Albany Institute of History and Art (140-4470)
Hausmann, A Festival Oil Lights open November 22, Inversion and Inventions of The upper Hudson Region, State Street Centre Exhibition (See art from the Institute's permanent collection.
Festival of Trees, open November 20.

New York State Museum

RSP
Looking Into The Pool Reflections on Art and Faith through November 23.

Sandys Camera 170-2240
Stated Classes Sculpture of area artist Lois Gregg Aucler, November 20-December 21.

Transylvania 6-5000
Transylvania 6-5000
12:50, 3:25, 6:55, 9:10, Fri and Sat 11:10

The Way To The Night
The Way To The Night
12:50, 3:25, 6:55, 9:10, Fri and Sat 11:10

To the Father's Place
To the Father's Place
12:50, 3:25, 6:55, 9:10, Fri and Sat 11:10

When That Time Is Now
When That Time Is Now
12:50, 3:25, 6:55, 9:10, Fri and Sat 11:10

Albany Promotions (540-2244)
Alfred Belov, November 22-24
SUNYA Performing Arts Center
The Great Gift Body by Eugene O'Neill, November 22 and 23, MacIvor's New Comedy Ballad, November 26, Friday Night and William Camargo, November 26, Friday.

ESPA
A Song 4 A New Farmer November 22 and 24.

Capitol Opera Company
What the Butler Sees opens November 16 and runs through December 15.

Troy Savings Bank Music Hall (273-0552)
David M. Cook Carol, November 22, Solid Brass Ensemble, November 17.

The Cache (720-3921)
Cafe, November 22-24.

Friends Meeting House (485-5041)
Joel Kovel, a lecture, November 23, 8 pm.

Pendley's Hotel
Out of Control Rhythm and Blues Band, November 22 and 23, 8 pm. Big Band last ensemble Nov 24, Knights return there, November 27.

City's Spot Cafe House
Fred Cain, November 22, Lynn Miller, November 23.

Reggie's Hot and Faddishmen, November 24.

Cafe L'Amour (726-7937)

La Dolce Vita Band with The Romantics, November 20.

Joy and The Nightingales, November 22 and 25.

The State
Don Scicluna's Rhythm Band, November 22 and 25, Dave Bregman, November 24.

Cheers
Doneybaker's Cafe, November 22, The Newsprint, November 23 and 27.

Half Moon Cafe
The Barbershop, November 22, Paul Branson, November 23.

The Dentist's (1167-7070)
Teresa's, November 22, Autumn, November 23 and 24.

JB Theater
Like the Castil Po Band with The Romantics, November 20.

The Players
Don Scicluna's Rhythm Band, November 22 and 25, Dave Bregman, November 24.

Alumni thefts stir questions of quiet safety
By Jim Avery

A rash of early morning burglaries, coupled with vandalism, harrassment and noise that has made longtime Albany Quad residents feel like they're in a college dormitory instead of a University of New York college campus, has created a two largest protests in SUNY Albany's history, said Pollack.

The rally began with Gawley, referring to Friday's rally and one held earlier this month on the point of view of an RA.

"I thought he was going to give me a card and send me on the back of the car," pollack said a 22 year old female resident of Pierce Hall after she was stopped by two University Police Department officers.

"I thought I was going to be given a card and sent on the back of the car," pollack said a 22 year old female resident of Pierce Hall after she was stopped by two University Police Department officers.

According to Pollack, TKE, with 62 members, is the only fraternity that was ever approved. The other fraternities have been approved in Albany under new dormitory rules since the middle of November. All the incidents were believed to be in the residence hall, but students have reported other incidents both in the dormitory and the surrounding area.

"There are two things that I'm concerned about, the one is the way the University Police Department is handling that," pollack said.

"I think they are going to get mixed and send me on the back of the car," pollack said a 22 year old female resident of Pierce Hall after she was stopped by two University Police Department officers.

"I walked out, and I knew she had some papers under her arm, but I didn't know what was under them," pollack said a 22 year old female resident of Pierce Hall after she was stopped by two University Police Department officers.

"I thought I was going to be given a card and sent on the back of the car," pollack said a 22 year old female resident of Pierce Hall after she was stopped by two University Police Department officers.

"I thought I was going to be given a card and sent on the back of the car," pollack said a 22 year old female resident of Pierce Hall after she was stopped by two University Police Department officers.

"I think that the University Police Department is handling that," pollack said.

"I want to say to anyone who is thinking about moving out, don't do it, it's not worth it," pollack said a 22 year old female resident of Pierce Hall after she was stopped by two University Police Department officers.

"I want to say to anyone who is thinking about moving out, don't do it, it's not worth it," pollack said a 22 year old female resident of Pierce Hall after she was stopped by two University Police Department officers.

Fraternity houses are looking into moving off-campus housing next fall.

"If you are in a commercial zone, you could hold up to 25 people in it," pollack said a 22 year old female resident of Pierce Hall after she was stopped by two University Police Department officers.

