A contest is currently running—shall the final word go for the year "Interest"? Both words have appeared regularly in news articles, columns, and editorials. The word "interest" has been used to describe the reader's attention to the news, while "interest" has been used to describe the subject matter of the news. The contest is designed to encourage the development of interest in news articles, columns, and editorials.

Last Saturday held many surprises and a laugh among them was the result of the long-suffering All-College AD Committee. The Dream Is Always Greener, directed by Mary Ann Johnson and Evelyn Gelb, proved to be a delightful hour and a half of funny entertainment despite the difficulties which arose in rehearsals.

The show opened with a disjointed scene setting stage properties. Its purpose, a good one, failed through a plot hole, and post handling of the dialogue. The second scene was bright and funny and gained a favorable impression for the show which continued through to the end. Off Shows, Al Tovarich, and Made Dye were the funniest Westermons seen in a long time. The personal performances of Al Tovarich and the made dye scene in Garfield Tower is one of the few that will be remembered for a very long time.

The costumes were all that could be desired for an Arabian night. The remainder of the show was tops, with special attention given to the dance performed so gracefully by Art Santos and Angela Ravenwood, the hilarious appearances of Arthur Tovarich and J. Whitehouse, and the humorous rendition of "Two O'Clock Jump" and J. Arthur's Rank Production. Art Lening once again turned out an excellent movie, satire on State College life, which had some very effective camerawork. John Carlin's play. These things have turned our life at State and they should be remembered. Thanks must go to Linda for their fine production, as well as to Dr. Fishel for Troope Hall and all of the help, work, friendly assistance and the all Out AD presentation, which is bound to be a success, Tovarich.
