"OUR CHANGING COLLEGES" by President Bruhacher

CAMPUS DAY EVENTS WILL BE TOMORROW

Seniors led, Soph's Trailled, in Scholarship Last Year, Registrar's Report On Terms Honors Shows

HIGH HONORS
Seniors
Belcher, Marjorie
Chesteron, Marion
Coulson, Adeline
Delacrosse, Georgia
Klinkhamer, Hilda
Lehman, Margaret
Roome, Anna
Snow, Miriam

Juniors
Barclay, Sara
Gowans, Mary
Hawaii, Ruth

GROS' MARIONETTES PLAY TWICE TODAY

GROS' MARIONETTES
BENEDICT MARIONETTES

PRESENTED BY DRAMA ASSOCIATION

"Our Changing Colleges" is the title of this series of State College News. It is written for the news.

State College News
New York State College for Teachers
Vol. XXI No. 5
Albany, N. Y., Friday, October 23, 1925

$3.00 for two years

"Get Wise" Party Was "Total Failure," Sophomore Leader Says

EXPERIMENT THREAT

President E. W. C. A. was caught yesterday afternoon, as a result of the initiation dance for the members of the new council.

The exact situation regarding further investigation is still under investigation today. The president's call was emphasized by the necessity for drawing a sharp distinction between G. A. A. and the senior-sophomore rules.

PresidentBruhacher,"Get Wise" party was "total failure," Sophomore Leader Says.

The party was held Saturday evening, but no players were allowed to bring their own liquor or drinks.

There were no casualties and no damage was done to the freshman band, which was organized for the occasion.

"I believe that Myskania thought that there was no need for penalties," President Bruhacher said.

The meeting would develop into a hazing program which would continue the tradition of the multirule college. The meeting would devolve into a rough house.

"The members of the first men's team were to be penalized because of their attitude of contempt and superiority over Mykki and the sophomore class," theitone said.

The new council, which succeeds the senior-sophomore rules, is composed of 10 men. It consists of the freshmen, who were penalized in the meeting of the last year, and 2 representatives of the junior class; Betty Zajac, vice-president of the sophomore class; Samuel McKnight, president of the freshman class; Eleanor Colyer, vice-president of the junior class; Golda Bill, vice-president of the junior class; E. W. C. A., president of the student association; and E. W. C. A., president of the freshman class.

It is to be the duty of the campus council to watch over the enforcement of traditions and to report all violations of such rules to Myskania, who will take further action. It is also to be the duty of the council to assist Mykki in the enforcement of all inter-class rules.

In addition, other members will be appointed to the council.

TO HEAR OF SILVER BAY

A Silver Bay meeting will be held by E. W. C. A. on Thursday afternoon, in the auditorium, in charge of Carolyn Coleman, Mary Ward, and Mildred Maceau, three of the freshmen's aides for Silver Bay. All students are invited to attend.

"Our Changing Colleges" is the title of this series of State College News. It is written for the news.
Our Changing Colleges

College education was once a distinctive thing, adequately characterized by the V. B. Tebbetts type. A college was not to be treated as a place to get a degree. Those who attended could be recognized by their knowledge of literature and history and science and philosophy. They had developed tastes that set them apart from those who had not entered into the kind of college life.

A change has come. College education has become so varied in content and purpose that one degree cannot do justice to the result. The college has reduced the sin of literature and history to the vanishing point; the college of business, the college of home economies, and the college of agriculture, have enforced the necessities of technical training. The college of liberal arts has vainly tried to include the new content in science, economics, and business, and has disrupted its energies to an alarming extent. The person of general broad culture has been replaced by the person of exact, specialized knowledge.

In the field of education we are not yet sure of the directions to be taken. We recognize the value of general culture but the demands of the science of education are becoming incessant and are displacing important elements of general knowledge. And the art of teaching will demand more and more time in the training of teachers.

We are suffering from the pressure from above, produced by professional, vocational, and specialized subject matter. As the cultural subjects are crowded down, we shall make more and more demand on the high schools. Literature, history, pure science, and philosophy will be taught in the senior high school and in freshmen and sophomores in the college itself. It is easy to imagine that the present senior high school will assume the role of the old liberal arts college and leave it to the college to develop the interest in vocational, professional and technical matters. This tendency is even more evident in the state universities and technical colleges.