"I thought that the University Police Department is handling that," pollack said.

"I want to say to anyone who is thinking about moving out, don't do it, it's not worth it," pollack said a 22 year old female resident of Pierce Hall after she was stopped by two University Police Department officers.

"If you are in a commercial zone, you could hold up to 25 people in it," pollack said a 22 year old female resident of Pierce Hall after she was stopped by two University Police Department officers.

"I want to say to anyone who is thinking about moving out, don't do it, it's not worth it," pollack said a 22 year old female resident of Pierce Hall after she was stopped by two University Police Department officers.

"I thought that the University Police Department is handling that," pollack said.

"I want to say to anyone who is thinking about moving out, don't do it, it's not worth it," pollack said a 22 year old female resident of Pierce Hall after she was stopped by two University Police Department officers.

"I thought that the University Police Department is handling that," pollack said.

"I want to say to anyone who is thinking about moving out, don't do it, it's not worth it," pollack said a 22 year old female resident of Pierce Hall after she was stopped by two University Police Department officers.

"I thought that the University Police Department is handling that," pollack said.

"I want to say to anyone who is thinking about moving out, don't do it, it's not worth it," pollack said a 22 year old female resident of Pierce Hall after she was stopped by two University Police Department officers.

"I thought that the University Police Department is handling that," pollack said.

"I want to say to anyone who is thinking about moving out, don't do it, it's not worth it," pollack said a 22 year old female resident of Pierce Hall after she was stopped by two University Police Department officers.

"I thought that the University Police Department is handling that," pollack said.

"I want to say to anyone who is thinking about moving out, don't do it, it's not worth it," pollack said a 22 year old female resident of Pierce Hall after she was stopped by two University Police Department officers.

"I thought that the University Police Department is handling that," pollack said.

"I want to say to anyone who is thinking about moving out, don't do it, it's not worth it," pollack said a 22 year old female resident of Pierce Hall after she was stopped by two University Police Department officers.

"I thought that the University Police Department is handling that," pollack said.

"I want to say to anyone who is thinking about moving out, don't do it, it's not worth it," pollack said a 22 year old female resident of Pierce Hall after she was stopped by two University Police Department officers.
NEWS BRIEFS

Death toll hits 36

Amman, Jordan (AP) A 3-year-old girl who got shot in the head while the family was watching television was declared dead by the Jordanian authorities on Sunday, raising the death toll to 36 in a wave of anti-government violence over the last two months.

Police reported five days in 18 provinces, including the capital, Amman, where at least four people were killed. The violence began on Thursday when soldiers opened fire on a crowd of anti-government protesters in the town of Irbid, about 60 kilometers (40 miles) north of Amman.

The Jordanian government has denied the possibility of a coup and said it would take all necessary measures to maintain order.

Hijacking kills 60

Valparaiso, Chile (AP) Axed today in order to prevent the Cameroonians from leaking the new information regarding the hijacking was a complete success, it is revealed here today.

The hijackers, who had been detained in a Paris hotel, were transferred to the French police station in Paris where they were then charged with hijacking and terrorism.

PREVIEW OF EVENTS

Freshman Class Council Meeting will be held on Sunday, December 5, at 4:00 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom. All freshmen are to attend.

The Gay and Lesbian Alliance will host a meeting on Tuesday, December 7, at 7:00 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom. All members are to attend.

SUNY board approves differential dorm rates plan

According to Student Association President Steve Slikas, SUNY's Board of Trustees has approved a differential rate plan for dormitories, which could result in savings of up to $500 per student per year.

The plan, which will be implemented next fall, will include a tiered pricing structure based on personal income. The lowest tier, for students with annual incomes of $30,000 or less, will pay $4,000 per year. The middle tier, for students with annual incomes of $30,001 to $50,000, will pay $4,500 per year. The highest tier, for students with annual incomes of $50,001 or more, will pay $5,000 per year.

The plan is expected to save students an average of $500 per year, or about 10 percent of the current dormitory rate of $4,500.

DIFFERENCES IN DORM RATES...

According to Slikas, SUNY's Board of Trustees has approved a differential rate plan for dormitories, which could result in savings of up to $500 per student per year.

The plan, which will be implemented next fall, will include a tiered pricing structure based on personal income. The lowest tier, for students with annual incomes of $30,000 or less, will pay $4,000 per year. The middle tier, for students with annual incomes of $30,001 to $50,000, will pay $4,500 per year. The highest tier, for students with annual incomes of $50,001 or more, will pay $5,000 per year.

The plan is expected to save students an average of $500 per year, or about 10 percent of the current dormitory rate of $4,500.

According to Slikas, SUNY's Board of Trustees has approved a differential rate plan for dormitories, which could result in savings of up to $500 per student per year.

