"For this size campus, we're pretty well satisfied with the kind of articles being written; there was just one staff editor, which had to be handled. We're hoping to gain an audience among all major fields, including those who know their fields." (For the student body.)

Dear Red,

I'm regular Red on the canvas, but on campus I just don't seem to make the grade. There was this painting I did of a girl sitting on a bench, but now I don't seem to be capturing the same magic. I'm not sure what to do. I just have to see this girl again.

Farmer Sees Need For United America

by Aileen Schlif

"This Negro is not the man who which he suffers in the role of a missionary." In this context, Alleen Schleif observed that the cities and towns where the majority of New York's Negroes live were often located on the outskirts of cities, and that the Negro population was largely concentrated in the areas of the city that were least ostentatious on the street. In the past, people were faced with many different problems, but now they have to be faced by a truly United America. He cautioned that "we must learn to live together lest we find ourselves serving tea to our enemies." The Negro, he felt, should be viewed as an individual, and not as a member of a group.

The Negro's problems were many, and they were varied.

He was not a simple person, but a complex individual who had to be treated as such.

By Dave Minor

A.D. Werner Interviewed, Answers Football Queries

By Bill Kindler

Dr. Charles Springer, the new head of physical education at Albany College, was interviewed recently about the changes that have been made in the physical education program. Dr. Springer said that the program is designed to be more student-centered and to provide a broader range of activities for students to choose from.

The Great Dane defenders were over the mini-gridiron theme of a game with Bridgeport last week. Bridgeport blocked the Great Danes 6-3, further diminishing the Danes' spirits in their first season.
