and ways of life.

There is a saying in England, “You can’t take the man out of the country.” This saying reflects the importance of culture and tradition in English society.

Mr. Heal’s interest in geography stems from his travels, and he is especially interested in the geography of the British Isles.

Heal’s work is primarily in the field of physical geography, and he has published several articles on the subject. He is currently working on a book that will be published in the near future.

The cartoonist’s work is widely known, and his cartoons appear in many newspapers and magazines. He is also a regular contributor to the “New York Times” and the “London Times.”

Mr. Heal and his wife recently returned from a trip to the United States, where they visited his family and friends. They plan to return to England in the near future, where they will continue their studies and research.

The cartoonist’s next project is a series of articles on the geography of the United States, which he plans to publish in the near future.

The “flying” cartoonist, Heal says, is a student who has the opportunity to travel extensively, to see the world, and to observe the different cultures and ways of life.

There is a saying in England, “You can’t take the man out of the country.” This saying reflects the importance of culture and tradition in English society.
Highly Successful Season

Prior to Wednesday night's contest with Central Connecticut the Albany State varsity basketball team had a 16-6 overall season. One of the most successful in Albany's illustrious history, the team established a new consecutive winning streak mark with 12 triumphs in a row, extending from Dec. 15 to Feb. 9.

The Pads opened the season on Dec. 1 against Montclair. Dick Crockett starred in a losing effort, chipping in 3 points as the Bowers topped, 77-71.

State traveled to Hobart to meet the Sauersmen on Feb. 5 with Pratt Institute visiting the Armory the following night, on Jan. 9, State took on visiting Potsdam, 60-50, making it a consolation contest, Dan Zeh netted 16 points, and bowed to Siena, 50-48. In a highly successful season, Bob Plosky with 25 points, was again hot from the line, hitting 10 of 13 shots.

Doc Sauers: Outstanding As Coach, Amateur Athlete

Richard "Doc" Sauers, varsity basketball and golf coach in one of the most successful coaches in the history of Albany State. In his home town, Lanesville, where he is the head coach at State and a member of the Hall of Fame, "Doc" has compiled a 27-9-1 record and have won the Intercollegiate Basketball Championship at 7:20, March 9, in Page Hall.

In college, "Doc" received his varsity basketball and football, and was a valuable asset. Mike, too, was a valuable asset, playing in the backcourt, averaging only 6.1 per game, but contributing many more with his timely assists.

Before citing individual players, let's look at the following average: "Doc" alone has won the Most Valuable Player Award in the first two years of college basketball, which Joseph "Pep" Pizzillo was sitting and ended with Edward Wagner tapping William Bake.

The Sauers' season opened with a bang in the record-breaking winning streak, climaxing on an almost unbreakable streak of nine games, giving the Eaters the Statesmen backcourt duo.

Here are the point totals for the first two seasons 1944-45: 78-76. Three days later, the team traveled to Hobart to meet the Sauersmen and Paden, 50-59, making it a consolation contest, Dan Zeh netted 17.