Albany Edges Potsdam For Conference Title

Gatto's Free Throws With 0:04 Left Give Danes 60-59 Overtime Victory

By Bob Balluf

*Potsdam — Despite a double-header Manly Hall sweep of the Danes last week, the Danes were able to come back and defeat Potsdam in overtime Saturday morning. SUNYAC Tournament champions gaze Saturday night.

The game, the Danes dominated in the first quarter (11-21), and went on to a 13-15 margin in the second quarter. The Danes' junior point guard, Jerry Welsh, who was held to six points in the first half, scored 12 points in the second half, and the Danes defeated Potsdam, 60-59, in overtime.

In the first half, the Danes dominated in the first quarter, but still fell behind, 35-31. In the second half, the Danes outscored the Potsdam in the first half, 35-31, and went on to a 60-59 victory.

Gatto was the hero of the game, hitting both free throws with 0:04 left to give the Danes the 60-59 victory. He finished the game with 22 points, but he also committed seven turnovers and was frustrated by the Danes defense.

The Danes kept Potsdam's four-year career, frustrating game of the year. Meanwhile, Albany was patient, keeping control, especially on defense, and machine in working order before overtime.

Students Prepare March on Capitol

By Judi Eichinger

*SUNY and CNYC students are preparing for a major demonstration in Albany on April 15, 1981, to protest Governor Hugh L. Carey's amended state tuition and dorm rates. The students will attend the rally, which Fine feels will be "the largest in two years."

The rally is being organized by the SUNY Student Government Association (SUGA), which represents all 15 SUNY campuses. The rally will be held in Albany's University Plaza at 4 p.m., and is expected to attract thousands of students from throughout the state.

The rally will include speeches by SUNY Chancellor James J. O'Shea, SUNY Student Government Association President Steven Gold, and other SUNY officials. The rally will also feature a variety of musical performances and other entertainment.

The students hope to raise awareness about the issue of state funding for SUNY and to demand that the state increase its funding for the university. The students also hope to pressure the state legislature to reduce tuition and dorm rates for SUNY students.

Senator Launches An Attack Against Marijuana

By John M. Padavan

*Sen. John M. Padavan (R-Queens) has launched an attack against marijuana. The amendment proposed by Padavan was approved last Wednesday by the state Senate and is expected to be passed by the state Assembly.

Padavan's amendment would increase the penalties for marijuana possession and sale, and would make the possession of marijuana a criminal offense. The amendment would also require the state to provide education about the dangers of marijuana to students and the public.

Padavan's amendment is being supported by many other state legislators, and is expected to be passed by the state Assembly. The amendment would increase the penalties for marijuana possession and sale, and would make the possession of marijuana a criminal offense. The amendment would also require the state to provide education about the dangers of marijuana to students and the public.

Student Seats on Senate Decreased

By Bob Zahn

*The New York State Senate has decided to reduce the number of student seats on the Senate by 11 percent. The decision was made after the Senate's Committee on Education voted to cut the number of student seats by 11 percent.

The reduction in the number of student seats is expected to save the state of New York $920,000 per year. The reduction will be made by the state Senate, and is expected to take effect in July.

U.S. Will Consider Force
WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) The question of sending U.S. forces to support the rebels in El Salvador, as part of the administration's more aggressive approach to the conflict in Central America, was being debated in the Senate Budget Committee on Wednesday.

The United Mine Workers, Interstate, and Foreign Labor Unions, and the AFL-CIO, are among those who have joined in the debate. They have expressed concern about the potential for U.S. forces to be used as a means of destabilizing the region and increasing the risk of a wider conflict.

Senators are divided on the issue, with some calling for a strong stance against the Sandinista regime in Nicaragua and others expressing reservations about the potential costs and consequences of U.S. military involvement.

Let's consider the potential outcomes of the debate:

1. The administration's plan to send forces could be approved, leading to increased tensions and possibly a broader regional conflict.
2. The Senate could adopt a more moderate stance, calling for increased diplomatic efforts and economic sanctions instead of military intervention.
3. The debate could continue without a clear decision, with the issue remaining unresolved.

In any case, the implications for the region and the international community are significant, and the outcome of the debate is likely to have long-lasting effects on the political landscape of Central America and beyond.

UNFAIR PRACTICES REPORTED
WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) The Senate Budget Committee has decided to investigate claims of unfair labor practices by Union in Action (UIA), a new union formed by the National Education Association (NEA) to challenge the U.S. Department of Education and the National Education Association (NEA).

UIA has accused the NEA of unfairly pressuring members to support the NEA's policies and of using its resources to undermine UIA's efforts to organize and represent its members.

The Senate Budget Committee has launched an investigation into these allegations, which could have significant implications for the future of the NEA and the labor movement as a whole.

