Dr. Brubacher To Aid In Gary Investigation

State to Study New York City Schools

At the direction of Dr. John H. Finley, State Commissioner of Education, Dr. Thomas E. Fingas, Assistant Commissioner of Education, is conducting an investigation of the Gary system of education in New York City, with a view of comparing the system with other types now in vogue. The probe will extend to the educational, administrative and financial phases of the system of which there is wide discussion in the recent mayoral campaign in New York. The Gary system includes the formal methods of training followed by other schools of the State, and also combines industrial features. In charge of this investigation, which will require months, Dr. Fingas will be aided by Dr. H. S. West, superintendent of schools of Rochester; Dr. A. R. Brubacher, President of the State University of Iowa; and Dr. F. P. Bampton, superintendent of schools of Illinois.

Miss Futterer Gives Artistic Interpretation

Oscar Wilde's play of society life was produced at the College Auditorium before a large and appreciative audience.

The play, which satirizes society at the Hall, was due to the artistic effort and care put into production in the course of it of which there was wide discussion in the recent mayoral campaign in New York City, by comparing the system with other types now in vogue. EDITORIALS
We really zone that spring is coming; Baram's and Bailey's advances are in town.

Three of a kind will beat two pairs in poker, but not in basketball when the Beaver and the Sile, Dick and Carl. A home game with the Massachusetts Aggies will close a season during which our team has been beaten, but never defeated.

We wonder if the 10-minute lunch period, filled with class and committee meetings, was invented by Hoover. How many Wae Saving Stamps do you have?

CONTINUE EFFICIENCY
The "News" desires to congratulate Prometheus and its president, Margaret Sheehan, upon the efficient work which they have done during the past semester. The meetings have been dignified and every member has carried out its educational and literary aim. The programs rendered have enabled students to enjoy excellent music and literature without money and without prices, and have so filled a pressing need to the many students who have sacrificed music and theatre to war-waging.

Since the constitution of Prometheus determines that its officers shall be changed every semester, it is the duty of each member to be present Thursday night to see that others will continue the present efficient policy.

HAVE WE FAILED?
Some three weeks ago a Smiling Campaign was inaugurated at State College, as a result of which seventeen dollars has been received. Since the organization is practically eight hundred students, it is felt that we have given on the average a little better than two cents per capita. May it not be worth our while to try to ascertain why we have so miserably fallen down in this matter? Since entering college last fall there have been many opportunities to do some saving money. We have given to the Student Aid Campaign, to the tobacco funds, to the Red Cross, for music and dope bonds and thrift stamps. We have denied ourselves (which is well) and continually solicited funds from our parents, without whom we have lost these charities to meet at home. At the same time we have heard of millions of dollars being spent for bonds, and our army officers tell us that men are leaving for the trenches that they are actually injuring themselves. In the armories and other places of the Federal Government, we see numbers of soldiers spending more money than ever before. We learn of men coming before entering the army and giving $50 per month, receiving from $300 to $400 per month, to save money to $1,000 per year, and of the government contractors making by-products of the war which are not in respect for and honor for our soldiers, but when we realize that the war, from present appearance, may continue for seven years yet, may it not be well to conserve some of our energies for two or three years from now? Have we fallen down or are we acting in the light of reason?

ARE WE EQUAL TO IT?
Last Wednesday a goodly number of S. C. T. students showed their professional instincts by attending the meeting on the Township School Hill. They were afforded a splendid opportunity to catch a glimpse of an attitude which they will need, but in later years, not alone in rural schools, but in other fields as well, and incidentally some divorce of Professor Kirkland's fallacies.

We wonder how many of these future teachers asked themselves if they will or could have a part in overcoming rural prejudice and bettering rural conditions. There is no doubt that added expense is the farmers' main objection to the present school law. When we take into consideration, however, that in the majority of those S. C. T. students mentioned above, will make a high school teacher, usually between 18 and 20, and with an education not much in excess of the first two years of high school, and a year in training classes, and with a "heart interest," it is necessary to buy some clothes to some extent when they are ready. If, on the contrary, the society and through which you may find yourself, why not make use of the opportunities offered here in college?

Why do we deprive yourself the opportunity for broadening your interest in the political organization in college? It interests itself in all activities of man, the use of the lectures which are to be given under its auspices by the faculty. You do yourself and your college an injustice when you absent yourself from such meetings. Show your professors that their labors are our advantage and made effective.

THE PEDAGOGUE
Juniors, Sophomores, Freshmen, have you subscribed yet? It's your book, as well as the Seniors'. It's a true American publication, that, State College, and your support is just as much needed as theirs.

But not only do we want your subscriptions, but your contributions. Has something happened to make our "psycho" class the finest class in the literature? Do you know of a joke that your class president, your favorite professor, your bitterest enemy, or your closest friend? Write it in, and hand it in. Let others enjoy it as much as you have. And then there are snapshots. What about those pictures you took last Monday? Up Day? Commencement? And are you sure that the campus and folks familiar you snapped" in the fall, or during the winter? Do the "Penguin" ever bring us prints of your best ones, and help to make our "album" interesting and timely?

All next week some member of the faculty will be at the table in the Hall to receive your dollars, your jokes, and your pictures. And we know you'll all do your part toward making the 1918 Pedagog a worthy State College publication.

Juniors Beat Seniors
League Leaders Play Great Game

Monday, the twenty-fifth, the Juniors had an easy time winning from the Seniors. The big score was the result of Mason's excellent shooting. However, combined with the team's superior floor work.

The first half opened with Mason scoring a field basket on the first trip. Then, Sennholt, a Senior guard, came to the front by scoring from the foul line. In less than two minutes later, Sennholt again scored from the foul line, making the score two all. This was as near as the Seniors came to winning the game.

The second half opened with the Seniors fighting desperately to cut down the lead. Townend and Sennholt each succeeded in making a field basket before five minutes had passed. The Seniors began to weaken, and the Juniors gradually rolled up a big score. Dewey Townsend scored another field basket just before he was put out of the game for committing four personal fouls. With but three minutes to play, the Juniors had a twenty-two point lead.

Juniors had an easy time winning in favor of the Juniors, and when the whistle sounded for halftime the score was 25-10, in favor of the Juniors.
