Staff Distributes Fresh Handbooks
Handbooks for Dramatics and Freshman women who did not receive them during the opening of this year's Freshman handbook distribution. These handbooks are designed to familiarize freshmen with the various college organizations and activities.
Rushing?

The last few morning hours have been filled with rushers from a College with "Keep Your Secrets Winked." The goal is to get as many applications as possible and the freshmen are waiting eagerly for a position in the organization. This is the case for many freshmen who have been waiting eagerly for a position in the organization. Your Chance...

Despite the lack of interest from the organizations, there are still opportunities available for freshmen who are eager to get involved. Many organizations are still accepting applications, and some are even holding special events to attract new members.

At the same time, there are also opportunities for freshmen who are interested in starting their own organizations. Many organizations are looking to expand and are willing to work with interested freshmen who are eager to get involved.