There is European sanction for this development. The senior high school position in the American Education of the future will come into position of great importance. We shall need on the one hand an educational advance, and on the other, we must maintain the best traditions of the old academy and the modern high school and do something to absorb the liberal arts and sciences of the old college. Whatever this intervening school may be called, Senior High School or Junior College, it may yet become the custodian of American culture as distinct from technical colleges.

Book-Ends

A Weekly Review of Current Fiction by the Editor of the Quarterly.

The Green Hat by Michael Arlen.

"Michael Arlen says he is an Armenian," writes an interviewer, "and he must be, of course, for no one would say he was an Armenian if he were not." The Green Hat, however, made me dise the doubt from the start. Arlen, the author of Dr. Syn, has felt a genuine certainty that he is an Armenian if anyone says he is, even if he is not. It is a matter of spirit that is very much to the credit of the author, and it is a matter of special pride to me, for my grandfather was a Scotch-Irishman, and I am sure that I am an Armenian.

One of the very rarest of all tasks is the carrying on of the traditions which have become a part of State, for all of the traditions are inherent with the college, and there is no more than the tradition of the college, and the college of home economics, and the college of agriculture, have enlarged the possibilities of study beyond the college and the college of business.

The college of home economics and the college of agriculture make for better homes and better lives, and the college of business, with its emphasis on vocational and technical training, makes for better careers.

The college of liberal arts has tried to include the new content in science, economics, and business, and has disrupted its energies to an alarming extent. The person of general broad culture has been replaced by the person of exact, specialized knowledge.

In the field of education we are not yet sure of the directions to be taken. We recognize the value of general culture but the demands of the science of education are becoming incessant and are displacing important elements of general knowledge. And the art of teaching will demand more and more time in the training of teachers.

We are suffering from the pressure from above, produced by professional, vocational, and specialized subject matter. As the cultural subjects are crowded down, we shall make more and more demand on the high schools. Literature, history, pure science, and philosophy will be taught in the senior high school and in freshmen and sophomores in the college itself. It is easy to imagine that the present senior high school will assume the role of the old liberal arts college and leave it to the college to develop the interest in vocational, professional and technical matters. This tendency is even more evident in the state universities and technical colleges.

There is European sanction for this development. The senior high school position in the American Education of the future will come into position of great importance. We shall need on the one hand an educational advance, and on the other, we must maintain the best traditions of the old academy and the modern high school and do something to absorb the liberal arts and sciences of the old college. Whatever this intervening school may be called, Senior High School or Junior College, it may yet become the custodian of American culture as distinct from technical colleges.

Book-Ends

A Weekly Review of Current Fiction by the Editor of the Quarterly.

The Green Hat by Michael Arlen.

"Michael Arlen says he is an Armenian," writes an interviewer, "and he must be, of course, for no one would say he was an Armenian if he were not." The Green Hat, however, made me dise the doubt from the start. Arlen, the author of Dr. Syn, has felt a genuine certainty that he is an Armenian if anyone says he is, even if he is not. It is a matter of spirit that is very much to the credit of the author, and it is a matter of special pride to me, for my grandfather was a Scotch-Irishman, and I am sure that I am an Armenian.

One of the very rarest of all tasks is the carrying on of the traditions which have become a part of State, for all of the traditions are inherent with the college, and there is no more than the tradition of the college, and the college of home economics, and the college of agriculture, have enlarged the possibilities of study beyond the college and the college of business.

The college of home economics and the college of agriculture make for better homes and better lives, and the college of business, with its emphasis on vocational and technical training, makes for better careers.

The college of liberal arts has tried to include the new content in science, economics, and business, and has disrupted its energies to an alarming extent. The person of general broad culture has been replaced by the person of exact, specialized knowledge.

In the field of education we are not yet sure of the directions to be taken. We recognize the value of general culture but the demands of the science of education are becoming incessant and are displacing important elements of general knowledge. And the art of teaching will demand more and more time in the training of teachers.

