Library School Tea Has Guest Speaker

Former Manager of Co-op Addresses Library Group

Miss Minnie Fox, former manager of the College Co-op, who is now with Holiday House, Inc., was the guest speaker. Her talk was a sequel to a series of library school teas designed to acquaint librarians with prominent personalities in the field. Her subject, "The Making of Books," was interestingly illustrated and well received.

At the first of these teas, Miss Marion Moshier, supervisor of Adult Education in New York State, spoke on the various ways that adult education departments in high schools and public libraries function. Miss Moshier's talk turned her listeners back to the past, forward to the future, and possibly to the present, stressing especially that a librarian should be himself from the "thing as it is," and think for himself as a librarian from the "thing as it should be.

Many librarians are finding themselves drawn instinctively toward cooperation with patrons, librarians, and non-librarians. Miss Minnie Fox closed her talk by saying that if she can make a choice of belonging to one of two groups, the most desirable would be group two, rather than to the group "that gives credit."

Albany Offers Entertainment For All Hard Working Students

Police are warning in Albany now that the college and university libraries are not the place to go after 10 o'clock. With classes over, the students are busy with holidays, and many of them are likely to have some rather late hours. However, the police are urging caution not only on the cut-off dates but also in all parts of the library during the two weeks before the next session begins. The police are especially interested in the police capacity of the student body to maintain order and behave in a manner creditable to their cause. The police are advising the library staff to be alert to any unusual happenings in the library or any other student locations. The police are stating that the police are prepared to enforce the laws to the full extent, and that any disturbance of the peace will be dealt with accordingly.

Social Activity Continues Here

State CAFETERIA

Breakfast 7:30-8:45
Lunch 11:00-1:15

STATE CAFETERIA

Another State CAFETERIA will be held for the summer session students next Monday and Tuesday, August 4 and 5, from 11:30 to 12:30 o'clock in the Commons of Hawley Hall. At that time, approximately 2500 people, including students, faculty, and visitors, will be present. This second affair of the summer is in answer to numerous requests received by the News staff that the events of the last $4000 have been well attended. The purpose of the event is to provide an opportunity for students, faculty, and visitors to meet and enjoy a meal together. The event is open to all, regardless of their affiliation with the college. The meal will be served at noon in the Commons of Hawley Hall.

Thatcher Park Picnic

Administrators and staff of the State College for Teachers, Albany, will meet Wednesday, August 2, from 8:30 to 12:00 o'clock in the State Library. The theme for debate is "Is New York State School for Teachers doing sufficient work for its students?" The discussion will be held in the Commons of Hawley Hall.

Dr. Neumann, the State College for Teachers, will present a special exhibition of the State's leading figures chosen with the state's leading figures chosen.

Thacher Park will be a favorite with the state's leading figures, the date for the event has been set for Wednesday, August 2, from 8:30 to 12:00 o'clock. The event will be held in the Commons of Hawley Hall.

The question of censorship has become a vital issue to many educators. Some parents have expressed alarm over the increase in censorship of any type. The question of censorship has become a vital issue to many educators. Some parents have expressed alarm over the increase in censorship of any type.

Dr. Neumann, the State College for Teachers, will present a special exhibition of the State's leading figures chosen with the state's leading figures chosen.

Thacher Park will be a favorite with the state's leading figures, the date for the event has been set for Wednesday, August 2, from 8:30 to 12:00 o'clock. The event will be held in the Commons of Hawley Hall.

State Requisites

More than half of this year's graduates were in education, and the State Department of Libraries, in charge of the college, announced that the number of students to be admitted will be limited to 100. The college will take 100 students in all departments, and a total of 100 students will be accepted for the fall term. The number of students will be limited to 100, as the state's leading figures chosen with the state's leading figures chosen.

Thacher Park will be a favorite with the state's leading figures, the date for the event has been set for Wednesday, August 2, from 8:30 to 12:00 o'clock. The event will be held in the Commons of Hawley Hall.

The question of censorship has become a vital issue to many educators. Some parents have expressed alarm over the increase in censorship of any type. The question of censorship has become a vital issue to many educators. Some parents have expressed alarm over the increase in censorship of any type.

Thacher Park will be a favorite with the state's leading figures, the date for the event has been set for Wednesday, August 2, from 8:30 to 12:00 o'clock. The event will be held in the Commons of Hawley Hall.

The question of censorship has become a vital issue to many educators. Some parents have expressed alarm over the increase in censorship of any type. The question of censorship has become a vital issue to many educators. Some parents have expressed alarm over the increase in censorship of any type.

Thacher Park will be a favorite with the state's leading figures, the date for the event has been set for Wednesday, August 2, from 8:30 to 12:00 o'clock. The event will be held in the Commons of Hawley Hall.
Summer School News

Published by the students of the Summer Session, New York State College for Teachers
Publication office: Dr. John H. Page Hall, Syracuse University

The News will welcome any contributions from students and alumni. All contributions must be typed and will be published without rejection. Any contributions may be sent to the News Editor at 10 amp; Pleasant Street, Brooklyn, New York. Volume 1, No. 2 June 29, 1929

Opportunities Summer school offers. If you can add to academic benefits one new friend you have truly profited, one member of the understanding and helpful group. And don't con­ way. But there are benefits that are neglected by have been here before at summer school know that go away with wider horizons—a better teacher, interests which will increase professional ability.

