To the Members of the News Board:

Germany wishes to inform the members of the News Board that they are to appoint an Editor-in-Chief, Managing Editor, Business Manager, and several Associate Editors and Assistants. The selection is to be chosen from the Class of 1920 and according to a plan which will be submitted by Myskania in the near future.

To Readers:
The Board of Editors of the State College News announces the following list of appointments for the year 1918-1919. These have been approved by Myskania: Editor-in-Chief, Donald Tower; Managing Editor, Bernice Bronner; Assistant Business Manager, Van Allen Lodell.

THE DAY OF DISASTER

May Seventh is a Day of Disaster to Americans. We shall live to see it a Disaster Day to Germany.

That day, three years ago, the Lusitania went down with 1,198 citizens of the United States. Then we stopped the white flag, the white ship, and the white feeling.

That murder was deliberately planned in cold blood. It was known so far ahead that von Bernstorff fit representative of a frightful nation, advertised in our papers a warning to citizens not to embark. Germany relieved openly in holiday attire at the death of women and babes, and strained every muscle in condemnation, no less tender to us of a nation educated only to be bestial in its cruelty.

We waited till April sixth, nearly two years later, before we acted. No one can accuse this big, patient, generous nation of wantonly hate, of angry action. Now, after three years, our last lingering shreds of courtesy and respect are in ashes.

We are decided, determined, devoted.

Farewell, Germany.

Our feelings are unleashed. Restrain is removed. It comes as a

1919 MYSKANIA

The matter in which most of us, especially the Jinters, are interested on Moving-Up-Day, is the selection of the 1919 Myskania. Each little group of us has its own hero, its leader, who in our estimation possesses exceptional qualities. We are absolutely sure that he should, without question, become a member of Myskania.

A student, if perhaps, a fellow in athletics, scholarship, ability for organization, or a genius in some other phase of student activity, is by no means enough. We have no doubt about his eligibility for the Senior Council.

When Moving-Up-Day is over, and the highest honor of our college has passed him by, can we be big enough, can we be broad-minded enough, to not express our disapprobation, our disgust, or even worse, our disloyalty to our college? When the student body accepted the organization of the Senior Council by the faculty, no objections were raised as to the proposed method of selection. Why shall we now not have sufficient faith in our faculty, and sufficient confidence in the Council, chosen from the college and the faculty, to decide for Myskania, to enable us to accept their decisions as just, and prompt by merely fairness? Granted, a student has held high offices in class or society; or has had an enviable scholarship standing, or has made a record in athletics, should this alone cause his election to Myskania? Let us rather think that he has had his share, perhaps, in college laurels.

When you remember last winter's cold and suffering, the 200,000 men, all able-bodied, in America who are working their times in the manufacture and sale of houses, think too the number of minds insufficient by many.

When in the wonderful Liberty Loan drives you are told that a single $50,000 bond will buy 1,000,000 bushels of grain wasted last year, wondering America's brains, you may recall that there are no clogging side issues, there are no objections raised as to the organization, or a genius in some other phase of student activity.

We hesitate no longer in fear of the German mood to accept or reject, or for any one reason, but for the German mood to accept or reject. Our one determination now is to WIN THIS WAR.

To the Members of the News Board:

The Rubalyst of a Senior

I sometimes think that never felt so bad as him.
My brain—when the filling came rolling in.
When every Dime and Penny I possessed—
Have fewer groans—
The coin without asking, Hitler hurled where—
Thence without asking, Thither hurled where—
Into my pocketbook, why, not know—
Out of it so soon again—whether, whither going—
You rising Price—continue to pour where—
Until you reach the climax of gold's curse;
Till flowers and fancies are beyond my reach—
Then I must fall turn down an empty purse—
Four S. C. girls stood on the bank Of a river.
One had a cooncat.
Four S. C. fellows stood gazing at the river.
They wanted the cooncat.
Jest look at the bridge.

WON'T WILLIAM WEEP AND WAIL
Last year old Bill's (in)famous submarines sank 6,000,000 bushels of grain. His ally in America, the brewer, wasted over eight times that much grain.

When Congress unites this stalwart American Ally of his with "War Prohibition" there will be wailing and gnashing of teeth on the part of "William the Conqueror."

AND "FOOD WILL WIN THE WAR"
"When harley is taken to the miller, 60 per cent becomes flour for human food; 40 per cent becomes offal for cattle food.
"When harley is taken to the brewer, 25 per cent becomes offal for cattle food; 75 per cent is wasted in making a deleterious drink." -- Lord Davenport.

"War Prohibition-Now was the title of the winning oration in the Pennsylvania State I. P. A. political speaking contest at Grove City College, April 26. Miss Mary Thompson, University of Pittsburgh, was the winner; five prominent colleges participated. The convention took action in favor of war prohibition and planned to make the colleges of the state a factor in the final effort to banish the liquor traffic from Pennsylvania.
