Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co. says...

FOR more than thirty years we have used research day and day out learning about tobacco and cigarets in the public's interest.

Continuously we and our consultants have analyzed, experimented with and smoked all kinds of tobacco...especially Southern Bright, Burley, Maryland and Turkish cigarette tobaccos.

Our own cigarettes and competitive brands have been submitted to the most exacting scientific scrutiny including thousands of analyses of millions of pounds of tobacco.

From all these thousands of analyses, and other findings reported in the leading technical journals, the Research Department has found no reason to believe that the isolation and elimination of any element native to cigarette tobacco today would improve smoking.

For four years we have maintained in the smoker's interest an intensively large scale diversified research program. A half-billion dollar 30-ton machine, the world's most powerful source of high voltage electrons, designed solely for our use has tested tens of thousands of cigarettes. This program has already given us direct and significant information of benefit to the smoking public.

Our consultants include Arthur D. Little, Inc. of Cambridge, Mass., "one of the largest and oldest industrial research organizations in the country." (From Business Week Magazine) and eminent scientists from leading universities. Today the public can continously choose from a variety of brands—by far the best cigarettes ever made by the tobacco industry.
The Government Revision Committee met twice in the past week, and with good results to show for its efforts. The improved organization of the committee has resulted in the efficient handling and cooperative exchange of ideas. We find a brighter future for the revision now that irrelevant discussion and frustrating stagnation are kept to a minimum by the new chairman. A summary of the accomplishments of the past 2 week meetings is reported on page one. The committee features an SA number to attend and contribute to the meetings. Although quite a bit has been accomplished, it is evident that toward the completion of an acceptable plan to replace our present form of government and eventually discontinuoussy cooperative assembly, we are still in the start of making predictions, but as things stand now, we are trying to assure that the seat number and role in cooperative assembly as a fitting of the past.

The number of representatives has been reduced to one hundred, to be divided proportionately among classes. Although the tallying involved many members of the class of 1951, we wonder if there are one hundred students available and willing to serve in this representative legislative body. We wonder many things about the proposed representative government plan: what will happen to the system? What will become of Miyakawa? How many large little colleges will evolve from this? and most disturbing of all, will the new plan ever appear? and most disturbing of all, will the new plan ever appear? and most disturbing of all, will the new plan ever appear?

This last question is not very valid in the light of the generally assumed fact that a representative form of government appears the all or nothing system. The dim majority that showed our preference for the Democratic Party—by voting on the last day of registration and not before—consolidated, represents the majority's desire for a representative form of government. We must necessarily represent our desires for a representative government. We must necessarily represent our desires for a representative government. We must necessarily represent our desires for a representative government. We must necessarily represent our desires for a representative government. We must necessarily represent our desires for a representative government. We must necessarily represent our desires for a representative government.