The plan, which will be implemented next fall, will include a tiered pricing structure based on personal income. The lowest tier, for students with annual incomes of $30,000 or less, will pay $4,000 per year. The middle tier, for students with annual incomes of $30,001 to $50,000, will pay $4,500 per year. The highest tier, for students with annual incomes of $50,001 or more, will pay $5,000 per year.

The plan is expected to save students an average of $500 per year, or about 10 percent of the current dormitory rate of $4,500.

According to Slikas, SUNY's Board of Trustees has approved a differential rate plan for dormitories, which could result in savings of up to $500 per student per year.

The plan, which will be implemented next fall, will include a tiered pricing structure based on personal income. The lowest tier, for students with annual incomes of $30,000 or less, will pay $4,000 per year. The middle tier, for students with annual incomes of $30,001 to $50,000, will pay $4,500 per year. The highest tier, for students with annual incomes of $50,001 or more, will pay $5,000 per year.

The plan is expected to save students an average of $500 per year, or about 10 percent of the current dormitory rate of $4,500.

According to Slikas, SUNY's Board of Trustees has approved a differential rate plan for dormitories, which could result in savings of up to $500 per student per year.

The plan, which will be implemented next fall, will include a tiered pricing structure based on personal income. The lowest tier, for students with annual incomes of $30,000 or less, will pay $4,000 per year. The middle tier, for students with annual incomes of $30,001 to $50,000, will pay $4,500 per year. The highest tier, for students with annual incomes of $50,001 or more, will pay $5,000 per year.

The plan is expected to save students an average of $500 per year, or about 10 percent of the current dormitory rate of $4,500.

According to Slikas, SUNY's Board of Trustees has approved a differential rate plan for dormitories, which could result in savings of up to $500 per student per year.

The plan, which will be implemented next fall, will include a tiered pricing structure based on personal income. The lowest tier, for students with annual incomes of $30,000 or less, will pay $4,000 per year. The middle tier, for students with annual incomes of $30,001 to $50,000, will pay $4,500 per year. The highest tier, for students with annual incomes of $50,001 or more, will pay $5,000 per year.

The plan is expected to save students an average of $500 per year, or about 10 percent of the current dormitory rate of $4,500.
Podium peddlers cater to student tastes

By David Spalding

The crowd around the Campus Center featured a scene not seen much in America, for that matter. As the audience of students, faculty, and visiting speakers settled in, the atmosphere was one of anticipation and excitement. The speaker, a well-known professor from a prestigious university, was about to deliver a lecture on the latest developments in his field. The audience was eager to learn from the expert and to engage in a discussion afterwards.

As the professor began his speech, the audience was captivated by his knowledge and expertise. He covered a wide range of topics, from the latest research in his field to the implications of his findings for society. The professor's presentation was clear and concise, and his delivery was engaging and enthusiastic. The audienceianiImpact on the American Dream, the Changing Role of Women in Society, and the Future of Technology. The professor's insights were both insightful and thought-provoking, and the audience was left with much to consider.

The event was a success, with the audience participating in a lively and informative discussion with the speaker. The venue was packed, and there was a strong sense of community and shared interest. The event was a testament to the power of education and the importance of bringing together people from diverse backgrounds to learn from one another.

In conclusion, the podium peddlers event was a great success, and it left a lasting impression on the audience. The professor's presentation was both informative and engaging, and the attendees were inspired to think more deeply about the issues he discussed. The event was a perfect example of the power of education and the importance of bringing people together to learn and grow.
Senior, frost win vacation in naming new coffee bar

By Leslie Chilt

A love of coffee coupled with a little imagination is sending two SUNY students on a trip to Fort Lauderdale during Spring Break.

The winner in last week’s “Love Coffee Week” contest is to receive two round-trip tickets to Fort Lauderdale and a $500 spending money. The contest was sponsored by the Student Activities Board and the Union College office of Student Life.

Professor of English and History Robert Hynes and his wife, Professor Janet Hynes, were chosen by a selection committee made up of students, fraternity members, faculty and administrators.

“Students wanted a unique coffee plaque and we thought a theme, ‘In the Spirit of Coffee,’” said Professor Hynes, who suggested the idea to the Student Activities Board.

“We were looking for some way to promote the coffeeshop atmosphere in the Student Union,” said Chris Siler, Union College’s Student Activities Board president. “Professor Hynes’ idea fit perfectly.”

Professor Hynes’ idea was to encourage students to submit ideas for a coffee plaque that would be placed in the Student Union.

In past years, the coffeeshop atmosphere has consisted of live music, dancing and food. But this year, students were asked to come up with a new idea for the coffeeshop.

The winning idea was submitted by two students, who plan to use it as a basis for the coffeeshop atmosphere.

“We plan to use the idea for a new coffeeshop that will feature live music, dancing and food,” said one of the students.

The coffeeshop atmosphere will be open to the public and will feature live music, dancing and food. The students plan to use the coffeeshop as a way to promote the coffeeshop atmosphere in the Student Union.

“I think this is a wonderful idea,” said Professor Hynes. “I am looking forward to seeing the coffeeshop atmosphere in the Student Union.”

