To the Editor:

Two weeks ago I went to Journey's End and it happened to be an opening. It was not the only opening, but it was the only opening I had time to attend. It was a marvelous performance, and I would like to say a word about it. I have seen several productions of Journey's End and this one was better than any of them. The acting was superb, the directing masterful, and the setting simply perfect. I think it is the best production of Journey's End that has ever been seen. I hope it will be a great success.

Yours truly,

To the Editor:

I was at Journey's End last week and it was a terrible performance. The acting was bad, the directing was amateurish, and the setting was simply awful. I have seen several productions of Journey's End and this one was worse than any of them. I think it is the worst production of Journey's End that has ever been seen. I hope it will be a great failure.

Yours truly,
