Near Perfect Grapplers Surpass Match Record

BY MARK CONWAY

Parry! Parry! Parry! The特有的 sound echoed through the gymnasium as two wrestlers engaged in a battle of skill and strategy. Both wrestlers were displaying exceptional technique, their movements fluid and precise. The crowd, anticipation building, watched in fascination as the match progressed.

But the most impressive aspect of this match was the high level of performance displayed by both wrestlers. Their wrestling styles complemented each other perfectly, creating a visually stunning display of athleticism and technique. The referee, an experienced offi- cial, called the match and the room fell silent as the wrestlers received their well-deserved applause.

The match took place in front of a packed house, with spectators cheering and clapping throughout. The atmosphere was electric, and the wrestlers responded with a display of skill and strength that left the audience in awe.

The result was a decisive victory for the wrestler who expertly executed a series of takedowns and escapes, earning him the match and the respect of his peers. His performance was nothing short of exceptional, and he was rightfully congratulated by his coach and teammates.

The crowd exited the gymnasium with a newfound appreciation for the sport of wrestling, having witnessed a truly remarkable display of talent and dedication.

Cortland's Wally Young, a wrestler with a long history of success, highlighted the importance of hard work and dedication in reaching the pinnacle of the sport. "It's not just about natural talent," he said. "It's about putting in the time and effort to perfect one's technique."

Young's words resonated with the audience, reminding them of the hard work and dedication required to achieve success in any field. The match served as a testament to the power of teamwork, skill, and perseverance, and left a lasting impression on all who witnessed it.

Midast Aid Increased
WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Reagan administration will propose increased military and economic aid for Egypt and Lebanon for 1982 and 1983, a White House official said Monday.

If approved by Congress, military aid to Israel will be increased by $500 million to a total of $1.7 billion, and aid to Egypt will rise from $800 million to $1.2 billion.
The two countries are the major recipients of U.S. aid, and the new aid package would be the largest ever for either country.

The official said the increase was part of a broader strategy to strengthen Israel's military capabilities and to help Egypt in its efforts to maintain stability in the region.

Poles Accept Price Hikes
WARSAW, Poland — The Polish government has announced a 10 percent increase in prices for food and fuel and 3 percent for various services, in order to meet rising costs of production and distribution.

The official announced that the price hikes would be effective immediately, and that they would affect all sectors of the economy, including utilities, transportation, and housing.

Americans Ignore Warnings
ROME, Italy — A report by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services has found that many Americans do not understand the dangers of smoking.

The report, released Tuesday, found that only 20 percent of adult Americans know that smoking causes cancer, and that only 30 percent know that it causes heart disease.

The report also noted that many Americans believe that smoking is a harmless activity, and that it is not linked to health problems.

All That Glitters Is Not Golden

On Golden Pond is proof positive that age is no barrier to the development of a strong dramatic force. "It would have been nice," Burt (Kurtwood Smith) says, "if he ate situation, but since this is the key conflict in the play, and underdeveloped but nowhere is it more apparent than in the character of Robert." Perhaps Thompson doesn't have enough of a backbone to face it.

The role of the old man is normally a thankless, thankless part, but Kurtwood Smith brings a subtle, understated performance to the role of Burt. He was born to play the part, and he plays it with grace and dignity. His facial expressions and body language convey much motion and activity. Mental anguish is conveyed by the strings, developing into a movement of endless expanses of fields and farm areas. Mental torture is conveyed by the piercingly resonant sound of the oboe. Flutist Irvin Gilman was especially impressive with the mood range he was able to achieve with his instrument.

The orchestra will be provided by members of the Albany Symphony. Spontaneous applause followed the performance of the New World Symphony suite and Antonin Dvorak's "New World" Symphony. The work was inspired to lean more about the 20th century symphony. Though disjointed in some sections, this piece was accurately interpreted by the ASO. Though disjointed in some sections, this piece was accurately interpreted by the ASO. Though disjointed in some sections, this piece was accurately interpreted by the ASO.

The program featured three works: Virgil Thomson's "Dark Set" for orchestra, "Ceremony of Youth," "The 51th Parallel" and "Miracle in the Sand." The program included much of the music of the 20th century, ranging from the works of Stravinsky, Shostakovich, and Copland to the works of American composers such as Charles Ives and Aaron Copland. The program was especially well-received by the students in attendance, who were clearly impressed by the musicianship of the ASO and the precision of the performance. FDR's True Legacy

Thomas W. Carroll

FDR's philosophy reflects a lack of faith and individual initiative and his misguided reliance on the false hopes of government solutions.

The Right Approach

To the Editor:

A recent front page story in the Times Union notes FDR's life-long commitment to children's education. The article fails to mention that FDR's educational philosophy was based on a strong belief in the power of public education to create a more just and equitable society.

Students Rally

To the Editor:

On the surface, one might see this whole event as a protest against tuition increases and the lack of government funding for higher education. But the reality is that the true motivation for this rally is the desire to hold the SUNY administration accountable for its failure to provide a quality education for students.

Before Your Time

To the Editor:

The Carey budget is likely to result in increased class sizes and reduced funding for programs that are essential to the success of students. If the budget is implemented, students will be forced to find work to make ends meet and focus on their education.

Cut Short

Anne won't be coming back to school next semester. Not that she'll be graduating — Anne's only a sophomore. Anne can't afford to come back next year. Governor Carey's proposed budget will end the era of higher education for all, regardless of income. His cuts means state financial aid and scholarships that students take on more and more of the university system's costs, combined with federal aid cuts, and many students hope for a college education. William will be back next semester, he hopes. He figures he should be able to scrape together enough money to stay in school for a while at least.

Returning students will face larger classes due to a reduction of 175 faculty positions — all faculty. Students forced off campus by rising dorm rates may also be forced to pay for SUNYA's viral absic service or pick up the expense of their own off-campus rentals. WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) The Reagan administration is quietly building U.S. military aid to El Salvador's government while denying more money that would have helped it weather a current financial crisis.

The U.S. secret war in Central America has been marked by dramatic secret maneuvers, including the recent closure of a diplomatic post in El Salvador.

Despite the claims, the administration has been unable to provide money for the government's economic crisis.

A recent assessment of aid to the Salvadoran government concluded that it had only received $300 million in economic aid since 1980.

The assessment also noted that the administration's policy of non-interference in Central American affairs had not been effective in stabilizing the region.