Professor Hynes was presented with a coffee mug and a $20 gift certificate to the coffeeshop.

The coffeeshop atmosphere will be open to the public and will feature live music, dancing and food. The students plan to use the coffeeshop as a way to promote the coffeeshop atmosphere in the Student Union.

“I think this is a wonderful idea,” said Professor Hynes. “I am looking forward to seeing the coffeeshop atmosphere in the Student Union.”

Professor Hynes was presented with a coffee mug and a $20 gift certificate to the coffeeshop.

The coffeeshop atmosphere will be open to the public and will feature live music, dancing and food. The students plan to use the coffeeshop as a way to promote the coffeeshop atmosphere in the Student Union.

“I think this is a wonderful idea,” said Professor Hynes. “I am looking forward to seeing the coffeeshop atmosphere in the Student Union.”

Professor Hynes was presented with a coffee mug and a $20 gift certificate to the coffeeshop.

The coffeeshop atmosphere will be open to the public and will feature live music, dancing and food. The students plan to use the coffeeshop as a way to promote the coffeeshop atmosphere in the Student Union.
Adamant about Adam Ant

The power was back. I think it was the night before. And the weather was cold. It was in Poughkeepsie on November 26, 1985.

April Anastasi

It was the reputation power of a superstar thing, when she landed, who changed and somehow came about. It's the same thing, of course, that has been seen in a number of movies, not the least of which was the movie "The Great God Brown.

The scariest part was her age, like 22. I was taken by the success of this, what I thought was a new trend. She was the first, the last and the only one.

The Beatles, Elvis, and Sinatra. It's so hard to remember, but professed to have seen in her the same hysteria I'd seen in others. I saw that power was back. In fact, I think it happened like I'd never seen before. We were all singing, and I heard myself singing, knowing what I was doing and loving some of his early songs.

Then the show began and things happened like I've never seen before. We were all singing, too, but the music was exciting. She really loved him — that much was obvious. We were all singing, and I saw that power was back. In fact, I think it happened like I'd never seen before. We were all singing, and I heard myself singing, knowing what I was doing and loving some of his early songs.

The audience was definitely younger than I'd expected — mostly high school age and younger, and I felt old. However, when Adam Ant sang some older songs like "Shine," "Blow-Up," and "Stand and Deliver," I could barely contain myself.

But what stood out most was her age. She was only 22, yet she had the experience of a lifetime. I had witnessed it but never left. I had seen it happen. It was too much to hold back.

During the encore Adam Ant ripped his shirt off and threw it into the audience, taking the stage by storm. As I turned to go, I saw him in the audience. It was the last concert of his that we had attended. And now, again, in 1984, on his 1984 tour.

Adam Ant Harrell — I'm sure of the name, but the music was exciting. She really loved him — that much was obvious. We were all singing, and I heard myself singing, knowing what I was doing and loving some of his early songs.

The audience was definitely younger than I'd expected — mostly high school age and younger, and I felt old. However, when Adam Ant sang some older songs like "Shine," "Blow-Up," and "Stand and Deliver," I could barely contain myself.

But what stood out most was her age. She was only 22, yet she had the experience of a lifetime. I had witnessed it but never left. I had seen it happen. It was too much to hold back.

During the encore Adam Ant ripped his shirt off and threw it into the audience, taking the stage by storm. As I turned to go, I saw him in the audience. It was the last concert of his that we had attended. And now, again, in 1984, on his 1984 tour.

Great God Brown

The production at Proctors Wednesday opening two and a half hours of merriment "began without ceremony." Martinez's fixed blonde, but it's never been staged quite like this. The last concert of Adam Ant. I saw that power was back. In fact, I think it happened like I'd never seen before. We were all singing, and I heard myself singing, knowing what I was doing and loving some of his early songs.

The audience was definitely younger than I'd expected — mostly high school age and younger, and I felt old. However, when Adam Ant sang some older songs like "Shine," "Blow-Up," and "Stand and Deliver," I could barely contain myself.

But what stood out most was her age. She was only 22, yet she had the experience of a lifetime. I had witnessed it but never left. I had seen it happen. It was too much to hold back.

During the encore Adam Ant ripped his shirt off and threw it into the audience, taking the stage by storm. As I turned to go, I saw him in the audience. It was the last concert of his that we had attended. And now, again, in 1984, on his 1984 tour.
More than just beer balls

Last Friday approximately 200 students attended a meeting to discuss the issue of alcohol policy that the University was planning to implement. The meeting was held in the student union, and was attended by many students who were concerned about the possible changes that could be made.

Among the issues discussed were the elimination of alcohol from dorm rooms and the enforcement of strict penalties for those who violate the new policies. The students were vocal in their concerns, and many took the opportunity to express their frustrations with the University's decision to restrict alcohol on campus.

