Coach Joe Garcia To Step Down

by Ken Kurtz

The University of Albany Athletic Director Robert Ford has announced that Joe Garcia, the head volleyball coach at the University, will be retiring after coaching 20 years. Garcia has been a part of the volleyball coaching staff since 1973. He has been involved in a number of successful volleyball programs during his tenure.

The Eastern College Volleyball League’s 1979 open tournament will have some of the most exciting volleyball played on the east coast, said Albany coach Ted Earl. "Through his guidance and leadership, the coaching program was started and continued, and has become one of the most outstanding of its kind in the nation. The contributions of Joe Garcia to the University of Albany and to the volleyball program must be acknowledged."

Volleyball Results

Yet another successful track season has begun on the east coast. The trackmen of Albany State will open the year in the first track meet of the season, the University of Rochester (SASU) President's Invitational. The meet will also be held at Union College.

The third bracket should be a guessing game at best because the clubs have not faced each other (his season: George Mason, located in Fairfax, Virginia, is a relatively new club).Earl marks Penn State as "the team with a great deal of potential," while mentioning that "they have been rated as high as third in the American Intercollegiate Track and Field Federation meet."

"We ought to do pretty good. We have some good people, and we have some good performers," said Earl. "I'm just delighted with their progress and their results at Union College when they beat Washington University in only their first year of full competition."

"Teams who don't promote interdivisional play, to promote interdivisional play," Earl said that he is honored that the university is considering starting a track team. "People were phenomenal this year in their support. We ought to do pretty good. We have some good people, and we have some good performers," said Earl. "I'm just delighted with their progress and their results at Union College when they beat Washington University in only their first year of full competition."

The University of Pennsylvania will participate in the tournament, and the results will be announced later.

Trackmen Hope To Improve At Union

by W. B. Brubaker

Although this will be the second year of the University of Albany track and field program, the team has made steady progress. The season is now under way, and the team is looking forward to a successful year.

The University of Pennsylvania will participate in the tournament, and the results will be announced later.

Telethon Raises More For Kids

This Year's Total Over Last's

by Beth Sexer

The Telethon, a student-run event held at SUNY campuses, has raised over $34,895 this year. The students of SUNY Albany, SUNY Binghamton, and SUNY Buffalo have all contributed to the total.

"We ought to do pretty good. We have some good people, and we have some good performers," said Earl. "I'm just delighted with their progress and their results at Union College when they beat Washington University in only their first year of full competition."

The track team will be revealed.

Sunya Hopes For 1000 At Tuition Rally

by Richard Baker

As more students sign up for the Telethon, the goal of raising $1000 for the tuition rally is becoming more realistic. According to Albany Student Association (ASA) President John Baker, the Telethon co-chair Barbara Nasta and Gimmicks committee co-chair Mark Aronson have both been working hard to ensure that the event is a success.

The rally will be held at SUNYA sometime in late March, and the students will gather outside of the student center to promote the rally. The students will also parade around the campus to "amass more support." The event will be advertised as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise it as vacant, and we will advertise It will be "pretty much the same."

As a writer of two people having an unusual affair, "Some Time Next Year" is a familiar theme. But that is about the only similarity. Alice Ada and Ellen Burstyn play George and Doris, who are the main characters and have the only speaking parts in the film. The setting of the Chicago apartment is a very simple Doris and George, both 35 last year, and their apartment and their life for 26 years. The only credit is, they recently only once a year, and that session is available at Special Events. The friendship of Ada and Burstyn's scenes is perfect, and it helps to range out of and, of course, staying in the scene with them or other, and then return to the scene together.

Robin Goldberg

The synchronization of the two scenes here is almost a commonplace, and one is in front of George. George is in an apartment in Florida, California, and he is married to a young, ambitious young wife. Both Ada and Burstyn are excellent in their acting here. As the years go by, we see George and Doris change. Immediately, George progresses from a free spirited, yet immature and guilty. Doris, on the other hand, is out, and George takes this opportunity to help the married, good looking. In an effort to please his parents, who don't have the money and are understandably pleased with the situation. Children. Burstyn plays her character's changes to an accurate person. She tries to adapt, to grow as the character, as does Burstyn's character, as she grows and becomes the character, as does Burstyn's character, as she grows and becomes stable. It is not a perfect couple, but it is good enough to make them look at each other. It's enough. As they meet through the years, (we see their children grow up), their scene is very well done. You watch as they grow up with each other and with the film. The synchronization of the scenes is perfect, and it helps to range out of and, of course, staying in the scene with them or other, and then return to the scene together.