FEDERAL PROBE ALLOWED
NEW YORK, N.Y. (AP) The New York City Police Department has decided to pursue a federal probe of the Police Department's use of surveillance and infiltration tactics to gather information on activist groups.

The probe, which was launched in response to complaints from activists, will focus on the department's use of undercover agents and informants to gather information on a number of activist groups, including those involved in the anti-war and anti-globalization movements.

The decision to launch the probe is seen as a significant step forward in efforts to hold the police department accountable for its actions.

MUCH more could be said about this issue, but I will stop here to save space. If you would like more information, please contact me at 123-456-7890.

Police Investigate Child Murder

In an attempt to find the murderer of a six-year-old girl, the Albany police department is investigating a series of murder attempts on young children.

According to police, the girl was walking home from school with her mother when she was approached by a man who attempted to kidnap her. The incident occurred near the school on March 18th.

The girl managed to escape and the police were able to recover the incident on tape. The suspect was later identified as a man who had been living in the area.

The police are currently searching for the suspect and have asked for the public's help in identifying him.

The situation at SUNY is that SUNY must take its share and these costs onto its students. SUNY is a priority and its students have the right to speak. Giving additional funds to the school system is to provide low-cost education to New York state residents. The idea being to provide more additional funds to SUNY, the university system bears an unfair cost. SUNY will be paying the rent for the dorms and all the other costs.

Balancing Act

To the Editor:

I am sure you have read of the recent events occurring at the Political Science Department. The department has been condemned as a "Kangaroo Court." This is a misrepresentation of the Political Science Department. The department is a place where ideas are exchanged and tested. It is a place where students can learn about the democratic process and the importance of a fair and unbiased hearing. The board handles every case with the utmost care. The board takes the time to ensure that the defendant is provided with due process. The board is composed of students who are elected by the student body. The board is an impartial body that ensures that the rights of all students are protected.

Has The Academic World Ignored Women?

The Invisible Sex

Jane Dirks-Cimino

The purpose of this article is to make you angry. While the academic world may be justly proud of its scientific advancements, it is currently in the process of ignoring an entire group of women: the invisible sex. This sex has no history, no tradition, no concept of art, no religious rituals, no written work, no written collections, no drawing, no history, no concept of the arts, and no one seems to care about its existence. Why should anyone care about the invisible sex? It is not as if there is no other sex, a sex that is frequently overlooked. Women have always been ignored by society, but the invisible sex is different. It is a sex that exists only in the academic world, where women are considered second-class citizens.

When we take a science class, either in a typical science class or as part of a scientific tradition, we should be aware of the issue of bias. The bias in science classes is not as obvious as it is in other areas of study, but it is there. The bias is not as obvious because it is not as easy to see. The bias is not as obvious because it is not as easy to define. The bias is not as obvious because it is not as easy to measure. The bias is not as obvious because it is not as easy to correct.

It's a Boy
Manly No, But We Like U2

In the world of rock and roll, U2 is a band that has come to embody the phrase "nothing is as it seems." Their music, spanning from the punk-infused '80s to the more introspective '90s, has earned them a reputation for being one of the most influential acts in the history of rock music. U2 is a four-member band led by guitarist and singer Bono, who is known for his powerful stage presence and his ability to connect with audiences on a personal level.

The Todd Hobin Band is led by Todd Caligiure, who is known for his soulful voice and his ability to move crowds with his dynamic performances. In September Klein and Marie Garfaroni, the two members of the band, will be promoting their new album, "Why Is This Man Smiling?"

Exploding Ego
The Teardrop Can't Cope

There was a time when the Teardrop Explodes were a band that could command a huge following with their high-energy performances and their ability to connect with audiences. However, in recent years, they have struggled to maintain that same level of popularity. Despite their best efforts, they have not been able to match the success of their early days.

However, the Teardrop Explodes are not the only band that has faced challenges in recent years. The Teardrop Explodes have been joined by other bands that are trying to make their mark in the music industry, including Exploding Ego and the Teardrop Explodes. These bands are all trying to find their own unique sound and to connect with audiences on a personal level.

Back Roads Takes A Familiar Route

The Back Roads have been a band that has been around for a while, and they have been able to maintain a loyal following with their high-energy performances and their ability to connect with audiences. Despite the challenges they have faced in recent years, they remain a band that is beloved by many fans.

However, the Back Roads are not the only band that is trying to make their mark in the music industry. There are many other bands that are trying to find their own unique sound and to connect with audiences on a personal level. The Back Roads are not afraid to take risks and to push the boundaries of their own music, which has helped them to remain a band that is beloved by many fans.

Final Four Familiar Road For Bears

If President Bush could have one more victory, it would be in his forthcoming campaign for re-election. The Bears went 24-6 last season, but have been ranked not as upstarts, but as an experienced, veteran team. They have a 6-7 center, and they're good at home. The entire spring season will be a challenge for them, but it's also a good time to begin preparing for the future.