Many thanks

In keeping with the tradition of Thanksgiving, this week's column is a collection of thanks to various individuals and groups who have been instrumental in the success of the column. These include students, faculty, and staff who have contributed time, effort, and support.

We would like to take this opportunity to publicly recognize the University's commitment to excellence in education and research.

Greek esprit

To the Editor:

We didn't realize that October was National Children's Health Month. What's the deal? Is it a real holiday? We think so.

If we're not, the chicken's roast, which has held under the following formula: roast until uncovered. Also, the preheat temperature is on the high side, and the chicken should be roasted at a temperature of 350°F.

—Wendy L. Cramer

Sclerosis busters

To the Editor:

This is to announce the University community of the Student Association Multiple Sclerosis Disease. We are planning a major event to be held on campus for the first time.

Many thanks

To the Editor:

This is an open letter to the University community. This is the first time that we have had an open letter to the University community.

We would like to take this opportunity to publicly recognize the University's commitment to excellence in education and research.

A chicken on the line

To the Editor:

We would like to take this opportunity to publicly recognize the University's commitment to excellence in education and research.

Let's play video games

To the Editor:

This is an open letter to the University community. This is the first time that we have had an open letter to the University community.

We would like to take this opportunity to publicly recognize the University's commitment to excellence in education and research.

Let's play video games

To the Editor:

This is an open letter to the University community. This is the first time that we have had an open letter to the University community.

We would like to take this opportunity to publicly recognize the University's commitment to excellence in education and research.

Sclerosis busters

To the Editor:

This is to announce the University community of the Student Association Multiple Sclerosis Disease. We are planning a major event to be held on campus for the first time.

Many thanks

To the Editor:

This is an open letter to the University community. This is the first time that we have had an open letter to the University community.

We would like to take this opportunity to publicly recognize the University's commitment to excellence in education and research.

A chicken on the line

To the Editor:

We would like to take this opportunity to publicly recognize the University's commitment to excellence in education and research.

Let's play video games

To the Editor:

This is an open letter to the University community. This is the first time that we have had an open letter to the University community.

We would like to take this opportunity to publicly recognize the University's commitment to excellence in education and research.

Sclerosis busters

To the Editor:

This is to announce the University community of the Student Association Multiple Sclerosis Disease. We are planning a major event to be held on campus for the first time.

Many thanks

To the Editor:

This is an open letter to the University community. This is the first time that we have had an open letter to the University community.

We would like to take this opportunity to publicly recognize the University's commitment to excellence in education and research.

A chicken on the line

To the Editor:

We would like to take this opportunity to publicly recognize the University's commitment to excellence in education and research.

Let's play video games

To the Editor:

This is an open letter to the University community. This is the first time that we have had an open letter to the University community.

We would like to take this opportunity to publicly recognize the University's commitment to excellence in education and research.

Classified Ads 13

Getting Personal

Improved job market comes as no surprise to SUNYA career advisor

By Rosalind Biglia

SUNY Albany graduates are facing a job market in 1986 that looks considerably better than the one that seemed just a few years ago. "It's particularly surprising at the graduate level," said Stanley Schwartz, director of the Career Development Center.

"Most students from this school come out of New York City, which has a much higher competition for jobs." The Career Development Center also offers a job search service that includes help with writing resumes and letters of recommendation. "For those students who are not in the New York City area, the economic climate is much better and the job market is stronger. There are more opportunities for them."

"The market is shifting to industries that are doing well," said Schwartz. "For example, the computer industry is expanding." The center also has a weekly newsletter that keeps students up to date on job opportunities.

Job prospects look favorable for '86 grads

Bobbi J. Barone, director of the Career Services Office, said that the job market is improving for SUNY Albany graduates. "We've had a lot of positive feedback from employers," she said. "They're interested in our students and they're offering internships and full-time positions." The center offers a variety of services to help students find jobs, including resume building and interview preparation.

SA Budget

Applications available in the SA office (CC 116) and due back by December 6. Budget Committee 86-87 will be held Spring '86 SA Funded

Applications from women, minorities and disabled students are especially welcome

Classified Advertising Policy

Classified Ads 13

Getting Personal

Improve your job market comes as no surprise to SUNYA career advisor

By Rosalind Biglia

SUNY Albany graduates are facing a job market in 1986 that looks considerably better than the one that seemed just a few years ago. "It's particularly surprising at the graduate level," said Stanley Schwartz, director of the Career Development Center.

"Most students from this school come out of New York City, which has a much higher competition for jobs." The Career Development Center also offers a job search service that includes help with writing resumes and letters of recommendation. "For those students who are not in the New York City area, the economic climate is much better and the job market is stronger. There are more opportunities for them."

"The market is shifting to industries that are doing well," said Schwartz. "For example, the computer industry is expanding." The center also has a weekly newsletter that keeps students up to date on job opportunities.

Job prospects look favorable for '86 grads

Bobbi J. Barone, director of the Career Services Office, said that the job market is improving for SUNY Albany graduates. "We've had a lot of positive feedback from employers," she said. "They're interested in our students and they're offering internships and full-time positions." The center offers a variety of services to help students find jobs, including resume building and interview preparation.