In 1951, George and Doris move to New York City. This interlude is almost a centerpiece of the film. As Alda and Burstyn pass the time, the movie is a gem. There are no incidental repetitions of the events. The synchronization of the two scenes here is almost a commonplace, and one is in front of George. George is in an apartment in Florida, California, and he is married to a young, ambitious young wife. Both Ada and Burstyn are excellent in their acting here. In 1961 we see George deliver Doris' son. This scene is very well done. You watch as they grow up with each other and with the film. The synchronization of the scenes is perfect, and it helps to range out of and, of course, staying in the scene with them or other, and then return to the scene together.

In 1971 Doris is a success in the business world, as is George. He is a successful businessman and Doris, a woman of all qualities. The best moments of the movie are those from the movie's beginning. In 1951, we see George deliver Doris' son. Ada and Burstyn pass the time, the movie is a gem. There are no incidental repetitions of the events. The synchronization of the scenes here is almost a commonplace, and one is in front of George. George is in an apartment in Florida, California, and he is married to a young, ambitious young wife. In 1977, George and Doris are over 60. They are still very much in love with each other. The synchronization of the scenes is perfect, and it helps to range out of and, of course, staying in the scene with them or other, and then return to the scene together.

Conclusion
The story never ends for two reasons. Firstly, George, Doris and their children. The scene is very well done. You watch as they grow up with each other and with the film. The synchronization of the scenes is perfect, and it helps to range out of and, of course, staying in the scene with them or other, and then return to the scene together.

OBESITY OBJECTIVE

OBESE OBJECTIVE has been conceived and designed as a project which small practitioners may use as one means of reaching their patients. Developed under a grant from the Department of Consumer Affairs, the project will give health professionals - in this case, physicians - an opportunity to learn about the problem of obesity. The aim is that these professionals may become leaders in their communities in helping to turn around the obesity trend. A panel of experts will give the physicians an overview of the problem of obesity. This panel will include experts from the fields of medicine, psychology, nutrition, exercise, and sociology. The physicians will then be given an opportunity to share their own personal experiences with obesity. This will be followed by a question-and-answer session where the physicians can ask questions and share their own experiences. The purpose of this conference is to provide a forum for the exchange of ideas and information. The hope is that these ideas and information will help the physicians in their efforts to combat the problem of obesity.

SICKLY ODORS

Sickly odors are one aspect of the problem of obesity. A study has shown that the number of obese people who have sickly odors is increasing. This is a serious concern because sickly odors can be a source of social stigma. The study recommends that physicians should be trained to recognize the signs of sickly odors. This training will help physicians to identify patients who may be at risk for obesity. The study also recommends that physicians should be encouraged to talk to their patients about sickly odors. This will help to raise awareness about the problem of obesity.

Potsdam Upholds SUNYAC Image

by David Gates

When Albany State lost the NESCAC title to Williams last season, many people expected the to dominate the state in the NCAA Division III. Last month, however, the University of New Haven, the University of New Hampshire, and the University of Connecticut all showed that they were capable of competing for the NCAA title.

Potsdam, on the other hand, continued to impress everyone.

The Bears, who finished second in the NCAA Division III, were ranked 30th in the NCAA polls and 6th in the NESCAC. They ended the season with a 20-6 record and were seeded fourth in the bracket at Stony Brook.

Potsdam had begun their stunning rise from unranked to Division III Southern Regional champion by toppling the Northeastern Connecticut Colonels 70-61.

Coach Joe Garcia: "It's Been 29 Short Years"

by W.B. Boudnus

This year, Joe Garcia is continuing his reign as the head coach of the SUNY Albany track and field team. As the 1979 indoor circuit comes to a close, Garcia reflects on his 29 years of coaching and the impact it has had on him and the team.

Joe Garcia served as Coordinator of Athletics at SUNY Albany from 1952 to 1957, and played a crucial role in establishing the university's track and field program.

His older brother, Clem, was a prominent figure in the world of track and field, and it was natural for Joe to follow in his footsteps. "His brother was a very successful track coach," Garcia recalls.

Joe Garcia has held various coaching positions throughout his career, including coaching at the University of Illinois, St. Louis, and going to the campus early every night. Despite the challenges, his passion for the sport remains unshaken.

"I've always been in awe of the sport of track and field," Garcia says. "It's a sport that demands hard work and dedication, and it's a sport that rewards those who are willing to put in the effort.

Despite the ups and downs, Joe Garcia's dedication to coaching has not wavered. "I always felt that I was a better coach than I was an athlete," Garcia admits.

"I've always enjoyed working with people, and I've always enjoyed watching them improve," Garcia adds.

With a wealth of experience and a deep understanding of the sport, Joe Garcia continues to inspire and shape the lives of countless athletes. His legacy is a testament to the impact that coaching can have on the lives of young people, and his passion for the sport remains as strong as ever.
