Service Flag Has Thirty Stars

On Wednesday morning, Nov. 28, State College was formally presented with a Service Flag in honor of its men now in the service of their country. These men are:

The exercises began in the auditorium and ended with an inspiring service at the main entrance of the building.

Dr. Drudeke's introductory remarks were as follows:

"Our interest this morning centers in the idea of service. From our midst have gone some thirty choice young men at the call of country to defend the principles of free government by the consent of the government: to redress the wrongs of weak nations; to defend womanhood against violence; childhood against inhuman cruelty; a free people against slavery. Knighthood was never more distinctively displayed than by these young men who are now enduring the dangers, hardships and sufferings of grim war. So severe are the conditions of their service, so great is the physical strain, so bitter the anguish of some that they have gone forth to rescue the oppressed and the unfortunate; in place of indemnities, we seek to establish merely assurance of safety for common humanity; in place of military glory, we seek to establish the qualities of mercy; in place of inflicting suffering and slavery on a vanquished people, we are going forth to secure liberty and the freedom of the world. We are paying heartfelt tribute, humbly expressed, in the flags which will proudly wave its stars, each star vocal with praise and promise. It is our pledge to these boys who have gone forth to dare, that we will be true to them at home. We pledge to them a united nation, resolved to devote to the common cause every bit of wealth and energy, and wisdom and loving devotion, to the end that humanity may be free to pursue happiness and to enjoy liberty. And we pledge to our boys by this flag that we will keep the beneficence burning for them from which we hope and pray to receive them after the heat and turmoil of the bitter years.

"Our boys have gone forth into a noble cause, animated by motives that differ from those that have in other times urged men into wars. Instead of conquest and aggression, we seek justice for oppressed Belgium and Serbia and France; in place of military glory, we seek the grandeur of an abiding peace; in place of indemnities, we seek to establish merely assurance of safety for common humanity; in place of the cruelties of war, we seek to establish the qualities of mercy; in place of inflicting suffering and slavery on a vanquished people, we are going forth to secure liberty and the freedom of the world. We promise it as when the earliest hope as when the earliest faith was born in nations and later the tyrant aimed his blow; At last the word is spoken:

"Go, Western Warriors! Take the place

The tyrant aimed his blow;
And ye were wounded with the rest
In Belgium's overthrow.

"Time was the world a vision sore
A faith was born in nations far away
From whom our life and mind we drew.
A hope as when the earliest ray
Of peeping dawn predicts the day.

With Dean Horner's "go" the 10 men started in the initial spurt with Townsend '18 leading off at a pace which broke all records for the first quarter. As the runners rounded the upper end of the lake, Townsend still had a good lead over Sutherland '19, who was gaining fast, Barry '21 and Fitzgerald '20 coming next, but several yards ahead of the band. Sutherland, keeping a constant pace, gained steadily on Townsend and at the bridge they were running even. On the level stretch between the bridge and the boathouse, Sutherland led away from Townsend, who was showing results of his fast start. Their positions had not changed as they reached the half-mile mark, but Barry and Fitzgerald were in hot pursuit of Townsend. Merchant had weakened and fallen in the rear. Mason and Nicholson were grizzily fighting for fifth place.

When the boathouse was reached the order was Sutherland, Townsend, Barry, Fitzgerald, Mason, Nicholson, with Castilleno bringing up the rear. With a final spurt up the hill, Sutherland maintained his substantial lead. Townsend, fast dropping behind, was passed by Barry and Fitzgerald. Sutherland crossed the finish line in 2 minutes 15 1/5 seconds. Barry crossed three yards behind, in a close second. Fitzgerald was third. Every man who started finished, the others coming in in the following order: Mason '19, Townsend '18, Nicholson '21, Merchant '19, Lodolby '19, Neary '19 and Castilleno '21.

The extreme coldness slowed the race. Sutherland fell behind his record breaking run of last year by 8 seconds, while Townsend last year rounded the course in 5 minutes 25 seconds. Barry crossed three yards behind, in a close second. Fitzgerald was third. Every man who started finished, the others coming in in the following order: Mason '19, Townsend '18, Nicholson '21, Merchant '19, Lodolby '19, Neary '19 and Castilleno '21.

