PROF. WOODARD ADDRESSES COLLEGE CLUB.

Topic is "Flowers."

The regular meeting of College Club was held last Friday afternoon at 3:45. The speaker was Prof. Woodard and his topic was "Collecting Flowers."

Mr. Woodard began his talk by describing his summer vacation, which he spent in traveling through Mass., Conn., New York, New Jersey, and Long Island on a search for new varieties of flowers and plants. He was successful in obtaining some 300 specimens, some of which were shown, greatly adding to the interest of the lecture. Some dismay was evident among the audience as certain formidable Latin names were announced, but when a strange term proved to be merely the familiar blueberry, the bewildered looks gradually vanished.

Among the various specimens shown, a large number were of interest because of their economic value — alfalfa, wild indigo, flat, bayberry — a plant from which the familiar bayberry candles are made — and many others.

Prof. Woodward then proceeded to describe the tools used, methods of mounting and methods of classification. One of the most essential objects in Mr. Woodard's vacuum was a lunch — chiefly composed of "clog 'biscuits."

PROF. RISLEY WRITES ON INTERNATIONAL LAW.

Head of History Dept. Says Present Conflict is the Result of Public Opinion.

Is there such a subject as International Law? asks Prof. A. W. Risley in a very interesting and illuminating article in the October issue of the Journal of the New York State Teachers' Assoc. Mr. Risley answers his own question by proving in a very clear and concise manner that International Law not only still exists, but that never before was knowledge of it so widespread and appreciated.

He goes very carefully into the details of his subject, explaining such terms and problems as Neutralization, Neutrality, Commercial Right of Search, Contra-band, Intervention, and Good Offices. This is done with the same force and vivacity with which he handles European History and when through he has made his complicated subjects as clear and fascinating as the Reign of Louis XIII in famous History II. The reason for this is that Mr. Risley has the faculty of saying a great deal in a very few words, as shown by the following: "The main reason why neutralization is explained in practice is that more people have learned more about it than ever before."

The annual cross country run was successfully held last Friday afternoon at the scheduled time, 4:30 P. M. The race was run under fair conditions, the going being good and the weather satisfactory. A little before the appointed time nine men faced Mr. Hubbard at the start. All of the contestants were trained to the minute and presented a fine picture of health. With the crack of the pistol Sutherland took the lead in a spurt that carried him to the first turn in thirty seconds, remarkable time for so difficult a race. Dewitt Townsend followed closely behind with the rest of the men in hot pursuit. Down the hill and around the half of the lake Townsend was closed in and the quarter mile mark was passed with the Junior only a stride behind the '19 man, with Harrigan '19 a good third, but apparently running under difficulties. FIRST FOOTBALL WORK-OUT.

Coach Hubbard Gave Good Sized Squad Valuable Instruction.

Football got its start in State College last Saturday morning when about twenty men met Coach Hubbard at Ridgefield Park to receive their first instruction in the sport. This response to the call for men is very encouraging and it is beginning to look as if a team will become a reality here. It was the first opportunity many of the men had to get acquainted with Mr. Hubbard, especially in a professional way, and the consensus of opinion was most favorable. The men were given instructions in the rudiments of the game and a lot of preliminary practice was indulged in. Coach Hubbard showing the men the best way in which to throw the ball for a pass, to recover a lost ball, and to hold the ball while advancing. He also explained the duties of each player and various positions of the first two had not changed as the runners passed the half mile mark, but Harrigan was here closely pressed by Cassavant and Lobdell. The latter especially was running strong and soon overtook both Cassavant and Harrigan, who was dropping back, so that at the three-quarter mile mark Lobdell was third, Cassavant fourth and Harrigan fifth. All men held these positions at the mile point near the lake house, but here Sutherland began to draw away from Townsend in a beautiful spurt up the hill. Lobdell was coming strong, but was unable to make up the gap of about fifty yards which the early sprinting of the leading pair had opened. Sutherland '19 crossed the winning line in the very good time of 5 min. 17 ½ sec. This is a new record for the course.

$1.50 PER YEAR
COACH WACHTER IN CHARGE.

Basketball is fast hitting its stride and will soon be going along at full speed. The acquisition of Ed. Wachter as coach, which was announced in last week's issue, has put new life into the men with the result that they are working harder than ever and with a degree of determination and confidence never before attained. Anyone at all familiar with basketball conditions in the country knows the Wachter brothers. For years they were the mainstay of the Championship Troy five, the team that repeatedly won the State League championship and also the world. A few seasons ago Coach Wachter took part in a barn-storming trip which carried the Troy team far into the middle West and which established, without question, the superiority of that aggregation over any other five in the land. Coach Wachter brings to State College the experience gained in hundreds of games played in the fastest of company and the aid of his generalship and training, together with the prestige of his name, ought to do much towards placing the degree of determination and confidence never before attained. Our Weekly Proverb. Uneasy lies the tooth that wears a crown.