SA Budget

Applications available in the SA office (CC 116) and due back by December 6. Budget Committee 86-87 will be held Spring '86 SA Funded

Applications from women, minorities and disabled students are especially welcome

Classified Advertising Policy

Usage

Classified Ads 13

Getting Personal

Improve your job market comes as no surprise to SUNYA career advisor

By Rosalind Biglia

SUNY Albany graduates are facing a job market in 1986 that looks considerably better than the one that seemed just a few years ago. "It's particularly surprising at the graduate level," said Stanley Schwartz, director of the Career Development Center.

"Most students from this school come out of New York City, which has a much higher competition for jobs." The Career Development Center also offers a job search service that includes help with writing resumes and letters of recommendation. "For those students who are not in the New York City area, the economic climate is much better and the job market is stronger. There are more opportunities for them."

"The market is shifting to industries that are doing well," said Schwartz. "For example, the computer industry is expanding." The center also has a weekly newsletter that keeps students up to date on job opportunities.

Job prospects look favorable for '86 grads

Bobbi J. Barone, director of the Career Services Office, said that the job market is improving for SUNY Albany graduates. "We've had a lot of positive feedback from employers," she said. "They're interested in our students and they're offering internships and full-time positions." The center offers a variety of services to help students find jobs, including resume building and interview preparation.

SA Budget

Applications available in the SA office (CC 116) and due back by December 6. Budget Committee 86-87 will be held Spring '86 SA Funded

Applications from women, minorities and disabled students are especially welcome

Classified Advertising Policy

Usage

Classified Ads 13

Getting Personal

Improve your job market comes as no surprise to SUNYA career advisor

By Rosalind Biglia

SUNY Albany graduates are facing a job market in 1986 that looks considerably better than the one that seemed just a few years ago. "It's particularly surprising at the graduate level," said Stanley Schwartz, director of the Career Development Center.

"Most students from this school come out of New York City, which has a much higher competition for jobs." The Career Development Center also offers a job search service that includes help with writing resumes and letters of recommendation. "For those students who are not in the New York City area, the economic climate is much better and the job market is stronger. There are more opportunities for them."

"The market is shifting to industries that are doing well," said Schwartz. "For example, the computer industry is expanding." The center also has a weekly newsletter that keeps students up to date on job opportunities.

Job prospects look favorable for '86 grads

Bobbi J. Barone, director of the Career Services Office, said that the job market is improving for SUNY Albany graduates. "We've had a lot of positive feedback from employers," she said. "They're interested in our students and they're offering internships and full-time positions." The center offers a variety of services to help students find jobs, including resume building and interview preparation.

SA Budget

Applications available in the SA office (CC 116) and due back by December 6. Budget Committee 86-87 will be held Spring '86 SA Funded

Applications from women, minorities and disabled students are especially welcome

Classified Advertising Policy

Usage

Classified Ads 13

Getting Personal

Improve your job market comes as no surprise to SUNYA career advisor

By Rosalind Biglia

SUNY Albany graduates are facing a job market in 1986 that looks considerably better than the one that seemed just a few years ago. "It's particularly surprising at the graduate level," said Stanley Schwartz, director of the Career Development Center.

"Most students from this school come out of New York City, which has a much higher competition for jobs." The Career Development Center also offers a job search service that includes help with writing resumes and letters of recommendation. "For those students who are not in the New York City area, the economic climate is much better and the job market is stronger. There are more opportunities for them."

"The market is shifting to industries that are doing well," said Schwartz. "For example, the computer industry is expanding." The center also has a weekly newsletter that keeps students up to date on job opportunities.

Job prospects look favorable for '86 grads

Bobbi J. Barone, director of the Career Services Office, said that the job market is improving for SUNY Albany graduates. "We've had a lot of positive feedback from employers," she said. "They're interested in our students and they're offering internships and full-time positions." The center offers a variety of services to help students find jobs, including resume building and interview preparation.

SA Budget

Applications available in the SA office (CC 116) and due back by December 6. Budget Committee 86-87 will be held Spring '86 SA Funded

Applications from women, minorities and disabled students are especially welcome

Classified Advertising Policy

Usage
And, all the money goes to Albany Med's Child Cancer Care & Pants, Antique Wool Overcoats, hats, Khaki shirts U.S. and European Wool Sweaters. 6 pocket Field yourself lor the ultimate in Winter indulgence.

• 5 days of unlimited skiing at
• Complete schedule of mountainside Apres ski events
• 5 nights accommodations in choice of contemporary trail-side

IT'S YOUR LAST CHANCE TO GET A WT'S MUG BEFORE
USA 1 800 648-4849 / NYS 1 800 648-4875 / LOCAL (607) 272-6964

@ 442-6538

ARoO chosen as diabetes month

By Mark Robkomy

The American Diabetes Association (ADA) and National Diabetes Awareness Month (NDAM) are two of the many causes that have caught the attention of many students, including myself, along with other groups. The American Diabetes Association (ADA) has named November National Diabetes Awareness Month. The focus of NDAM is on education and awareness.