Because of the Thanksgiving recess the "News" will not be

DR. BRUBACHER SENDS GREETINGS

My dear Mr. Heason:
I gladly give through you a Thanksgiving message to the students of the college.
Our first thought is the mention of Thanksgiving Day for 1917 is that we have more cause to pray for help than to offer up prayers of gratitude for blessings now enjoyed. This is a superfluous thought. We have cause for gratitude even in this year of trial and sacrifice. The day appointed for national thanksgiving should be the occasion for an inventory of the good things that have come to our land and people. We have discovered that bonds of national unity are even now strong among our polyglot citizens, and we may be deeply grateful that our dedication to national service will strengthen this bond; we have had widespread joy in making material sacrifices for our common country. We have quickened our moral sense and stimulated our social con­ sciences in thinking and planning the social purity of our troops in arms. We have been able to relieve Belgium, Serbia, Armenia and France out of our abundant harvests; we have acquired a keener sense of duty to country, duty the cause of right, duty to the interests of humanity. These and other experiences of the year are a rich blessing to the American people for which we are appropriately grateful.
Every student of State College has cause for gratitude that his life work is to begin at this momentous time, a period with wonderful possibilities for the advancement of democracy and human welfare. The world is waiting for the highest service of which you, as educated men and women, are capable.
Thanksgiving Day of 1917 is a fitting time to be grateful for the rich experiences of the year, and to dedicate ourselves to the great opportunities that are calling us to duty.
I am yours in deep gratitude.
(Signed) A. R. BRUBACHER.

OUR LOSS

It was with regret that the "News" Board accepts the resignation of its editor, Lillian Magilton. We regret that after struggling through the difficulties of organization days, she is unable now to enjoy the freedom from worry of this year — to taste the joys of achievement and success of one on the front line.
Miss Magilton was chosen as one of the committee because of her well-known ability and enthusiasm. Her name will always be thought of together with Delidick's as that of one who made the "News" possible. In the trying first months, she was ready to give her usual wholehearted service. Her position on the first board was that of business manager. In spite of all the difficulties, her accounts were made out weekly and her report at the end of the year balanced to a penny.
The "News" has already felt the loss of Miss Magilton — it will feel it more as the weeks pass. We are sorry that the burdens of her senior year have taken her from us. Indeed fortunately, those organizations which still enjoy her activity — let them remember that what they have gained, we have lost.

A MISTAKE

To the Editor:
I notice that in the recent elections for cheer leader that a sophomore was elected over a senior. In most colleges while the merits of undergraduate women are usually accorded positions.
I have the highest regard for the new cheer leader and his ability, but I felt that this college should not depart from the tradition to radically. A sophomore should not have the chance to be given office, while a senior has but a few months in which we can repay him for his contribution to college life.
I therefore suggest that this matter be considered in the future at all similar elections.

ALLSTATE TEACHERS ASSOCIATION IN SESSION

The 72d annual convention of the New York State Teachers' Association opened its meeting in Syracuse, November 24-26. It will be three general sessions besides the meetings of various educational auditories. This association is of particular interest to State College students because of its relation to the problems of teachers and because of the part Dr. Brubacher has had in determining its recent policy. Until 1917 the meetings were intended primarily to bring educators together for discussion of educational matters and to retain acquaintance. In this year Dr. Brubacher, then superintendent of schools in Sacramento, was elected president. He set out to make the association an active factor in the betterment of teaching and the teachers' condition in this State. For this purpose the entire organization was changed. Local county associations were formed, and there were delegates to the central convention while the central convention, through its executive and legislative committees, worked for such progressive measures as "Teachers' Pension Bills," "A Code of Ethics," "Improve Sanitary Conditions," etc.

As a result of his active policy of reform Dr. Brubacher was prevailed upon to accept the presidency a second time that his work might not be interrupted. The result is seen in the Teachers' Pension Law and the present system of working of the association.

This year State College sends the following faculty members to be in attendance and share in the program:

President Brubacher will attend a meeting of the Executive Committee Monday afternoon at the Hotel Ondine. On Tuesday afternoon he will attend the meeting of the Legislative Committee.

Professor R. H. Kirtland will speak on "Practical Methods of Conducting High School Dramatics," Tuesday morning.

Professor G. M. York will speak on "The Cradle of Commercial Teachers" on Tuesday morning.

Miss Charlotte Leeb will discuss "Modern Language Work in Junior High Schools," Wednesday morning.

Professor Hale is president of the State Science Teachers' Association, and will preside at the meeting Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. He will give the president's address.

APPEAL TO STUDENTS AS CANDY-EATERS AND CANDY-MAKERS

The approach of the holiday season generally means a greater demand for candies of all kinds and therefore an increased supply of them. Owing to the scarcity of granulated sugar in the necessity for conserving it as much as possible to prevent a sugar famine in the country, conservators are asking us all to urge the cooperation of everyone in carrying out the following suggestions.

The reason that this is being asked is this: Before the war, France, Italy and Belgium produced as much sugar as they used, while England drew most of her supply from what are now enemy countries. Now France and Italy are producing (and even more than they need, while England is cut off from the source of seventy percent of her usual imports. These three allied countries must now draw two million pounds more of sugar than they did before the war from the same sources from which we draw our supply. We must divide with them. They can do it by economizing. The usual American consumption per person is just doubled that of France.