We are suffering from the pressure from above, produced by professional, vocational, and specialized subject matter. As the cultural subjects are crowded down, we shall make more and more demand on the high schools. Literature, history, pure science, and philosophy will be taught in the senior high school and in freshmen and sophomores in the college itself. It is easy to imagine that the present senior high school will assume the role of the old liberal arts college and leave it to the college to develop the interest in vocational, professional and technical matters. This tendency is even more evident in the state universities and technical colleges.

There is European sanction for this development. The senior high school position in the American Education of the future will come into position of great importance. We shall need on the one hand an educational advance, and on the other, we must maintain the best traditions of the old academy and the modern high school and do something to absorb the liberal arts and sciences of the old college. Whatever this intervening school may be called, Senior High School or Junior College, it may yet become the custodian of American culture as distinct from technical colleges.

CALENDAR

Today

8:30 P. M., Jean Gross’s Mardi Gras—Carnival’s Hall.

Tomorrow

Carnival’s Campus Day.

Monday, October 26

8:30-10:30 P. M., Homecoming Supper — Campus Day.

Wednesday, October 28

7:30 P. M., Dramatics Club—Play—Auditorium.
VARIous ActivITIES PLANNED By CLUBS

POLI Sci Group To Hear Miss Minér, Local Lawyer, At Dinner

Political Science club will hear Miss Catherine Felix on November 3. Miss Felix will speak on her recent European trip.

The committee in charge of the Thanksgiving dinner is making arrangements to have Miss Ruth Miner as speaker. A dinner will be planned for Thursday evening, November 24. Miss Miner is an Albany woman lawyer.

Spanish club met October 15, Professor Jose A. Guzman smartphone on the Spaniards and the nature of the Spanish people. "A better understanding of the Spaniards, as he really is, will show him to be a more interesting individual," Professor Shinad said.

Before the talk a short business meeting was held at which Gertrude Lynch, president, presented the following committee: Atiliano McGreevy, chairman; Unita Davis; member. Ruth McNeely, chairman; Beatrice Hodge said.

Alumni interested in the Spanish customs and people are invited to become members of Spanish club.

The first meeting of Commerce club was held recently in room 4. The program for the following year, including the general line of activity and the social events which will take place, was arranged. After the meeting, the committee in charge of the business world will be obtained to speak.

The Biology club had a party in the lab recently. Laboratory instruments were used and some experiments were performed. The biology club is in charge of the appraising the work of students in biology. The Biology club will meet next week.

Dr. Brubacher's Freshman For Hazen Frazee; "Get Wise" Party was Total Failure, Griffin Says

Scores of State College students, non-residents of Albany, were illegally listed in the census list, the Albany police to discourage the accuracy of the state census taken by Mrs. Francis S. Hackett to substantiate his charge that General Keogh of the direction habitants is inaccurate and his estimate that the population of Albany is at least 180,000.

"In a survey of Albany colleges, in- cluding the general line of activity and business world will be obtained to speak in the social events which will take place, said Miss Anna M. Cuskey, professor of home economics and home economics teacher. The program for the following year, in room 8, was Tuesday, at four o'clock in room A.

Miss Anna M. Cuskey, professor of home economics and home economics teacher, will speak in the social events which will take place, said Miss Anna M. Cuskey, professor of home economics and home economics teacher. The program for the following year, in room 8, was Tuesday, at four o'clock in room A.

Miss Anna M. Cuskey, professor of home economics and home economics teacher, will speak in the social events which will take place, said Miss Anna M. Cuskey, professor of home economics and home economics teacher. The program for the following year, in room 8, was Tuesday, at four o'clock in room A.

Miss Anna M. Cuskey, professor of home economics and home economics teacher, will speak in the social events which will take place, said Miss Anna M. Cuskey, professor of home economics and home economics teacher. The program for the following year, in room 8, was Tuesday, at four o'clock in room A.

College Students Have Been Enrolled As Residents Of Albany In Police Census, Newspaper Charges

The committee in charge of the Thanksgiving dinner is making arrangements to have Miss Ruth Miner as speaker. A dinner will be planned for Thursday evening, November 24. Miss Miner is an Albany woman lawyer.

