Fast-Breaking Danes Run Past Oswego, 82-52

by Paul Hornback

The Oswego Lakers entered Tuesday's game against the Albany Grizzlies at the University Center at Oswego with a 5-4 record. The Grizzlies, on the other hand, were in a 22-game winning streak that was shortened to 21 after the Danes defeated the Lakers 95-57 on Saturday. The Grizzlies' quick transition offense was too much for the Lakers to handle.

The Danes forced Oswego into 22 turnovers, which resulted in 34 points, and the Danes' fast-breaking offense and deep bench allowed them to pull away. The Danes scored three of the first five points of the game, and they took the lead for good when forward Dave Werkman converted an offensive rebound into a layup. The Danes then went on a 17-4 run to take a 29-10 lead midway through the first half.

Throughout the game, the Danes were able to maintain their lead, and they never trailed. At halftime, the Danes held a 48-24 lead.

In the second half, the Danes continued their dominance. They scored the first five points of the half, and they never looked back. The Danes outscored Oswego 44-34 in the second half, and they went on to win 82-52.

The Danes were led in scoring by forward Dave Werkman, who had 20 points. Guard Rich Zucker had 19 points, and center Mike Zamek had 13 points.

The win improved the Danes' record to 21-1, and they remain at the top of the SCIAC standings. The Grizzlies' record fell to 5-5, and they are now in third place in the SCIAC.

The Draft: Do We Really Need It?

by Edie Mullen

Two months ago, when I graduated from high school, the note that many of my friends and I received said that we were eligible for the Selective Service. This hit me hard, as I had always been taught that the military was not for me. Now, as I look back on that day, I realize that I made a mistake. The draft is a necessary evil, and it is time for us to admit it.

The main argument against the draft is that it is unfair. This is a common argument, but it is not valid. The draft is fair because it is based on a lottery system. This means that everyone has an equal chance of being drafted, regardless of their background or status. This is not fair in the sense that everyone should have an equal chance of being drafted, but it is fair in the sense that it is not based on any other criteria.

Another argument against the draft is that it is wasteful. This is also a common argument, but it is not valid. The draft is not wasteful because it is a necessary part of national defense. Without a draft, the military would not be able to function properly. The draft is a way to ensure that there are enough men to fill the ranks of the military.

The draft is not a perfect system, but it is the best we have. It is fair and it is necessary. We need to stop complaining about the draft and start supporting it. The draft is a necessary part of our national defense.

Power And The Reasons Why

by Bob O'Brien

Well, it may seem easy to some, but for others, it is not. After all, there are many ways to obtain power for one's use to get ahead and to become more successful. This is where the power comes from. The power of money, for example, is a great source of power. It's the best kind of power there is. It's the kind of power that people want. It's the kind of power that people need. It's the kind of power that people deserve. It's the kind of power that people should have.

Power corrupts and absolute power corrupts absolutely. I think it is true regardless of race, creed, color, or gender. There are many different regulations I must abide by when deciding. It is a hard line to draw. It is a hard line to cross. It is a hard line to stand.

Bouie has been running a play that held him for the first 15 minutes of the game, with the game, the coach said. It's not what he wants, but it's what he's got. Now, "You can't have a player who's going to do that," Bouie said.

We knew he was there and we knew he was smooth. I think he's really good at what he does, and he can make an opposing team think twice. He's a real threat, especially his devastating blocks that can make an opposing team think twice. He's a real threat, and he can make an opposing team think twice.

Two Women Assaulted By "Pine Hills Toucher"

The U.S. Hands Off Iran Committee organized the picket.

Two women living in the Pine Hills section of Albany were assaulted by a man who apparently entered the women's room on Monday night, November 26, at 11 p.m. The attacker, who was described as a black male, about 5'10" tall and weighing between 180 and 200 pounds, entered the women's room and attacked the two women. The women were able to escape and call the police, who arrived at the scene and arrested the suspect.

The suspect was later identified as James Johnson, a 36-year-old man from New York City. He was charged with assault and_BLOCKS_.

The incident is currently under investigation by the Albany Police Department.