With these facts in mind, it behooves us all to meet our accustomed supply. Let us first, create a demand for and purchase only candies made without the use of granulated sugar. Let us in making candies ourselves, use brown sugar, molasses, maple syrup, corn syrup, honey, etc., as substitutes for white sugar. Let us cooperate with manufacturers to make this movement a success.

This appeal may be personally applied in a variety of ways. Cannot popcorn, nuts and fruits be used in partial substitution for candies? Cannot cakes be frosted in moderate proportions—or, better still, not at all? Cannot honey, maple syrup and dark syrups for hot cakes and puddings be used without bitter sugar? Cannot YOU use less sugar in the tea and coffee? Think it over.

It is not necessary to go without candies. It is necessary to do some straight thinking before satisfying the demands of one's sweet tooth. We have a privilege rather than a privilege that you, as a patriotic student of the times, may supply your wants and those of your friends without retarding the efforts of your country to feed itself and its Allies.

Besides—here's a chance for you to be original. Send War Candy to your friends with a sanitary note, instead of the customary granulated sugar products. Try making honey and nut bars with one cup nuts or coconut, two cups raising, one-fourth cup honey; grin and raisins in a food chopper, mix with honey, pack under a weight for a day, then cut into bars. Or make one of the many Karo candies, such as this one: One cup brown sugar, one cup Karo corn syrup, two table­spoons melted butter, one spoon lemon juice, cook all together without stirring till brittle when tested in cold water; pour into buttered pans till cool enough to pull.

With these suggestions, face your conscience. The result remains with you.

FORMER S. T. C. MAN RAPS "CROOKED THINKING"

Ex-Senator Ralph W. Thomas Gives Stirring Patriotic Address

One of the finest addresses ever listened to by State College students was given last Friday afternoon in state assembly by the Hon. Ralph W. Thomas, of Illinois. In introducing the speaker, President Brubacher said that he is an ex-senator, ex-college professor and is at present a member of the New York State Tax Commission.

In his opening remarks Mr. Thomas said that he felt at home in State College, having been a student there when it was the old Normal on Willert street. He paid a glowing tribute to the former president, William J. Milne, in the following paragraph: "Given a room and two chairs, a student in one and William J. Milne in the other, and you have a college for teachers."

The speaker pointed out an Athenian traditional oath which he said was taken by him in the "Century Magazine" for October. "What has this leathernsome war to do with us? What is this wickedness to you and me?" speaks the thoughts of every pacifist. While such a sentiment is worth while, it is too common. While such a sentiment is worth while, it is too common. Recently Italy lost in three days to France thirty-two million pounds of sugar. This is but a small portion of the two years to keep, all because of weak, crooked thinking. It is true that such thinking is not prevalent to an alarming degree, but it is too common. While such a condition exists, every American teacher has a mission. We are glad that the classic patriotism is dominant. Let us help to keep it dominant! It is our duty to overcome the poisonous argument, a political weapon which is felt by every American soldier. It is only a little which we can do, but something for those who have gone to give their lives, perhaps, for God and truth. In closing a address to the students present Dr. Milne said: "Teachers, go forth and try to overcome the tendency for crooked thinking, and to lead to straight thinking. It is our duty to strive to do his hit to turn our future Americans who will think correctly. Let us take this oath, "God helping us, we will not leave our country less, but more and better than we found it."
Tune: Our Director
Our team is on the floor, boys
To fight and win,
Manhattan must yield, boys
Cheer, cheer once again.
Rah! Rah! Rah!
Pointing out what we'll take the lead, boys
Struggle as they may.
Victory is ours, boys
State College today.

Tune: Orange and Black
Altho' Union's always favored,
The Garnet and the White;
And the students of the R. P. I.
For the Cheery and White will fight.
We will cheer athletic victories
Of our boys so brave and bold;
While State College stands defender
Of the Purple and the Gold.

Tune: Good Night, Ladies
Good bye, (Manhattan).
Good bye, (Manhattan).
Good bye, (Manhattan).
We're going to beat you now.

Chorus
Lastly we will cheer the team,
Cheer the team, cheer the team.
Lastly we will cheer the team,
Of old State College.

Tune: By the Light of the Moon
There's no college quite so great,
As our beloved State.
By the light of the moon,
By the light of the moon.
If you don't think as we say,
Then just watch our heroes play.
By the light of the moon.

Here They Are

the moon.
If you want to go to college,
Just come along to State.
By the light of the moon.

