Spikers' Personality Aids Them in 30-5 Season

by Michael Carney

In the Friday night win over Canisius, SUNY Albany Spikers' reputation for strong personalities and high intensity continued. 'We are built on our personalities and intensity,' Coach Dwyer said. 'It's a combination of game strategy and the intensity the girls bring to the court,' Dwyer continued.

The Spikers' personalities are a key factor in their success. "They are strong and aggressive," Dwyer said. "We base our game on intensity and we don't give up." The Spikers' intensity and personalities have carried them to their highest ranking in the nation, the top three.

The Spikers' personalities also contributed to their success in the last three games. "The personalities on the court are a very intense team," evaluated Coach Dwyer. "They blend very nicely. We all have personalities." The personalities and intensity of the Spikers are a significant reason for their success.

Election officials indicate that if the bond issue is approved overall in each one. According to The Associated Press, "The military never gives any description of the number or type of troops involved." The U.S. military has been sending troops to the region to support the Israeli forces.

Saudi officials called the incident an attack on their airspace. The incident was described by the Saudi Arabian government as a violation of their territorial integrity.

High Priestess of Prep Speaks on Her Subject

Theai Roberts, author of "The Official Prep Handbook," flew into town Wednesday to promote her new book. The handbook, which has sold over 1,000,000 copies, is in its 22nd printing and has sold a phenomenal 1,193,000 copies since its 1978 release.

"Preppies have always been a symbol of personal caution. When students want me to see their clothes, they show me their Preppy pants. When they want to be preppy, they wear Top Drawer regalia, and when they want to play it safe, they wear beer."

Birnbach is not without her own "technicolor yawning" — throwing up at the book because Roberts, a preppy with a preppy concept. Roberts, a prep school janitor, has been touring colleges ever since.

"I'm worried that they aren't getting enough out of their education. These kids are playing it safe, but preppy isn't in-"

Government Not Open

Is Democracy Doomed?

Having read the article, "The Story of the American Politician," I began to question the true nature of our political system. Our system, as described by the author, seems to be based on the manipulation of the people through the use of propaganda and the manipulation of the media. I began to wonder if this system is really open to the people or if it is just a facade.

It seems that our political leaders are more concerned with gaining and retaining power than with serving the people. They are more interested in controlling the media and the people so that they can control the outcomes of elections. The people are not truly represented in this system, and it seems that the only thing that matters is who can control the media and the people.

I believe that our political system is in need of a complete overhaul. We need to create a system that truly represents the people and that is open to their participation. The people should have a say in the decisions that are made on their behalf, and they should be able to hold their leaders accountable for their actions.

I believe that we need to move away from a system based on propaganda and manipulation and toward one based on truth and honesty. Only then can we hope to create a system that truly represents the people and that is open to their participation.