This proverb is an example of Bean Swift's loquacious style, written in the golden autumn of his glory, when all his teeth were gone.

Notice: Pair of Dice Lost. Once I dreamed I went to heaven, The reason was, you see, That I passed the pearly portals For one who looked like me. And I heard a rag-time rhythm Floating to me from afar — ("Yaaka Hula Hickey Dula") On a heavenly guitar.

Not a sign of toil or textbooks From the ceiling to the floor, And in every nook I stumbled Over a golden kelpidol.

And I yelled in high elation; But no echo reached my ear.

"This is heaven," read a signboard, And you'll find no 'Echo' here.

So I went below to find it, Down in Pluto's dreary home;

Where a shore of practice teachers Were instructing on blocks of stone,

And a shore or more of critics Were suggesting methods new Through a haze of burning eminence Where their notes were read — and blue!

There was an H. E. Department And I shuddered as I looked. The poor girls there had to live on What they themselves had cooked.

Charles kept the cook stove going, ("I was a good thing that he did,

Or else Dixon would have taken A sleeta on the lid.)

Johnny Beecker's ghost was singing 'Neath a sulphurous canopy: "When the sun goes down in Delmar, Life begins in Albany."

And I went into a gym class Of Arch Swaim, lately deceased.

Now I've heard "nilini homum," Should be said, "de mortuis"

But his task was getting Freshmen (Whose numbers had increased) To acquire the art of kling the Up some poles but lately got poled.

Archie ordered me to try it, And the pole beneath me broke —

And out of bed, upon my head I thankfully awoke.

THE PRESS CLUB

Organizes With Over Thirty Members.

On Wednesday afternoon, with the briefest advance notice, the Press Club was organized by Professor Hastings and those students who were able to meet him at the hour assigned. Professor Hastings outlined the purpose of the club as threefold: (1) to furnish news concerning the college to the newspapers; (2) to regulate the student publications of the college through cooperation of their editors; (3) to give instruction in practical journalism to all who have an interest in writing.

Many other students, who could not attend the first meeting, have expressed their interest and expect to join the club. Immediately after election, when the papers are less pressed for space, the club hopes to begin its work. Meanwhile Professor Hastings expects to lay the plans for organizing the morning college news effectively and for communicating it to the papers. He is anxious to talk with all students who wish to have a share in the venture, and is keeping special office hours for this purpose. These hours are posted on the bulletin board.

GYM FROLIC

G. A. A. is planning a gym frolic for Friday evening, Nov. 10th. All freshmen girls who are interested and upperclass members are invited to come and have a good time. If possible, everyone should wear their gym suit, as a frolic is a frolic you know, and you are expected to come prepared for it. The committee of arrangements consists of Ruth Mosley, Harriet Poole, Catherine Hayes, and Kathryn Cole, chairman.
In selecting the beddings, towels and table linen, and to have the problem of floor coverings for the living and bed rooms. The advanced dressmaking class will have the problem of curtaining the house.

The boys are also coming in for their share of making the house comfortable and improving its appearance. A new sink and bathroom fixtures will be put in by them and the house will be wired for electricity.

Two of the living rooms were papered last week. All classes will be well started in their work so that it is expected that most of the equipment can be purchased next week.

THE ART OF THE DANCER

Along with the great interest that is being aroused all over America for the development of a higher art in Classic Dancing, comes the announcement that right in our midst Miss Jack Wilbur and Mr. Edwyn Johnstone will meet all those of the student body who like to dance, at 4:30 p.m. on Thursday, November 9th, in the college gymnasium. Miss Wilbur and Mr. Johnstone are known to the State College in connection with the production of Shakespearean Dances last year. They also lectured on Modern Tendencies of the Social Dance and taught a Saturday Night Class in the gymnasium. It is their desire to bring before the students the immense benefit derived from the careful consideration of both the Classic and the Social Dance. The matter of the formation of classes to be held in the gymnasium in accordance with the schedule and private instruction will be taken up this afternoon. This is an excellent opportunity for the training of numbers for the class programs of the year, eliminating the necessity of crowding an extra lot of work in a few days before such events. There is also a possibility of grace and step-work without form in the Social Dance of today, grave errors worthy the attention of the most adept students of the art. All those who desire, as well as those who desire to dance better, will promote interest in dancing by attending the meeting this afternoon, with Miss Wilbur and Mr. Johnstone.

ever entered into, is protection to the guaranteeing state rather than to the guaranteed state; the "object of war is not directly to kill as many of the enemy as possible, but to establish permanent peace." Neutrals are like the servants in Moliere's comedies, with their backs always turned ready for a rain of blows." In speaking of the United States and disarmament, he sums up the case thus, "Surely Samson's hair would be powerless?"

