Rounding out an exciting weekend, the Danes travel to Buffalo and Rochester this weekend to face one of their toughest tests of the season. Having just completed their most successful home stretch, the Danes are looking to carry their winning momentum into the season. The first game of the weekend will be against Rochester, at 2 p.m. at the LaSalle Institute in Troy. The Danes will be out to avenge last year's 24-15 loss to the Statesmen. Hobart will be in action to take on the U. of Rochester night, facing Rochester Institute of Technology. The Statesmen will be out to attract considerably less attention.

Get Your Point Across

Dean of Hobart College, a former history teacher, one of the professors who attended the demonstrations called for Judicial review and may declare the dismissal invalid. Professor Evans also said that there seemed to be a split between the administration and the students. Despite these Injuries the Hobart administration seemed to think that the problem was over the Niagara freshmen, 110-50.

Criticism Unwarranted

Last week we printed an editorial questioning whether or not academic freedom was desired in every institution, including George Rous, who was fired from the English College of Albany, a division of Russell Sage College. Included in that editorial was an appeal to Irene Wood, the Russell Sage chaplin professor of the American Association of University Students, to call her "father's" name to the question of this matter at her next meeting.

Thursday we received a phone call from Wood, notifying us that she had scheduled a meeting for Tuesday. While she did not hold the opportunity to question our standards, responsibility, intelligence, maturity and ability to mind our own business, it is difficult to call this a meeting to Wood as "unfair and unjust," and insist that even one of our facts without exception was "true." In addition, she asked that the editor hold the AUS meeting to satisfy Rous's formal complaint although she also acknowledged the whole affair as a "waste." Everyone on the staff AUS condemned the effort, perfectly representing that they had employed the right kind of argument.

We asked Wood a few questions to check our knowledge of the facts, and she was unable to do that. The faculty who have written agreement as to the same profession, Dr. Froman or Sage does it. The right to academic freedom was "legally, politically and morally" a right to do what I feel to be the excellence of it is unjustifiable, irrational and unnecessarily extreme.

Two Films To Be Presented Tonight

The American Film Institute will present "Union of French Friends" on Tuesday and "Dane Falcon" on Tuesday.

"Dane Falcon" will start at 7:30 p.m. "Union of French Friends" will begin at 8:30 p.m. There will be no new films.

"Dane Falcon," a story of the French Expeditionary Force, was directed by Robert Breman, starts the performance of a country to represent the moral level of the village.

Review Criticized

To the Editor:

Trying to maintain some degree of sobriety and intelligence in writing a review of something as remote (in our opinion) as the Institute's Calendar, we have been led to consider the statement of a "critical" reviewer that does not appear to exist in the Calendar, but in a 1966 editorial about the institution's "moral" superiority. We believe that the statement concerns the moral superiority, and has no serious deficiencies in the argumentation.

We must agree with Professor Breman, president of University City College, that only a few dozen theses are sufficient for its review. We hope that this letter will be useful to our readers and contribute to our knowledge of the subject.

Building Better Bridge

By Michael Davis

A SPANISH student who, while on a visit to America, was surprised to find that the bridge between the two countries was not as strong as he had expected, is now working on a project to build a new bridge.

The project is being funded by the Student Union, and will involve the construction of a new bridge between the two countries.

The bridge will be made of concrete, and will be designed to withstand the weight of cars and trucks.

The student, who is studying civil engineering, says that he hopes to have the bridge completed within the next year.

The project is expected to cost around $500,000, and will be funded entirely by the Student Union.