Dr. Genevra Drinkwater, a Dartmouth professor of history, is one of the best known and most loved teachers at the University of California. Her lecture on "The History of Women in the United States" was given at the University of California at Berkeley. Among the impressive array of historical figures she mentioned in her talk was Miss Woodrow Wilson, who was known at that time as "the little lady with the big ideas." Dr. Drinkwater's talk was well received by the students, and she received a standing ovation at the end of her presentation.

Meet your Mentors

Dr. Genevra Drinkwater

Dr. Genevra Drinkwater, a Dartmouth professor of history, is one of the best known and most loved teachers at the University of California. Her lecture on "The History of Women in the United States" was given at the University of California at Berkeley. Among the impressive array of historical figures she mentioned in her talk was Miss Woodrow Wilson, who was known at that time as "the little lady with the big ideas." Dr. Drinkwater's talk was well received by the students, and she received a standing ovation at the end of her presentation.

Mary Duvall

Mary Duvall is a professor of English at the University of California. She is known for her work on the history of women in literature, and her lectures are always well attended. She is also a member of the faculty at the University of California, where she teaches both undergraduate and graduate courses.

Summer Opportunity

Here we are—fourteen hours and more of un­ gathered together at weeks of concentrated work. Most of us have been working hard all year and we feel a need a rest. We should like to be served upon the thousands of glorious vacation spots this country offers. Instead we are all in the teaching profession from all parts of the country.

Many students fail to recognize the obvious advantages of study and work. Summer school offers. No matter if you are not a student, you should go away with wider horizons—a better teacher, interests which will increase professional ability.

The teaching profession from all parts of the country. The teaching profession from all parts of the country. The teaching profession from all parts of the country.

The teaching profession from all parts of the country.

Frank Augustine

Frank Augustine is a professor of economics at the University of California. He is a well-known economist and has written extensively on the subject. His lectures are always well attended, and he is a member of the faculty at the University of California, where he teaches both undergraduate and graduate courses.

Staff

The administrative and support staff are responsible for ensuring that the school runs smoothly. They work tirelessly to provide the best possible experience for students and ensure that the school is a safe and welcoming environment for all.

Communications

To the Editors: This letter is in response to the many, for students who have been working hard all year and feel a need for a rest. We should like to be served upon the thousands of glorious vacation spots this country offers. Instead we are all in the teaching profession from all parts of the country.

Many students fail to recognize the obvious advantages of study and work. Summer school offers. No matter if you are not a student, you should go away with wider horizons—a better teacher, interests which will increase professional ability.

The teaching profession from all parts of the country.

The teaching profession from all parts of the country.

The teaching profession from all parts of the country.

The teaching profession from all parts of the country.

The teaching profession from all parts of the country.

The teaching profession from all parts of the country.
Summer Student Survey Shows Average $115 Expense Budget
by Jean DeForest

A recent survey of the faculty found that the average non-working student at the summer session spends about $115 on expenses for his summer session. This includes the room and board costs at New York State College for Teachers.

As a general rule, the expenses incurred in going to college include tuition, room and board, books, transportation, and personal expenses. These expenses vary from individual to individual, depending on their wants and needs.

Most of the students at the summer session have to work in order to pay for their expenses. Some of them have part-time jobs or help with the household chores.

Transportation costs vary widely, depending on the distance the student lives from the college and the method of transportation used. Some students live far from the college and have to pay for transportation to and from school.

The average student spends a considerable amount of money on books. They have to buy textbooks and other materials for their classes.

The average student spends a reasonable amount on personal expenses. They have to pay for clothes, entertainment, and other necessities.

Garrett Plays Piano

There is no doubt that Garrett has a talent for playing the piano. His music is so well played that it is difficult to believe that he is only a freshman.

Garrett is a member of the music department and has been playing the piano since he was a child. His music is so well played that it is difficult to believe that he is only a freshman.

After an exchange of games in the traditional classroom routine of the Edinburgh University, educators sat at tables along the cliff's edge to gorge potato salad, Educators also had the chance to discuss education and commerce at Ticonderoga.

Summer School News, July 28, 1939

Editor's Note

The recent survey of the faculty found that the average non-working student at the summer session spends about $115 on expenses for his summer session. This includes the room and board costs at New York State College for Teachers.

As a general rule, the expenses incurred in going to college include tuition, room and board, books, transportation, and personal expenses. These expenses vary from individual to individual, depending on their wants and needs.

Most of the students at the summer session have to work in order to pay for their expenses. Some of them have part-time jobs or help with the household chores.

Transportation costs vary widely, depending on the distance the student lives from the college and the method of transportation used. Some students live far from the college and have to pay for transportation to and from school.

The average student spends a considerable amount of money on books. They have to buy textbooks and other materials for their classes.

The average student spends a reasonable amount on personal expenses. They have to pay for clothes, entertainment, and other necessities.

Garrett Plays Piano

There is no doubt that Garrett has a talent for playing the piano. His music is so well played that it is difficult to believe that he is only a freshman.

Garrett is a member of the music department and has been playing the piano since he was a child. His music is so well played that it is difficult to believe that he is only a freshman.