A GUIDE FOR THE UNMONEYED

R. L. St. John was a born, ambitious lad, and when he finished high school at fifteen, he was ready to take his place in the world. His father could not send him to college—his father never had enough money to send his children to school.
Sunday's Frosh = Monday's Frats

Monday, Feb. 11 will be a very important day for some of the newer men on campus. This is the day when the frosh will finally get to have a look around the campus and find out what it's like to be a part of a fraternity. It's a day when they will be able to see what it's like to be a part of a group that has been around for many years and has a rich history.

What Value

The State University News starts another weekly column, "What Value," which will examine the current state of the world and the problems that face us today. One of the problems that is facing us is the problem of the "What Value" of education. We are looking for a new cartoonist for this column. The cartoonist must have a good sense of humor and be able to make people laugh. The cartoons must be of high quality and should be able to convey the ideas of the column in a clear and concise manner.

Education 20?

To The Editor:

I am writing this letter to express my concern about the current state of education in this country. I believe that education is one of the most important things that we can do for our children, and yet I am concerned about the way in which it is being taught today. Many of the students that I have talked to are not interested in learning, and they seem to be more concerned with getting good grades than with actually understanding the material.

I believe that we need to take a closer look at the way in which education is being taught today. We need to find a way to make learning more interesting and more enjoyable for the students. We need to find a way to make education more relevant to the lives of the students.

Education is a vital part of our society, and we need to do everything that we can to ensure that it is being taught in the best way possible. I hope that you will take the time to consider the issues that I have raised in this letter, and I look forward to hearing your thoughts on the matter.

Sincerely,

The second gravest problem confronting college students today is mental inferiority. This problem is a result of the pressures and expectations placed on students in today's society. Students are expected to excel academically, athletically, and socially, and this can be a source of stress and anxiety.

The program is open to all students who are interested in participating in the program. Interested students should contact the office of the President's Office for more information.
