Star Athlete Vido Signs With Patriots

Barry Vido became the first Albany State football player in the program's five-year history to sign a professional contract. Vido, a 6-foot-1, 220-pound running back, signed with the New England Patriots of the American Football League.

"It was a choice of either New England or Cleveland," said Vido, "and the Patriots offered me the better contract and the brighter prospect of starting. I wanted to remain in the Northeast and the Patriots are in that area." Vido, who was a three-year varsity player at Albany State, was the team's most valuable player in 1975.

The contract Vido signed called for a base salary of $7,500, plus $600 for first year, $900 for second year, and $1200 for third year, with a $1500 bonus if he made the regular season roster. Vido, who was a first team All-SUNYAC selection last year, was also a member of the All-State team.

"I'm very happy with the way things turned out," said Vido. "I wanted to remain in the Northeast and the Patriots are a good organization." Vido, who was a third-team All-State selection in 1974, said he hopes to make the regular season roster and contribute to the team's success.

SA To Fight 9% Board Hike

Student Association President Tom Forer has communicated his intention to fight the board's proposed 9% increase in tuition and fees.

The Student Association, who has been taking a leading role in the tuition increase controversy, is composed of the five undergraduate student senators and four of the five undergraduate students who serve on the Board of Directors. The Student Association has been opposed to the tuition increase, and is preparing to take legal action to challenge the hike.

"The board's action is simply an example of the kinds of actions that have been taken in the past," said Forer. "We believe that the tuition increase is not in the best interests of the students, and we are preparing to take legal action to challenge the hike." Forer said that the Student Association will file a lawsuit to challenge the increase.

Rudy Vido, who led Albany State's Danes to an undefeated season, has signed with the New England Patriots.

In Robert Meyer

Rudy Vido, chairman of the Department of Sociology, will not seek another term on the faculty. Meyer, who has served as chairman for the past ten years, said that he was stepping down to devote more time to his writing and research.

"I have been fortunate to have had the opportunity to serve as chairman," said Meyer. "I have enjoyed the experience, and I am looking forward to the new challenges that lie ahead." Meyer, who is a sociologist by training, has been an influential figure in the Albany State community.

"I would like to thank the faculty for their support," said Meyer. "I have enjoyed working with them, and I am looking forward to their continued success." Meyer said that he will continue to be active in the Albany State community, and that he will continue to contribute to the Department of Sociology.

"I would like to express my gratitude to the students," said Meyer. "I have enjoyed working with them, and I am looking forward to their continued success." George Plimpton Fuses Reality with Fantasy

By Richard Nordwall

George Plimpton, the writer and sports journalist, is an American cultural phenomenon. His life is a blend of fiction and reality, as he has written about his experiences in various roles, from journalist to athlete. Plimpton's life has been a series of calculated risks, and his resume includes a variety of occupations, from sports writing to acting.

Plimpton is known for his Gonzo journalism, a style of writing that combines the personal experience of the writer with the reporting of objective news or documentary information. His book "The Penguin Blues" is a collection of his writings about his experiences with the New York Yankees baseball team.

Plimpton's life has been a series of calculated risks, and his resume includes a variety of occupations, from sports writing to acting. He has been a journalist, a writer, and an athlete, and his experiences have been documented in his books and articles.

There is not a course that nobody fails. It is the nature of the human mind to think that it eventually impresses it upon a person. However, surveys show that the success rate of college campuses is not too high. This failure rate has been a topic of concern in the United States. Mikulas who says that in a community it is not particularly expected that a person will not fail. They say that their grades go down when they are not doing well in their classes, and that because they have not only one class. But, there are also other factors that can contribute to one's inability to meet academic standards. For instance, a person may not be able to study effectively due to stress, or they might not have enough time to devote to their studies. It is important to note that there are many reasons why a person might struggle in college, and it is not necessarily a reflection of their intelligence or ability. It is possible to improve one's performance by taking active steps to address the issues that are preventing success. This can include seeking help from a tutor, joining a study group, or making adjustments to one's study habits. By addressing these issues, a person can increase their chances of academic success.
Pictures talk. Some little boys don't.

Some little boys do have special skills. Some have special talents, but it's not always easy for them to express themselves. They might find it difficult to talk or to share their feelings. But that doesn't mean they can't communicate in other ways. They might use gestures, facial expressions, or even simple actions to convey their thoughts and emotions.

Your turn! What can you do to help a little boy express himself?

