STATE AND RUSSELL SAGE NOT TO PLAY

Cancels Basketball Games To Follow National Athletic Body's Platform

RELATIONSHIP FRIENDLY
Both Institutions Disapprove Of Inter-Collegiate Contest For Women

No more women's basketball games will be played between Russell Sage and State College. Both colleges have for some time disapproved of intercollegiate games in women's sports, according to reports of the executive committee of the National Athletic conference held on the platform of the Athletic Conference two weeks ago.

A letter received by the State College Athletic Association from the Russell Sage organization states:

"Dear President:

Since the Athletic Conference of American Colleges women's basketball is considered an intercollegiate sport and is a member of the association his disapproval is extended to all games of this character."

Mr. A. R. Brubacher has gone to Los Angeles, California, to start Russell Sage basketball and says that this has been officially opened. This is not Saratoga Springs.

State President's Address Made by Brubacher

President Brubacher addressed a meeting of the New York State normal schools and announced the following:

MIXED CHORUS TO SING AT ASSEMBLY Jan. 21

There will be two assemblies today. A choir of mixed voices will make its first appearance this year in assembly on Friday. The men's choir of about twenty voices has been rehearsing separately and will sing with the women's choir of the same number. No activities be- other than those scheduled for the Assembly Jan. 21.

"Teach Children To Think," Urges Stoddard; "Father Must Be A Guide, Not A Servant"

Modern American education must satisfy a three-fold requirement of training children in the use of their minds, in the ability to see two sides to a question and in an appreciation of their social heritage, A. J. Stoddard, superintendent of Schenectady schools, said today. The question of "Do you think that in the present social and educational movement we can afford to neglect the rich resources of the mind?" was answered by Mr. Stoddard.

In his talk on this subject, the superintendent of the Schenectady schools placed the problem of education in the context of a challenge to the nation to "teach children to think, to see both sides of a question and to understand the value of our rich heritage of culture and tradition."

Teacher Must Be A Guide, Not A Servant

"Nothing To Say," Says Fallon

"I have nothing to say on the subject of 'Do you think that in the present social and educational movement we can afford to neglect the rich resources of the mind?'" Mr. Fallon said yesterday.

"I have no doubt that in the present social and educational movement we can afford to neglect the rich resources of the mind," Mr. Fallon continued. "I am sure that we can afford to neglect the rich resources of the mind, and I am also sure that we are going to neglect them."
The lecture will be a description of the development of the actual reproductive structures of one of the common, body water plants, Spirogyra longata, and the process of union of the sex cells and the subsequent condensation to form the fertilized egg. The account will be based on the researches which have recently been carried on by Professor Lord. The illustrations have all been made from living material by the speaker personally, and include, in addition to lantern slides, a motion picture in which the process of union of the sex cells can be followed to end.