The Journal of the American Medical Association (JAMA) recently published a study on diabetes, which is the most common chronic disease in the United States. It affects more than 29 million Americans, or about 9.3% of the population.

Diabetes is a disease that causes high blood sugar levels. It is a chronic disease that affects how the body converts food into energy. When blood sugar is high, it can lead to serious health problems such as heart disease, stroke, kidney disease, blindness, and nerve damage. It is estimated that 1 in 3 adults in the United States has diabetes.

The causes of diabetes are not fully understood, but there are several risk factors that have been identified. These risk factors include being overweight or obese, having a family history of diabetes, being physically inactive, and having high blood pressure.

Diabetes has two main types: Type 1 and Type 2. Type 1 diabetes is an autoimmune disease in which the body's immune system attacks and destroys the cells in the pancreas that make insulin. Without insulin, the body is unable to use sugar and energy efficiently. Type 2 diabetes develops when the body's cells do not respond well to insulin, or when the body does not produce enough insulin.

The symptoms of diabetes may include:

- Frequent urination or thirst
- Unusual fatigueness or weakness
- Hunger or unexpected weight loss
- Blurred vision
- Persistent hunger or thirst
- Skin infections
- Tingling or numbness in the fingers, feet, or toes

There are several ways to manage diabetes, including:

- Taking medication to control blood sugar levels
- Eating a healthy, balanced diet
- Exercising regularly
- Monitoring blood sugar levels

Early detection and management of diabetes is crucial to prevent long-term complications. If you think you may have diabetes, contact your healthcare provider for a diagnosis.

Protest

The protest at the rally was peaceful and orderly. The participants were all wearing T-shirts that read "Stop the Sugar," and they were holding signs that proclaimed, "Sugar is the new alcohol." The rally was attended by hundreds of students and community members.

The protest took place in front of the main entrance of the university. The crowd gathered and chanted, "No more sugar, no more diabetes!"

The protest was organized by the student group "Diabetes Awareness Now." The group was founded by a group of students who were diagnosed with Type 1 diabetes.

According to the participants, diabetes is a disease that affects everyone and that it is time for the government to do something about it. They called for an end to the use of sugar in processed foods and beverages.

"Sugar is the new alcohol," said one of the participants. "We need to take action to protect our health and our future generations."
Health insurance rate hikes to bypass SUNYA

By Linda Greenberg

Malpractice insurance rate hikes will have no effect on the cost of services provided by the Student Health Service at SUNYA, even though many other health care providers are experiencing rate hikes. "We have no control of that," said Dennis. "Also, a slight increase every year," said Brown.

"In case of a malpractice suit involving a physicians, and others. The only instance that they are covered under Article 17," explained Eugene Marquardt, president of the University Risk Managers Association. "If we can't get it resolved, we're looking for in the break-ins individuals were black. The guys who responded to next to the 5:43-herd tailback in..." said Dennis. "We've never come back from being 21 points down at halftime before. It was anti-climatic after the Danes had..."
Great Dane skaters whip Siena; fall to BCCC

By Olivia Abel

The Albany State hockey team conquered the Siena College Saints 7-2 on Saturday night at the Union Coliseum. With the win, the Danes improved their record to 5-2-0 overall and 4-2 in the SUNYAC. The Saints fell to 3-6-0 overall and 3-1 in the conference. Albany State senior center Adam Ursprung tallied three goals and one assist in the win. Albany's Phil Tironi added three goals. The Danes also got 3 points from senior Rich Diem and 1 point from junior Mike Cinque.

The Danes opened the game with a power-play goal off the stick of Cinque. In the first period, the Danes outscored Siena 4-1. In the second period, Cinque added his second goal of the game off a pass from Tironi. Tironi followed up with a goal from center Adam Ursprung.

The Saints played well, but Albany State outshot them 39-12. The Danes also out-hit Siena 11-5. Albany State goalie Brian Kestner made 16 saves in the win. Siena's goalie Jeff Peterson made 32 saves. The Danes had 12 power-play opportunities, compared to the Saints' 4. Albany State is next scheduled to play on Friday, December 6, at home against the University of Connecticut.

Women campers drop a game in opening tourney

By Kristina Sauer

The Albany State women's basketball team opened their season with a 73-70 loss to the University of Connecticut on Saturday night at the Alumni Coliseum. The Danes had a 10-point lead with less than five minutes left in the game, but the Huskies came back to win. Connecticut outscored the Danes 15-5 in the final five minutes.

Albany State's senior guard John Morsey led all scorers with 22 points. Freshman guard Rob Roesch also had 22 points. The Danes had 15 turnovers, while Connecticut had 11. Connecticut out-rebounded the Danes 44-31.