S. C. T. Honors Its Recruits

Joseph Walker '18 acted as student representative and said in part:
"It is entirely fitting and proper that this great hour should call forth from our student body an expression of appreciation, devotion and loyalty to our brothers, whose names have been here honored this morning. The task, however, of expressing what we all feel—what I know we all feel—is not an easy one.
We know that these men have stepped from our very sides into the whirling maelstrom of carnage and death, that has been gradually drawing to itself more than half of the peoples of the earth. Out of an atmosphere of culture, refinement and intellectuality, they have gone to the face of civilization.

"We are devoted to them because they represent our answer, the answer of this institution, to the challenge of frightfulness, that has been thrown into the face of civilization.
We are devoted to them because they represent real Americanism, the old love of justice, the traditional sympathy of America for the oppressed. We are devoted to them because they did not fail to recognize their responsibility and duty, as American citizens, to take a part in this 'foolish war.' They did not stand back and ask: What has it to all of us?

"And finally, to those who have not sought or who have not been selected to fill a place in the nations service, bear in mind that there is small chance that ultimately the opportunity will not be given us. And while we wait for that opportunity, let us keep ever in mind the need of intense loyalty to the nation and to those who are maintaining our rights and integrity. Great as are the sorrows that this war must necessarily bring, we must never allow ourselves to question our right to be free.

"O Almighty God, Who art a high resolve which we and they may make us mindful of the duty inspire us and lead us to endure all hardships and perils in the holy cause which we and they have gone to fight for.

"May their example of devotion be an inspiration to us all, and may all the blessings of Liberty, Justice and Honor come to your little star,
How I wonder what you are.
By the light of the moon, by the light of the moon.

Chorus
We'll cheer for our team, we'll cheer for
our team,
We'll cheer, cheer, cheer, cheer, cheer, for
our team.

O! we've lots of college spirit,
And we'll show it here tonight,
As we cheer, cheer, cheer for our team.

Cheers

OFFICIAL NOTICES

Mr. T. Otto Fisk, an alumnus of the college, class of 1879, has contributed the sum of twenty-five dollars to the Elizabeth McClelland Student Loan Fund.

Sophomores are reminded that they should consult the official bulletin board for notice as to the times when they are expected to report to Dr. Hathaway for physical examination.

Dr. Hathaway's office hours for consultation with students are from 8 to 9.20 a.m. and from 4 to 6 p.m.

A "Community Sing" is being conducted in Chancellor's Hall in the State Education Building on Monday evenings at 8 o'clock. Members of the faculty and students who are interested are invited.

On account of the new train schedules which went into effect on November 24, it is suggested that students who go home for Thanksgiving take note of a possible change in time-tables.

On Saturday evening, December 19, the first "Get together" of the men of the faculty and the student body will be held in the gymnasium. The prices given by Dean Horner and Mr. Maroney for the winners of the cross-country run will be awarded. A program of surprises is being arranged. All men of the faculty and student body are urged to keep this date open.

S. C. T. MAN HEADS EFFICIENCY DEPARTMENT

Mr. Wm. A. Mackey, Supervisor of the Department of Economy and Efficiency of the Buffalo Schools, spent Monday in reviewing appearances in and about S. C. T. Mr. Mackey was a member of the Class of '90. After graduation he served for several years as principal of one of the Buffalo Public Schools, later being promoted to his present position. Superintendent Mackey expressed great pleasure at the way State College is coming to the front in all lines.

COLLEGE CLUB
The room was taxed to its capacity to hear Judge Brady Friday afternoon, who spoke of the work of the Juvenile court with which he is connected.
He said that the court system of our country has undergone radical changes in late years and gradually the authorities have begun to realize the importance of treating the child not as an adult hardened criminal but as a child who is not really responsible for its behavior. It is not right to place a child in prison to be with the men and women old in crime. He said,
"If I were asked the quickest way to send a child to Hell, I'd say put him in jail. What he does not know of crime
when he goes in, he will learn before he comes out."

Now, the court tries to be tender with these unfortunates and help them to become the right sort of men and women.
The court asks the aid of the child's church and school authorities. Some of these children live in homes that are decent and some homes are broken up by the authorities.
He told the story of "Jimmy,
The Rat," who came from one of these miserable homes, and skipped school because the boys called him "The Rat."
If the home is at least half a home the child should be allowed to stay there, if possible, to be taught by the parents.
The teacher has a great influence on the child's life and the parents can tell the character of the teacher by the table talk of the children at home.

Then he told several stories of cases he had met in court and said that although there is a great deal of sorrow in this world, yet even in the courtroom there are many glimpses of sunshine and fun.

DRAMATICS
Rehearsals for the production to be staged by the Dramatists are in progress. The cast is being selected and we may expect a first class production under the direction of Miss Patterer.