Spanish club met October 15, Professor Jose A. Guzman smartphone on the Spaniards and the nature of the Spanish people. "A better understanding of the Spaniards, as he really is, will show him to be a more interesting individual," Professor Shinad said.

Before the talk a short business meeting was held at which Gertrude Lynch, president, presented the following committee: Atiliano McGreevy, chairman; Unita Davis; member. Ruth McNeely, chairman; Beatrice Hodge said.

Alumni interested in the Spanish customs and people are invited to become members of Spanish club.

The first meeting of Commerce club was held recently in room 4. The program for the following year, including the general line of activity and the social events which will take place, was arranged. After the meeting, the committee in charge of the business world will be obtained to speak.

The Biology club had a party in the lab recently. Laboratory instruments were used and some experiments were performed. The biology club is in charge of the appraising the work of students in biology. The Biology club will meet next week.

Dr. Brubacher's Freshman For Hazen Frazee; "Get Wise" Party was Total Failure, Griffin Says

Scores of State College students, non-residents of Albany, were illegally listed in the census list, the Albany police to discourage the accuracy of the state census taken by Mrs. Francis S. Hackett to substantiate his charge that General Keogh of the direction habitants is inaccurate and his estimate that the population of Albany is at least 180,000.

"In a survey of Albany colleges, in- cluding the general line of activity and business world will be obtained to speak in the social events which will take place, said Miss Anna M. Cuskey, professor of home economics and home economics teacher. The program for the following year, in room 8, was Tuesday, at four o'clock in room A.

Miss Anna M. Cuskey, professor of home economics and home economics teacher, will speak in the social events which will take place, said Miss Anna M. Cuskey, professor of home economics and home economics teacher. The program for the following year, in room 8, was Tuesday, at four o'clock in room A.

Miss Anna M. Cuskey, professor of home economics and home economics teacher, will speak in the social events which will take place, said Miss Anna M. Cuskey, professor of home economics and home economics teacher. The program for the following year, in room 8, was Tuesday, at four o'clock in room A.

Miss Anna M. Cuskey, professor of home economics and home economics teacher, will speak in the social events which will take place, said Miss Anna M. Cuskey, professor of home economics and home economics teacher. The program for the following year, in room 8, was Tuesday, at four o'clock in room A.
Freshmen Hazers
Break State Laws

At a meeting of the government 2 class recently Professor David Hutcheson read from the hours of the penal code, that section which refers to the fact that hazing of underclassmen is prohibited by the laws of the state and when practiced is a misdemeanor.

DAVID SMURL ELECTED FRESHMAN PRESIDENT

David Smurl of Albany, was, Monday, elected president of the freshman class, defeating Robert J. Shilling of Albany for the vote.

WILL READ DRAMA

Henry Lawrence Southwick, president of the Union College at Plattsburgh, will read "The Cardinal King," from Balater Lytton's drama, "Richie," Monday evening, November 3, at 8:15 o'clock in the college auditorium.

G. W. WEYRICH BARBER

299 ONTARIO STREET

Special attention to college students

INFANTS' WEAR

HOISERY

Distinctive Gifts for All Occasions

Do Your Christmas Shopping Early at The Kraft Shop

Central Ave.

Oriental and Occidental Restaurant

44 STATE STREET

Dancing Every Evening 10:30 P.M.

Cheerful Service Shop

JOS. A. WALSH, Prop.

Hosiery for People Who Care

LAMER—GENTS' FURNISHINGS

5% To College Students

Have you seen the new fancy silk gloves, and so the slipper hosiery, all shades.

 stewardess, untouched

by hands, full of flavor.

West Lawrence

Shoe Repairing Shop

SHOE SHINE

MATTEO LAVENIA

Cor. West Lawrence & Western Ave

L. A. BOOKHEIM

Reliable Meats

346 Madison Ave. cor. Ontario St.

Phone West 1837

ECONOMY DRESS GOODS STORE

215 Central Ave. Phone W-1711-M

Silk—Woolen—Cotton

Henstitching and Trimming

OPEN EVENINGS

Get A Hair Bob At The

COLLEGE BARBER SHOP

CONRAD HEYES, Prop.

12 ROBIN STREET

DANKER

Roses

40-42 MAIDEN LANE

Albany, N. Y.