The Danes are next scheduled to play on Friday, December 5, against the University at Albany. The game will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Alumni Coliseum.

Parlotto falts in Atlanta

By David Stetin

John Parlotto, a junior on the Union men's cross-country team, spoke about his experience at the NCAA nationals in Atlanta last week.

"It was the worst race of my life," Parlotto said. "I was just unbelievable. Jake Sabo also, I think he's the best outside chance, still isn't even close."

Parlotto finished 29th overall in the NCAA nationals, which were held at the Olympic Village in Atlanta. Parlotto's time was 24:32, which was 13 seconds behind the winner.

Parlotto said that the grassy, hilly course was the most difficult part of the race. "I had to warm Atlanta, Georgia, would you want to be part of the team," Parlotto said. "It was an accomplishment making it to nationals, but I've had better meets in the past."

Parlotto said that he will not compete in the NCAA nationals again. "I'm going to take a break from the sport," he said. "I need to work on my technique."

Parlotto's race was summed up in one word by head coach, R.K. Munsey: "Terrible."

Parlotto's time was 24:32, which was 13 seconds behind the winner.

Union is still in the hunt for a fourth place finish in the N.Y. Region. Union is currently in fourth place, with only 184 of those guys making it. No matter how he did, he still deserves respect for being there," said Munsey. Although he didn't finish up, Parlotto said that he was able to run for a while before being overtaken by other runners.

With fifteen seconds left on the clock, Parlotto's race was over. "It was the worst race of my life," he said. "I had to warm Atlanta, Georgia, would you want to be part of the team," Parlotto said. "It was an accomplishment making it to nationals, but I've had better meets in the past."

Parlotto's time was 24:32, which was 13 seconds behind the winner.

Parlotto's race was summed up in one word by head coach, R.K. Munsey: "Terrible."

Parlotto's time was 24:32, which was 13 seconds behind the winner.

Parlotto's race was summed up in one word by head coach, R.K. Munsey: "Terrible."

Parlotto's time was 24:32, which was 13 seconds behind the winner.

Parlotto's race was summed up in one word by head coach, R.K. Munsey: "Terrible."

Parlotto's time was 24:32, which was 13 seconds behind the winner.

Parlotto's race was summed up in one word by head coach, R.K. Munsey: "Terrible."

Parlotto's time was 24:32, which was 13 seconds behind the winner.

Parlotto's race was summed up in one word by head coach, R.K. Munsey: "Terrible."

Parlotto's time was 24:32, which was 13 seconds behind the winner.

Parlotto's race was summed up in one word by head coach, R.K. Munsey: "Terrible."

Parlotto's time was 24:32, which was 13 seconds behind the winner.

Parlotto's race was summed up in one word by head coach, R.K. Munsey: "Terrible."

Parlotto's time was 24:32, which was 13 seconds behind the winner.

Parlotto's race was summed up in one word by head coach, R.K. Munsey: "Terrible."

Parlotto's time was 24:32, which was 13 seconds behind the winner.
Albany grapplers overpower Division I rivals
By Mike Macateam

When the State University of New York at Albany faced Wagner College, 15-0, two weeks ago, a few Albany wrestlers had cause to be wary. Scores were low, and the losses might have been expected.

This past weekend, however, the Danes were far from being the only ones who had cause to be worried. Albany defeated Wagner in a meet that proved the Albany grapplers overpower Division I rivals.

The match was held at the State University of New York at Albany's Convocation Center, and started with a bang. The Bulldogs went on to win 15-0, and the Danes were able to avoid any upsets by winning 12-6.

The meet was highlighted by a strong performance from Albany's Danes, who took the first quarter by a 6-0 margin. The Bulldogs were out of sync from the start, and the Danes were able to take advantage of that.

As the Danes looked to continue their winning streak, they faced some tough competition from Wagner. The Bulldogs came out strong, but the Danes were able to hold their ground and take the lead back over the Bulldogs.

As the meet progressed, the Danes continued to dominate, winning all five matches in the second quarter. The final score was 12-6, and the Danes were able to claim a decisive victory over Wagner.

The Danes were led by sophomore Andy Gordon, who won his match by a 10-0 technical fall. Gordon was one of several Danes who had a strong performance, and the Danes were able to capitalize on that strength.

With the win, the Danes are now 5-0 and are showing signs of being a force to be reckoned with. They are showing that they have the talent and skill to compete against some of the best teams in the country.

As the Danes look to continue their winning streak, they will face some tough competition in the weeks to come. They will need to be strong in every match if they want to keep their unbeaten record intact.

The Danes are off to a great start, and with the way they are playing, they have all the tools they need to continue their winning streak. With a strong performance against Wagner, the Danes are showing that they are a team to be feared.

The Danes are looking forward to their next match, and they will be ready to face any challenge that comes their way. With a strong performance against Wagner, the Danes have shown that they are a team that can compete with the best in the country.