His conclusion is a strong point for education and the training of public opinion. "The present conflict is the result of public opinion. No other prevention offers than the growth of public opinion. To awaken it from its perversive course, a shock is needed and the very war that is the result of public opinion will furnish the shock that will make future wars impossible if anything can accomplish such a longed-for consummation."

It is too bad, for the good of our country, that the money spent in the present Presidential campaign for biased political advertising, could not instead be used to place this article in the hands of every voter. As this is impossible, every student of State College should consider it his duty to get a careful study that he may be able, as a teacher, to disseminate not only the important facts it contains, but also the spirit of fairness and justice in which it is written.

ALL ABOUT PRACTICE HOUSE

The work in the practise house will begin with furnishing and equipping it for living. The Senior advanced cookery class will have full charge of the kitchen problem of furnishing and equipping, while the Junior advanced cookery class will have the complete dining room problem. This will include the linen, silver, dishes and glass ware.

The sanitation class will see that the bedrooms are complete in every detail. The Sophomore millinery girls are planning the furnishings for the living rooms and study. The Freshmen textile class are getting practical experience...
INTERCLASS BASKETBALL LEAGUE FORMED.

Juniors and Seniors Victors in First Two Games.

An Interclass Basketball League has been formed and games are to be played every Monday and Wednesday afternoon. The way the championship will not be decided by one game, as in former years. The first game was played last Monday when the Juniors defeated the Seniors by a score of 38-8. This score was due mainly to the fact that the Seniors played with only four men. Before the game, Deidie, was elected captain of the Junior five. Cohen was the principal scorer, making twenty of his team's points.

On Wednesday afternoon the Fresh beat the Seniors 39-9 in an exhibition game. The league game was forfeited by the Seniors, as they were unable to put a team on the floor. The Freshmen then defeated a combination team. The 1920 five worked well, the work of Springman and Peckham on the floor being particularly brilliant. Colton, who played only one half, is very fast and a quick shot. Wellworth and Merchant also are good men.

SUTHERLAND '19 WINS

Continued from Page 1 '20 was third in 5-45. Every man who started finished, the others coming in the following order: 4. Cassavant '19; 5. Harrigan '19; 6. Zellman '19; 7. Merchant '20; 8. Greenblatt '18-9; Wren '20.

The fact that all starters finished the race speaks well for Coach Hubbard's rule which he rigorously enforced, that no man be allowed to enter the case without first undergoing a thorough medical examination. Last year only about half of the starters finished and one of those who did became violently ill. This year no contestant felt any ill effects from the race. As a first and second prize silver cup will be awarded the winners by the Men's A. A. in the near future.

PSI GAMMA.

On the evening of Oct. 28th, the girls held their first "House Dance" of the season. The decorations and favors were in keeping with Hal-low'en. There were about eighteen couples present, among them Clara Anderson '16, of Syracuse, our last year's president. Beatrice Wright '14, who is teaching at Nyack this year, and Frances Wood '14, of Kingston, also visited at the House over the weekend. Laura Smith '15, of Manhasset, who is not in college this year, has been a guest at the House since Saturday.

KAPPA DELTA.

At the close of the last business meeting at the Sorority House, an informal musical and literary program was enjoyed. The following offered selections: Mildred White, Mildred Ousley, Marie Smith and Adele Hedges. Barbara Pratt '15, who is teaching at Peekskill, came to Albany last Friday to attend the Kappa Delta house dance, Nov. 4. She spent the week end at the house.

ETA PHI.

The Juniors proved their ability to entertain at our last meeting when they had charge of the program. "Bells" of all kinds were represented and the other classes were occupied in naming them.

We had a very pleasant surprise last Friday afternoon. Miss Hazel Wilson '16 greeted us when we came home from college, and spent the weekend with us. Miss Wilson has a very fine position teaching Biology in the high school at Kingston.

DELTA OMEGA.

Jennie Davis and Marion Wheeler '14 spent the weekend at Albany. Ruth Layser '16 attended the Teachers' Convocation last week and stayed over night at the Sorority House.

We are very glad to receive Margaret Becker '14, who was initiated at our last meeting, into membership.