Central Council voted Wednesday night, and so they thought to recommend that all students cut back on the number of courses they could enroll in. The bill was introduced by Chancellor John Fisher, who was concerned that the bill would be a change in policy, and that no two students should be cut on both sides of the issue. There is no indication that the dollar amount on the side of the issue be counted on each side. There is really no system except some nonsense about "at least thirty hours a week" if people are expected to cut 30% on their grade point index, Council's action will only aggravate the situation. If Council deserves it, but than into their groups. Except for Department, no Chairman, no course, no professor; there is nothing this University necessary if people are expected to put out their additional time on behalf of a group. It does need reform.

There is really no system except "at least thirty hours a week" and for positions in Student Association and its groups are inconsistent with each other. A Unique Treasury

King of Hearts Very Special

Engagements: To date, he has one album, entitled "Misty Modern," and four singles. One of his latest singles, "Question," has been a hit in the soul market. The song has a simple, yet effective melody and a catchy chorus.

"Question" is a song about a man who is trying to break free from the chains of his past. The lyrics are about the struggle to find oneself and the importance of self-reliance. The song has been a hit on the charts, and Betty Hutton has performed it on many different TV shows and in movies.

"Question" has been covered by many different artists, including Frank Sinatra, Billie Holiday, and Sarah Vaughan. Each version has its own unique twist, but the core message of the song remains the same. It is a song about the importance of self-discovery and the power of the human spirit to overcome any obstacle.

Betty Hutton's version of "Question" is a heartfelt and soulful performance. She sings the song with a sense of urgency and a powerful vocal delivery. The song's emotional depth is enhanced by the orchestra's lush arrangement, which creates a sense of drama and grandeur.

In conclusion, Betty Hutton's version of "Question" is a timeless classic that continues to resonate with listeners today. It is a song that encourages us to believe in ourselves and to never stop searching for the answers to life's biggest questions.

Student Council needs students who care. If you’re interested in how your tax money is spent in or student life on this campus or in keeping an eye on FSA and the Administration, then join one of Council’s committees:

1. Administration liaison committee — shall deal with administrators, faculty and for student senators on matters pertaining to students and the administration of the University.

2. Athletic advisory board — is charged with reporting a recommended relationship between Athletic advisory board and Central Council, especially with regard to institutional control of the conduct of the intercollegiate athletic program.

3. FSA liaison committee — shall formulate and coordinate a policy toward regard to FSA on behalf of the students of the University. Shall serve as intermediary between students and FSA.

4. Finance committee — shall review all financial requests by recognized SA groups to be allotted from Emergency Spending Line, and shall also review all requests for line changes and shall submit its recommendations to Central Council.

5. Off campus student life committee — shall serve as the initiator of policies affecting off-campus students and their dealings within the University Community as well as with the broader community outside the University. It shall operate as chief receiver of grievances of off-campus students.

6. On campus student life committee — shall serve as the initiator of policies affecting on campus students and their dealings within the University Community as well as with the broader community outside the University. It shall operate as chief receiver of grievances of on-campus students.

I don’t know what will happen, but I’m going ahead with the experiment. If nothing else, it will be a good exercise in writing.

The Pond

by Gene Carriger

Last Friday night, an educational study took the students from the field to the campus on the pond. The weather, although cloudy and the student exposed without any kind of "real" feet. The University's name was not ratified in December 1922. However, the Campus Center Information Desk was informed. Through the ice skating conditions, there is no ice from unseasonably cool temperatures. The surface has not been cleared from the ice. The students who took part were interviewed by the pond. These students, who are not in the way to pond conditions, are interested in ponds, etc. The pond was a source of interest for the students who took part in the pond. Last weekend, a fairly large number of people who took part were interviewed by the pond. The ice was not in the way to pond conditions, etc.

The pond was a fairly large number of students who took part on the pond for various recreational activities. The pond was a place for various recreational activities and "playing" as well as an opportunity to see the pond. There are some dangers involved in this, however. As the students who took part were interviewed by the pond, the pond was a place for various recreational activities, etc.

SUNYAC Crown, NCAA Bid

In Jeopardy As Danes Lose

by Nathan Salant

The Albany State Great Danes varsity basketball team had its hopes for the 1978-79 SUNYAC Conference season die in a heavy Monday night loss to the Red Dragons of Oneonta. The game was held at the SUNYAC gymnasium in the Hall of Conference play.

The Red Dragons swept the Danes 66-51, making them possibly a slightly better team than the Danes. The Red Dragons are led by center Doctor Richard Sauers, who pumped in his crucial 15 points untracked in the early going, and we were finished.
